

THE WELL DRESSED MAN

Should consider with great forethought the only he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season...

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those unreliable firms who deal in shoddy and pin your faith to "GRIFFON" clothes.

Good Fit: This is one essential that you should exercise with more care than all others. A poor fitting suit is a poor piece of property.

All the new things are here. At any price from $10.00 to $22.50. We will make it very interesting to you. Bring your shoulders with you.

QUEER CHANCES.

Odd Ways in Which Lost Jewels Have Been Recovered.

One of the most romantic stories of stolen jewels occurred with Fanny Kemble for heroine. An unfortunate American danced attendance upon her until one day she finally and peremptorily told him begone. He gazed steadfastly at her for a moment. Then, seeing that she was really in earnest, he flung a packet upon the table. "Well," he said, "you may at least take this." And he turned upon his heel and left the room, and she never saw him more. Of course she opened the package—what woman ever did? It was a very beautiful jewel, which, as she had no time to retain, but not for long. Some one besides herself appreciated its beauty and took it. Years passed, and she had ceased to repine for its loss. Then she was staying in Italy, and to her at Sorrento there came a peddler, who, quite by chance, displayed before her his pack of trivial wares. There among them, its value all unsuspected, lay the long lost jewel, with nothing to tell how it came into the possession of the hawk.

To match this story one must turn to the experience of a Sussex clergyman. A ring which was an heirloom in his family was stolen from his keeping. Eighteen years passed, and not a word was heard concerning the article. Then it turned up inside one of the fingers of a glove lost at a bazaar in New Zealand. The finder had promoted the bazaar, was a relative of the owner of the ring and was the only person on that side of the world who could have identified it. The owner of the glove was one of a number of persons who had in turn possessed the ring. It had passed from hand to hand all around the world, to come, at the antipodes, to the only person who could stay its further travels and restore it to the rightful owner.—St. James' Gazette.

Learned His Lesson Well. "Stanley," said his mother, "I do not like to see you playing with such dirty boys. The language they use, too, is not fit for your ears. They are not the boys for you to associate with."

The boy looked at his mother a minute, and then as his little head was thrown back he gravely asked: "Who am I that I should not associate with those boys?"

The mother was perplexed an instant, and then she said: "But, Stanley, dear, that is not it at all. The boys are not clean. Their clothes are dirty, and they are 'mother' and 'father' as they speak a flash, 'you have been reading to me about Abe Lincoln. Now, he wasn't clean when he was a boy, and he didn't wear fine clothes, and he was president."

The mother looked at the boy. She had nothing to say, and in two minutes Stanley was chasing around with three of the ragged, dirty, but plucky urchins with whom he was so fond of playing.

Hand Organ Monkeys. Most of the monkeys that travel with shows and organ grinders come from the isthmus of Panama. These animals are captured by the natives in rather a curious way. They take a cocoanut and cut a hole in it large enough to admit a monkey's paw. A string is then attached to the nut. The monkey is a very inquisitive little animal, and when he sees one of these nuts he inserts his paw through the hole to find out what is inside. When the paw is closed it cannot be withdrawn, and as the monkey has not sense enough to open his paw the nut is dragged by the string and the monkey with it to within reach of the captors, who throw a net over the monkey and in that way secure him.

A Benefit Society Seven Centuries Old. Many Englishmen are wont to pride themselves that England is the home and parent of the mutual benefit friendly society. The claim could scarcely be substantiated. In old Montpelier there still flourishes a mutual benefit friendly society under the title of St. Faith which has an unbroken history dating back to about 1290. Statute books dating to 1692 are still preserved, and they are believed to be but reproductions of statutes in force a century or two earlier, which were burned during the civil war of the sixteenth century. During all these centuries the society has never failed its members in case of sickness, injury or infirmity.

Faults. You will find it less easy to grope faults than to choke them by gaining virtues. Do not think of your faults, still less of others' faults. In every person who comes near you look for what is good and strong. Honor that, rejoice in it and, as you can, try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when their time comes.—Ruskin.

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not ever-clean), "bleached," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But

LION COFFEE is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are absolutely roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen. This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER of ALL PACKAGE COFFEES. Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition." (Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-brand on every package.) (Give your dealers for valuable premiums.)

Those towns that are to have a stop by the president will put their best foot foremost.
 If the frost reached for enough South the doctors can announce a check on the yellow fever.
 If you think they ever get tired to get married, look at the usual couple in the Rowan county home.

From the way it has started off that new Greensboro paper will make some of the others hustle to keep the lead.
 Make that petition strong to the Atlantic Coast Line for an additional daily train on this branch of the road.
 For a time now there will be one or more fairs every week. The people can see each other and the big pumpkins.
 The New York man who tried to imitate Hoch came to grief on the third round. He got as many as three wives, tried to palm the third one on the other two as his sister, got caught and was sent to jail.

The Raleigh News and Observer scores again. On Thursday it issued a mammoth state fair edition of thirty two pages that gave a splendid forecast of the coming big event, and describing some of the state's best industries. It seems that there is no limit to what the News and Observer can do when it sets out to do a thing. It is worth a mint to North Carolina.
 The mother of the late Gen. Walter Q. Gresham is still living, hale and hearty at the age of 98, five miles from Louisville, Ky., in the same house where Gen. Gresham was born.
 The Atlanta negro whose body was followed to the grave by a corps of Confederate veterans, shows in what esteem one of that race is held when he conducts himself in life as he should.

Charleston has become reconciled to the Crum affair and a delegation from that city has just called on the president, the first respect shown him since he appointed Crum collector of customs there.
 From what can be learned Raleigh is preparing to do like Washington City about inauguration time and will reap a harvest out of those who attend the fair. Those who have written in advance to engage board are given figures that almost take the breath.
 It does not pay every time to monkey with the people. Not long since the Royal Arcanum, one of the old assessment life insurance companies, announced that a new rate of assessments would be put in effect. There was a kick among the policy holders with the result that the company has lost something like twenty-four thousand members.

It is not a surprising piece of news that the daily papers publish about Wadesboro, that several young men were staggering drunk on the streets of that town as the first day's result of granting license to seven persons to retail liquor there. That they were sons of men who voted for bar-rooms gives no comfort to any good man. The awful thing about it is, that somebody has made it easier instead of harder for these young men to set their feet upon their mothers' hearts and lay fast hold upon the ways of ruin.—Gastonia Gazette.

It is announced that the striking union printers in Charlotte will conduct a job printing establishment in that city, an option for a lease on a plant having been taken with that view. And it is dollars to doughnuts that every one connected with the proprietorship of that shop will work more than eight hours a day. It makes a difference when one is working for himself drawing pay from the other fellow.
 The government estimates the corn crop of the United States this year at 2,707,517,900 bushels.

The Star's dispatches a few days ago mentioned that 67 indictments for embezzlement, forgery, conspiracy, etc., were found against Banker Newton C. Dougherty, of Peoria, Ill. That man must have stayed up nights studying how to get into trouble.—Morning Star.

In London recently a magistrate refused to issue a summons on complaint of a woman that another woman had called her a "Jap." The magistrate held that it was not an insult to be called a Jap. Wonder how he would rule on such epithets as "old Hessian" which some of the women at the cross-roads used to call each other.—Morning Star.

The custom followed by the alumni of the University in meeting every year for a banquet or other coming together is one that should obtain throughout every county in the state. It is by these annual meetings that the spirit of the University may be kept alive and great good will produced therefrom. At small expense each county in North Carolina could, through its alumni, maintain a scholarship at the University to give to some worthy and ambitious young man. Ninety such students, entirely representative and picked as they would be for their worth and character, would constitute a force whose influence would prove incalculable.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Tobaccoists Aroused. Measures designed to array the tobacco traders of the South against the combination of insurance companies known as the Southeastern Tariff Association were taken Saturday afternoon at a largely attended meeting of the board of governors of the Tobacco Association of the United States, held in Richmond, Va., The Times-Dispatch says:
 It is alleged by tobacco men that the tariff association not only demands exorbitant rates, but treats its patrons with scant and decidedly unsatisfactory consideration. The grievance is one of long standing, and results now in a circular letter from the president of the tobacco association to the heads of all the trades holding membership in the general body. This circular, among other things, calls for a "protest" against the "present operations" of the combination.
 The fight, which has smoldered along for some time now shows signs of breaking forth in earnest, and the war will be to the knife. The first step to be taken by the Tobacco Association will be the introduction of bills in the legislatures of the states in which the insurance combination does business. These bills will be designed to curb the operations of the alleged trust. The first one will be presented to the legislature of Virginia at the next session.

Family of 9 Dead in a Day. At Cambridge, Ill., last week, Mrs. Clarence Markham killed her seven children and then killed herself. The woman's husband, when he heard of the tragedy, went to his barn and hanged himself, and to make death doubly sure sent a bullet through his brain. Thus the whole family of nine was wiped out in one day.

LETTER TO M. G. Ernel, Greenville, N. C.
 Dear Sir: This story cuts two ways, and teaches two sets of people.
 Father Galvin, Westery, R. L., had his church and residence painted. Good job; and this is how he went at it.
 Measured all carefully—seems to have known Devoe.
 Then got tipped from the painters, paint to be supplied by them and by him.
 Saved $70 by using Devoe.
 One of those painters ought to have got that money.
 Yours truly,

RECENTLY some observations have been given in this column concerning building and loan associations. Insurance Commissioner Young, under whose department passes the work of building and loan associations in the state, has recently made the statement that the number of such institutions is increasing. In the towns where they have been successfully operated their work is their own monument. Mr. G. A. Holderness said some days ago in Tarboro that the building and loan association there has been of untold benefit to the town. He pointed to many handsome dwellings which have been erected through the medium of the local building and loan association there. Other towns have had similar experience.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

What is Fame?
 In the "Hall of Fame" elections in New York a few days ago James Russell Lowell, John Greenleaf Whittier and William Tecumseh Sherman were elected, while Oliver Wendell Holmes, Edgar Allan Poe and James Fenimore Cooper were defeated. We suppose there is no fixed criterion of greatness, and if there were there could be no infallible tribunal. But it is difficult to understand by what process of thought Lowell and Whittier take rank as authors or as men above Oliver Wendell Holmes and Fenimore Cooper. It is easy to understand why Poe, the greatest genius of them all, ranked by critics in Europe as the greatest of American poets, and now recognized everywhere as the inventor of the most widely read class of present day literature—the short story—is left out. Poe was a Southern man. That's all that need be said on that score, but the other is hard to understand; though we frankly confess that it is neither necessary nor important to understand these Hall of Fame elections in New York or elsewhere. Fenimore Cooper was scarcely greater than William Gilmore Simms, but, then, Simms was a Southerner, and his name as a consequence, was not even considered. But, while, of course, we can no more predict who is going to live and who die than the electors of the Hall of Fame can, it is safe to say that outside of New England one hundred of Cooper's books are bought and read today to one of Lowell's, while the Autocrat series of Holmes is likely to be read and The Chambered Nautilus memorized long after the time when Lowell and Whittier will have to depend on such artificial devices as the Hall of Fame to keep them alive.
 As for General William Tecumseh Sherman—well, if being remembered is the test, his name was well chosen. General William Tecumseh, you know, was the man who said: "War is Hell," and gave such a convincing demonstration of it. He will be remembered in the South, and it is well to put his statue in the Hall of Fame so that the people may see the face of the man whose conduct was calmly characterized by General Lee as "the act of a savage."

MISTOOK HIS MAN.

Colonel Walter R. Henry, lawyer, author, lecturer, was telling of some amusing incidents of a political campaign he took an active part in several years ago. "If you were not used to wearing pants," he said, "you would not mind going without them, but, being accustomed to the embraces of a woman, it is a fearful thing to be minus them. I was down in Pitt county that I had a most horrible experience. As I was getting out of the buggy at the home of a friend with whom I was to stay that evening and night the seat of my pants got caught in a terrible manner. The kind host tried to prevail upon me to go up to my room and send the article of apparel down and let one of his grown daughters remedy the evil. This was unthinkable to me and I finally made him give me a needle and some thread and I mended them so that, with the long coat I wore, the embarrassment of the situation was alleviated."—Charlotte Observer.

The question is frequently asked whether a man can honestly accumulate a million dollars. Maybe not, but if not, one cannot honestly accumulate $100,000, for the same executive ability that enables one to make $100,000 would make it easier for him to reach the million after he has acquired the smaller sum. In truth, this writer would rather risk making the next nine hundred thousands than the first one. It is about time to quit calling every rich man a rogue. No man can work out a fortune at fifty cents a day, nor a dollar a day, but if it is allowable for one to enter business and make more than that, then it is allowable for him to enlarge the scope of his business to the capacity of his ability and opportunities. In this day there is scarcely any limit to the possibilities. Hence a man can become exceedingly wealthy and honestly, unless it is dishonesty to make more than a bare living. Lumberman Argus.

Here is a gem from Thomas Dixon's month that people everywhere should keep ever in mind: "Newspapers owned by big millionaires can always be depended on to say 'certain things on any public question.' There is food for the most serious reflection in it. Look where you will and you will find the press drifting into the hand of men of millions or certainly men of great means. No trend of events is plain. And the people are to blame. Unthinkingly they give the support that is needed to help the rich capitalists keep their courage up. Unconsciously they enshrine the doctrine that the rich newspaper owners want them to embrace. And thus it is that the press instead of a blessing can be made a curse. It is a matter of grave importance that we have a really free press."—Greensboro Telegram.

How Is Your Heart?

Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat? Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder; or hurt when lying on left side? If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased, and cannot get better without assistance. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.

"About January 1st, 1902, I took down with weakness and drooping and gradually grew weaker and fainter. My family physician said my heart was diseased. My wife and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to third larger than normal size, and water had collected around my heart. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I sent for five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I am able to do any kind of work on my farm. My attending physician told me that if I had not been for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I would have died. I would have died."—J. C. CURD, Wilmore, Ky.

Miss Katie Sawyer, of Pamlico, came Wednesday to enter the Free Will Seminary. We are pleased to note rapid growth of this school. It is deserving of success and every Free Will Baptist should give it their hearty cooperation.

If you need anything in the way of Crocker, Tin or Greystone wear come to see us, Hart & Jenkins.

There will be a meeting in Ayden of the Ladies' Life and Limb Protective Association for the purpose of devising means and ends toward the repairing of bridges, filling up death pits, &c. All interested will please be present. Time and place of meeting will be noted later.

J. J. McLachlan, W. L. McLachlan, Edwin Tripp, J. W. Moore, Robert Coward and Stephen Noble attended the carnival at Kinston Tuesday evening and returned this morning.

A full supply of Trunks, Valises, Telescopes, Grips, Satchels and Suit Cases, at J. R. Smith & Bro.

The protracted meeting out in the country being conducted by Rev. F. H. King is, we learn, progressing finely.

J. Raymond Tarunage has a nice black horse, 5 1/2 years old, he would like to sell. The horse is perfectly gentle.

Rev. T. H. King will conduct a protracted meeting at Hopewell, near here, through the remainder of the week.

The squirrel and bird game laws are now being diligently inquired after.

For carpenters too, a grid-stone, 2 lamp ropes and pulleys, at J. C. Smith & Bro.

Mr. Jack Frost came to see us yesterday and from present indications he is likely to call again. Next thing we want is 'taters and 'season beer, and we wouldn't care much if we had 'pansies, corn tomatoes, &c., apply to E. E. Dail & Co.

THE WELL DRESSED MAN

Should Consider with great forethought the suit he is to buy and the store he is to buy from for the coming season. His general appearance will depend largely upon the fit of his clothes, and the CLOTHES he wears.

Good Cloth: This is the foundation of your suit. Avoid those unreliable firms who deal in shoddy and pin your faith to "GRIFON" Clothes.

Good Fit: This is one essential that you should exercise with more care than all others. A poor fitting suit is a poor piece of property.

All the new things are here. At any price from $10.00 to $22.50. We will make it very interesting to you. Bring your shoulders with you.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION. CARR SKINNER. DR. BROWN ENTERTAINS. TRAIN TO BE HELD. PERSONALS AND SOCIAL.

Saturday's Meeting a Great Success. The success of a movement or undertaking may be judged by the earnestness and enthusiasm with which it is begun, it is already an established fact the teachers' meetings of Pitt county will be more interesting and beneficial during the ensuing year than they have ever been before.

On Saturday morning, Oct. 14th the teachers of the good old county of Pitt met in the Greenville graded school building to hold their first meeting for the school year 1905 and 1906. The carefully arranged program began with "America," sung by nearly a hundred voices, followed by a reading of the first Psalm and a prayer by Rev. J. E. Ayscue.

The engagement of Miss Skinner and Mr. Carr was announced by Miss Winnie Skinner when all had seated at the table, in a very clear and original verse giving Dec. 6th as the all important date of the marriage.

Humpty Dumpty Was Great. Saturday night is not considered a very good show night, but Humpty Dumpty drew a large audience that was well pleased. It was pronounced one of the most enjoyable shows that has been here in a long time.

Opera House Tonight. There is the fragrant perfume of the apple blossoms and the clover all through the story of "Uncle Josh Spruceby," and one seems to breathe the balmy air of the country as the many interesting scenes are being enjoyed.
