

HISTORY IN ART.

Customs and Ideas of Ancient Nations Shown in Their Dwellings.

THE GREATEST ALASKAN MOOSE.

He is the Greatest of All the World's Horned Animals.

Almost as much can be learned about ancient nations from looking at what they made or built as at reading their writings and inscriptions.

After all, has been said about the horns of the world's greatest horned animals there is positively none that equals in impressiveness the gigantic mass that crowns the head of a really big Alaskan moose.

In countries where the ruler was a deity, great palaces were built by slaves, but where there was no monarch, as in ancient Greece, there were no grand palace buildings.

In sheer exuberance of strength and excess of horn material an Alaskan moose antler occasionally throws a few of its branches.

The vastness of the seaweed family and the size of the known species of that sea-weed bears the scientific name of Gigantea.

Never in the way, no trouble to carry, easy to take, pleasant and never failing in results are Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers.

Yes, if all the books and records in the world were burned we should still be able to trace the customs and ideas of ancient nations by the structures and works of art that they have left.

Beauty rules mankind. Holister's Rocky Mountain Tea brings red lips, bright eyes and cream like complexion.

Relaxation. "Every mind finds for relaxation," says a writer. "Some men find it sufficient to relax their pleasures on their own little tennis courts or croquet lawns."

"A light purse is a heavy cross." Sickness makes a light purse. The liver is the seat of nine tenths of all disease.

Tutt's Pills. Give tone to the system and acid flesh to the body. Take No Substitute.

Even hunger isn't an infallible cure for laziness. All women should strive to be beautiful. Beauty rules mankind.

Makes digestion and assimilation perfect. Makes new red blood and bone. That's what Holister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do.

Never judge a woman's beauty by her make-up. If you want a pretty face and delightful hair, Rosy cheeks and lovely hair, Wedding Trip across the sea.

Diplomacy is the art of yielding gracefully to the inevitable. There is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., Tuesday, Nov. 21, 1905.

There is some good reading in Governor Glenn's Thanksgiving proclamation.

These tenement fires accompanied numerous loss of human lives and very frequent in New York.

The Atlanta Journal says "it is a dull life insurance president who can't raise his own salary." Right.

Vladivostok has come back to the position of headline in the papers. The Russian riots have reached that town.

One witness in the "Old Nick" case at Greensboro was kept on the stand a week. He must have had a great deal to tell.

The president has completed his message to congress and will give it a few weeks to cool before it is handed out to the public.

My, what a comparison! The people of Mexico declare that they do not want foot ball as a substitute for bull fighting, declaring the latter to be less brutal.

If Georgia keeps on burning cotton the crop may be reduced so that what is left will easily bring fifteen cents. Thursday in Columbus two thousand bales were destroyed by fire.

The latest in connection with the New York election frauds is attorneys for persons charged with violations are putting up cash bonds and spiriting their clients away.

Notwithstanding the claim that cotton is being held back, it is noted that port receipts continue to run from seventy to ninety thousand bales a day.

R. M. Phillips, editor of the Late Raleigh Post has been chosen secretary of the chamber of commerce of Raleigh. Phillips is good anywhere you put him.

We do not mean troubling much about it, but as some people would like to know the information has been sent out from official headquarters that the correct pronunciation of the president's name is in three syllables with one a silent. For instance, Roosevelt.

Miss Nora Burgess, of Texas, sometime ago instituted a breach of promise suit against G. F. Cannon Jr. of Concord, this state. Recently the young lady died, and it was thought her death would end the suit. The announcement is made by the administrator of her estate that she will continue to prosecute the suit.

It is recorded in the book of Esther in Holy Writ, that Haman, infamous decree for the destruction of all the Jews in Babylon was frustrated by permission being given the Jews to arm and defend themselves. Something like this might put a check on the inhuman butcheries in Russia, and if the Jews are not alone able to defend themselves they ought to have help.

GOVERNOR'S THANKING PROCLAMATION.

It oft behoves a State, as well as an individual, to look at the past, that it may realize the mercies for which it has to be thankful, and to give expression to its gratitude by words and acts of praise.

Four States will take this backward glance, and will find that during the last year the measure of our mercies has been full to overflowing, and that our need of praise should be given without stint.

In agricultural pursuits we have been blessed with fair crops, and prices for farm products have been above the average, until the farmer is enjoying a prosperity seldom before possessed. He is also gradually learning the lesson of diversifying his crops, making his own supplies, thus being able to hold his products for increased prices.

In industrial enterprises the growth of the State has been phenomenal, over one hundred more new plants being incorporated this year than last, and many of them capitalized for very large amounts. Good dividends have likewise been declared on these investments, labor has been paid fair wages and given reasonable working hours, and prosperity abounds.

The settlement of our outstanding debt upon a just and honorable basis is indeed a great reason for thankfulness, as no unpaid obligations, that are honest, now remain.

There has been no strife between capital and labor, but peace and good will exist between employers and employees. With only one exception, good order has been maintained throughout the State, and the majesty of the law has been upheld by the people and the courts.

No source of disease or pestilence has to any great extent visited our State, but, blessed with unusual health, we have been happy and prosperous.

Our colleges and schools were never in a more flourishing condition, and the educational awakening that now exists is but an earnest of greater power and wealth yet to be enjoyed.

Temperance and sobriety in all things are being practiced by our citizens, thus insuring industry, and the high morale of the State is a blessing beyond estimation. No graft either in public or private lossiness has cursed our State.

These extended mercies, shown in every department of business, have made our growth a marvel and wonder to all, for our percentage of increase industrially, agriculturally, educationally and morally has equaled, if not exceeded, the increase of any other State in the Union.

For the mercies so lavishly bestowed by a bountiful Creator, it is our duty to return heartfelt and grateful thanks, and to praise and magnify the name of the Author of our good.

To the end, therefore, that all shall have an opportunity of showing their love and gratitude, I, R. B. Glenn, Governor of North Carolina, do join with the President of the United States in setting apart and fixing Thursday, the 30th day of November, 1905, as a day of general thanksgiving, prayer and rejoicing, during which day praise for the past mercies received, and guidance for our future, may be given and asked.

On this day I therefore earnestly request that all business of every kind be suspended and a general holiday granted, and that throughout the entire State the people gather in their accustomed places of worship and render thanks unto the Most High God for His manifold blessings during this year, and to consecrate ourselves anew to a life of industry and honor, and to His service.

I further specially recommend that on this day that all our people, as God hath prospered them, shall of their substance give to charitable and benevolent institutions, and especially to the widows and orphans.

I also beseech every one on this Thanksgiving Day, after they have given thanks, and while enjoying this holiday, that they do nothing unworthy of the reputation of the State, or that will dishonor God, but that they deport themselves as becometh good citizens and a Christian people.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of North Carolina to be affixed.

Done in our City of Raleigh, this 14th day of November, 1905, and in the one hundred and thirtieth year of our American Independence.

By the Governor: R. B. GLENN, Private Sec'y. A. H. AMMINGTON.

Papers Can't Print Result of Euchre Parties.

Newspapers all over the state are in receipt of a circular letter from Des Moines newspaper apprising them that the post-office authorities at Washington have held that reports of prize winners and other what parties will suffice under the anti lottery law to exclude any newspaper from the mails.

The newspaper in question states that its presses were stopped one day last week and thirty minutes delay caused in order to remove from its columns a statement that Mrs. Jones had won a cut-glass water pitcher and Mrs. Smith had won a chafing dish at Mrs. Johnson's card party.

The Des Moines postmaster, after carefully reading his instructions, decided that such reports should exclude a newspaper from the mails except as much as the report of raffles, lottery or other gambling device.

He telegraphed the department at Washington and was advised by it that his construction of the post-office rules were literally correct, but that the department had never seen fit to enforce the rule against reports of society card games. That left the question open, and the Iowa editor asked to secure the intervention of their Congressman - Sioux City Telegram.

To End Suicide.

Most men who commit suicide do so because they see no hope for them or they are insane. The day when suicide was the resort of a courageous man, as in Greece and Rome, has passed away forever. But in this fast-living age, when men see their hopes of getting rich fade away, the records show that suicide is growing more common. There is little room to doubt that some men commit suicide who might be saved if a helping hand were extended at the critical moment.

An Anti-Suicide Commission, with Mayor Tom Johnson at the head, has been organized at Cleveland, Ohio. It invites men in that city contemplating suicide to write a letter telling of their troubles, and it will undertake to obtain employment for men who have no situation, and to meet the needs of those looking for something to do. This is not, as some will imagine at first blush, a utopian scheme. Instead it is a very practical sort of way to save one's fellow in distress or disappointment. In most cases, if a man about to commit suicide could be diverted by a friendly and sympathetic hand, he would not take his life, and would be saved to the world and become a useful citizen.

Human sympathy and brotherly help towards your neighbors who are unsuccessful is the best way to keep the thought of suicide from their minds. Raleigh News and Observer.

Oscar Strauss, of New York, a leading Jew characterizes the recent outrages in Russia as "the greatest calamity which has befallen Israel since the destruction of Jerusalem under Titus. So far as I am familiar with the history of the Jewish race," continued Mr. Strauss, "the present catastrophe is greater than was suffered in Spain and Portugal, or even in the Middle Ages, at the period of the Crusades. Never before were so many Jews wounded, robbed and reviled homeless as now." This is a most revolting picture for the enlightened twentieth century, and yet it is in all probability not exaggerated, for the massacre of Jews in Russia for the past few weeks has been a veritable carnival of blood.—Charlotte Observer.

WILKINSON'S CRAVENETTE. RAIN COATS FOR LADIES AND OVERCOATS FOR MEN AND BOYS. Let us set you straight on the matter of Cravenette Overcoats. The most successful process for waterproofing a garment is that of Priestley's, and every Cravenette treated in their process bears their name, and when in addition to Priestley's Cravenette stamp an over is identified with the label of "Wilkinson" the combination is one that insures not only a waterproof overcoat, but also an overcoat of fine fabric, with all the knicks of fashion and style that distinguish the "EFF EFF" Clothing people from the ordinary sort. BROWN'S HAVE GONE

But Blues and Greys are here to stay. The medium frockcoat, with vent in back, single or double breasted is the coat that you should wear this season. It should be made with Military shoulders and to fit the body medium loose. We have it, made in all the new fabrics. Of course blacks and blues are good this season, yet a dark blue ground with a slight tint of green, makes an attractive suit. And greys, the have come to stay; everything will be grey next season.

MOTION.

The Visible Action and Invisible Intermolecular Vibration.

Let us suppose that a stretched cord or wire fixed at both ends, and let a sharp blow be given it. The hand or other instrument which imparted the blow was set in motion in order to do so, and its motion was one of translation, but the cord which had received the blow and to which some of the motion was consequently been transferred cannot change its place, for it is fixed. We move well enough what will happen. It will commence vibrating, more or less strongly and rapidly, according to the strength of the blow it has received. We have therefore here seen motion of translation changed into motion vibration, but a similar and quite as familiar transformation takes place which is invisible.

Let us take a coin or any small piece of metal and rub it well with a cloth or handkerchief. In a short time it will become warm and if the friction be still continued even unpleasantly hot. The visible motion of the hand has been transformed into the invisible intermolecular vibration which we call heat. That "heat is a form of motion" has become a scientific truism, but it was not so at the commencement of the last century, when it was still supposed by many to be some intangible kind of substance named "caloric," proofs to the contrary being almost simultaneously given by Davy and Rumford at the end of the eighteenth century, that of the former consisting in melting two pieces of ice, carefully insulated from external heat, by rubbing them together; that of the latter in causing water to boil by the sole means of keeping it in continual motion.

"It is hardly necessary to add," says Rumford, "that anything which any insulated body or system of bodies can continue to furnish without limitation cannot possibly be a material substance, and it appears to me exceedingly difficult if not quite impossible to form any distinct idea of anything capable of being excited and communicated in the manner heat was excited and communicated in these experiments, except it be motion."—Good Words.

How We Got Thermometers.

It is believed that Galileo made the first thermometer about the year 1595. It was an instrument of glass, consisting of a bulb from which a slender tube extended downwards at its lower end, and there plunged into a vase containing some colored liquid, such as vinegar or wine. The glass bulb was heated before the stem was immersed, and when the contained air expanded, it contracted the fluid in the upright thermoscopic tube rose to a higher level. This simple and primitive apparatus is constantly made use of on the lecture table nowadays when some simple demonstration of the laws of heat is to be made.

The Discoverer of Hypnotism. We owe our earliest knowledge of hypnotism to the wise man of the east, the Hindus, to whom we owe our language, our religion, our philosophy and our oriental rugs as well as cholera and the opium habit. Who first in that land of dreams and dirt made use of hypnotic passes to put his fellow men into involuntary sleep is as obscure a personage in history as the discoverer of the oyster and as unimportant, for, while we enjoy all the material advantages of the discoveries of these unknown heroes of invention, we are not obliged to consider the claims of envious contestants every year.

Aqua Pura Costs Money.

Customer—Fifty cents for filling this prescription? Why, at the drug store down the street they charge me only a quarter. Druggist—That's all it's worth at that store, because they put about 4 cents worth of drugs in the bottle and then fill it up with water. I put in the same drugs and fill the bottle with the finest aqua pura. Thanks. Anything else?

Browning.

Browning used to belittle himself to beland his wife by saying that her work was so much more intricate than his that his was the province of patient effort and continuous concentration. He compared himself to some angel laboriously building a planet, working first on the sun and then on the orbit, and meanwhile without an effort God "turns you off a little star."

Mark Twain Was Responsive.

A friend wrote to Mark Twain asking his opinion on a certain matter and received no reply. He waited a few days and wrote again. His second letter was also ignored. Then he sent a third note, enclosing a sheet of paper and a two cent stamp. By return mail he received a postal card, on which was the following: "Paper and stamp received. Please send envelope."

THE RESOURCEFUL MOLE.

His Remarkable Hearing and Ability to Get Away.

"Speaking of quick and resourceful animals, the mole leads easily so far as my experience goes," said a man who has studied the animal, "and I dare say there are many men who have made observations that will confirm my contention. As you probably know, the mole plows in the surface of the earth, generally making a small ridge anywhere from two to three inches high. He moves with remarkable rapidity even when the ground in which he is burrowing is hard. When operating in soft ground he moves along at a surprising gait. But this is not the point I wanted to make. I was thinking of the remarkably good hearing of the mole and the ease with which he can get away just at the moment when you think you have him cornered. Of course now and then you can drive a spike through the mole before he is aware of it. If you do you will have to walk as light as a cat and will have to act as quickly as the same animal when the time comes to act. In nine cases out of ten the mole will hear the first foot-fall. At once he will quit plowing. He is gone. Search as you may you cannot find him. I have seen men dig for fifty yards, following the ridge and its offshoots, without finding any other trace of the mole than the ridge. The mole's hearing is peculiarly keen, and I suppose this is so because he cannot see. But even more wonderful from my standpoint is the ease and quickness with which he gets away. How does he manage it? Where does he go? You know, the element of surprise in my makeup is slim, and I don't believe in ghosts, but somehow I have always inclined just a bit to the ghost theory when thinking of the mysterious antics of these blind burrowers. The mole is more like a ghost in his conduct than anything I have ever known, though of course the mole is a real thing and not an imaginary and mythical thing."

One Thing at a Time. Robert Jagzsky's countenance was not at any time remarkable for indications of intellectual brilliance, but now, as he stood before the court for the purpose of "being took," his expression was so naive that even the polite photographer was moved to protest.

"You'll excuse me," he remarked, "but do you want this photograph for a beauty competition or an advertisement for a new rat poison? Because if it's for any other purpose you'd better try to look a trifle more pleasant."

"That's just the trouble," exclaimed Robert. "You see, I've the misfortune to be a trifle bony, and I'm trying to hold my knees so that it won't show. When I smile I forget all about my knees, and when I pay attention to my knees I forget to smile."—London Express.

The Height of Clouds. The very highest clouds, those called cirrus and cirrostratus, rise to the average height of about 30,000 feet. A second class keep at a height of from 10,000 to 23,000 feet above the earth, while the lower clouds usually float at a height seldom exceeding 5,000 feet. In the case of the last mentioned class of clouds the lower surface may be at a height not exceeding 3,000 to 3,000 feet, while their towering summit will be removed from the earth by not less than 16,000 feet.

Wit in the Courtroom. Thomas Flatty of Boston, the well known Irish lawyer and wit, was acting for the defense in a divorce case and during the cross-examination of the plaintiff asked the following questions: "You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?" "Yes, sir." "Do you drink yourself?" "That's my business," said the witness angrily, whereupon the lawyer, with face unmoved, asked one more question, "Have you any other business?"

Where Woman is Lord. In a tiny island called Minikoff, off the southern coast of India, a most peculiar state of society exists, for woman is lord of all she surveys. The wife is the recognized head of the house. She owns it and everything in it, while anything that her husband, who works very hard, can earn goes to increase her wealth. Her husband belongs to her, too, and when she marries him she gives him her name instead of taking his.

Father of His Country. The sobriquet "Father of His Country" was first applied to Marius, the Roman officer who, B. C. 492 and 101, won signal victories over the northern barbarians. Marius declined the honor, but the name was afterward given to Cincinnatus, then to several more or less worthy Roman emperors and finally to Washington, whose by his enemies was also termed the "Stepfather of His Country."

DELIGHTFUL EUCHE PARTY

Given by Mrs. R. J. Cobb in Honor of Mrs. Hume, of Greensboro.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. R. J. Cobb entertained handsomely at progressive euche in honor of Mrs. H. A. White's company, Mrs. Sue Hume, of Greensboro. The occasion is long to be remembered as one of the nicest affairs ever held here. The home was very beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Cobb received at front hall assisted by Mrs. H. A. White and gave all a hearty welcome in their own hospitable way. Mrs. Cobb wearing a gown of white silk mill with real lace trimmings and Mrs. White gowned in poudre-vert over white china silk. The punch bowl was the great attraction in hall, a very beautiful china bowl hand painted, back of the bowl, the flowers in between the shaded candle sticks made a most beautiful scene. Misses Pattie Skinner and Alice White presided at some. The library decorations were especially pretty, being chiefly of chrysanthemums and ferns. Here all guests were served with hot chocolate from very dainty china cups; these to the drawing room where all had the pleasure of meeting the guest of honor, Mrs. Hume, who was exquisitely attired in gray crepe-dechise with pearls and lace.

Score cards were handed to all present and the enjoyable and exciting games of euche began in full force and resulted in Mrs. Herbert White winning the first prize, a hand painted bon-bon bowl and presented same to Mrs. Hume. The consolation prize was drawn by Mrs. Harry Skinner a hand painted china plate.

The dining room decorations were in red and the beautiful American Beauty roses tastefully arranged on the table and banked in profusion in front of and on the mantle gave all an inviting appetite upon entering. The menu was as follows: oysters on half shell, pickles, French salad served from the hull of an orange, cheese straws, champagne wafers, olives, club sandwiches and coffee.

Those present were Mesdames T. J. Jarvis, Harry Skinner, R. J. Cobb, Herbert White, J. B. White, F. W. Clare, Haywood Dail, Sue Hume, J. L. Wooten, R. W. King, H. W. Whelbe, W. S. Summerell, A. S. Parham, S. J. Parham, E. B. Ficklen, J. L. Fleming, R. W. Williams, B. W. Moseley, G. J. Woodward, Misses Elizabeth Jones, Nell Skinner, Lottie Skinner, Pattie Skinner, Miss Morris, of Virginia, Jessie Lee Sugg, Winnie Skinner, Nina James, Alice White, Miss O'Hagan and Mrs. McClellan.

This was one of the nicest Euche parties ever given in Greenville and all who attended thoroughly enjoyed same, and Mrs. Cobb continues her reputation as being an ideal and most charming hostess.

Something Good Friday Night

On Friday evening Nov. 24th, at the Masonic Opera House a well selected company of comedians and singers will appear in the new musical comedy "Nothing But Money" by Joe O'Brien. Resolved by Baptist Sunday School.

Resolved by Baptist Sunday School. Adopted by Baptist Sunday School. Lulu Bryan, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bryan, died Thursday, Nov. 9th.

It is met that the membership of this Sunday School pause in the services of their regret and sorrow because of the taking away of this lovely child, a member of the cradle roll class of the school. Therefore be it resolved:

First, That the members of the Sunday school of the Memorial Baptist church deplore the passing away of this little life, but we are consoled with the thought that she is now with God and the angels.

Second, That we tender to the father and mother, sisters and brothers our sincere sympathy, and sorrow with them in this time of trouble. We commend them to Him who has said I will be with you always, and invoke the blessing of God upon them in their bereavement.

Third, We make request that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents, a copy to THE REV. PASTOR and that the resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Sunday school.

DEATH OF MRS. EDWARD LIBERATE

The death angel has taken from our midst another loved one, Lena Elizabeth, wife of Edward Liberate, of Richmond, Ind., and daughter of Dr. John S. and Mrs. Elizabeth Taft. This is the second daughter that Mrs. Taft has lost within the last six or eight weeks. The suddenness and unusually pathetic circumstances of this death makes it all the greater shock to relatives and friends alike. The life of a dear sweet baby who went out with hers and mother and babe will be laid away in the same casket, the babe resting peacefully on the mother's breast. "A little child shall lead them"—tiny little baby hands may lead her straight up to our Saviour's waiting arms. She leaves a little three year old daughter, Rose Elizabeth, to call in vain for "mama." The husband and little daughter and Mrs. Lincoln Lesh, of Muncie, Ind., a sister of the deceased, will accompany the remains to her old home for burial in the Taft graveyard near Greenville, N. C.

She had been living in Richmond only a short time, but all who knew her loved her, and appreciated the noble, unselfish life of the loving wife, the devoted mother and true friend. She was always gladly ready to do a kindness for others, and spared not herself in her noble unselfish efforts to do kind deeds and give pleasure to others. In the great day of atonement it can be truly said of her, "she hath done what she could."

She bravely and unflinchingly bore all her sufferings, and passed away at five o'clock Saturday morning, Nov. 18th, 1905, at the hospital in Richmond. To us the pain, to her the rest.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 19, 1905.

LIVELY TIMES AT STAR WAREHOUSE

There was a Lively Race Between the Auctioneer and the Truckers Monday Morning.

There was some lively bustling out at the Star warehouse Tuesday morning. The Star had first sale, and under the regulations had to begin at 9:30 o'clock. Last night and the early hours of this morning were exceedingly disagreeable, which made farmers slower than usual getting in, and when Auctioneer Barton started his song to the buyers many wagons in the driveway were waiting to unload and not half the break was on the floor.

Then there was a race between the auctioneer and the truckers, and the way trucks rolled from the wagons to the scales, out on the floor ahead of the buyer and back again, was something to look at. Everything seemed to "get busy." President Joyner, of the Consolidated, got him a truck and joined the whirl. Auditor Dail would drop his sales book now and then grab a truck for a spin around the circle, back again to his book and soon catch up with the tickets marker. Hinton Frisard thought it looked like good exercise and he gathered up a truck which soon ran him out of his evocation. They certainly did hustle, the whole push, and ran out the last pile about two minutes ahead of the auctioneer. It was lively while it lasted.

Several blind tigers cases have also been before him. This is a common offense, and the crop of such cases seems to be fair for a fall one. In one of these cases there was evidence of selling "monkey rum," the defendant undertook to show it was something that was not intoxicating, but did not go on the stand to explain. Commissioner Sugg remarked in making the judgment that he would give the defendant a chance to explain in the Federal court what "monkey rum" is.

It is to be hoped the good people will give Colonel Sugg their support in breaking up blind tigers and moonshine stills.

TROUBLE AT GRIMESLAND

Negro Boy Shoots Constable in the Head and Face with Bird shot

Saturday night about 8 o'clock Sheriff Tucker received a telephone message from Grimesland that a riot was on, and asking him to come down. Sheriff Tucker and Deputy Dailie hurried off on the 12 mile drive, and did not find any riot when they reached Grimesland. What could be learned was that Policeman Talley had started to arrest a negro boy named Will Grimes, about 15 years of age. Grimes ran to the home of his brother, Policeman Talley and Constable John Galloway following the policeman firing two shots at the running boy. When the officers were in about 40 yards of the house the boy appeared in the door with a gun and called to them to stop. They did not stop and the boy raised the gun and fired, a load of bird shot striking Constable Galloway in the shoulder, side of the head and face. The officer's wound was painful but not serious. The negro boy made his escape.
