THE WELL DRESSED MAN

Should consider with great forethought the suit he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season. His general appearance will depend largely upon the fit of his clothes, and the CLOTHES he wears.

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those unreliable firms who deal in shoddy and pin your faith to GRIFTON clothes.

Good Fit: This is one essential that you should exercise with more care than all others. A poor fitting suit is a poor piece of property. But it matters not how tall you are, how slim you are, how stout you are, how short you are, we have 'em to fit your form. A 'Grifton' suit has the distinction of being distinctly stylish.

All the new things are here. At any price from $10.00 to $22.50. We will make it very interesting to you. Bring your shoulders with you.

TO THE WHITE TEACHERS.

The first meeting of the Teachers' association for the present school year will be held in the Greenville graded school building on Saturday, Oct. 14, 1905. Every teacher in the county is compelled by the rules governing the schools to be present. I desire to say to you in all frankness that a conscientious teacher will have to be disappointed if you are not. Regretters and blanks for all the seasons will be distributed that day and thoroughly explained. A letter from the state superintendent will also be given you which will find for you unless your registers are properly kept and the blanks properly filled. Information as to how this can be done will be given at this meeting. If you cannot be present and have any trouble about these you will have someone to blame except yourself. I desire also to have a full report from you that day as to where you are going to teach, your salary, etc. It may be worth something to you and your school for the report to be made by you and recorded for reference for the board of education.

Some things will be done this year that have not been required heretofore. It is absolutely necessary that they be done. If you don't know what they are I don't know what you can do them. This meeting will be the time and place where such information will be given. All of your schools will begin before the next meeting. If you are not here I don't know what you will do. A great meeting is what we wish and what we hope to have that day. See to it that you are present.

County Supt. Schools.

RELIGIOUS WEEK IN TARBORO

Episcopal Mission Service and Baptist Association.
Tarboro, N. C., Oct. 6th.
This week has been notably a religious one for Tarboro. At Calvary Episcopal church Rev. Perry Webber, arch deacon of Maine, assisted by the rector Rev. Mr. Harding, has just closed a mission which lasted a period of nearly a week. Mr. Webber is an able divine.

On the afternoon of the last Sabbath, to an audience composed of men exclusively he strongly advocated a high standard of morality, and a similar theme embraced his discourse to a congregation of the opposite sex the following afternoon. His reasons were the product of a cultured mind and made their impression on all who heard them. There was a daily celebration of the Holy Communion. Much interest was manifested throughout the mission and the spirit of piety was greatly revived.

Three new pastors were introduced, these being Revs. J. E. Aycock, of Greenville, W. W. Barnes, of Elm City, and J. T. Eubaaks, of Bethel.

In the afternoon a report on Sunday schools was read and discussed by the Rev. J. T. Jenkins. A report on periodicals was then read by Rev. T. S. Cruikshank and discussed by others of the brethren. Rev. R. D. Carroll read and discussed an interesting report on temperance. State missions was the subject of some what lengthy discourses after a report thereon had been read by Rev. Mr. Marshburn. The association resolved to raise one thousand dollars in the next sixty days for such missions.

The address of welcome made by Rev. M. P. Davis, of Tarboro church and was responded to by Rev. S. L. Morgan on behalf of the association. A prayer was made for the Rev. Geo. W. Duks who had been detained at home by the illness of his daughter. He was to have made the historical address.

The devotional exercises which opened the session Tuesday evening were conducted by Rev. J. E. Hood of Nashville. This service was in commemoration of the organization of the Tar River association at old Sandy Creek seventy five years ago. Rev. Mr. Bailey, of Wake Forest, made a splendid address on "The future outlook of the Baptists."

The Wednesday morning session was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. H. Marshburn. Foreign missions was made the special order of business. Dr. Bomar submitted a carefully prepared missionary map of the world and delivered an able address from his subject of missions. One thousand and five hundred dollars were voted to be raised during the next year for foreign missions.

PLANT IS PROSPERING AND CONSUMERS ARE GIVEN THE BENEFIT.

The price of electric current for use in domestic and business houses has been reduced from 12 cents per kilowatt to 10 cents. The patronage of the municipal plant has so increased that the water and light commissioners, at their monthly meeting Wednesday night, found that this reduction could with safety be made. It speaks well for a plant that has been in operation only a few months, and the reduction in price means a considerable saving to the consumers. For instance those who have heretofore used 20 kilowatts per month at a cost of $2.40 will hereafter get the same service for $2, those using 10 kilowatts at $1.20 now getting it for $1, and so on for whatever quantity the customer uses. At this low rate of 10 cents per kilowatt the number of customers will no doubt be further increased.

LAST EXAMINATION.

Only next Thursday, Oct. 12, will be held the last examination of the year for white teachers. All those who have not been examined must be present then.

IN MEMORIAM

EDITH REYNOLDS:
Please allow me space in your paper to announce the death of Willey C. son of M. G. and Florence Maye, who was taken so early from this world by a fatal accident at the factory of the Building & Lumber Co. where he was an employe and also a stockholder. Willey was born September 26th, 1881 and died August 17th, 1905; making his stay on earth 25 years 10 months and 21 days. He was wounded August 17th about 10 o'clock a. m. and died at 5 o'clock p. m. A loving father, brother and skilled physician did all they could for his recovery, but alas, a higher power laid a strong hand upon his life and bore his soul away so peacefully to another world, and left a lifeless corpse to be taken home to so many broken hearts for their last look upon his cold and silent face.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. N. Manning August 18th at four o'clock p. m., after a host of relatives and many friends to mourn their loss, but we hope that our loss is his Heavenly gain. In blooming youth he was so bright. And treasured as a flower, But was taken from this world of strife, By a stronger hand than ours. He was noble, strong and brave, With no afflictions bent; But was brought so early to his grave By an awful accident. We can meet on earth no more, But hope to meet some day, Beyond the toils and cares of life, In a brighter land than day. Written by his loving sister, LUVENIA MOYER.

Funeral services at the Episcopal church. As announced in Tuesday's paper the Mission services at the Episcopal church conducted by Bishop Strange will begin next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The subjects for the night sermons through the following week being as follows: "Salvation," "Repentance," "Faith," "Conversion," "Baptism," "Holy Communion," "The Church of God," "The Episcopal Church," "The Heart of Religion."

There will also be morning services through the week beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The first three sermons at the morning services will be on Spiritual growth, subjects "Prayer," "Fasting," "Almsgiving." The last three of the morning sermons will be on the Approach to God, through the "Mind," "The Heart," and the "Will."

These morning sermons will be practical studies on the Christian's devotional life, and I hope that many will hear them.
W. E. Cox, Rector.

HURRAH FOR THE LIBERTY. Tobacco Sales for September, 1905. Led the market by 83 cents per hundred, the market averaging $6.98, while the Liberty's average was $7.81, thereby showing an advantage of 83 cents per hundred to the seller who were wise enough to patronize the Liberty. Our doors are open to the inspection of the public. This is no cheap talk. We are here with the money to back our every statement, and to convince you that the Liberty is the place to sell your tobacco if money is any inducement. Why not?

Your friends,
W. T. Lipscomb & Co.

MISTOOK HIS MAN.

Clothes Are Not Always a Reliable Guide to the Individual.

A certain earl whose disregard of dress is quite proverbial called at his tailor's to pay his bill. A new manager came forward to receive the cash, and, not knowing his lordship, took him for a servant. He examined the account, and, finding it would have been two. You don't get your master's clothes worn out half quick enough. Is that time he ought to have had double the amount on that bill, and it is really worth your while to get a harder brush.

With a built grin the earl replied, "Well, I've always thought my brush uncommonly hard, and anyhow his lordship complains of it."

"None the less," ejaculated the manager, "I'll not get you up to a wrinkle that may even pass an occasional 50 note into your pocket. Just look here a moment. You see this bit of stick that I have just taken from the shelf? Well, that's roughened up for purpose. You take that and give your master a good scrubbing about the elbows every day and give the trousers a touch about the knees, and it's at least a good 25 in your pocket every year. You needn't think that we shall forget you."

"You are indeed very kind," said the earl with a meaning smile. "I may impart your very kind instructions to my valet, though I fear while he remains in my service he will not be able to profit by them. As for the future I shall not trouble you with my custom. I happen to be the Earl of ... I wish you good morning."—London Chronicle.

Abstemious.

"I'm getting awfully abstemious lately," said a light haired woman in conversation with a friend on a Chestnut street car. "The things I do in an abstemious fashion are almost too ridiculous to repeat. No, I'm not in love. Really, I can't account for my funny lapses that way. The other afternoon I took a cent out of my purse to pay a newsboy for a paper. I began to read the paper, but the boy stood there and laughed. I looked up to see what he was laughing at and found that I had given the boy my pocketbook and was tightly clutching the penny myself. Last night I did the worst yet. I wanted something in the pantry quite late in the evening, and as there is no gas there I lit a lamp to take in with me. When I got inside the pantry door I was surprised to find that I was still in darkness, and on coming out again I found I had carried in a glass of water that had drawn instead of the lamp that I had lighted."

"Better take something for it," suggested the friend sympathetically.—Philadelphia Record.

Very Tired Indeed.

It remained for a little girl to nearly if not quite equal a famous witticism of Leigh Hunt. Of course she spoke in childish innocence where the English essayist and wit used his ripened intellect.

Hunt, in describing an exceedingly warm day, it will be remembered, spoke of it as one which tempted him to strip of his flesh and sit in his bones.

The dear little miss had been romping and running all day. To ward nightfall her father met her. "Are you not very tired, little one?" he asked.

"Oh, not so very tired, papa," she replied. "Even in a burst of confidence she whispered, 'Only I do feel as though I'd like to take my legs off and carry them awhile.'"

Sincere Flattery.

Melissa is a tall, fine looking colored girl, and Mrs. Compton, with whom Melissa lives as cook, is a small, fair haired woman. The mistress entertains great respect for her maid's culinary powers, and Melissa addresses Mrs. Compton.

"I reckon I's done learned an awful lot since I come hyar to lik Miss Compton," said Melissa triumphantly one day. "I's done learned how to walk out 'pear jes like do quality folks when I go out. An' now you's giben me dat handsome yaller 'peas' I spects not to be dat first time I walk out under it de monster 'll step up to me an' he'll say, 'Sease me, but am I speakin' to Miss General Compton?'—Yendi's Companion.

Strange Reptile Farm.

Perhaps the most extraordinary reptile farm that was ever instituted was one which existed for a time in Bengal. The government, wishing to keep down the price of that deadly snake, the cobra, offered a reward for every dead cobra which should be brought in to a police station. The wily Hindoo saw an opportunity of making money. Therefore a small syndicate was formed and a nursery for cobras was established.

Unchanged.

"Yes," says the advanced farmer, who really should be called an agriculturist, "there has been a vast change in the methods of those who till the soil. As an instance, nowadays we have machines that cut, thresh and sack the wheat, whereas in other years we cradled it."

The visitor nods understandingly, but says:

"Yet I believe there has not been such great progress in other branches of agriculture. Am I not right in my opinion that you still put corn in a crib?"

A Real Conversion.

Mr. Spurgeon used to tell the following story of the conversion of a servant girl. When she was asked, "Are you converted?" she replied, "I hope so, sir."

"What makes you think you are?"

"Well, sir, there is a great change in me from what there used to be."

"What is the change?"

"I don't know, sir, but there is a change in all things. But there is one thing, I always sweep under the mats now."

OF FOOLS.

in Ghent, Where Belgium's Lullabies Are Chattered.

Ghent is the name of a little town near Antwerp, where the demented are cared for by the Belgian government. It is literally a town of fools, a town whose fools dwell in peace with each other, stroll about the streets and take their Sunday refreshments at the cafes. The town's population is about 1,500 lunatics, who are taken as lodgers by the townsfolk, though all the dangerous cases are placed on the outlying villages or confined in the asylum, which harbors only the harmless.

The treatment of the patients is but a moral course being due to the kindness of the townsfolk. The fees for taking in the "innocents," as they are called, vary from $60 to $600 a year, according to the degree of insanity in which the patient is kept. No matter how much he pays, however, he is the spoiled one of the family, for the people of Ghent are used to understand the management of insane people better than any other known community or institution. This is due to hundreds of years of experience handed down from father to son.

Each patient is really the guest of the household, and in most cases he makes an excellent nurse.

Ghent is ahead of any other city as a place of refuge for "emperors," "kings," "queens," "millionaires," "popes," "ambassadors," "pashas," all of whom are fully honored and given full use for their families. One "king" informs all newcomers that he has two left legs and is obliged to hobble on his boots and trousers made accordingly. Another old gentleman thinks himself the pope of Rome and is perfectly able to fly to heaven, but that for the moment he is too fat. His landlord offers to assist him in making a start from the second floor window, whereupon the "pope" thinks better of his project and prefers to wait until "after tea."—Chicago News.

Webster's Bill That Grew.

Daniel Webster was never noted for attention to detail in business matters. His well known failings were often taken advantage of by unscrupulous editors, who gave no receipt for said bills, simply because they were not demanded. Webster was well aware of this, but it seemed to trouble him very little.

On one occasion a creditor presented a bill which seemed familiar, and Webster asked, "Isn't this bill pretty large?"

"I think so," replied the maker of it, confidently.

"Well," said Webster, handing over the bill, "every time I have paid that bill it has seemed to me a trifle large."

A Quick Game.

A story is told of an actor who was returning home rather early in the morning and came to an early organ grinder. A piece of green tape was stretched over the top of the organ, while a miserable monkey gathered in any receipts. The actor saw the green cloth, stopped and put down a silver dollar, which was immediately grabbed by the monkey. The actor stared a minute, rubbed his eyes and walked away muttering:

"'Quicks' game I ever ran up against in all my life."

Truth in Reference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., Tuesday, Oct. 10, 1905.

The Durham Herald gives as a reason for the president making such a short stay in some of the towns on his Southern trip, that he is to be his way and therefore his time is limited.

Wednesday's regular issue of the Charlotte Observer was back to its normal size, 19 pages, and that just ten days after the union printers' strike. The News and Chronicle have done as well. Pretty good record.

The Supreme Court has decided that Tom Dewey, the New Bern bank cashier embezzler, can not have a new trial, but must serve the six year penitentiary sentence passed upon him by the lower court. So he will at least get part of what he deserves.

Oil has advanced a cent a gallon. And so soon after Rockefeller's big donation of $10,000,000 to higher education.

The business men who argued for a carnival on the ground of it being a trade puller for the merchants are wondering where the trade went to.

Charlotte is getting big over the prospect that the president will stop half an hour in that city instead of five minutes.

In a few days the REFLECTOR will announce the best clubbing offers the paper has ever made. Watch out for it. The offer will include several good magazines at half price.

President Roosevelt has written an Illinois letter that he was dead in earnest when he declared that he would not stand for a third term—counting the time he "did" as a term. We are glad to see some people know when they've got enough of a good thing—Wilmington Star.

To Form Socialist Party.

An effort is to be made to form a socialist party in this state. A state convention is to be held in Greensboro on the 11th of this month. It is claimed by the promoters that the prospects are good for a large attendance. The attempt will be made to effect a thorough organization of the party in this state. Eugene V. Debs the socialist candidate for president last year, is expected to be present, with other leading socialists of the national party.

We let you Marion Butler finds that business of some kind compels him to be in Greensboro on that day, and while there, of course, he will try to make a deal with the socialists, if there are enough present to get up a negotiation with. In the state election in 1904 the socialists polled 109 votes out of the total of 206,134 cast by all parties. This vote was for W. A. Peggam, candidate for governor. This party had only one more candidate in the field, J. C. Lindsay for lieutenant governor, who received 106 votes. So there does not seem to be much cause for fear on the part of the democrats that their party will be greatly weakened by the organization of the socialists. If Marion Butler should succeed in making a deal he will not add greatly to the strength of the Pop-Rep. combination.—Wilmington Messenger.

ADDRESS
To Cotton Planters, Merchants and Bankers.

By HARVEY JORDAN, President Southern Cotton Association.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Southern Cotton Association, held at Asheville, N. C., September 6-8, 1905, where representatives from each cotton producing State and Territory were present, a report on the condition of the cotton crop made up to August 25, was carefully compiled from returns of more than 15,000 correspondents showing a condition of 78 per cent as compared with a condition of 84 per cent for a corresponding period of 1904. An estimate of the crop for this season based on reports from the same correspondents indicated a yield of 9,788,433 bales of cotton. Taking this information as a guide in connection with the present enormous demand for spot cotton by the spinners of the world, the present high prices of cotton goods, and the heavy cost to the producers for cultivating and harvesting this crop, the committee agreed that eleven cents as minimum price, basis middling at all interior points, would be a reasonable and conservative price to be asked by the producers this season. It has been generally reported, and not publicly denied, that spinners can pay twelve cents per pound for middling cotton at the present time and still make good profits in the manufacture of the raw material into the finished fabric. There has been recently declared in Russia and Japan. The whole civilized world is in a most prosperous condition and the nations in all the cotton mills of Europe and America are running night and day to supply the tremendous demands for cotton goods.

COMMISSION EXPERIMENTED.

The enormous crop of American cotton reaching the unprecedented figures of nearly 14,000,000 bales has been easily absorbed by the spinners at an average price of nine cents per pound. Of this crop there was only a small reserve stock of little more than a million bales to be carried into the season of 1905-6 on the first day of September. If no more than ten million bales of cotton are harvested this season to be added to the small reserve stock carried over from the crops of 1904, the mills of the world, at the present rate of consumption, will face a famine in raw cotton before another crop can be planted, cultivated and placed upon the market. The mills have contracted for many months ahead for the delivery of goods to be manufactured out of cotton yet to be brought from the producers. The exporters have sold to the spinners cotton to be delivered in the future months which is yet to be brought from the producers. The spinners and the exporters are heavily short with nothing but paper contracts in their possession, while the farmers of the South hold the spot cotton in their hands and control absolutely the key to the situation. Will the farmers take advantage of the splendid position they occupy, and like men, assert their rights to demand a fair price for this crop at the hands of the buyers? Will not the merchants and local bankers throughout the South line up solidly in unbroken ranks with the farmers against the combinations that are so actively at work to depress prices and defeat the will of the people?

MUST DO OUR DUTY.

Every man in the South, no matter what his avocation, is expected to do his duty during the coming months and to throw their full moral and financial ability in the great fight that we have engaged in. The "bear" speculators of Wall Street and London are using every device known to human ingenuity to depress prices. The International Cotton Spinners of Great Britain have combined to crush the present efforts of the farmers to maintain fair prices, and exporters are doing all in their power to hammer down the market. The solution of the problem is easy and simple. The ability of the farmers to win this fight is unquestioned. Stand together as brothers, battling for the protection of your freeways and your homes, your wives, children and your country. Stop selling cotton at present prices. Call upon your merchants and bankers to aid you in the heroic struggle that lies ahead. Store your cotton in the seed where ever possible and do not have it ginned until later in the season. Store the lint cotton under good sheds to keep it dry on the farm or place it in warehouses, where the receipts are needed as collateral to borrow money to meet maturing obligations. All other lines of business borrow money, why not the farmers, when by so doing they can hold their cotton off the market and materially advance its price. Pay no attention to the "barbarish" literature being printed and circulated broadcast throughout the South. This is done with but one object and that is to discourage and induce you to sell your cotton at prices below its value. As producers you know that the crop is short and that unless you get good prices, at least eleven cents per pound, there will be but little or no profit in this crop.

Hold your cotton and check up the present heavy receipts and demand not less than eleven cents for every pound of middling cotton you have to offer. The Southern Cotton Association, The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, The American Society of Equity, The Farmers' Alliance of North Carolina have all agreed on the minimum price of eleven cents and the membership of these powerful organizations, standing together in unity and harmony can defy the combinations of the world and win another notable victory, the like of which was never witnessed before.

Call your county and district meetings throughout the entire belt. Build up your membership in the Southern Cotton Association and stand firmly together for justice and protection. If you will check the sale of your cotton for 30 or 60 days this Association will guarantee an advance in the price to eleven cents per pound. Do not rush your cotton on a depressed market, but sell slowly and prove to the world beyond all question of doubt that Southern farmers have the ability, the determination and the strength to force the world to recognize their power in maintaining a fair price for their products.

The Southern Cotton Association must be maintained and financed by the farmers of the South. Its power to protect the interest of the producers is recognized and feared by all the leading speculative and cotton interests of America and Europe. If we go down in defeat the enemy will be merciless and it will take twenty years for the South to recover again. Stand by the Association and thereby protect your individual interests. The South is both morally and financially able to manage and protect her interests from the dominating and devastating hands of her enemies.

Last January the price of cotton was depressed to six cents per pound and the Southern Cotton Association was organized at the New Orleans Convention Jan. 26, 1904, to bring about harmony among the producers, merchants and bankers so as to advance the price to ten cents per pound. The world knows that through this powerful organization the price of spot cotton was advanced to ten cents in the South on July 3rd, just five months later. Not only this but the assistance given the "bear" operators by certain officials in the United States Department of Agriculture was exposed through the efforts of the Association and the rescals were promptly turned out. This work has already saved millions of dollars to the South and will continue to do so if fostered and maintained by the people. If the South could advance the price of a 14,000,000 bale crop from 6 cents to 10 cents, clearly it would require but little co-operative effort to secure not less than eleven cents for a 10,000,000 bale crop.

Let the people know the truth, know the power of their strength and then let them act promptly and the victory for higher prices will soon be won, then their great staple will be selling at its real value to the world.

Overwhelmingly Defeated

It seems strange to us in Iredell where we have had the stock law for so long, that there are sections of the State, especially in eastern North Carolina, where opposition to the stock law is very strong. About one fourth of Moore county is under stock law and an election was held Tuesday to pass on the question of putting the remainder of the county under law. The proposition was overwhelmingly defeated and the dozens of Moore county papers were filled with communications for and against the stock law—mostly against. The old argument, that it is contrary to nature, an outrage and a crime, to prohibit cattle running on the range was used with powerful force. It has been 26 years since the stock law was passed for Iredell. It was not voted in; it could not have been at that time for many years afterward. But a member of the Legislature of 1879 was petitioned to pass the law for Iredell and he put it through. It was his first term in the Legislature and his last. He did his county a good service, although his efforts were not generally appreciated at the time. Fact is there was much bad blood and many threats, but no effort was made to repeal the law, everybody got used to it and now we wonder how we would do without it. The Moore county folks, if they had kept quiet, might have prevailed on some member of the Legislature to pass the stock law for them. This is hardly probable now since the election shows such a strong sentiment against the law—Staunville Land mark.

One of our up to date farmers brought a wagon load of seed cotton to our Pitt County Oil Co. ginery and had it ginned making a bale of lint cotton that weighed 500 pounds. He paid one dollar and fifty cents to get it ginned and exchanged his seed for meal and hulls. The services were very pretty, the Bishop and the ministers met from the vestry room to the front of the church and marched in the front door lightening the services as they entered. The ride up the hill was followed by Rev. Nathaniel Harding, C. F. Smith and W. E. Cox. They were in the church and continued the services.

The closing one of the touching scenes in connection with the ordination and consecration services at Greenville and Winterville, respectively, was that of the family of Mrs. Mary Smith, including nearly forty, at a dinner under the grove near the Episcopal church at Winterville. The consecration of St. Luke's church was concluded at 1:30 o'clock on Monday and the family and friends adjourned at once to the home of Mrs. E. E. Cox. Just outside of her yard, the table was spread and the company soon gathered around the board to hear the blessing pronounced by the Bishop of the diocese, Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, D. D. The dear old grandmother here celebrated her eightieth birthday, declaring that it was the happiest one of her life. It was the culmination of a life of earnest endeavor and the supreme moment of all her days. Four generations were represented in the group. Mother, daughters, grand daughters and great grand daughters and the occasion was interesting indeed. After dinner several photographs were taken in groups, the first being composed of the Bishop, the Revs. Nathaniel Harding, Claudius F. Smith and W. E. Cox. Mrs. Smith also sat for a picture with those of her children present. Mrs. Smith first gave herself to her God in the education of her own children. She has given one son and just now a grandson to the sacred ministry and on this day she gave St. Luke's church to her diocese. If it could be said "blessed be Jael the wife of Heber," how much more this saint of God.

"ECHOES FROM THE OPERA."

Editor REFLECTOR:
Regardless of the opinion of the strictly orthodox, as to the purposes of such entertainments as was given in the opera house Tuesday night by Mr. J. S. Atkinson, I feel that the entertainment was a unanimous sentiment of all those present that the entertainment was a superb success from start to finish and the splendid conduct of all small and grown, girls and boys, shows that Greenville is capable and susceptible of a very high order of magnificent man and womanhood.

These have been fully and happily demonstrated that the graded school planted in Greenville only a year ago is bearing excellent fruitage. The orderly and beautiful deportment of those engaged in the entertainment, and their name was "Legion" was a delight to the good people of Greenville and all who were present. The splendid attention given by the large audience was a special earnest of what the audience felt and appreciated, and the audience was a very select representative citizenship of the county of Pitt.

Such an entertainment more often will be ready and only appreciated by the good people of the community. Of Miss Nina James who was the chief support too much could be said. She was simply a very grand, superb scene, a beautiful and modest type of the splendid Southern womanhood, that has so long adorned and made more splendid our beautiful homeland.

To each and every one who had been invited and assistance to this splendid evening pleasure without generating these is but one account well do so.

When you buy paint that is claimed to be equal to Harrison's Town and Country Paint you buy a substitute. You will be constantly reminded of this fact when you compare the appearance of your house to that of your neighbor, who bought Town and Country paint because it was a perfectly pure paint made by Harrison Bros. & Co. who have had over a hundred years experience in the manufacture of paint. And when the cost of Town and Country paint is compared with other paints the balance is in favor of Town and Country paint, because of its wonderful covering capacity. Ask us for color card.

Baker & Hart, Wholesale and Retail Distributors of Town & Country paint.

LETTER TO JOHN W. PAGE.
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir: The cheap paint I buy is the one that covers more than you think; the cheap one to wear is the one that is young when old.

Mrs. Moore, of Keesey, N. Y., bought 16 gallons Devoe's paint her house two years; her painter said it would take that. Had 6 gallons left.

Mr. James Ashley's house, in Cairo (Catskill Mountains), N. Y. was painted Devoe; it wore 14 years; and the paint was in good condition then. He was going to paint, the last we know, though. That's the way to preserve a house repair when there's no occasion.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.

P. S. H. L. Carr sells our paint. North Carolina. In Superior Court. Pitt County. 1 Nov. 1905.

J. F. Harrington, J. S. Barber, Josephus Cox, and I. J. Prizzelle trade and sell as Harrington, Barber & Company.

The defendant above named will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the superior court of Pitt County, to recover certain personal property, its claim and delivery proceedings. And the said defendant will further take notice that he is required to appear at a term of the Superior Court of Pitt County to be held on the 11th Monday after the 1st day of October, 1905, at the court house of said county, and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint. J. C. MOORE, Clerk Superior Court of Pitt County.

"RED Letters," "Blue Signs"

Markdownwits Reduction Ophobia and Salesfever, These ailments are common with most retailers at the closing of the season, but with some of Greenville's retailers it has become "epidemic." Just think of a store selling at cost the whole year. Markdownwits affect the patients pump, veracity—they can't tell the truth. Reductionphobia develops a mania for talking "hot air" and the germ is in some stores in Greenville all the year-round.

Salesfever creates a reckless gathering of "flat, som and jetson," stuff of inferior qualities, no matter what its antecedents, most of it prepared for the store with Red Signs and Markdownwits.

A Veritable Boarding House Hash.

We shall expect our methods to hold. We are neither reformers nor philanthropists, and for young fellows, rather than old-fashioned. But we are determined to build up this store on principle statements based on facts and values and Merchandise beyond any competition.

Newspaper space is too expensive to use for "JOKES."

Our little comparisons, such as reference to the "Merchantile diseases" are very serious statements, and we take this method of calling the attention of the most critical and intelligent purchasing public to these abuses.

It is high time for better business methods any how. This store has demonstrated that to-day, did yesterday, and shall to-morrow.

We are never "over stocked," because we do not buy merchandise because it is cheap.

It must be good or it will not be admitted in this store. We reduce every week, yes every day, if we think it necessary. The new goods are here. Now for a general shake-up all along the line.

WE ARE HERE TO SELL GOODS.

TO EYE SUFFERERS.
Having just returned from the Philadelphia Optical College and graduating in a special course on the human eye, and in the science of optics, I feel fully able and prepared to correct any form of error of refraction that any other man can correct with glasses. I will take any case of weak eyes, or eye strain, dull hurting, seeing, burning or itching eyes, or eyes with bad or low vision, on a positive guarantee, to relieve the trouble and give entire satisfaction to the patient or not charge one cent. The largest per cent. of all chronic headaches and eyestrain originate from errors of refraction and eye strain. It is dangerous to procrastinate when your eyes call for assistance. Glasses are the only remedy for errors of refraction and weak eyes. Any style or form of glasses given desired. As good references as are in the county furnished on application.
Very resp.,
J. W. Taylor, Ref. D.
Those who square, and are that Cannon & Tyson have just received are beautiful.
Oranges, apples, bananas and all fruits kept by Sunrill & McLawhorn.
Cannon & Tyson are guilty of selling their pretty enamel bedsteads cheap. They are dainties. Those Royal Foot Mattresses that Cannon & Tyson handle are the equal of anyone on the market.

Should consider with great forethought the suit he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season.

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those cheap suits which are shoddy and pin your faith to GRIFTON clothes.
