

THE WELL DRESSED MAN

Should consider with great forethought the suit he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season. His general appearance will depend largely upon the fit of his clothes, and the C. T. MUNFORD'S he wears.

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those cheap, shoddy suits who deal in shoddy and pin your faith to GRIFTON'S clothes.

Good Fit: This is one essential that you should exercise with more care than all others. A poor fitting suit is a poor piece of property. But it matters not how tall you are, how slim you are, how stout you are, how short you are, we have 'em to fit your form. A "Grifton" suit has the distinction of being distinctly stylish.

All the new things are here. At any price from $10.00 to $22.50. We will make you very interesting to you. Bring your shoulders with you.

AFTER ANOTHER TRAIN

Petitions in Circulation are Being Generally Signed.

Petitioners are being circulated to ask the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line to put another daily train on this branch of their road. The petition in Greenville is being signed by all the business men, and the same thing is true in the towns of Winterville, Ayden and Grifton where petitions are also in circulation. And judging from the expressions of the Kingston Free Press that town is interested and is joining in the movement for the additional train.

With this concerted action the train ought to be secured. Surely the railroad officials cannot afford to be longer indifferent to the needs of the towns and business interests of this section by refusing to comply with the request in the petition. The road needs another daily train and the business is sufficient to justify its being put on.

The Services at the Episcopate.

Services at the Episcopal church were held for instruction on the great fundamental principles of Christianity, as well as of strong value and inspiration. On Sunday night the subject was "Salvation" showing that according to Holy Scripture, it is not insurance against fire and damnation, but a most real rescue from sin itself and a restoration to his home and God-likeness.

Colored Graded School. The colored graded school opened last week with 101 pupils in attendance. This is a little less than one-third of the colored children of school age in the district, but the small attendance is accounted for in the fact that they are needed at present to pick cotton and are at work. We understand that the principal of the school advises the pupils to work in the early fall months when their labor is so much needed by farmers. It is well that they should follow his advice.

SHELMERDINE ITEMS.

SHELMERDINE, N. C. Oct. 7.

Mr. Matthews, of St. Louis, spent a few days here this week. Mrs. Ricks and daughter, Miss Mary Belle, and Miss Olive Woodard spent several days in Greenville this week attending the carnival.

Mr. Dawson, of Washington, was in town this week. H. B. Phillips returned to his home in Suffolk this morning. H. A. Blos, of Greenville, was in town Friday.

Mrs. F. G. Whaley left Tuesday morning to visit her father who is sick at his home in Suffolk, Va. Mrs. Sykes, of Enfield, is visiting her son, Robert Sykes, who is sick at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bell. S. A. Hux and family will move to Ayden on the 15th inst.

Arthur Williams and family have moved to Enfield. There was an excursion Friday night from this place to Greenville for the benefit of those who wished to attend the carnival. Some of those who attended were Dr. L. E. Ricks, J. H. Stanley, Chas. D. Baker, W. T. Harrell, Pat Harrington, B. T. Pauley and Cecil Harrington.

ORMONDSVILLE ITEMS.

ORMONDSVILLE, Oct. 10, 1905

J. R. Turnage, of Ayden, spent Sunday afternoon with his parents. George Darden went to Snow Hill last Sunday. He seems to have special attractions over there.

Misses Margarette Ormond and Elizabeth Carver went to Greenville Friday and returned Sunday. The series of meetings held at Little Creek last week proved a success, the result being five additions to the church. The pastor, R. I. Corbett, was very ably assisted by Rev. King and Crater, of Ayden.

Quite a large crowd of people met at Ridge Springs last Sunday evening to witness the baptism of the candidates who recently joined at Little Creek.

Will Hardy, who has been confined to his room for about ten weeks, is slowly improving. He has suffered intense pain during this long period.

STATE NEWS.

Next week is the state fair at Raleigh.

Miss Mary Eliza Dancy, who recently died in Tarboro, bequeathed $13,000 for St. Mary's school at Raleigh.

An Asheville woman who recently died, leaving an estate of $10,000, willed to her daughter a $1 calico dress. The daughter is taking steps to upset the will.

The Dr. will be here Friday night Nov. 24 1905 this time. Your eyes, ears, nose and throat and catarrh, come and see him at once. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case. Glasses fitted to suit everybody, old and young.

In an altercation between Sylvester Fleming and W. H. Little, at Washington, the latter was seriously cut.

JAMES C. COBB DEAD

Prominent Citizen of the County Passes Away.

Mr. James C. Cobb died early Sunday morning at his home eight miles from Greenville. He was 83 years old and had been sick some time with trouble incident to old age. Mr. Cobb was a man of prominence and influence in the county and was one of our best citizens. He was a large farmer and for many years a prominent country merchant, retiring from business and turning over to his sons when he became too old to engage actively in it.

Mr. Cobb reared a large and influential family and is survived by five sons, all of whom have attained prominence in the business world and two daughters. These are R. J. Cobb, of Greenville, C. C. Cobb, of Norfolk, L. A. Cobb, of Kingston, J. H. Cobb and B. P. Cobb, of this county. Mrs. O. A. Fries, of Greenville and Mr. C. D. Hooks, of Winterville.

The funeral took place today afternoon being conducted by Rev. J. E. Aycock.

Hear of Meeting Changed.

Appointments were made to fill vacancies on several of the standing committees. The hour of meeting was changed to 7 o'clock p. m. beginning with next Sunday.

Queen of the Carnival

Miss Lillie Stewart, of Petersburg, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. Webb, was crowned queen of the carnival Saturday night. She received 1,815 votes and was presented with a handsome mantle set.

Two Boys Hurt.

On Saturday afternoon while some of the stagers on the carnival grounds were being torn down a piece of falling timber struck two boys that were passing. One of these was Durward Tucker, son of C. A. Tucker, whose head was cut quite severely by the timber. The other boy, a son of Louis Allen, was only slightly hurt.

WELL ABOVE HIGH WATER.

Make Your Foot Prints on The Sands of Time.

When you buy paint that is claimed to be equal to Harrison's Town and Country. Paint you buy substantiate. You will be constantly reminded of this fact when you compare the appearance of your house to that of your neighbor, who bought Town and Country paint because it was a perfectly pure paint made by Harrison Bros. & Co., who have had over a hundred years experience in the manufacture of paint. And when the color of Town and Country paint is compared to the other paints the difference is in favor of Town and Country paint, because of its absolute purity and permanency. Ask your dealer to show you.

Mission Week.

Large congregations are assembling in the Episcopal church, this week, at the services of Mission Week, which began today. H. is an able, earnest and speaks with earnestness and conviction.

Pressing Club.

Get Ready to Laugh.

Humorously is coming, and his friend Foster with him. They will appear in Maxine temple opera house Sunday night, 14th George H. Adams, the popular clown, and a large company of actors and actresses in vaudeville acts and the latest songs and specialties. Scraps of laughter are promised in every act.

Declined Pastorate.

We hear from the Watch Tower that Rev. H. H. Moore has declined the call of the Christian church to serve as pastor for another year. This is to be regretted. Mr. Moore has been in Greenville nearly a year and has endeavored himself to all our people regardless of denomination. We understand he will be asked to reconsider the matter and hope he will do so.

VAN AMBURG SHOW.

Gave Two Performances in Greenville.

The Van Amburg circus, that has been on the road for fifty seven years, gave two performances in Greenville Tuesday. In the afternoon the large tent was fitted to its full seating capacity, and there was also a large crowd at night. There were good some features about the show and both performances pleased the audiences. Some of the best acts were by the Hines family of acrobats in which the children were especially good. Mrs. Siffley in her marvelous slack wire feats, the riding of Chas. Cook and Miss Annie Carroll, and the four horse riding of Dan Leon.

The reputation had preceded the circus here that there were many fakers with it, but we have questioned Chief of Police J. T. Smith on this point and he says there was nothing of the kind in evidence here but that it was one of the cleanest shows he has ever seen in Greenville.

E. J. Govey, the press agent and manager of the circus, was a most clever gentleman.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., Friday, Oct. 12, 1905

C. J. Peters says the cotton crop will be large and advises the farmers to sell as fast as possible, while H. W. Jordan says the crop is small and advises holding. With diverse opinions like this it appears that the farmer must take chances.

So the president's car will be stopped at New or Millbrook in order to let him sleep from 1 o'clock till 7. They must think that the inhabitants of these places are very unenterprising to let the big show sleep in their midst for six hours. — Raleigh Post.

The papers are now talking how good the colleges are at playing football. On Saturday the University beat Davidson college in a game at Charlotte, and the A. M. C. college was beaten by a Virginia team in a game at Charlottesville. The pig skin players are the largest fell we going now.

The next General Assembly of North Carolina will have much to say about insurance, and unless "Andy" Hamilton can buy up the legislators, these companies that do not show clean hands and honest officials will be forbidden to do business in North Carolina. They will not be permitted to take hard-earned Tar-Riff money to buy elections by the legislature, and buy mansions for favorites to live in. News and Observer.

Ellis Rice, now Secretary of State, once prepared a bill which was introduced in the Alabama legislature, providing that all campaign contributions should be made public, and while it did not go nearly far enough, it was far too good to be passed. By the way, which rules New York politics. What would become of Odellism and of the renowned Channing Dewey, if the Harringtons understood the New York Central were obliged to make public the amount they paid to corrupt State politicians and keep personal representatives on the floor of the Senate. — Durham Sun.

The Goat Again

The Agricultural Department's goat expert, Mr. Thompson, has returned from Switzerland with a number of goats to be used as demonstrators of what a goat can do in the hills and gorges. As the Overseer pointed out some time ago, one of the chief reasons why the goat is not cultivated here, and its milk used generally as it is in Switzerland, Germany and other European countries, is because people here get in the habit of laughing at the goat, and as we also pointed out, this goes no harm to the goat, but the American people themselves are deprived of one of the most delicious and one of the most nourishing of foods. It is not correct to say that what the cow is to the American the goat is to the European, for in European countries thousands of families too poor to keep a cow have a goat in the back yard which furnishes milk to the family. Such families in America, and there are thousands of them right here in North Carolina, do not drink cow's milk; instead, they drink no milk at all. The goat can live on anything almost, and its system is so constructed that it can convert almost anything into milk—beetroot straw, clover, weeds, tin cans or anything else.

The Agricultural Department is doing a good work in this respect, and we should like to see the people of North Carolina get interested in goat culture. — Charlotte Observer.

We have noticed somewhere that the slim waisted girl is to come back into fashion. The short arm man will undoubtedly welcome this fact.

The Durham Herald thinks the trouble about getting eleven cents for cotton will be the failure of the farmers to stick together. But the farmers may fool you.

North Carolina may be benighted and all that, but she is ahead of even New York in one thing. We got rid of the battery of prisoners of war, let the Empire State still hangs to it. — Lowell Street Jail is yet used for the imprisonment of this class and all efforts to get the legislature to prevent it have been futile.

Later official reports place the money lost resulting from damage caused by the recent earthquake in Italy at $30,000,000.

The People Pay the Taxes

Railroad taxes have been used, the late, enumerating the blessings of railroads, says they pay a large share of taxes collected by the State. It would be as true to say that the sheriff pays most of the taxes because he collects them. Every dollar paid in taxes is collected by railroad officials from passengers and freight. The consumer and people who ride pay every dollar of the tax. In Georgia railroad property is taxed at only forty per cent of its actual value and in North Carolina at sixty per cent. The State gets only the amount levied on the commercial value. Who gets the difference? It really belongs to the State and should be collected. — News and Observer.

October Days

The autumn days are growing shorter while the evenings grow long and cold. As the days grow shorter and colder one realizes the approach of cold weather and the careful home-maker there comes a desire to fix stove pipes, repair old fire-places and debate the question as to crates or heaters for the winter. Winter clothes are to be overlooked and aired, to get rid of moth ball perfumes and the sun shines pale in the late afternoons, although the nights are warm and summer clothes all the while. But Jack Frost is coming, and we welcome him. As we look on the struggles of the early months, the anxiety, the toil, the heat, the burdens of the time we rejoice in the goodness of the Father who gives us ease and rest with bountiful autumn harvests. Winter will shut us in but the fire side will be cheerful and books and newspapers can be read in quiet. We should thank God that He has remembered us in seed time, harvest and with the closing months of the year there is promise of plenty in the land, with peace abroad, among the nations of the earth after a bitter war.

Farm life is the only life which "lays by" for with the approach of winter, merchants, bachelors, men who build stoves, who construct and operate railroads and steamships, all take on new life towards the close of the year, but the farmer hurries to gather in his crops so that he may keep snug and quiet in winter. — Atlanta Journal.

Girls who are known by the company they don't keep are wise girls.

Mrs. Roosevelt is coming, too, so there will be a chance for the folks to see them both.

The papers are trying to get Miss Alice Roosevelt engaged again, this time to an Ohio congressman.

The weather is bringing on stove talk, and the people will find that it is easier to get the stove than the stove with heat it.

W. R. Hearst is out after something else. He has announced himself an independent candidate for mayor of New York.

It would not surprise us a bit if there is some of the meanest weather doing when the state fair and the president get together next week.

Late official reports place the money lost resulting from damage caused by the recent earthquake in Italy at $30,000,000.

With less time and mortgages, and the people will save money in their pocket, the people of Pitt have cause to hold a high head and be proud.

The Durham Herald recently intimated that the five minutes' stop would be as much as some of the business men of the president. It may also give him opportunity to see much as he wants to of the train.

The Daily Industrial News

The Daily Industrial News, the long talked about Greenville paper at Greensboro, made its appearance on Sunday. The first issue is a large one, twenty pages, and shows a creditable beginning. R. D. Douglas is editor and the subscription price is $6 per year.

Dr. Marshall, of the Gastonia Gazette, has put in a call for turnip greens all the year round. He thinks if sweet potatoes can be canned some plan might be devised for keeping the greens on tap. They are a very different kind of vegetable, but perhaps the mechanics and window cleaners may come to the doctor's rescue.

Houston, Texas, has adopted a novel law which provided a fine of $100 for any person who makes "goose eyes" at any "woman or female person." We are sorry for the justice who is called upon to define "goose eyes" or explain when a woman is not "a female person."

It is just this, if our farmers would hold more meetings and hold them often, thoroughly discuss the vital questions with each other, thereby getting the benefit of what each other has learned and knows, improvements along all branches of farming would be better understood, especially would this prove so in regard to stock raising and fruit growing.

A recent statement to the effect that college life for boys tends to lax morality has provoked much discussion. If this statement about college life is correct, and we do not think it is, then we are building wrong colleges on a wrong basis when we ought to be spending money to arrange for organizing our colleges on a different basis and one that will provide for education which is not secured at the expense of the higher things. If a boy who goes through college has no higher ideals of a moral nature than when he entered our system of college education is defective at least. — Winston-Salem.

Did it ever occur to you that the moon and the blind tiger would both have to go out of business if it was not for the man who patronized them? Men cannot engage in the business of selling liquor unless there are enough people buying it to make it worth their while to stay in the business. Who is to blame for the business, the man who sell or the man who make it profitable to the others to do so? — Wilmington Messenger.

That is very neatly put. But what needs most to be done is to drive out the saloons and blind tigers and educate the rising generation against the drink habit. There is little hope of reforming the old winks, and they will continue to get liquor by one means or another, but by keeping the conscience of the way of the future.

Totally blind and his mind almost a blank, both caused by cigarette smoking, Mrs. James Reeves, who holds a responsible position in the Southern railway shops at Spencer, wandered into Dr. Whitsam's sanitarium last evening. He did not know his name. He was put to bed in the sanitarium, after he had been of only six weeks, and given something to make him sleep. He awoke this morning with his sight restored and his head as clear as ever. Accompanied by relatives, who came over after him, he returned to Spencer this morning. The physician declared that Mr. Reeves' condition was due to the use of cigarettes. His system is poisoned with the nicotine. Cause Mr. Reeves gives up cigarettes, the physician states, his mind will be permanently clear. — Charlotte City Post.

A Good Name Better Than Riches.

In his address at the opening of the 152nd year at Columbia college, President Nicholas Murray Butler laid special stress upon the investigation that is being made into the affairs of the big life insurance companies. He said the American people are receiving some painful lessons in practical ethics. They are, he declared, having brought home to them the distinction between character and reputation.

The men who for years stood most prominently before the public as the leaders in the insurance world, and commanded the respect of practically all men because of their seeming integrity, uprightness of character, their probity and their honor, have quickly fallen from that high estate and all of their riches cannot compensate them for the fall.

Like a white hot brand is the seal of public condemnation on the man who once commanded the respect of his fellows. To the insensate criminal, leaving on his gloomy brow the fiddlelike snarl of despair, only prison walls possess the element of terror.

But to normal, intelligent, self-respecting men the respect of his fellows is as necessary as water to the soil, as sunshine to the growing crop. The whispering tongues of envy, the poisonous shafts of malice and all of the fanged thoughts that purjurers can utter leave no lasting trace on the soul of the upright man. He has lived his life like an open book that all may read.

When through lack of moral principle men who have risen above their fellows lose the public respect and esteem they commanded before their guilty acts were heralded to the four winds, there is no compensation for them. Marble palaces offer a cheerless retreat for a mind tortured by the lash of public obloquy.

In the final analysis the man whose career is based upon the question, is it legal? carries in his heart that swift poison which blinds the vision and stunts the soul and makes him a parish in the waste of the world. Detection may not deter, though it may finally destroy. The Bible tells us a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches. — Atlanta Journal.

There is a rumor in our town that two of our fair maidens are so strongly matrimonially inclined that while attending the carnival in Greenville last Saturday they decided to exchange their hearts and impudent souls by leaving the whole future at once. No sooner thought of than done. Each paid for a half revelation and received the joyous message. One was told that she had a good disposition, would treat others right if treated right, worried too much, had one pretended friend who was a traitor, had better keep her own secrets, but that she would soon receive an unexpected letter and would not marry the one she now was expecting to marry and that he would neither have red, black, or gray hair nor be bald headed, but would have light hair be very rich and she was to live in much peace and joy to the ripe old age of 92 years. The other heard to her great joy that she would yet get married twice, one time to a widower and each time very rich. So they impatiently await the arrival of the light haired man and the rich widower.
