

SMALL FIRE.

Blaze Starts But Quickly Put Out.

*Persons nearly in the jail this morning, looking out the window saw one of the buildings of the Pitt County Buggy Company, just north of the jail, on fire. It was burning on the outside beneath one of the windows on the first floor. The prisoners gave the alarm and the fire was put out before any damage of consequence was done.

Near the window where the fire was discovered in located one of the forges and is thought that cinders thrown from this through the waste hole held some live coals among them and after smouldering for some time had set fire to the weatherboarding. It was fortunate that the fire was discovered and put out so promptly.

LARGE LAND DEAL.

The Avon Farm Changes Hands.

W. H. & S. T. White have sold their Avon farm, about 8 miles from Greenville, to J. J. Laughinghouse. The deal has been in contemplation some time and was consummated a few days ago.

This farm, which is one of the best in the county, contains 2,565 acres and sold for $25,000.

The reason the Messrs. White parted with the Avon farm was because W. H. White, who had the management of it along with other farms, had more to look after than his health would permit.

It is generally conceded that the price paid was very reasonable for a farm as large and valuable as the Avon.

Our after Christmas clearing and stock adjusting sale will commence with the New Year. The holiday rushing has left us with broken lots, odd sizes and season goods such as the economical shopper is always on the lookout for. ## TEACHER'S MEETING.

Interesting Session Saturday of Last Week.

Although the weather was bad last Friday and Saturday, the teachers' meeting of Pitt county held in the Greenville graded school building Saturday morning, Jan. 13th, 1906, was a happy success. A good crowd was present, and all seemed to enjoy the time spent pleasantly and profitably together. Those teachers who came over rough and muddy roads deserve much credit, but be it said in justice to honesty, they would not have come so cheerfully if they had not known that there was something good in store for them at the end of their journey, for the teachers' meetings of Pitt county have never been other than interesting and inspiring.

Owing to the fact that a number of the teachers were absent, the regular programme was not rendered, and the meeting was made informal. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. H. H. Moore. Prof. Smith, superintendent of the Greenville graded school, was introduced to the association. He made an excellent impromptu speech, in which he spoke highly of the work the association is doing, and expressed a desire to be of service in the work.

Miss Howell, formerly a teacher of this county, told something of her work in the Goldsboro graded school, and represented the magazine edited by her brother, of New York.

Last, but not least, came the address by Prof. W. B. Dove, ex-superintendent of the Greenville graded school. Mr. Dove tried in a very forcible manner to impress upon the teachers the importance of being professional, doing their best, and at the same time valuing themselves and their work.

Several short talks were made at intervals by Prof. W. H. Ragdale, who is always willing to speak an encouraging and helpful word to the teachers, over whom he has supervision. Pamphlets by able authors on geography and nature study were distributed.

This meeting, though its attendance was necessarily smaller than usual, did much good, and will long be remembered by those present as a most pleasant occasion. May the influence of the association continue to grow and spread, lending cheer and inspiration to its members. Dora Hornaday, Reporter.

HORSE RUNS AWAY.

Lady Thrown Out of Buggy.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Harvey drove to the depot. Mr. Harvey got out to go in the depot, leaving Mrs. Harvey alone in the buggy. The train coming in frightened the horse and the animal jumped out in a run. Mrs. Harvey was thrown out of the buggy and painfully bruised, though fortunately not seriously hurt. The horse ran on down town and damaged the buggy slightly.

Only One Editor There.

There is said to be one editor in Heaven. How he got there is not known, but it is conjectured that he passed himself off for a minister and slipped in unexpectedly. When the dodge was discovered they searched the realms of felicity in their length and breadth for a lawyer to draw up the necessary papers for his ejection, but they couldn't find one, and, of course he held the fort.—Ex.

POU'S FINE FIGHT

To Cheapen Goods to American Consumers.

Washington, D. C. Jan. 16.—Representative Pou made a splendid fight today to amend the Philippine tariff bill so as to give the President authority to reduce the import duty on the class of goods manufactured in this country which are sold at a lower price in foreign countries than at home. In a ringing three-minute speech Mr. Pou emphasized the importance of his subject and put the stand-pat Republicans in a very embarrassing light. Singular as it may seem, a large element of Republicans led by Mann, of Illinois, joined with the Democrats in applauding Mr. Pou when he concluded. The speech was one of the best the Congressman ever made.

The amendment offered by Mr. Pou was of course objected to on a point of order by the floor leader, Payne, and ruled out by the presiding officer. In his speech Mr. Pou said in conclusion: "Somehow it always happens, that whenever any bill is introduced here which helps the consumer there is always some little rule in the way of it and it seems impossible to get it before the House. I believe if you would give me time, and listen to me, I can show this amendment is not out of order, but from the former ruling of the Chair I confess I have but little hope, and therefore I conclude by saying I have introduced this as a last resort, in the hope that the House, having at heart the interest of the millions of people who are under the domination of the trusts and combines, will allow this amendment to come before this House. If I occupied your position, so help me God, I would put this amendment before this House if every other committee of the whole, and every Speaker of every Congress, had from time immemorial ruled to the contrary. Your rules are a curse when they come between us and our duty to the people."—Raleigh News and Observer.

ONLY ONE SAVED.

Schooner Grounds on Diamond Shoals.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 17.—Adrift on a gang plank from nine o'clock last Saturday morning until five o'clock Monday afternoon, without food or water, Karl Sumner, the only known surviving member of the crew of the four masted schooner Robert H. Stephenson, was picked up by the German steamer Europa, bound from Philadelphia for Savannah, Monday afternoon at five o'clock, and was brought to Savannah today. Besides the ship's crew, there were four women aboard, the wife of the captain and two relatives and a colored servant, all going to Havana on a pleasure trip, making a total of thirteen people aboard. Sumner says the schooner grounded on Diamond Shoals. All save four seamen, himself included, took to the boats, one boat being smashed, and the first mate and two men being drowned. This he saw. He thinks the other boat capsized.

CRAZY DRUNK.

Makes Trouble for the Officers.

There was a young white man at the depot, Wednesday night, waiting for the belated train, who judging from his condition and actions had tried to drink a whole distillery dry. He was just what they call crazy drunk, and raised enough disturbance for half a dozen men. A policeman took charge of him, but found him too much for one man to handle without violence. Another policeman went up and the two officers together found the wild man a tough proposition unless they clubbed him and that they did not want to do. They finally loaded the fellow into a wagon and carried him to the guard house where he had time to "come to himself" again.

NORTH CAROLINA MEASURES

Inland Waterway and Hatteras Light Interesting Congressmen.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—The rivers and harbors congress in session here is attended by all the members of the North Carolina delegation, who were appointed delegates by Governor Glenn, and they are manifesting a decided interest in the proceedings of the body, which are participated in by representatives from twenty-six States. Representative Patterson was selected a member of the committee on credentials this morning. The congress will be asked to give approval to the proposed inland water way, which is favored by Representative Small, and which was endorsed by the congress at its last session in Baltimore in 1901.

Since the government has signed a contract with Capt. A. F. Ellis and his associates for the construction of a light house and fog signal on the outer Diamond Shoal, off Cape Hatteras, which is regarded as the graveyard of the Atlantic, the engineering world particularly and the maritime world generally, are watching the undertaking with no little interest. Previous attempts to place a light house at Hatteras have resulted disastrously, but Capt. Ellis and his associates are absolutely confident of success.

MILLIONS FOR DEFENSE.

Origin of the Legend That Was on the Old One Cent Piece

A United States one cent piece bearing the motto, "Millions for defense, not a penny for tribute," was extensively circulated early in the last century.

One of the principal incidents that led to the adoption of this legend—which seems singularly out of place on an American coin, especially after the United States had just achieved its independence of Great Britain—occurred when the United States merchant ship Dauphin of Philadelphia was seized near the strait of Gibraltar by a warship of Algiers and her crew and passengers were thrown into Mus-sulin bondage to await an exorbitant ransom.

About the same time the American trading vessel Maria of Boston and Minerva of New York also were seized in the Mediterranean, and their people met a similar fate, making a total of 112 American citizens in danger of being sold into the slave marts of the east. At that time the United States was without a single ship of war or naval officers or navy yards.

The cause of this unprotected condition of the country was the strong opposition to a permanent navy as well as to a standing army, and congress resorted to the plan of paying an annual tribute to the semibarbarous powers of north Africa, so there would be no further molestation of our commerce in the Mediterranean.

Twenty-two of the prisoners were ransomed by the government for about $60,000, while the others died in captivity or were ransomed by their friends. In a short time the annual tribute from the United States amounted to over $1,000,000, when the "economists" in congress realized that the tribute was far exceeding the cost of maintaining a navy.

Then the cry of "Millions for defense, not a penny for tribute," was raised and did not a little toward securing the appropriation for the first group of war vessels that made the United States navy famous.
These were the Constitution, United States, President, Constellation, Congress and Chesapeake.

Feeling In His Art.
The singing teacher was visiting the school, and, as this was an important event in the district, the pupils had been instructed to memorize a verse or two to recite for the entertainment of the visitor.

During the delivery of his lines
one small boy was especially noticeable for the action with which he accompanied his words, so much so that the teacher, surprised at his efforts, commended him highly on the ease with which he spoke and the apparent practice which he must have put on the piece.

"It was fine," she exclaimed in closing, "and shows a large amount of rehearsal. But, Johnny, where did you get the gestures?"
"Tain't the gestures," replied the young genius, with a twist;
"tain't the gestures; it's the hives."
—Youth's Companion.

All the News.
A country exchange has this to say about printing all the news:
"A man stopped us on the street the other day and said we did not publish all the news. We should say not. In the first place, there's somebody else depending on us for a living. If we published all that happened we would be with the angels.
In order to please the people we must print only the nice things said of them and leave the rest to gossip.
Yes, it's a fact, we don't print all the news. If we did, wouldn't it be spicy reading? But it would be for one week only. On next week you would read our a-tarry, and there would be a new face in heaven. All the news is all right when it is about the other fellow."

The Term "Boss."
"Boss" is merely another spelling
for the Dutch "baas," and Bartlett's
"Dictionary of Americanisms" records that the proper pronunciation of the "o" in "baas" is like that of the "a" in "all." Originally in Dutch "baas" seems to have meant uncle, cousin or kinsman in general.
Then, because the master of a house might be regarded as the principal kinsman of its inmates, the word came to be used of him. "De baas is de baas" is a Dutch domestic proverb—"the wife is the boss."

Catching Turtles.
A curious mode of catching turtles is practiced in the West Indies.
It consists in attaching a ring and a line to the tail of a species of sucker fish, which is then thrown overboard and immediately makes for the first turtle he can see to which he attaches himself very firmly by means of a sucking apparatus arranged on the top of his head.
The fisherman then hauls both turtle and sucking fish in.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY JAN. 17 1906

The way some of the colleges are abolishing football indicates there will be less of it in future.

The President is now urging a lock canal. Perhaps later on he will be glad to see any kind.

"Keep your hands out of the troubles in Europe," is the advice Senator Bacon's resolution gives to Uncle Sam.

Must be something very attractive about the office of governor in Georgia for all the newspapers men to be wanting it.

We cannot say what Jordan's ambition is, but whatever it is it will be done for if he lets the cotton fight be a failure.

Getting tired of our own small game, it is said the President is planning a trip to Africa to hunt lions and elephants.

Japan has adopted our pension system. She will have a chance now to find out how much more expensive peace is than war.

Louisiana is going to establish hatcheries that will turn out 5,000,000 birds a year. Kansas will now have to look out to her laurds.

Old Geronimo, the Apache war chief, has just been married again for the eighth time. The old warrior is evidently still looking for trouble.

There is some consolation in the prediction that if Germany refuses to eat our meat we will have more and consequently have it cheaper for ourselves.

Mrs Burke-Roche says that a woman must have $100,000 a year in money to be in the New York "Four Hundred." We know now why there are only four hundred of them.

The President proposes that the United States should send some athletes to Athens next year to participate in the Olympic games there. But why Greece when we have the Panama canal so near home.

Representative Grosvenor says that the phrase "stand-patter" was borrowed from a disreputable source, but that he doesn't propose to be "bluffed" by any man and that he is going to "see" this game of tariff revision to the end.

John D. Rockefeller has been interested in looking up his ancestors and has found the grave of his great great grandfather. If he were to advertise a desire to find his living relatives he would not have nearly so hard a time.

Owing to a strike in the chorus, grand opera in New York was given without the chorus. The audience was enthusiastic and wants it continued. With only the soloists singing there is no interruption to conversation during the performance.

JUDGE LONG'S CHARGE.

There is no better way to judge a man than by his speech, and those who heard Judge B. F. Long's charge to the grand jury Monday were quick to reach the conclusion that he is a man of high character and ability, a keen discernment between right and wrong, a good judge of men and what is in them. At times he gave emphasis to the point under discussion in very plain language, calling "a spade a spade" when the subject justified it. Following him in his charge THE REFLECTOR jotted down some notes here and there to speak of more fully than could be done in the first reference to what he said.

In speaking of the dignity surrounding the office of grand jurors and the duties incumbent upon them he said they should make presentment of such offenses as came within their own knowledge. They should even go further and make presentment when matters come to them upon credible information, but there is a distinction as to what credible information is. If a man come mouthing around the grand jury room with some complaint and they know him to be a common liar, he should be dismissed at once without further ado. But the word of men known to be honest and true in character is worthy of consideration and information coming from such a source was creditable.

Judge Long expressed surprise at finding upon reaching here that there were 140 cases on the criminal docket, yet it had been only a short time since a criminal court. Should one from a foreign land drop in and look at this record, without looking into the faces of the people, he would conclude that all were bad. But the criminal class are in the minority, and thank God it is so, for if they were not in the minority there would not be a court house left standing. Yet such conditions existing in so large and intelligent a county shows that the law-aiding citizens fail in their duty to assist officers in repressing crime.

He expressed disapproval of the present petit jury system that requires twelve men to reach a verdict. When much is at stake, the prevailing fool idea about selecting juries makes the temptation strong to get one man to hang a jury, and with the defendant having twenty-three peremptory challenges while the State only has four makes this easy to accomplish. In this respect the jury system ought to be changed, and three-fourths of the jury should be sufficient for a verdict in a capital case, and a majority or two-thirds in minor offenses. To help bring about a reformation in this particular he would like to be a member of the Legislature about twenty minutes, for he would make a speech on it that long if he did nothing else.

By way of parenthesis to show that the present jury system had outlived its usefulness, he gave two illustrations. One was the home-stated allowing a man $1,000 of real estate and $500 personal estate—a good law just after the war when men were impoverished and needed relief from debt, but now a dis-courager of thrift in that it held some men back from accumulating more than the homestead through fear of having to pay their debts. The other was the government system of pensioning every fellow who smelled powder in the war. He believed the valiant disabled soldier ought to have a pension, but this way of every deserter, every fellow who hid behind a stump or took to the woods being on the pension list and getting something for nothing is absurd. These and the present jury system are abuses that ought to be corrected.

Before coming into this court he asked the register of deeds for statistics as to what the courts of Pitt county were costing the tax payers. The figures furnished showed that the courts of the past fiscal year cost $5,485.86, the clerk collected in jury taxes $590.65, leaving the net cost $4,895.21, and the people got back in fines for the school fund only $1,343.50. Your courts cost too much.

Liquor brings more cases to the criminal docket than come from any other source. The trouble in getting the illegal selling of liquor stopped is that there is too much lying about it. Neither those who sell it nor those who buy it will go on the witness stand and tell the truth.

Another trouble hard to correct is carrying concealed weapons. While this law is on the statute books it ought to be enforced, but even then the habit is not stopped. He some times felt that the judges of the State ought to come together and agree upon some uniform penalty for this offense.

The foregoing is only a part of the strong points Judge Long made. His interesting charge left an impression for good upon every lover of law and order who heard him.

The Common Sense.

Our attention was called not long ago to the origin of the word "common sense," that we honor so much and refer to so often. The man with common sense, our informant explained, was the man who voiced the common sense of the community—the conclusion, in other words, upon which public sentiment finally settled down. This is a good theory at least and is strictly true of the men possessed of this rare gift. He who is not endowed with this saving common sense is the man who is not correctly read the public mind upon any given question, and who fails to interpret the consensus of opinion among the neighbors. We have all seen these rarely gifted men, and they are always leaders and guides, valuable alike to stimulate or restrain the public conscience. Brilliant men are not always, nor usually, the ones upon whom the people rely in times of stress. The man of marked personal gifts is usually over confident in his own wisdom. He does not pause to feel the public pulse or take counsel of the many minds about him, while the man of common sense, thinking of others rather than of himself, balances the conflicting opinions of those about him, and out of the babel of voices weighed in the scales of his calm reason reaches the sane and safe conclusions that satisfy the public mind. It is not tending to the opinions of the populace, but it is the great truth so often quoted, that in the multitude of counselors there is wisdom. The fact is, that exactly at this point the highest wisdom may be found, and the man who first discovers and gives it expression is he who is gifted with what we call good old common sense. And one of the vital elements in his success is his ability to bridge his own tongue, for the man whose words outrun his thoughts will never command the confidence of his fellows.—Charity and Children.

While the salary paid the president of the cotton growers' association may not be an inducement, it is as much as our congressmen and senators receive.—Durham Herald.

Alit at the Altar When a Young Man by a Kentucky Girl.

The story of the life of General Burnside is the sweetest morsel of romantic reminiscence possessed by the people of the South. He is the idol of the Indianapolis News. He is the idol of the Sieras. Burnside and Miller were born at the gates of the old town, and the best days of both were spent within its borders.

In December, 1851, Lieutenant Burnside returned from the Mexican war to Liberty for a visit, and while there he met a young woman from Kentucky. He fell in love at first glance, and the affection appeared to be reciprocal. They became engaged, and preparations for the wedding were made in the Kentucky home of the promised bride. The ceremony was to take place in a church, and numerous guests had assembled to witness it.

Burnside and his sweetheart marched down the aisle to the music of a wedding march and took their places before the altar. The clergyman received the vow from the bridegroom and turned to the bride to ask if she was ready to take him as a husband. The assembly was astounded when the woman before the altar stammered, "No!" and broke the hand clasp. She then hurried from the church, followed by Burnside and the astonished wedding guests.

For years that sensational wreck of a youthful dream had an effect on him, and he had little to do with the gentler sex. He had the satisfaction of hearing a few months after he was jilted that the young woman had married another man under threat. She had boasted that she would serve him as she had Burnside. On the way to the church, however, the bridegroom drew a revolver from his pocket and said: "You are to be one of two things—my wife or a corpse."

The hint was sufficient, and the truth, with masculine effrontery, gave an affirmative answer to the questions of the minister.

Prior to the civil war Burnside married Miss Mary Bishop.

Upset Clerical Dignity.

The minister who had the reputation of never relaxing from his dignity was trying to prove to a few congenial friends that the reputation was not deserved. "Why, one day I laughed right out in the pulpit," he said, "and I did not get over the disgrace of it for several weeks. But it was one of those times when my sense of humor got the better of my ministerial calm."

"It was one hot summer day, and my church was very close to a house. The windows of the church were open, and we could hear distinctly the murmur of voices next door. I had just offered prayer, and there was the intense silence which always follows an invocation. In the solemn silence a woman's harsh voice screamed:

"John, where are the nails?"

And a great voice answered:

"In the coffin, you fool. You put them there yourself!"

Abolished Death.

The problems of life and death, which, to say the least of it, puzzle most people, are lightly disposed of by the child. A little girl, coming in contact with death for the first time in the shape of a lifeless bird that she found in the wood, ran with it to her nurse, according to the London Chronicle. "What can be the matter with it?" she cried in amazement. The nurse, of course, improved the occasion. "The bird is dead," she said portentously. "We must all die some day." The little girl looked at the small corpse in her hand contemplatively, then dropped it with some disgust. "You may die if you want to," she remarked. "I shan't."

He Didn't Wait.

He was one of those unruly youngsters who make the life of a public school teacher a hard one. He was in the primary grade. He came in one morning with dirty hands and face. The teacher looked at him severely.

"Johnny!"

"Yes'm."

"Have you washed your face and hands this morning?"

"Yes'm."

"Why not?"

"None of the folks is home, an' I don't haft to."

A Give Away.

Robbie's father, according to Lipincott's Magazine, had a friend call.

After they had chatted a few minutes the only cigar on the table was offered to the guest, so Robbie went upstairs for a fresh box. As he boy reached the top stair his father was started to hear:

"Which kind, papa? Do you want those you smoke yourself or the kind you give away?"

The Other Fellow Needs to be Encouraged.

How many of us have paused to think how much help there is in a handshake when given in a spirit of true friendship? Or in a word spoken in a brotherly way? Even in a kindly glance bestowed upon a weak or disheartened brother and conveying with all the meaning in your soul the unexpressed, "Be of good courage."

The majority of mankind today ask not for food, not for raiment, but for sympathy. As you walk along the street you meet a man whose face shows that he has had some misfortune cast upon his life. You meet such men every day, on the street, in your office—and even at your own home. They are pessimistic and discouraged, and distrust the world. Their spirits are at low ebb and they need to be inoculated with courage.

Again, there are others who perchance are in some vocation which does not measure up to their ambitions. They are discouraged. They look around at the lives of other men, apparently successful, and the dissatisfaction at their own condition increases. That dissatisfaction often urges them to redoubled efforts, but unfortunately it more often means lost hope and blasted ambitions. They need to have some one tap them on the shoulder and say, "Be of good courage."

To say to a weak brother some little word of encouragement often will make him a moral giant and assist him to rise above his difficulties and his shortcomings. He needs words of strength. He needs the hearty handshake, the hand upon the shoulder—the reassuring smile.

What a changed world this would be if each one of us would watch for just these little opportunities for doing good. Humanity is in constant need of help, and in spite of the fact that we are living in prosperous times there are men everywhere about us craving for support and sympathy and comfort. Do you give it?—Exchange.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen (I'll leave this thing to business men).
Call central and she tells you then—
"The line is busy!"

Job never had to stand this thing—
His patience would have taken wing.
If only he'd some girl heard sigh—
"The line is busy!"

Oh, yes; the telephone is great—
With your best girl to make a date;
If you have time—they'll make you wait—
"The line is busy!"

If the line's as "busy" as they say,
It must be working night and day.
How oft to me those words they say—
"The line is busy!"

I wrote one Hello Girl I know;
The note read "I've a line on you!"
She said, "Skedew—you're fresh—then, too—"

"The line is busy!"

CHANCES FOR BOYS.

Field is Not Overcrowded in Our Own County.

The boy of today has little to fear that the field is becoming overcrowded in our own county. It is just being opened. It is for the young men who are just beginning to think what a wonderful world this is, to study well the achievements of the past and to see in what manner they are to be improved. Never did the world call more insistently, for young men with force, energy and purpose—young men trained to do some one thing—than today. And every year that cry grows louder, more insistent. But the times demand men of large, liberal, energetic minds, and the man who insists on doing business in the old fashioned humdrum way is as much behind the procession as is the man who insists on traveling with an ox team instead of by railway.—Atlanta Journal.

A FARMVILLE OFFICER MURDERED.

CONSTABLE W. J. LOVITT SHOT WHILE ABOUT TO SERVE WARRANT.

One Negro Arrested for the Crime and One Escaped. Hines' Dogs Do Good Work.

Constable W. J. Lovitt, of Farmville, was shot and killed Saturday night while in the performance of his official duties. Mr. Lovitt has been constable of Farmville township for three weeks, having been appointed by the county commissioners on the first Monday of this month to succeed R. E. Belcher resigned.

The particulars of the tragedy are as follows: Saturday evening about sunset Messrs. John Case and W. H. Smith started on a wagon from Farmville to their homes about 5 miles distant. When they reached the cross roads, not quite two miles from Farmville, they met several negroes on foot in the road, who refused to get out of the way. Mr. Case told them to get out of the way as they were on foot, and one of the negroes told him to drive the wagon around, as the road belonged as much to them as to anybody had they were not going to get out of the way.

Mr. Case picked up shovel that was in the wagon and got out to make the negroes give room to the wagon. Mr. Case when Mr. Smith jumped out of the wagon to go to his assistance. Cobb broke Mr. Smith's arm with the shovel and also struck Mr. Case, while Barrett cut Mr. Case's clothing with a pocket knife. Messrs. Case and Smith went back to Farmville for the fourth time to be dressed and while there swore out warrants for Cobb and Barrett, which were placed in the hands of Constable Lovitt. The officer, accompanied by Mr. C. C. Joyner and Mr. Richard Carr, started out to find the negroes. About a mile beyond where the previous trouble occurred they overtook two negroes in the road. Constable Lovitt jumped off the buggy and ordered the negroes to halt, when one of them shot him, killing him almost instantly. The negroes fled and the body of the dead officer was carried to the home of Mr. Watt Parker, near the scene of the tragedy.

William Fountain went out and held an inquest and Constable Lovitt was buried that afternoon.

Mr. W. C. Hines with his blood hounds, accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs S. L. Dudley and R. Hyman, went out there before day Sunday morning and put the dogs on the trail. The dogs worked the trail finely and Sylvester Barrett was soon captured. Jerry Cobb was also trailed for some time but there had been so much passing about that the dogs lost his track.

Barrett was brought to Greenville and placed in jail.

THE WHITE PROPERTY.

People Are Buying Those Pretty South Greenville Lots.

Sam White has sold a number of those splendid lots in South Greenville, and already some of the purchasers are placing lumber on the ground preparatory to building. Others are talking with Mr. White about purchasing lots, which shows that many are interested in the property. It is the best, prettiest and most convenient location for a home that is available anywhere around Greenville, and those contemplating the purchase of lots should not delay. It stands to reason that when building gets started out there the price of lots will be much higher than at present and those who wait to buy will have to pay more. It is the wise man who buys while the lots are cheap.

Lieutenant Cotten Spoke.

The subject of the Philippines was the topic before the Fortnightly Review Club which yesterday afternoon met with Mrs. Julian B. Timberlake.

The club was delighted to have with it Lieutenant Bruce Cotten brother of Mrs. Timberlake, who has spent four years in the Philippines. He addressed the club concerning these, giving a most entertaining description of the islands, the people, and the conditions which exist there. It was a "first hand" account, and the members of the club and the visitors were greatly entertained by the address of Lieutenant Cotten.

There is some talk of offering free lands to induce immigrants to come to North Carolina. We had better induce people who have money to buy lands and are able to do something for themselves and the State. There are plenty of inducements here for that class of people without inviting the fellows who are looking for a gift.—Wilmington Star.

SMALL FIRE.

At Greenville Lumber & Veneer Co's Plant.

About 11 o'clock this morning the whistle of the Greenville Lumber & Veneer Co., situated a mile South of town, blew a distress signal. It was caused by fire breaking out in the company's stable near the factory. The hands around the factory went to work with buckets and put the fire out before more than $50 damage was done to the building.

General manager H. McEllan's drive horse was in the stable and was injured by suffocation. The animal was so frightened and overcame by the smoke that it had to be dragged out of the stable.

Several people from town went down to the factory to render assistance, but the fire was about extinguished by then.

The fire is supposed to have started from a cigarette which the hostess went in the stable smoking.

What the Morocco Conference is About.

The following are the landmarks in the Morocco question, which will be threshed out at Algiers:

First—The Anglo-French agreement of April, 1904, giving France paramount authority in Morocco.

Second—The appearance of Emperor William at Tangier and his sensational speech declaring that no outside influence would be permitted to interfere with the sovereign independence of Morocco.

Third—The agreement between France and Germany on September 28, 1905, whereby it was agreed to submit special questions relating to Morocco to an international conference.—Baltimore News.

Fourth—The final accord between Germany and France on September 28, 1905, whereby it was agreed to submit special questions relating to Morocco to an international conference.—Baltimore News.

When the picture taking was over Mr. Munford went back to his store and Mrs. Munford again got very busy with her plans at home, keeping her husband in ignorance of what was going on.

Just before supper time he again reached his way homeward and passed the time with his newspaper while waiting the summons to the dining room. It was not long before his reading was interrupted by the sound of many foot-steps on the front porch and ringing of the door bell. He answered this and was greeted at the door by all the employees of his two stores, eleven in number. Mrs. Munford had disclosed her plan to three town Monday.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

MERCHANT SHOT AT THROUGH STORE WINDOW.

A Negro Named Frank Young Arrested, Convicted and Sentenced to Seven Years in the Penitentiary for the Act.

Mr. C. D. Tunstall keeps store on Dickinson avenue, near the depot. Saturday night a negro named Frank Young went in the store and insulted him when Mr. Tunstall knocked the negro down and made him go out of the store.

The negro stood around outside the store for sometime and was heard making threats.

An hour or two later when Mr. Tunstall was in the back part of the store cutting meat for a customer, some one fired a pistol at him through the window. Fortunately Tunstall had stooped over just as the pistol fired and the ball went directly over his back and did him no harm.

The negro Young was suspected of doing the shooting and a warrant was sworn out for him. He had disappeared in the meantime but as he had relatives living around Grifton it was thought he had gone in that direction and officers were advised to look out for him.

Officer D. W. Beddard found Young in Grifton about noon Sunday and arrested him. The negro tried to draw a pistol on the officer at the time of arrest, but the officer was too quick for him. Officer Beddard brought Young to Greenville Sunday evening and he was placed in jail.

The courts made quick work of Young. He was given a hearing before Mayor Weeton this morning and sent on to Superior court now in session. The grand jury was only a few minutes in finding a true bill. The case was called at once, Young pled guilty and was sentenced by Judge Long to seven years in the penitentiary. This is the kind of quick work that counts in dealing with criminals.
