

Slight Damage to Drying Machine And Tobacco.

Just before 5 o'clock Thursday evening a small fire occurred in the factory of the American Tobacco Co., near the depot. The fire caught in a lot of scrap tobacco that was being dried in the machine and is thought to have been caused by a match that in some way got in the tobacco and ignited when it reached the first heating section of the machine.

JOE SMITH DEAD.

Buried by the Red Men.

Mr. Joe Smith, of Contentment township, who about two weeks ago was gored by a vicious bull, as told at the time by our Winterville correspondent, died Friday night from his injuries. The funeral was held Sunday near Bethany church, about four miles from Winterville.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Winterville Tribe of Red Men and was buried with the honors of the order. About twenty-five members of Withlacoochee Tribe of Greenville attended and took part in the ceremony that was beautiful and impressive. During the exercises a perfectly white pigeon was released from the grave which was emblematic of purity, its flight to the spirit's return to the Great Spirit.

The Great Sachem F. M. Hodges was present to lead the ceremonies for the Red Men, and the religious service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Corbett of the Free Will Baptist church.

CLOSE OF COURT.

It Was a Busy Term.

This court transacted a large amount of business and disposed of many cases. More than $2,300 was collected in fines and costs, about half this sum being fines and going to the school fund. The amount collected for jury tax was about $250.

The South Can Take Care of Itself. The South is wealthy enough now, in our opinion, to attend to all her educational needs. The South movement and others of a similar nature are doubtless inspired by good motives but many people think the South can get along better without assistance of the kind in educational or other matters. It is much the same with religious and philanthropic movements. Many people in other sections look upon the South as a kind of wilderness and they feel that missionaries should be sent here as to other places. The people of other sections, however good their motives may be, do not understand the South and the Southern people and often do more harm than good by trying to help the South solve her problems. Their discussion of the "negro problem," for instance, show that they do not understand conditions here.—Winston Sentinel.

is often as great as woman's, but Thos. B. Austin, Mrg of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind. was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by J. L. Wooten, Druggist.

A woman's seldom estimates her husband's excuses at their real value.

My Friend, This is Worth Reading—Suppose You Stop and See—Isn't it Wonderful?
Greensboro, N. C. March 29, 1903.
Mrs. Joe Person:—Itake pleasure in stating that your Remedy has entirely cured our little girl of a very bad case of eczema, which covered a great part of her body. She had eczema periodically from the time she was three weeks old, until she was six years old. She is now perfectly well and I feel that I cannot speak too highly of it. She has not had a symptom of it for six years. Respectfully,
J. W. COBB.

How Is Your Heart?

Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat? Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder; or hurt when lying on left side?

If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased and cannot get better without assistance. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.

"About January 1st, 1902, I took down with weakness and droop, and gradually grew worse. I was told by my family physician that my case was hopeless. My neighbors and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to one-third larger than normal size, and water had collected around my heart. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I was told that if I did not get Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I am able to do any kind of work on my farm. My attending physician told me that it had been his belief for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I would never be in my case."
L. T. CURD, Wilmore, Ky.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

DEFICIENT FACULTIES.

Do What You Can to Develop and Strengthen Them.

Few people are well balanced, well rounded. A great many have splendid ability in certain lines, good education, fine training and yet have some deficiency in their makeup which cripples the whole life and dwarfs the results of their utmost industry. Many of us have some little, contemptible weakness which offsets our strong qualities and ruins their effectiveness.

What a pity to see a giant in possibility tied down by some little, contemptible weakness which cripples what might have been a magnificent career! If parent or teacher would only point out to a child a weakness which perhaps will be fatal if not remedied and teach it how to guard against it, how to strengthen the defective quality by mental exercise, what a tremendous help it would give to the child, perhaps preserving it from failure!

It is pitiable to see a young man bowing to what he calls fate, which he thinks has been fixed by the contour of his brain or in his hereditary tendencies. Why should we drag our weaknesses through life when a little common sense, a little right thinking in fixing new habits of thought, will soon remedy them?

If you are conscious of a mental weakness, a deficient faculty, using a little concentration, thinking in the opposite direction and dwelling upon the perfect faculties you desire would soon put you in a normal condition. It is normal thinking that makes the normal life. But if you leave your weak faculties alone—do not exercise them, do not try to enlarge them, do not think it worth while—how can you expect them ever to become strong? You cannot develop a symmetrical body by simply exercising the arms. The same is true of the mental faculties. Those which are not used deteriorate. If you long for a thing and strive for it with all your might persistently enough and long enough you cannot help approximating it. You must get what you wish in some degree.—Success.

ONE SUIT FOR FIFTY.

But Is Made It Possible For These Indians to Vote.

"Talking about voting under difficulties," remarked a congressman from Minnesota a few days ago, "I remember in my state in former times there was a popular law that Indians who wore clothes could vote. The woods were full of Indians, but suits of clothes were mighty scarce around there, especially with the Indians. Whenever there was no special interest in the election or it was all one way the ingenuity of man was not stirred up sufficiently to put two and two together in such a way as to get those Indians to vote, but one day votes were mighty valuable, and an energetic worker set out to get Indians.

"The red men were as thick as flies, but every last one of them had a blanket wrapped about him, and very few of them had ever had on the clothing of civilization. The proposition to let them vote if they wore clothes was made in order to encourage them in the ways of civilization and also with the idea that a man who had on clothes would be a pretty intelligent Indian.

"Well, the demand for votes stirred up one of the hard workers, and he got an old suit of clothes and took it to a hat near the voting precinct. One by one the Indians were brought in dressed up in the clothing of civilization and voted. As soon as an Indian had been voted he was hurried back to the hut and his clothing was transferred to another Indian. The idea spread, and other enterprising political workers set up the same kind of business. The number of Indians that could be voted with one suit of clothes was merely limited to the number of changes that could be made. Each suit of clothes was easily good to vote fifty Indians. The lightning change acts that were performed by the Indians would be an object lesson to lightning change artists on the stage."—Washington Star.

Unsatisfactory.

A certain English commodore who had the misfortune to lose a leg in a shark encounter was beset wherever he went with questioners eager to know how, when and where he had met his loss. He finally invented an expedient for suppressing his tormentors. He would promise to answer them one question, but only one, on the subject. The question invariably was, "How did you lose your leg?" and the invariable answer, "It was hit off," which of course left his hearers more curious than ever.

Why Not Own a Home?

REAL ESTATE IN GREENVILLE IS A Safe investment.

Secure a Good Location while there is an opportunity to do so at Reasonable Prices and on Easy Terms.

I have devided that splendid property, just east of the town limits in South Greenville, into convenient lots for home-seekers and will sell them on easy terms. There is no better location for homes anywhere around Greenville. High elevation, level, and convenient, being only a few minutes walk from the business part of town. This property is just outside the corporate limits, yet those who reside there will have the benefit of the graded school, and be as near to the churches, and depot and postoffice as are the people in many parts of the town, being only three hundred yards from Five Points, nice neighborhood adjacent to the property. Talk it over with me and let me show you these desirable lots. No better time than NOW to buy. Greenville will grow rapidly in the next few years and property will be higher. Catch the opportunity before it is too late.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY FEB. 2 1906

One can hardly realize that the first month of the new year has gone.

This January has robbed March of its privilege of being the month of changeable weather.

It is filling many a girl with envy to read about Miss Alice's forthcoming wedding presents.

When the State Bar Association meets at noon the members can cross the bar, if they want to.

First thing you know these fast running automobiles will just leave the ground and go flying through the air.

Down this way it was already discovered that Governor Glenn was a "marcehman." Marked to make us a good governor.

Every time that hopes begin to rise that Uncle Sam will unload the Pullman on Japan something happens to crush those hopes to nothing.

Patience will not run with Greenville and Cayser all the time and they cannot hope that even a sick jester will come out from getting their careers.

This pit makes to be a good year for Greenville, but it will be better if some of our men of capital will get a good building and loan association in operation.

The bears on the exchange are making a stiff fight to keep the price of cotton from going up. Spots are holding tight along at a higher figure than futures.

Keep in mind that this is election year and you lose your right to vote unless your poll tax is paid. Do not give them time enough to assist in this and put it off, but go pay your tax.

One of the prerequisites of the Industrial News, the Republican daily, seems to have been the slated appointment of R. D. Douglas, editor of that paper, as postmaster at Greenville. But when the time for appointment came C. A. Frazier got the job and a row is on in consequence.

Our Ayden correspondent calls attention to the fact that every hanging that has taken place in Pitt county since the double one a few years after the civil war has come from Farnville township, and adds that this fact is no reflection on the people of that section. Certainly it is no reflection on them, but on the contrary it is to their credit. It shows that the people of Farnville are interested in bringing criminals to justice, and when a murder occurs they do not stop until there is evidence enough to convict. This can not be said of all sections of the county, for while numerous murders have occurred in various places, not a conviction in the first degree has followed, and the perpetrators have got off with a light imprisonment or go entirely unwhipped of justice.

TOO MUCH WORLDLINESS FOR REVIVALS.

The Raleigh News and Observer of last Sunday had an interesting editorial on "the need of a genuine revival of religion." That paper referred to the religious awakening that spread over Wales and a portion of England the past year, and said not a few leaders of the churches in America have hoped and prayed that the spirit would cross the ocean and the United States be made notable by a wide spread and genuine revival of religion. The same paper says that while here and there (in this country) there have been "protracted meetings" and "special services," there has been no universal revival—no such awakening as in times past caused business men to put business affairs second to their religious duties.

There is cause for the dearth of religious interest in this country, and the fault is with the churches themselves. When the churches really want a genuine revival of religion, and are in earnest about it, it will come. But the churches today seem to have drifted from the idea that they are organizations of Christ's followers to save the souls of men by leading them to Him, and instead appear to be commercial societies. Save from the pulpit one learns little in these times of the need of salvation. At the church meetings and society meetings the apparatus of thought is not how can we go out and bring a soul to Christ, but what can we do to make the most money.

The spirit of commercialism in the churches is crowding out the Holy Spirit. The churches are in competition with business and the members are in competition with society and with worldliness. It is too hard to distinguish between them. Go to the ball-room on Friday night and to the minstrel show on Saturday night, and you see many of the same people there who are partakers of the communion in the churches on Sunday. The bazaar, the festival, and sundry kinds of sales have a larger number of workers than do the prayer meetings and revival meetings.

When the members of the churches put aside worldliness and separate themselves from these things, and get to praying earnestly for a genuine revival of religion, the revival will not be long coming.

The Reflector is not cognizant of any offense against the Charlotte Chronicle or Raleigh Times to make them withdraw their visits from this office. They must have whacked us off just so or lost us in the shuffle.

The Salisbury Post has been organized into a stock company and enlarged to eight pages. J. N. Rowley, a practical newspaper man who quit the business for awhile, comes back again and is now on the staff of the Post.

The resolution of the Massachusetts negroes was just for a little notoriety. Down this way the negroes have too much regard for themselves to want to eat at the same table with white folks.

Goldsboro has caught the right spirit and organized a building and loan association. Some of these days Greenville is going to take up that idea, but so far movement in that direction is slow. When wage earners get an opportunity of buying a home with the money they pay for rents the town will grow as never before, and it will make a class of citizens with more interest in the progress of the town from the fact that they are property owners and affected by the welfare of the town. Let us have the building and loan association.

Cassie Chadwick has accepted a position as "laundress" in the Ohio penitentiary. It is understood that the position is permanent.—Durham Sun.

It is to be hoped she will be good about it and bring in the wash on time.

Is the Government really about to enter upon an era of reform? It was only a short while ago that the President called for a cutting down of the extravagance in the Government printing office. And now there is a proposition to stop the wages of two hundred unnecessary employees at the Norfolk navy yard.

The Greenville Reflector assures us that there will be a hanging in that town, which means that the negro under sentence of death has no money or influential friends.—Durham Herald.

Of course the Herald means to say that justice can be thwarted with money. And it is too often true.

The press dispatches did not give the brand of necktie the New York boy wore that stopped his father's bullet, and some manufacturer lost the opportunity of a good advertisement. It did say, however, that the necktie was daddled with cotton batting, and this should increase the demand for the staple.

This is the shortest month of the year, and you may watch out to see if it is not the worst of the winter.

Those fellows must be tired "roughing up" to keep the Industrial News going, judging from their efforts to get the editor of that paper on the government pay roll.

The Republicans seem to know all about how the Democrats will proceed to elect a United States Senator next time, judging from the way they are laying out a campaign for us.

We get Lincoln's birthday, the comic valentine and the George Washington story over again, all in this month, with ground hog day and the benning of Lent—Ash Wednesday.

Since those murderers of Pitt county appeal the quick trial does not accomplish much except in the minds of the people.—Kinston Free Press.

Satisfying the minds of the people is doing right much in these times of frequent miscarriages of justice.

Meeting of Cotton Association. There will be a meeting of the Pitt County Branch of the Cotton Growers Association in the court house at Greenville, on Monday, Feb. 5, at eleven o'clock. All cotton growers, business and professional men interested are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Hon. C. C.
