

THE RALSTON HEALTH SHOE.

Shoemaking has been developed on wooden feet--lasts--which know no "pinch" nor discomfort. The soft, yielding, tender flesh of a live foot has thus been compelled to inhabit an unnatural, ill-fitting and oftentimes unsanitary shoe. To be foot-tired is the average man's daily inheritance. And how much ill health can be traced to an ill-fitting shoe. When the foot is improperly shod the delight of walking is gone, and man's best friend--his feet--refuse to him the comfort he should enjoy. A perfect walking shoe, one that keeps the foot always in good condition--can such be had?

Ralston Health Shoes #4

The Latest Oxford, College Pattern. Extra large Eyelets. Very Stylish. If you want something distinctive, individual, come and see this shoe.

This question brought into being the Ralston Health Shoe. Recognizing that the foot sole is a curve made by the twenty-six bones which form the heel, ball and toes, (a fact strangely ignored by shoemakers in the past) we evolved a construction method which places prime importance in last modeling.

Ralston lasts are anatomically correct and differ from all other makes. Ralston construction is a principal combining comfort, ease, service, style, fit and commonsense--real quality in footwear, built into the shoes from the very start.

Shoes made on Ralston lasts are nature shoes, conforming to the natural foot, and because they need no "breaking-in" they never lose that charm and style for which Ralston shoes are famous--and which cannot be obtained in other methods of manufacture.

In the selection of materials for Ralston shoes the World's best makers are searched, and every bit of upper, top, or sole leather, linings and fittings must pass the Ralston test before acceptance. The same idea with our employees. Each and all must do his or her part according to the Ralston idea, whether it is cutting, stitching, lasting, making or finishing. The result is a shoe unrivalled in pleasure giving, service and abounding in comfort and style. Thus our immense factory with its army of happy, skillful employees is dedicated to the gospel of the foot salvation from cramped and unsuitable footwear. The Ralston Shoe cannot be duplicated at the price asked--$4.00--and as good a shoe is not made or sold for less.

How Is Your Heart?
Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat? Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder; or hurt when lying on left side?
If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased, and cannot get better without assistance.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.
"About January 1st, 1902, I took down with weakness and drowsiness, and gradually grew worse. I was told by my family physician that my case was hopeless. My neighbors and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to one-third larger than normal size, and I had lost all my strength. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed, leaning on my arms. I sent for five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have felt in twenty years, and I am able to do my own housework. My attending physician told me that I had been cured of my heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I would now like to say that I would not be without it."

Mrs Joe Person:--I take pleasure in stating that your Remedy has entirely cured our little girl of a very bad case of eczema, which covered a great part of her body. She has not had a symptom of it for six years. Respectfully,

SOME CURIOUS FINDS.
Money Lost on a Farm Was Located Inside a Potato.
A Scarborough gentleman was surprised recently to find thirty-eight pins in his breakfast egg, and most other people were surprised, too, under the circumstances. There ought to be a collection of miraculous eggs somewhere. It was only two years ago since a hen laid an egg at Bedford with a penny in it. There is no doubt at all as to the fact, but the question, "How did the penny get inside the egg?" has never been quite satisfactorily settled.

A companion puzzle is afforded by a market gardener, well known at Spitalfields market, who once lost and found a half crown under almost incredible circumstances. He was inspecting his crops when he dropped the half crown on the ground, and, though he searched long and diligently, he searched in vain. A year passed, and the incident was being forgotten when, as he was selecting some potatoes for the market, Mr. Smith came across one of a very curious shape. Cutting it open to discover the cause of its eccentricity, the gardener found inside it the half crown piece he had lost twelve months before. The potato was seen by hundreds of people, and the truth of the story is well vouched for.

Remarkable as they are, there is nothing unique in these cases. One of the romances of money making is the story of a man who found a newspaper inside a shark when fishing in Australia in 1870 and who learned the news of the Franco-German war in this way early enough to make a fortune out of it. The story may be true or not. Everybody in Australia knows it.

Another after the same kind is that of the Milford Haven trawler who, while fishing off Cardington lough, caught up in his net a packet of papers tied together with red tape and carefully sealed. The skipper of the boat handed the documents to a lawyer, and it was found they were a missing link which stood between a woman and her fortune.

They proved the right of a Miss Macdonald to certain estates in Ireland, which she had claimed ten years before, but which she had failed to win because the will could not be produced. It was this will which was brought up from the sea--Pearson's Weekly.

WEATHERCOCKS.
How They Came Into Existence in the Ninth Century.
A contemplative individual, with some power of observation, was asking about weathercocks.
"Why weathercocks?" he asked. "Most vanees are in the form of arrows. Sometimes they are hands that point with the index finger in the direction toward which the wind is blowing. A running horse is quite popular as a vane. Fish, trumps, locomotives and many other forms are used, but I seldom, if ever, see vanees, except in pictures, that can with any propriety be called weathercocks."

I referred the matter by note to our mutual friend, Dr. Detail, and received the following reply: "The ninth century was a time of extreme ignorance among all countries which now lead in civilization. An authentic account of the controversies, political, social and religious, that then occupied Europe would make a curious and interesting list of reading. In England the question of how persons who devoted their lives to religion should wear their hair and at what particular Sunday they should celebrate Easter became so bitter that the conversion of that part of the Saxon people who still remained pagans fell into neglect, and even those that had been won from idolatry showed signs of apostatizing."

"At this time, by a papal order, it was enacted that the figure of a cock should be set upon churches in order to put the people in mind of Peter's denial of our Saviour and of his unfeigned repentance, thus at once admonishing those who would renounce the Saviour and offering forgiveness to the penitent apostle."

NEGRO ROBBERY AND DOWN

On Saturday night the store of Mr. Joseph Moore, about 10 miles from Kinston and just over the line in Jones county, was robbed. Sunday morning Mr. W. C. Hines received a telephone message from Kinston to go over with his blood hounds.

Mr. Hines left about 11 o'clock and reached Kinston at 4 p. m. where he was joined by officers and they went on to the scene of the robbery, reaching there two hours later. Though this was about eighteen hours after the robbery had been committed the dogs readily found a trail.

The negro, Sam Jones, was carried to Kinston and placed in jail. On the way he made a confession of the robbery and told how he broke in and had served two terms in the penitentiary and had been sent to the roads several times.

Mr. Proctor's death was very sudden. He seemed in usual health up to the time of quitting work Saturday evening. After supper he wrote two letters to his absent children before retiring.

Mr. Proctor is survived by three children, Mrs. C. E. Stafford, of Lakeland, Florida, Mr. Will Proctor, of Norfolk, and Miss Ellen Proctor who lived with him. His wife died some years ago.

MR. S. B. WILSON DEAD.

One of Our Oldest Citizens Passes Away.

Wednesday night at 11 o'clock, at his residence on Dickinson avenue, the spirit of Mr. Simon Burney Wilson took its departure from earth to the spirit world.

Mr. Wilson was in his 73rd year and was a native of Pitt county. The best years of his life were spent on the farm, and not until the advance of age rendered him too feeble for active work did he leave the vocation he loved.

Mr. Wilson possessed that strength of character and true manhood that made friends of all who knew him.

In January, 1857, he wed Miss Martha Brown, and their happy wedded life lacked less than a year of covering half a century.

As Mr. Jordan came forward there was tremendous applause after which the most perfect attention we ever saw paid a speaker was given him.

A PERSONAL TRIBUTE.

In memory of many pleasant hours, I bring one flower to lay it on the bier of Mr. Simon B. Wilson, whose spirit on Ash Wednesday after the great god day was in his western couch.

Mr. Wilson, whose spirit on Ash Wednesday after the great god day was in his western couch, and ere mornings silvery rays kissed darkness away, passed to the bosom of Him who gave it.

In closing he spoke beautifully and feelingly of the influences at work in the South for the upbuilding of the association. He said every business and every profession was on the side of the Southern cotton growers.

He stated in the beginning that he did not come for the purpose of delivering a literary address, but as a plain man to state plain facts to plain people, and to show them if possible why every Southern farmer should ally himself at once with the Southern Cotton Growers' Association.

He said the North Carolina farmers had stood loyal and patriotic the association that in the main the farmers east of the Mississippi river had been loyal.
