Peace Institute. Attention is called to the advertisement of Peace Institute which appears in another column of this issue. Peace is one of our oldest and best known schools, and has for years been one of the most influential in the South. The courses of instruction are modeled after those of colleges for men and careful training is given in each department. The Music and Art departments, together with that of Expression, are under the charge of specialists and offer superior advantages and attractive courses. With its cheerful home like surroundings and its high standard, Peace appeals to those parents who desire the best for their daughters. The number of resident students is limited to 85 and early application is necessary in order to secure a place on this list. Write to President James Dinwiddie for further particulars.

Ready For the Fry. With the additional new players recently secured for Greenville the local team is in fine trim. They are ready for the contest with Washington Friday and have no idea of letting the visitors near of the pain. Everybody turn out Friday and give the boys plenty of encouragement.

Onehundred Foxes wanted.—The Mecklenburg Hotel and Mineral Water Co. will pay $1.25 each for 100 good sized foxes. Write to and express to the above at Chase City, Va.

REWARD FOR HEROISM. Capt. Ola Forbes Receives Beautiful Gold Medal.

Capt. Ola Forbes, of the gas boat Alto, that plied between Greenville and Washington, was made very proud by the receipt of a package that came to him Wednesday evening through the express. It was a handsome case containing a beautiful gold medal, and was presented to him by G. B. Gomprecht, of Baltimore.

A PRETTY GAME. Greenville Gives Suffolk a Shut Out. It was a good game you missed if you were not at Arthur's park Wednesday. It was one of those unusual one hour and thirty minute games; resplendent from start to finish with thrilling, hair raising, sensational plays.

ARE THEY "COCK OF THE WALK?" The Score Was 5 to 3 in Favor of Greenville. It was an ideal, yes, a perfect afternoon that greeted the twelve hundred fans Friday at the park; not too warm, not too cloudy, and with a soft, cooling breeze beating itself through the wires of the grand stand. Indeed it seemed an afternoon set apart for the Washington base ball game.

WASHINGTON MAN DROWNED. Attacked With Vertigo and Fell Overboard. There was a sad ending to the Washington base ball excursion to Greenville Friday. As the extension boats were returning to Washington A. J. Mitchell, who was on the gas boat Magnolia, had an attack of vertigo, fell overboard and was drowned. The accident occurred between Pictolis and Grimesland landings. Mr. Mitchell was between 45 and 50 years old and leaves a wife and four children. The body had not been recovered at last report.

PERSONALS AND SOCIAL Thursday, June 22, 1905. The Suffolk base ball boys left this morning. Dr. R. L. Carr returned this morning from Danville. Mrs. W. T. Barton and children went to Reidsville this morning. Mrs. O. C. Cathoun, of Shermerside, was in town this morning. W. H. Harrington returned Wednesday evening from Weldon.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT. Washington, June 20.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions says: Further improvement in the condition of cotton is very generally indicated throughout the cotton belt. The crop is now in a good state of cultivation, although some fields contain foul in portions of the central and western districts and in Florida. While, as a rule, good growth is reported, the plant continues small. Rice are still plentiful in North Carolina, but are less numerous in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

THE SELECTION OF PEACE ENVOYS. St. Petersburg, June 22.—The Russ says it is authorized to say that Count Cassini, the retiring Russian ambassador at Washington will not participate in the peace negotiations, but will leave the United States immediately on the arrival of Baron Rosen, his successor.

STRONG AGAIN is what Mrs. Lucy Slovick of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will take it.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body and rebuilds the weak organs.

POOR PRINT

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., TUESDAY, JUNE 27, 1905.

Trying to keep cool is mighty hot work these days.

Even the war news is not in it with base ball in Greenville.

The Suffolk ball team laid 9 goose eggs out at Arthur's Ball Park.

The Baptist mid summer meeting will begin at Jackson Springs next week.

Some folks may be waiting for a double tax to remind them when tax listing time is.

For keeping in the public eye the rivalry between Charlotte and Greensboro is sharp.

This way of cotton jumping up in price just between crops brings no comfort to the farmers.

If the war could end at once Lincolnton could escape without having a sinking spell.

Interest in the Republican double newspaper venture at Greensboro has about run its course.

The most wise thing for the Car to do would be to follow the examples of its uncles and resign.

Governor Folk has an all summer job on his hands in attempting to break up betting in Missouri.

We are a little surprised that Greensboro did not make a bid for the Japo Russ Peace Conference.

The weather bureau has been trying for several days to make it "cooler tomorrow." It continues warm.

A Western judge says playing poker is wicked gambling. Wonder how much the judge lost in his last game?

We are glad to learn that Col. John R. Webster, editor of Webster's Weekly, at Leedsville, is improving.

It is said the hoop skirt is coming back. We hope it will be side-tracked or wrecked somewhere on the way.

We learn that peace and quietude is reigning in Durham. We suppose her attention has been diverted by Greensboro.

Is luxury a menace? asks the Savannah News. It may be, but we are perfectly willing to try it the rest of our life.

An exchange says that Newport society are to try Turkish cigarette. They will serve them right if they find them guilty.

A middle western man shipped ten barrels of Irish potatoes a few days ago. And in turn received 15 cents for the shipment.

The old story of the fellow who tells his lady love that he is not worthy of her is never found out by his lady love until after she is married to him.

In a New York divorce trial the fact was disclosed that the husband in the case did the family washing, owing to poverty and his wife's high mindedness we suppose.

The man who argues that we should sleep more may be talking good logic, but all of us have years without number of sleep awaiting us when it is all over here. The rest will come bye and bye.

The Norfolk Virginia Pilot reports that a snake was seen there Saturday crawling on the street. The only thing strange about this story is that the Pilot don't say whether the snake was accompanied by monkeys and alligators.

"Most men like women in plain, simple clothes," quotes the Houston Post. Not altogether most men like to see their wives in handsome clothes, but a great majority can't afford to see their wives in handsome clothes. Therefore, they prefer the simple fabric.

Mrs. Rogers, the condemned Vermont murderess, has escaped the gallows. The governor has given her a reprieve until December in order that she might take an appeal to the United States Supreme court on certain constitutional questions touching her case.

As might have been expected that lightning 18-hour schedule between New York and Chicago resulted in a big wreck. The disaster killed nineteen people and wounded many more. The railroad has decided to quit the fast trip and move back to a 20 hour schedule.

We learn that some farmers have decided to take their plows and turn their potato crop up side down. This is mighty tough on our farmer friends. The farmer who planted for a $1,000 crop is just about that much in the hole now.

The difference between a politician and a statesman is this. A politician is a man who has held an office and wants another one. A statesman is a man who has held office and keeps right on holding one. See the difference?

A young man in a New York town dreamed the other night that he had fallen heir to $15,000, and strange to say, the next day his dream came true. This is out of the ordinary. Usually when a person dreams that he has suddenly become heir to a fortune, he only wakes in the morning to find that he has been riding a night mare all night.

Dr. Charles E. Taylor, who has been president of Wake Forest College for twenty years, has tendered his resignation because of feeble health. Dr. Taylor has made the college an exceptionally able president, and has given it rank with the best educational institutions in the South. Prof. W. L. Poteat, who has been professor of biology in the college for a long time, has been chosen to succeed Dr. Taylor and will make a worthy successor to him.

It took just about five years to settle the Gattis Kilgo case. It certainly looks to us like some method ought to be devised wherein litigation might be settled in a shorter space of time. The prolonging from one court to another very often brings about hardship to the side that is weaker financially. As to the merits of this case we confess to know very little, but it is a fact that the man with the ability financially to prolong litigation indefinitely winds too great a power in our courts. It did seem so in this particular case.

A Salisbury distiller who has swindled the government out of $22,000, was tried in the Federal court at Charlotte and given his choice of two sentences: To go to prison for two years and pay a fine of $5000, or restore the money of which he had defrauded the government, go to jail for two months and pay a fine of $200. He accepted the latter. But what we started out to say about this man is that the mayor, a minister and several other prominent citizens of Salisbury went to the trial and testified to his integrity and good character. And he a distiller who had stolen $22,000.

The county commissioners have levied a road improvement tax of 61 cents on each $100 valuation. While the tax is small, it will raise enough revenue to pay interest on a bond issue sufficiently large to put all the roads in the county in good condition. If bonds were issued for this purpose all the people of the county could quickly get the benefit of improved roads, and the present generation would have nothing but a little interest to pay each year for the benefit derived. There are some people who lift their hands in horror when a bond issue is proposed, but it is the cheapest way to get improvements. Good roads would be the best investment that could be made.

Governor Joseph E. Folk, of Missouri, in his address at the commencement at Vanderbilt University said:

"It is one thing to be against wrong; it is quite another thing to fight wrong. One is an non-combatant that never won a cause, the other a soldier in a fight. Good citizens need to become more aggressive. The man that is afraid to show his colors, and stand in the open against evils, is of little benefit to good government. The country needs soldiers of peace as well as soldiers of war. Monroe proclaimed the doctrine of America for Americans. The Missouri doctrine invites that phase and applies it both ways. Americans for America is the slogan that needs to be sounded now."

In discussing at length the Chinese boycott of American manufactured goods the New York Times says:

"Clearly the best possible policy for our government would be to repeal the oppressive features of our laws which are in contradiction to our treaty pledges, which we could do with very little harm to the interests of even the most violent foes of Chinese workmen. This the mercantile bodies who have trade with China urge, and the President has, it is reported, substantially promised to recommend it to Congress. Whether Congress will pay any attention to it depends on the force and direction of public opinion and that is as yet uncertain."

Does this boycott amount to anything? We think it does, and the South will be the biggest loser. In China lies our hope to create new markets for the sale of our cotton goods. If this field is shut off the South can look for low prices for the next three or four years.

It is now reported that several representatives of this country are to go to the "pig tail" state to investigate that boycott of American manufactured goods. It has developed that such a movement is on foot in China. We clip the following from the Danville, Va., Bee, which we think in a measure explains the cause of this threatened boycott. It says:

"We know perfectly well what circumstance has furnished the provocation for the boycott. It is not the mere existence of a law in this country excluding certain classes of the Chinese from our shores, but it is the harsh method of enforcing that law. The law itself is based upon a treaty which China is a party, but the method of its enforcement has been such as to render it extremely offensive. This being the case, there is reason to doubt whether it is worth while to send men to China to locate the trouble. The trouble is not there, but here. What calls for investigation with a view to its modification is the method of our immigration officials. We should try to remove the cause of the irritation, and the indications are that the cause is in this country."

Not Too Jubilant

And now the estimate for the year's cotton crop has been set at eight million bales. On this estimate alone some persons are counting on high prices next fall. It is not safe to become too jubilant over such a prospect, even if the forecast were a reasonable one. It was Henry W. Grady, we believe, who said that cotton is a fool. It might be added now that it often makes fools of men. Humanity's memory is treacherous in some things, and object lessons often count for little; and if the expectation of ten cents for cotton next fall should be a good hold upon the people now, they might get ten cents and be no better off than if they should get only eight cents. Such expectation would flush the people with a spirit of extravagance and their accounts would be larger at the end of the year. Let's not be too jubilant over the prospect of high prices in the fall. Many changes can come in four months.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Why Discriminate and Call it Justice

How poverty works against a man even in some courts finds exemplification in the case of Johnan Hoch, now under sentence of death in Chicago for the murder of one of his many wives. Hoch wants to appeal his case to the Supreme court of the state, but cannot do so unless he can raise $700 to defray the expense of making up the record of the case on appeal. There is something hard, something cruel, something unjust in this. It means that a poor man in Illinois is deprived of the power to appeal to the Supreme court because he is poor. Because it is Hoch has nothing to do with it. He is a citizen not allowed the rights because he is poor. This would apply to any poor man, we take it. Let a man of money or with friends of wealth would find no trouble in appealing to the higher court. It is almost like liberty being purchased and in some cases it would be purchased.—Charlotte News.

It is said that the Yancey county commissioners have declined to pay interest on bridge bonds because the structure was not satisfactorily constructed. The owners of the bonds, who are residents of Ohio, had nothing to do with the bridge contract, having only paid cash for the bonds. If correctly stated, this is about the rankest instance of repudiation yet attempted in North Carolina. It is as if a man borrow money and make an unprofitable deal with a third party and refuse on that account to pay back the amount borrowed. The courts will in all probability decide for the bondholders.—Charlotte Observer.

Greensboro never fails to come in for its share of sensational cases. The case against N. Glenn Williams has been continued for a hearing in this city in October.—Greensboro Telegram.

GREENVILLE'S GREAT DEPARTMENT STORE.

DOPE FOR THE FANS.

Hot Lines From All Quarters of the Diamond.

Are you going to Kingston? Ned Laughinghouse was there. Maybe "Pap" didn't hit 'em some.

Walker and Rowe sure work well double. Paul Metrick carried the biggest megaphone.

My! but that boy "Gene" Turner can play anywhere. Siamous made the prettiest catch in the game.

The hamlet, insignificant on the Tar, Ha! Ha! He! He! Did you ever see a player boot 'em around like Short?

Geel! but there was a lot of swell oolies in the grand stand. The great wonder Springs only found the air three times.

The team work of the Greenville team is what did the work. Rowe and Harris both hit at 200 in the game. How is that?

It was a gala day crowd at the ball game, a regular record breaker. Washington came up with colors flying but went back with them trailing.

Did you ever see two such tired looking "wonders" Ha! King and Watson.

Harris, Thompson and Forbes are a fast trio. They took mighty good to me.

Spring looks pretty good running bases, he is the fastest man on either team.

Poor little "Cotton Top" King, don't look tired! Energy, energy, where art thou!

Greenville has a roving bunch. Who couldn't play ball with such fat supporters?

Little Dave Whitehead saw, the game. He said it suited him, and was all to the good.

The Washington crowd was good looking, orderly, and enthusiastic, but weren't they sore?

At last the merchants laying to the team! All of them closed, and their fronts were decorated in fine style.

Didn't Turner E., work 'em, best out a butt down third and next time up dumped one down toward first and bolt it out.

The loggers from the lumber camp down the Pamlico have learned that there are some ball players at the hamlet up the Tar called Greenville.

"Tige" kept the blackboard and marked the score, filling in the blank space with pictures. His 9th inning cartoon was "EZY."

If you were standing around the catcher at the game, don't you think it would have been far more fair to the two teams, and to the people in the grand stand who had paid more than you, if you had stood back as you should have done? Try to improve on it next time. It is not fair to the catcher. By the way, isn't Rowe rather a warm rag?

After defeating Suffolk, Washington sent out a challenge to any club in North Carolina or Virginia to play a game in Washington. The Washington club, on the Washington grounds, with a Washington umpire can beat any club in the United States, John McGraw's aggregation not excepted. But they can't do it elsewhere.

John Ivey Smith was not commented on in the regular write up. John is a sul generis, excuse that Latin, please, but it's the expression for him. John marshalled his team well, and directed their movements with a master hand. No wonder we won the game. You feel one of those satisfied feelings when you see a ball going to John's precinct, and you usually see a good stunt when he goes to the bat. John makes a pretty good captain, don't you think?

Greenville deplors and condemns the trouble that occurred near the end of the last inning. A man with too much "hoose" tripped up a Washington runner who was making for the home plate and hurt him. The runner grabbed his feet and knocked his man down. As both were Klantonian and chums, with honors between them being about even, it should be no cause for contention between Washington and Greenville. All the same Greenville regrets such an occurrence on her grounds and condemns it.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, according to Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds to be "re-quired." A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonville, Va., serves as example. He writes: "I had Bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all Lung and Throat troubles, Consumption, Pneumonia and Grip. Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten, Druggist. Trial bottle free, regular sizes 50c, and $1.00.

Pointed Paragraphs.

It's a wise proverb that knows its own father.

He who wears a long face doesn't necessarily live the longest.

In marriage one and one make one; in divorce one from one leaves two.

Any fool can write poetry, but it takes a wise guy to swap it for ready money.

Men who talk much usually say but little, and bore everybody except themselves.

Nothing worries a pessimist more than the noise made by people who shout for joy.

When a young man asks for the hand of an heiress he means the one in which she carries her purse.

Occasionally a bachelor kisses a baby girl because he hasn't the nerve to tackle one nearer his own size.

In after years it usually gives a married man a headache every time he hears another man whistling the wedding march.

Word of all Experiences.

Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Newson, Decatur, Ala. "For three years" she writes, "I suffered from indigestion, stomach and bowel troubles. Death seemed inevitable when doctors and all remedies failed. At length I tried the result try Electric Bitters and I improved at once and now I'm completely recovered." For Liver, Kidney, Stomach and Bowel troubles Electric Bitters is the only medicine. Only 50c. It's guaranteed by J. L. Wooten, Druggist.

Village Pleasures.

As the days glide past we become more and more content to live in a small country town. Of course, city life is a great institution, but there are those things offered by the country town that compensate for the loss of the city attractions. If we decide to nail another lath on our chicken coop, we can do so without fearing a call from the carpenter's union; if we want to carry home a piece of kindling, we can do so without being boycotted by teamsters; and only two of the things enjoyed by the man who is willing to forego the pleasures offered by city life.—Kalena (Kan.) Republican.

BALL TEAM ENTERTAINED.

A Pleasant Evening for the Boys and Friends.

Last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White the ball team gathered at an informal reception. Others present besides the team were Misses Nina and Mary James, Ada Wooten, Alice White, Maud Nixon.

Mr. and Mrs. White are ideal entertainers, and made everybody feel at home, and gave them a nice time.

Music, vocal and instrumental was rendered by Miss Nina James, and others of the company.

Refreshments were served in the dining-room, and soon after the evening had flown, and it was time to bid the host and hostess goodbye. It was a pleasant occasion, and every member of team enjoyed it, and pronounced it the pleasantest occasion of the season.

Driven to Desperation.

Boggy Wrecked.

There was a run away at the ball crowd was returning from the game in Arthur park, Friday evening. A boggy, literally smashed to pieces was the extent of the damage. A colored boy occupying the boggy was thrown out but escaped injury.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates on experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I became most sick and some cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain colic mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better that he would rather send it to me in the first place. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store.

CLAUDE BERNARD'S INFAMY.

His Sin Has at Last Unmasked Him.

There is nothing truer under the sun than the Scriptures' teaching "Be sure your sin will find you out." A man may go on in sin for a time and by his shrewdness or ingenuity—or lying—keep his misdeeds hid for a time, but sooner or later the mask will be torn off and he is held up in his true light to public scorn.

Such is the career of C. M. Bernard, an erstwhile citizen of Greenville, for whom the town "grew too warm" and caused him to seek other pastures. While there were some ready to shield him, there were many who believed he was a scoundrel, a libertine, a home-destroyer, "a wanderer in sheep's clothing." Yet under that system of society that opens its arms to a man who is a sinner, though he be more dangerous than a rattlesnake—this man was allowed to go on in his high places until his own infamy exposed him. But the pity of it is that this did not come until other lives had been ruined, and others suffered beside himself.

We will let the Raleigh News and Observer of Sunday tell the remainder of the story:

At approximately ten o'clock yesterday morning, Raleigh Police-man Ike Rogers shot and, in all probability fatally wounded John Dockery, United States Deputy Marshal and a son of Marshal Henry Dockery, United States Marshal for the Eastern District of North Carolina.

The trouble arose over reports of misconduct with the daughter of Mr. Rogers as Mr. Dockery, and similar reports as to the daughter of Mr. H. C. Howell with Claude Bernard, a prominent Republican of Raleigh and ex-District Attorney, who was formerly expelled from Greenville on a charge of a similar import. Bernard is married; Dockery is a single man, less than thirty years of age. Rogers is quite an old man, over sixty years old.

The shooting has created the greatest excitement and sentiment is greatly mixed as to the right or wrong of Mr. Rogers' action as to the daughter of Mr. H. C. Howell with Claude Bernard, a prominent Republican of Raleigh and ex-District Attorney, who was formerly expelled from Greenville on a charge of a similar import. Bernard is married; Dockery is a single man, less than thirty years of age. Rogers is quite an old man, over sixty years old.

HAPPENINGS AT THE RABBIT'S FOOT.

Storm Interfered With Performance.

It was with the pleasure of little children that many of the men and boys of the town followed the road of the Rabbit's Foot people, and they were happy in the anticipation of the evening performance. The show would have given an entertaining and decent performance but for the interruption of the thunder storm.

The show is composed of men that can do most any thing. In the afternoon, Saturday, they exhibited their talent in a well played game of base ball with the local colored team. It resulted in a victory for them by a score of 6 to 2, and among them are slingers of trained ability, cake-walkers, soloists, comedians, and first-class jugglers.

Quite a number of the white people went to their tent for the show, among them was a machinist a tobacco man, and one hardware man, all well known and prominent in the life of the town, and with this trio were people in great numbers, forming a swell multitude. They were silent with expectancy, and impatiently eager for the performance, when suddenly the dusty atmosphere of the Heavens was knocked to restless atoms by tremendous claps of thunder, the darkness of the night was made lurid with the lightning's flash, and almost immediately the windows of Heaven opened themselves and water, water in great torrents began to fall. The sheltering tent of the Rabbit's Foot lifted itself, and the assembled spectators found themselves drenched by the drippings of the clouds.

But back to our trio. The machinist began his exit from the confusion and found a terror-stricken negro swinging to his coat tail; as the hardware man was passing out a tent pole dealt him a blow on the upper story, and he found a momentary resting place on his mother earth; the tobacco man was the last to leave the wind tossed tent; as he was passing out the upshooting hand of a negro man knocked from his cranium his stiff ping hat, and for a solid half hour he looked for his head piece in the dripping rain. Thus ended the day for the trio, and for most of the others there it ended in a thorough wetting.

At the residence of the bride's parents in Greenville there occurred Sunday night the marriage of Mr. John R. Forbes and Miss Delphia Abrams, residents of Pitt county and Greenville respectively. The ceremony, which was solemnized at 8 p. m., was witnessed by a large number of the friends of the bride and groom, and many were the congratulations showered on them by their large circle of acquaintances. Rev. H. H. Moore, minister of the Christian church, officiated.

CHARLIE'S AUNT.

A Local Play—For Benefit of Public Library.

Every single public spirited citizen of Greenville ought to attend the play to be given in the opera house the latter part of this week, or the first of next. The exact date will be announced later. It is to be given by local talent and all proceeds are to be given for the improvement of the public library. It should be well attended not only because it is for a good purpose, but because it will be worth the small admission fee.

It is a comedy in three acts, and is full of fun from beginning to end. It is the story of two college boys at Oxford University, and of their funny experiences.

The cast of characters is as follows: Stephen Spettigue, solicitor at Oxford, Jack Francis.

Colonel Sir Francis Chesney, State Indian Service, Frank Wooten.

Jack Chesney, under graduate, Stuart Carr.

Charley Wychon, St. Oide College, Fred Horaslay.

Lord Falconet Gobbeby, Oxford, Tom Moore.

Brosset, College Scout, John Horne.

Donna Lucia De' Leodory, from Oax, Mrs. Daywood Day.

Kitty Verdum, Spettigue's Ward, Miss Willie Skinner.

Amey Spettigue, Spettigue's Niece, Miss Lotie Bow.

Ella Delechy, an Orphan, Miss Alice White.

Each of these are good impersonators and well studied their parts well, and they deserve a good patronage.

In the meantime Jack Chesney and Charley Wychon will give a luscious party at their rooms in honor of their school mates, Miss Verdum and Spettigue, in order for them to meet Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia De' Leodory who however, at the moment falls from the top of the building.

The boys pull one of the hole in college boys always do. They are assisted by Gobbeby whom they accidentally find peering his part for a play he is to be in the following night. His part is that of a woman, and he is dressed in woman's costume. He agrees to become Donna Lucia, and chaperone the girls.

In the meantime Jack's father, Sir Francis Chesney, pays his son a visit. He is up against it financially, and decides to propose to Donna Lucia for the sake of her "dough." While they are gathered there Spettigue, the guardian of the girls comes in a towering rage to take them away, but decides to stay for lunch, so he too can meet Charley's aunt.

The scene of the second act is the garden.

Old Bobb, taking advantage of his position acts entirely too affectionately toward the two girls to suit Jack and Charley, but he has the "ups" on them, and they have to play wum. While they are in the garden the true Donna Lucia appears and calls herself Mrs. Smith. With her she brings Ella Delechy, her adopted daughter.

Old Bable still posing as Donna Lucia finds himself in several embarrassing positions. The true Donna Lucia asks him for a story of her former husband, and of course he cannot tell one, another time he wants to pay his respects to Ella Delechy, but cannot, because of his woman's garb.

In the third, and last act, the destinies of each are brought to much Damage Done by Wind and Rain.

The storm of Saturday night was a fierce one, and was accompanied by severe lightning and thunder.

The gardens in town suffered not a little; everything that was big enough was blown down, a great many trees were broken and blown about the streets, and for a short time the streets and houses were in total darkness, the lightning had burned the wires in several places and caused the belt on the engine at the plant to slip.

The wind blew the smoke stack of the Geo. S. Pritchard Co. down. A tree in Capt. C. A. White's yard was blown down on his well it house and demolished.

The Baptist church suffered some damage from water by its outer wall that protected the vacant space around the basement giving away.

The streets in many places were badly cut and washed.

Crops in the vicinity were badly beaten down and damaged.

The rainfall reached nearly 3 inches.

If a dog were brushed every day for five or ten minutes, against as well as with the grain, his coat would not only have a luster, but would cease to distribute itself all over the place, except for a very short time once or twice a year. Besides this, brushing has a stimulating effect on the whole system, helps the blood circulation; by this the digestion, and so the general health.

As examples of brushing versus washing. I have a dog I named last June at the Ladies' show at Mineola; he has not been washed since. Another, that was shown at Newport last September has not been washed since; two others, that were shown at New York last February, have not been washed since, and still another which I have had for a year and a half has never been washed at all. In the warm weather they get plenty of swimming, and in the winter rolls in snow, or a drizzle in the rain, but a good rub down afterward."

Register of Deeds has issued marriage license to the following couples since last report.
