

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Methodist Sunday School Spends Merry Evening.

Notwithstanding the rain, there were held here between showers long enough for quite a crowd to gather in Perkins' opera house. Thursday night to enjoy the Christmas party of the Methodist church. The little folks were there in high glee and had a merry time in their plays and games about the hall.

There were two well arranged and striking tableaux given on the stage. One was a Santa Claus scene with which the children were more than delighted. There was a room with two little tots (real ones) snugly tucked in a bed. In the corner was a large chimney and fire place around which hung the stocking. Santa Claus was heard to drive up with his reindeer team and a moment later dropped right down the chimney and proceeded to fill the stockings, then when through went back up the chimney. Santa Claus was impersonated by O. E. Warren and he made a good one.

The other scene was a beautiful Christmas tree. Fruits and confections were distributed plentifully among all present.

ORMONDSVILLE ITEMS.

ORMONDSVILLE, Dec. 28th, 1905.

Miss Lena Denton came home from Littleton Female College where she has been attending school.

Miss Lizzie Carver went to her home near Raleigh to spend the holidays. She has for two or more years taught in Ormondsville High School and made many friends in this section.

An effort is being made to hold an election here in the near future for the purpose of establishing a graded school in the place of the present High School. Prof. Bunch seems very much interested in this work.

We are glad to correct a statement in our last items concerning the new company organized here. I spoke of it as The Farmers Consolidated Mercantile Co., and should have said The Ormondsville Mercantile Co.

The five months infant child of James Moore who lives near here, while being left in the house alone fell out of a little chair with its head on the hearth near the fire and was burned severely. This occurred one week ago. The child is slowly improving and hopes are entertained of its final recovery.

Eld. R. I. Corbett and family went to Elizabeth City to spend the holidays with Mrs. Corbett's parents. They will also visit friends and relatives in and around Oriental before returning home.

We will always love and honor him.

We are pleased to learn that Dr. C. A. Blount is improved so as to go out driving. We hope this good man will be with us many years.

Oakley is ahead of San Francisco, we can get up three or four fights for nothing, while San Francisco paid over $16,000 for one.

SCHOOL CLOSING.

Splendid Exercises at Pactolus.

A large crowd gathered at Pactolus public school house on the night of Dec. 22nd to witness the Christmas exercises of their school. This school is taught this session by Miss Charlotte W. S. Ireland, of Faison, N. C. Miss Ireland is a graduate of the State Normal and is a young woman of fine accomplishments and culture. She is amiable and patient and is doing exceptionally fine work in her school. The entire district is delighted with her and with her work. Social in nature, pleasing in manner and consecrated to her work, she has won the hearts of all with whom she has come in contact.

The crowd gathered expecting that they would hear something good, but they had no even conceived that they would be so pleased by being so splendidly entertained by the exercises. The program consisted of an address of welcome by little Ashley Speir, drills, tableaux, recitations, songs, etc.

Each pupil did his part so well that one could not be mentioned without mentioning all. There were several pieces that were unusually good. Among these were the address of welcome, "Old Father Christmas and Mother Goose and family," tableau "The Guardian Angel," tableau "Simply to the Cross I Cling."

The entertainment closed with old Santa Claus in perfection with all of his goodies which was much enjoyed.

Three premiums were given, one to Ashley Speir on his address of welcome, one to Myrtle James on a tableau scene and one to Guy Simpson for a recitation, "The Mouse in the Pie."

Miss Ireland deserves much praise for the elegant entertainment had and for the splendid work she is doing with the children. It is impossible to estimate the value of such a teacher and woman to any community.

DAVID JARVIS DEAD.

Killed By Accident in Florida. A telegram to Mrs. M. A. Jarvis, received this morning from Lakeland, Florida, brought the shocking news that her son, D. B. Jarvis, had been killed. The telegram was from another son, R. B. Jarvis, and the only particulars it contained was that David had been seriously hurt and died at 9:30 o'clock last night, and that the remains would reach here Saturday night. The sad news was a severe shock to the family, and the heart of every one goes out in sympathy to the mother and sisters in their great sorrow.

Both the boys were in the employment of the Atlantic Coast Line and held good positions in Florida with that company. David was 22 years of age, the youngest son, and had been in the railroad service about four months. His untimely death brings sorrow to many hearts.

Colored Man Killed.

Jim House, a colored man who lived near Stokes, was killed a day or two ago. He was taking a loaded ride out of a wagon, drawing the weapon to him by the muzzle, when it was discharged and the ball passed through his stomach. He was taken to the hospital in Washington and died in a few hours after reaching there.

Travel continues so heavy that trains cannot get up their schedule.

END OF CENTURY CLUB.

The End of the Century Book Club met Tuesday afternoon Dec. 19th, with Mrs. Harry Skinner. Her beautiful home never looked more attractive nor the hostess more lovely than on this occasion. Besides an unusually large number of members, the following invited guests were present:

Mrs. James Cobb, Prichard, Mosey, Summerell and White, of this place, Mrs. Jeffers, of Virginia, and Mrs. Bateman, of Windsor.

All were pleased to welcome home the president who had been absent for several weeks.

The business of the club was quickly disposed of and the papers for the afternoon's literary program were read. They were "Fountainbleau and Napoleon" by Mrs. Arthur, "Norway and Sweden" by Mrs. Bowen, "Fords in Norway" by Mrs. Jeffers.

After the reading of these papers, refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. J. L. Wooten, January 9th, 1906.

The club at its last meeting passed the following resolutions:

That whereas Mrs. Rosa Quinerly, librarian, and her sister, Mrs. E. A. Moye, members of the club, have by a dispensation of Divine Providence been called on to mourn the loss by death of their esteemed father, Mr. Alfred Forbes,

Now therefore be it resolved that the members of the club through its committee appointed by the president do convey to Mrs. Moye and Mrs. Quinerly assurances of the club's affectionate sympathy in their loss and that the same be recorded in the minutes of the club.

SANS SOUCI CLUB.

Reported for Reflector.

The Sans Souci Club held its regular meeting with Miss Mary Higgs Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 25.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. C. S. Carr. After the business meeting a very interesting paper was read by Miss Janie Brown, after which dainty refreshments were served.

We adjourned to meet with Miss Irma Cobb, Jan. 9th, 1906.

The tobacco market will begin sales again Wednesday.

"POSSUM AND TATERS."

Young Men Have a Feast Royal.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the Christmas holidays was a possum supper given Christmas night by Mr. Jack Laughinghouse. The supper was served by Mr. Hines at his cafe, and never did a crowd of hungry, hearty men fare better or enjoy a festive occasion more. Along with the "possum and taters", came quail and all the side dishes, and for the only time during the evening the party was comparatively quiet, being otherwise employed.

After the supper Dr. Will Bernard, the toastmaster for the evening, in a few well chosen and appropriate remarks, thanked Mr. Laughinghouse for this bountiful hospitality, and then called on each member of the party for his views on the matter. Each one responded—expressing his appreciation, some by speaking, others by singing and a few were even moved to the poetic point. Each one's views were uniform in the expression of enjoyment and good fellowship, and in pronouncing Mr. Laughinghouse a model host.

About midnight the party adjourned, after singing a few of the old Southern melodies, reminiscent in themselves of "possum and tater", of quail, and of the other good things so abundant in Dixie. Those present were:

Frank Wilson, Jack Garden, Harry Skinner Jr., W. S. Atkins, Dr. Will Bernard, Dr. Chas. Laughinghouse, R. O. Jeffers, Fleming Jeffers, Roy Flanagan, P. S. Cotten, Tom Hooker, A. M. Moseley and the host.

SMALL FIRE.

Kitchen Burned This Morning.

About 8 o'clock this morning the ringing of the fire alarm put people to hustling and hurrying out of their homes and places of business. It was caused by the burning of the kitchen at the home of Amos E. E. E., colored, on Pitt street. The fire was supposed to have started by sparks falling on the roof. The department responded promptly and soon had on a stream from the nearest hydrant and put the fire out. The kitchen was considerably damaged and the dwelling house was also slightly injured. The convenience of the water works saved the destruction of both these and perhaps other building.

DEATH OF MRS. J. C. TYSON.

A Mother Taken in the Prime Life.

This new year dawned with a cloud of sorrow hanging heavily over many hearts in Greenville, for today there was laid to rest the remains of one greatly beloved, and a happy home has been deprived of a loving wife and devoted mother.

The announcement came like a shock Sunday morning that Mrs. Lizzie Tyson, wife of Mr. J. C. Tyson, was dead. She passed away at their home on Fifth street at 7 o'clock a. m. Loved as she was by every one, it was so hard to realize that death had claimed her when she seemed just in the prime of life. But God's ways are beyond human understanding and His will can only be bowed to in humble submission. Through our tears, hard as it may be, we can look up with the assurance that He doeth all things well.

Mrs. Tyson was 37 years of age in September. She was a daughter of Mr. J. J. Perkins and sister of Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Mrs. R. C. Flanagan, Miss Annie Perkins, Dr. J. W. and W. W. Perkins. She was married to Mr. Tyson in February, 1889, and through these seventeen years was a devoted wife and mother. While all the loved ones and hosts of friends are deeply grieved at her death, the blow falls heaviest on the heart broken husband and three little children, one of these being an infant only a few hours old when its mother was taken and who can never realize the blessings of a mother's love. Words cannot express the sympathy that is felt in such bereavement.

The remains were interred at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Cherry Hill cemetery, the funeral service being conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox.

The pall bearers were: W. G. Ward, W. H. Raggsdale, A. E. Tucker, C. S. Carr, Frank Wilson, Oia Forbes, G. J. Woodward, J. A. Lang.

Special Train of Stock.

An idea of the immense business in the sale of horses and mules by R. L. Smith & Co. can be had from the fact that a special train bringing nothing but horses and mules arrived for them this morning. Mr. Smith was recently out west and bought six car loads, about 160 head. It is the largest shipment of stock that has come to this section.

Almost in Darkness.

The electric lights refused to navigate when darkness first came on Saturday evening, and the old kerosene lamps still swinging for emergency came to the rescue. It was not long before the trouble was remedied and all was brilliant again.

Copies of the books "Messages and Papers of the Confederacy" can be seen at REFLECTOR office, where orders for the books are taken. Every one interested in a correct history of the Confederacy should have copies of these books.

Misses Kate Hines, of Wilson and Sallie Faulkner, of South Boston, Va., arrived Saturday to visit

Mrs. G. W. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fennell

and children, of Wilmington, arrived Saturday evening to visit the family of F. G. James.

The store of C. L. Wilkins & Co. will go under new management in a few weeks, and a special stock reduction sale has been inaugurated for ten days.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, JAN. 2, 1906

Get ready to swear off if you have been going the other way too much.

It is getting to the point of not looking so much like fifteen cents

Wilkinson ought to have plenty of booze, the aldermen having granted licenses for fifty-nine saloons in that city.

Memphis has followed Chicago's lead and comes up with three bank failures in one day, though with less total liabilities

It is all right to make good resolutions and better still to keep them. Let those you have in contemplation for the new year be of the iron clad order.

South Carolina is doing some lynching, and recently worked off a double one. But perhaps those most deserving that fate were not the victims.

There is a million dollar estate out in Minnesota looking for a lost heir. The joint heirs are more than anxious for him to show up so they can get their share.

The Norwegian who was stranded on an island and lived three weeks on clams, no doubt appreciated getting picked up and having a chance at a good Christmas dinner.

President Roosevelt has set his foot down on the movement originating in Oregon to raise $800,000 by popular 10 cents donations for a bridal present for Miss Alice. He says he wants the movement to stop where it is.

If it had been somebody who needed the money, and not the president's daughter who is going to marry an already rich congressman, nothing would have been heard of raising a big purse by popular subscriptions for a bridal present.

The absence of barrooms teaches its own lesson. Of course the dispensary had large sales and there was some drunkenness Christmas, as was expected, but there was so much less than in former years when barrooms existed that the difference is worthy of note.

The statement is made that the report showing the standing of the students of the A. & M. College in all regular courses for the fall term indicate that a number of the students failed to come up to the minimum grade on examinations. Wonder if this failure is not attributable to too much time being given to football that ought to have been devoted to study.

They have had a pretty time in municipal circles at Greensboro this week. There was a meeting of the aldermen to elect a city attorney. In the midst of the proceedings half the members walked out and broke the quorum. The mayor called them to come back but they kept going, whereupon he ordered the chief of police to go bring them back. The chief went but did not bring them, his report being that the aldermen gave him the slip. Some resignations might be helpful to the city.

A GOOD YEAR.

One more day and the year 1905 will be numbered with the things that are passed. It has brought many opportunities to all of us. Some of them we have used. Many of them have gone by unimproved. It has been a gracious year. No calamities of any magnitude have occurred. No serious epidemics have come upon us. God has smiled upon us. The seasons have come and gone and there have been no extremes—not very hot and not very cold—not unusually wet and not over dry. The rains have come, the genial sun has poured forth its enlivening rays, the earth has yielded its increase, and prosperity has filled the land. Never in the history of the world have there been so many marks of forward progress along all lines. Agriculture has not been depressed. Manufacturing industries have sprung up as if by magic, morality has gained ground rapidly, social conditions have been bettered, education has marched steadily on, and, especially among the masses, and religion has influenced and controlled more than in any previous year. All of our institutions of every character have been in good condition, more widows have been relieved, more orphans cared for, more unfortunates helped and more money given for beneficent purposes than in any previous year. Life has been held dearer, property more sacred, liberty more regarded, and laws more respected than at any previous time. Towns have grown up, evils have been lessened in them, the comforts of country life have increased largely, many attractive churches and school houses have gone up everywhere and peace with its gentle wings has enveloped the whole nation.

All of these things have come to us and not for naught. They ought to bring grateful hearts, recognition of the goodness of our God, lives more consecrated to His service and a stronger determination to make the world better because we live in it. Such a year as this has been like all opportunities given, and kindness bestowed, has largely increased our responsibilities. Let us in the light of these begin the new year on Monday with a fixed determination that as we write from day to day upon the pages of life there shall be as few blurs and blot as possible, that every day shall be marked by some good deed well done, some honest duty faithfully performed, so that should we live one year longer there may be fewer regrets, and should we be called hence sooner we may have a more abundant entrance into the presence of the Giver of all good.

With seats going at a little above $90,000 we have no idea of trying to become a member of the New York stock exchange.

A California professor is trying to work a racket on the hens and claims to have struck a scheme that will make them lay eggs all the year. We hope he will pass it around.

The government has approved the plans submitted by the contractor for a light house at Hatteras. The light house is to be built afloat, then towed to the required position and sunk. If it proves a success the government is to pay the nice sum of $750,000.

In this last issue of THE DAILY REFLECTOR, for the year 1905, we extend our thanks to every one who has in any way patronized us during the year. It has been a good year for the paper and we thank every one for the part he took in helping to make it so. And to each we wish a happy and prosperous new year.

The business of the year 1905 is now practically over. It seems so fitting that after a year of prosperous business a Sunday comes in for rest and meditation before the duties of the new year are taken up. This Sunday should be a day upon which all should look back upon the old year and devoutly thank God for the many blessings the year has brought.

From five to ten a day is the record of charters issued to corporations by the secretary of state since Christmas. The only thing about this that we do not like is that Greenville has not yet been included in the list of towns getting these enterprises, and they ought to be coming this way. A building and loan association, a brick making plant, an ice plant, some wood working factories, a cotton factory—these are a few of the things that Greenville needs, and the people should be striving to get them. Let the first to come in the new year be the building and loan association.

The Army of Teachers.

The army of education in the United States is made up of 450,000 teachers, of whom 120,000 are men and 330,000 women. The overwhelming majority of the teachers are natives of the United States, less than 30,000 having been born abroad—one in fifteen.

Most of the male teachers are between the years of 25 and 35. The majority of the woman teachers are between 15 and 25.

There are 3,300 male teachers over 65. There are less than 1,500 female teachers over 65. Three times as many female as male teachers are put down as "age unknown." There are 21,000 colored teachers in the United States, thus divided between the two sexes; 7,700 men and 13,300 women. There are 500 Indian teachers in the Indian schools of the United States—240 men and 260 women.

The average of teachers in the United States is higher than in England and lower than in Germany. The proportion of very youthful teachers is much greater in the country than in the city districts.

The largest proportion of male teachers is to be found in West Virginia, where they number 50 per cent. of the total. The largest proportion of women is to be found in Vermont, where they perform 90 per cent. of the whole number. The standard of education is very much higher in Vermont than it is in West Virginia.

The number of teachers in the United States has increased greatly in recent years. In 1871 there were 135,000; in 1880 225,000; in 1890, 340,000, and it is at present 450,000.

Optimism.

For gillidge optimism we commend the man who penned the following advertisement. It appeared in the "want" columns of a South Carolina newspaper of recent date. We trust he will find his man.

"Above all, we want an honest man. No deadbeat, political agitator, persistent money borrower, booze fighters or cigarette fiends need apply.

"Transients and those looking for a place to fill in the time are not wanted.

"Faithfulness, loyalty, willing spirit, one who is not particular as to the exact number of hours he puts in, will be appreciated and rewarded.

"Give references and full particulars in first letter—such as age, whether married or single; how much experience; where, when and by whom employed; why out of position or why a change is wanted; how soon a new place is desired. Send samples of work and late photo, if possible.

"We might say that we wish to be entirely reasonable in our demands and that we don't expect to get an angel, but we do expect to find a young man with the most or all of the above points.

"We know he may be hard to find, but find him we will."

Total abstinence pays in some countries in different ways as well as in saving money and in guarantee against drinking to excess. No man who drinks at all can be certain that he will not sometimes drink to excess. Business men and great corporations in America put a premium upon sobriety. A Swiss life insurance company has agreed to insure members of a railroad men's temperance society for 4 per cent. less than the premiums charged to non-members; and a Swiss accident insurance company which for some time has made rebate of 10 per cent. total abstainers is so well satisfied with the result that it will make the rebate 15 per cent. after 1905—Salem News and Observer.

The house was beautifully decorated in red and green, Christmas bells, holly, ferns and evergreens. After enjoying music, both vocal and instrumental and many games, all repaired to the dining hall, where dainty refreshments were served. Soon after returning to the parlor, there was a very interesting contest, Master Bennie Nobles being awarded the first prize—a stick pin, and Master David Cox, the second prize. A SERIOUS JOKE.

It Was Almost Fatal to the Willing Boy, but He Survived.

A business man in lower Broadway is a practical joker of the most rabid description. A few days ago a youth of about fifteen walked into his place, which is a wholesale store, looked around curiously and approached the proprietor.

"Want a boy?" he inquired.

"Nope," said the man, who was leaning against the doorway to his private office pulling at a pipe.

"Haven't you got anything a boy could do?"

The man took the pipe from his mouth and looked about.

"I guess a boy could sweep up this floor," he remarked.

"I'm it," said the boy. He hustled into the back of the store, got a broom, and in about fifteen minutes had the floor as clean as that of a dining room.

"Anything else?" he inquired in a businesslike sort of way.

"Nope," said the man, gazing far out across the street. "Much obliged."

The boy looked at him. Intelligence appeared in his face and faded away, to be replaced into disappointment, as one picture fades into another with a dissolving view stereopticon.

"I'm on," he said finally. He walked slowly over to where he had laid his cap and coat and put them on. He glanced up at the man hopefully as he passed out. The man was fixedly looking at something across the street. There was nothing doing. He reached the corner and turned into a side street. A moment later a hand was laid on his shoulder, and he turned to face one of the clerks.

"The old man says here's a dollar for you, and stop reading story books," he said. "What's the joke?"

The boy placed the dollar in his pocket, and his face brightened. "It's a long story," he said, "but tell the old man for me that his joke come pretty near being fatal."

However, he whistled cheerily as he walked away. — New York Press.

The remains of young David Jarvis, who was killed at Lakeland, Fla., Wednesday night, reached here on Friday night's train, and were met at the depot by a large number of friends, being taken from there to the home of his sorrowing mother, Mrs. M. A. Jarvis, on Second street.

The body was accompanied to Greenville by B. E. Jarvis, a brother of deceased, and H. S. Baker, a fellow employee of the railroad. From these it is learned that David's death was caused by his being run over by a shifting engine on the railroad yard on which he was yard conductor. Just how it occurred could not be told as no one saw the accident, and when he was missed and search made for him his body was cold when found.

The funeral was held at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon with interment in Cherry Hill cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox and the pall bearers were C. O. H. Longhouse, J. L. Wooten, R. C. Panagan, W. H. Ragdale, J. E. Williams, Wiley Brown, and Frank Wilson.

Many expressions of sympathy have been extended to the bereaved mother, sisters and brothers.

Miss Shad Meets Her Match.

Col. I. A. Sugg tells a remarkable incident that occurred on the streets of Greenville this morning, which almost caused a breach of the peace. The colonel was coming down town about 8:30 o'clock, when he met a large white roe shad wading the sidewalk. As his usual courteous manner he said "Good morning," raising his hat in a friendly way. Whereupon Miss Shad said with great emphasis "I am not speaking to the Greenville public, sir, and I repeat in advance. I am looking for Col. Isaac A. Sugg, who always pays great respect to the first show the season."

Thereupon the colonel said "Many, many thanks. I am the gentleman you are looking for." And with many bows and courtesies they bade each other good bye until supper tonight when they will sup together.

This is the first breach of the peace of the kind that has happened this season, and the colonel always has the first experience of this sort.

Christmas Doin' at the Center Brick.

Reported for The Reflector.
Some one has said that "adults are but children of a larger growth," and we think this sound philosophy in more than one sense. Anyhow, the grown ups may hold to their assumed dignity for a time, but when the Christmas tide rolls around they certainly flounder up—if they get a chance.

At the Christmas party the Sunday school of the Christian church at the Centre Brick warehouse, Friday night, the grown folks had a chance to shake off the twinges of "roomitiz," and get back into the arena of old time "when you and I were young."

There seems to be an impression abroad that stout people can't run. Now I want to tell you that they don't.

Doesn't it seem to you that it doesn't outclass the Greenville boys' weights, it just adds momentum and momentum adds speed. If you happened to "go the other way" behind a solid yuletide nation, with the idea that she couldn't catch up with you, you simply misled your guess; capture was sure.

Don't think that all the fun was with those who have added weight to maturity, all had a royal good time, from the youngest to the oldest and the kindest of the proprietors of the warehouse in looking it for this occasion met with full appreciation among those who joined in games, conversation and "cakin' on."

Of course Santa Claus paid the happy party a visit, much to the delight of the gathering, especially those who awaited the usual bag of confections and fruits which the jolly good fellow always carries with him on these occasions. Everybody had their fill of good things—if they wanted them, and none were left out.

Santa was ably impersonated by Claude Tunstall, who, while not naturally as stout as the good saint was able, by the judicious arrangement of an ample supply of pillows and bolsters, to give the needed appearance of that "which shook when he laughed, like a bowl of jelly," and made the grown man say: "I would I were a boy again."

1905 IN BRIEF

The Chief Events of a Notable Year.

SHORT DAILY RECORD

Last Chapter of the War in the East.

THE YEAR'S OBITUARY ROLL

Political Affairs, Miscellaneous, Sporting and Personal Items—Loss of Life and Property by Accidents, Shipwrecks, Storms and Conflagrations—A Chronological Review.

Like its immediate predecessor, the year 1905 is notable as a period to date from in the history of the war between Russia and Japan. The year opened with the fall of Port Arthur after prolonged and stubborn contest in which 150,000 men took part and the casualties totaled 70,000 (estimated). The Russian land forces were finally defeated at Mukden in March, and the Russian Baltic fleet was practically annihilated in the strait of Korea by the Japanese fleet under Admiral Togo. On the initiative of President Roosevelt negotiations for a peace conference were begun in June, and sessions were opened in Portsmouth, N. H., in August which ended in the conclusion of a treaty of peace signed by the emperor of Russia and the emperor of Japan Oct. 14. Hostilities in this war continued approximately one year and four months, and the estimated cost of the conflict is over $3,000,000,000. The total battle casualties are placed at over 400,000.

During the year the internal troubles of Russia reached an acute stage and resulted in the granting of civil privileges which in their entirety amount to a social and political revolution and the end of the autocracy.

Among the political events of the year were the dissolution of the union under one crown of Sweden and Norway and the establishment of the independent kingdom of Norway with Prince Charles of Denmark on the throne. Venezuela became involved in disputes with the United States and France over concessions to the subjects of those two countries, and the European powers, with the exception of Germany, united in a demonstration to bring Turkey to terms in the matter of Macedonia.

The obituary list of the year includes Joseph Dodge, Mary A. Livermore and John Hay, in America, and George Macdonald and Sir Henry Irving, in England.

Four crops made new high records for the year in this country as to value—wheat, wheat straw, corn and cotton. In amount of production the corn crop is the only one of the four that exceeds previous yields. In every crop the general level of production was high and that of prices still higher.
