END OF THE CENTURY CLUB

Reported for Reflection.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 1st, the End of the Century Club and a large number of friends were delightedly entertained by Mrs. E. Ficker at her home on Fifth street. This beautiful home was decorated with spring flowers, adding to the attractiveness of the scene. The lovely young hostess, one of Greenville's favorites, received the guests with gracious cordiality and manner. The house was soon resounded with merry feminine voices attending to the enjoyment of the evening.

The president, Mrs. C. T. P. presided with an absence of several weeks. During the business session there was some discussion of the public house, and of further extension of the club in other directions. There being no other business for the afternoon the guests and hostess were entertained by a very enjoyable program. Mrs. E. Ficker was one of the presenters of Miss Mary Gottlieb of Tarboro.

A very enjoyable and delightful social affair was given at the home of Mrs. W. A. Bowen. Among the out of town guests enjoying this happy occasion were Miss Lois Long, of Statesville; Miss Mary Gottlieb of Tarboro; and Miss Sallie C. T. of Cottontown.

Stores Closing

The dry goods and hardware stores began closing early Tuesday night. We heard a general remark that wished those in his line would follow suit. The way to do this is to make a start.

Last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Gray Corey, one of our best men, at 529, one of his daughters, Miss Lulu Hines, who is married to Mr. James Oscar Williams, of this place, the beautiful ceremony was performed by Edith M. T. Lawrence. The attendants were: David Hines, minister with Miss Rose Corey, W. H. Higgins with Miss Lizzie Moorhead, Ollen Cobb with Miss Lulu Robinson, J. R. Jenkins with Miss Emma Robinson, E. S. Mizell with Miss Minnie Whitehurst, G. S. Whittle with Miss Pearl Jenkins. There was a large crowd present. After the marriage, the bride and groom, with their many friends and relatives repaired to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. S. A. Williams, where a beautiful supper awaited them.

The bride was attired in a lovely costume of white silk accented with black. The groom wore a jet black suit. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

THE BIRD NEST LAW.

It is just as important for the officers of the law to protect bird nests and eggs in the spring and summer from the raids of the small boy, as it is for the game wardens to protect birds during the closed season. The North Carolina law protecting bird nests is very plain and should be brought to the attention of all youths, and men, too, for that matter. It provides that if any person shall take or needlessly destroy the nests or eggs of any wild birds, except those of the English or European house-sparrow, owls, hawks, crows, blackbirds, jacksnaws and ricebirds, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined one dollar for each nest or egg destroyed or taken, or be imprisoned not less than five nor more than ten days for each offense.

In copying this from The Asheville Citizen, we endorse the sentiment of that paper that "bird life is one of the greatest charms which this old earth possesses. Were it not for the songs of the little feathered forerunners that little world would be dreary indeed. Yet such conditions are likely to come to pass in the distant future, unless some steps be put to the wholesale slaughter of young birds and the destruction of bird's eggs."—Charlotte Chronicle.

FIRST ROUTE GETS KNIFE.

The work of breaking down the rural delivery service in North Carolina has begun. The route from Rocky Hill, Chowan county, is to be reduced to a three weekly basis. The first in the State to meet the displeasure of the postoffice department officials. Representative Small has been notified of the decision and the reason assigned for decreasing the service to every-other-day basis is that the patrons do not receive 2,000 packages, the minimum number fixed by the postoffice department at the requisite for a daily service. Mr. Small has endeavored to secure a readjustment of the route so as to maintain the daily service, but his efforts have not yet met with success.

The matter of discontinuing or establishing routes is entirely within the power of the postoffice department as there is no statute defining conditions for the establishment. Mr. Small is thinking of introducing a bill for the purpose of limiting the powers of the department in this respect.—T. J. Pence in News and Observer.

QUINERLY SCHOOL CLOSSES.

Splendid Speeches by Hon. L. I. Moore and Prof. J. B. Carlsyle.

Pitt county has reached the distinction of having as fine a system of public school as any county in the state, and of the excellent schools in the county Quinery school near Grifton is surpassed by none. The session of this school just closed was taught by Miss Johnson, of Virginia as principal and Miss Gibson, of Scotland county as assistant. The work of these two young ladies was of such a high order, and so pleasing to both patrons and trustees, that they were unanimously re-elected for the next session.

During the past term of the school the enrollment reached 75. The school is conducted as a public school for six months and the people of the community by private subscription carry it on for two months longer.

In January last the building met with the misfortune of being destroyed by fire. Through a serious loss, the people were undaunted by this disaster and the school closed for only one week. During this time temporary quarters were secured and the school went on without further interruption to the end of the session.

A new building will be erected this summer in time for the next session, and it will be larger and even better than the one that was destroyed. So popular has the school grown with the people that the plan is to have three teachers next session, instead of two as heretofore, so that more children can be accommodated.

Because of not having a suitable building in which to hold them, there could be no closing exercises by the pupils at the end of the past session. Instead of this it was decided to have a picnic and speaking. This took place Thursday and reflected the highest credit upon the good people of that section. It showed how they do what ever they undertake. A speaker stood surrounded by comfortable seats, and a large table for dinner were placed in the beautiful grove near the home of Mr. L. J. Chapman, and were gathered in larger number as provided specimens of manhood, womanhood, boys and girls as ever good such an occasion.

It was a splendid scene, and inspired the speakers to their best efforts. Hon. L. I. Moore was the first speaker. He congratulated the community upon its educational development and pointed to their splendid school as the result of unity of effort. He paid a just tribute to the noble work of pioneer teachers of the past, but said it made a heart well with pride upon hearing the grand progress of these latter years. Comparing Pitt with other counties of the state, he said it was due in large measure to having the best large expenditure in the state for Prof. W. H. Hagedorn under whose wise direction the schools of Pitt county could be surpassed by none. Character, education and religion are the three principles that make perfect manhood and womanhood, and these traits are being instilled in the people as never before.

Mr. Moore then introduced Prof. J. B. Carlsyle, of Wake Forest College. Prof. Carlsyle prefaced his address with a handsome tribute to the county superintendent, the teachers of the school and the people of the community in having such a school. He announced as his theme "Carpses Diem," setz the day. Dividing his address under different headings he discussed

TOWN MATTERS.

Proceedings of the Aldermen. The board of aldermen met in regular monthly session Thursday night, all the members being present.

The street committee reported the streets in fair condition, some new tiling has been put in. It was decided to pay hands at the rate of 10 cents per hour for sprinkling streets.

The white cemetery committee reported connection had been made with the water main to provide water in the cemetery. The lights and well committee reported that three drinking fountains had been placed at convenient points in the tobacco section of the town.

The cemetery committee was instructed to have the property recently purchased to be added to the cemetery enclosed and laid out in lots. It was decided to make the price of the best lots in this new addition $150, the less desirable lots at $120, and the price of lots on the slope in the old part of the cemetery $80.

GREENVILLE R. F. D. ROUTES.

What they Have Done the Past Month.

There are six rural free delivery mail routes operating from Greenville, and during the month of April these routes handled the following amount of mail:

No.	Del'ed.	Col.	Total
1.	3449	526	3975
2.	2033	290	2323
3.	1639	249	1887
4.	2466	331	2897
5.	1893	429	2322
6.	2083	301	2385

All of the routes have made good increase in the amount of mail handled, but the majority of them should be further enlarged to keep them from coming under the government pruning axe. To be absolutely safe from curtailment the routes ought to handle as much as 3,000 pieces of mail each month. People living along these routes should do all they can to increase the quantity of mail handled.

They should take papers themselves and get their neighbors to do likewise.

Building and Loan.

The Home Building and Loan Association of Greenville will begin business tomorrow, Saturday. Then an entrance fee of 25 cents on each share and the first weekly installment of 25 cents on each share will be due, and the secretary and treasurer, S. C. Wooten, will be in his office on Third street ready to receive these payments and issue receipts for same.

Notice to Share Holders.

The first stock in The Home Building & Loan Association will be issued tomorrow. The office of the Secretary, Mr. S. C. Wooten, rear of Post Office will be open the entire day to receive the entrance fees and first weekly dues. Certificates of stock and all other supplies necessary to begin operations have been received.

One thousand shares of stock is the limit in any one series. Nine hundred and fifty have already been sold in the first leaving a remainder of only 45 shares which in all probability will be taken before you read this. Let every share holder be prompt in receiving his stock.

Post Office Service.

There will be an examination held in Washington, N. C. May 19th, 06, for the position of clerks and carriers in the Post Office service. For blanks and further information apply to Frank H. Hodges, Local Secretary, at Post Office.

Raleigh, N. C., May 3.—The great council of Red Men today elected the following officers: F. M. Hodges, great prophet; W. B. Taylor, great sachem; E. A. Ebert, great senior saganore; Joseph E. Pogue, great Junior saganore; E. P. H. Strunk, great keeper of wampum; F. M. Hodges and W. D. Goodwin, representatives; W. B. A contribution will be made in response to this request. Official announcement was made that the next session, that of 1907, will be held at Greensboro.

The different officers made reports for the past month. The dispensary report showed purchases during the month of $3,016 37 and cash sales $3,830.50. The report of the superintendent of the water and light plants showed five light customers and four water customers added during the month. Receipts for the month were $862.89.

A petition from business men and citizens in the section of the town near the depot for a policeman in that section of the town was presented. A committee consisting of the mayor and two aldermen was appointed to take this matter under investigation and make such recommendation as found advisable.

Please Take Notice.

As this is campaign year and the time drawing near for candidates for the various offices to be coming from under cover, The Reflector wishes to give notice that hereafter a small charge will be made for all announcements of candidates, either by themselves or by their friends through communications. It is a heavy tax on newspapers to do all such work free, and the candidates have no right to expect it, but should be willing to pay for what they get just like other advertisers. Hereafter all such announcements or communications, advertising any man for office will be charged for at the rate of one-half cent for each word. If you want such communications printed write them brief, count the words and send the money along with them.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by the Methodist Sunday School of Greenville.

Whereas, our loving Father in heaven, on the first day of May saw fit in His inscrutable providence, to take unto Himself little Linwood Bertram, infant son of L. B. and Nannie B. Barnhill, who was a member of our Sunday school cradle roll, therefore be it resolved:

First, That this Sunday school extend to the parents of little Linwood, and to all whose hearts are sad because of his departure from earth, our profound and sincere sympathy in their sore bereavement.

Second, That we point the bereaved ones to the sympathetic Saviour, who said while here in the world, "suffer the little ones to come unto me, and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of God."

Third, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of our Sunday school, a copy be sent to the bereaved parents, and that a copy be handed to The Daily Reflector with request that they be published.

Mrs. G. S. Prichard, Mrs. J. L. Starkey, Wiley Brown.

FARMVILLE ITEMS.

Farmville, N. C., May 5, 1906. Miss Rouse's art exhibit and rainbow fete was much enjoyed on Monday night. The work of the young ladies was of high art and deserves much credit for the short time of study. The instrumental and vocal music was fine, especially the solos by Henry Jackson and Mrs. N. W. Askew and the duet by Misses Eva Horton and Roland Joyner was very fine.

Miss Selma Staton, who has been visiting Mrs. Mollie Rouse, has returned to her home in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hearne came in on the evening train to visit Mrs. M. T. Horton.

Mrs. M. E. Shaw, of Tarboro, is visiting Mrs. J. Stanley Smith.

Fred Carr and mother returned from Washington, D. C. today. Bishop Strange will be here on second Sunday night and have confirmation services in Emmanuel church.

Mrs. J. Stanley Smith will give her musical concert on Friday night in the opera house. A treat is store for all who attend the choruses and drills of the Merry Milk Mails. Mrs. Jarley's wax works is included in the program, and well worth the small admission.

Mr. John T. Thorne will give her musical concert on Monday night, 14th, in the opera house for the benefit of the graded school library.

J. M. Windham has a new office next door to Dr. Morrill.

Dr. D. S. Morrill has moved in his new office recently fitted up by R. L. Davis.

W. C. Askew has returned from the Tarboro hospital very much improved. We hope he will soon be able to be out again.

Visiting Minister.

Rev. T. L. Vernon, of Tarboro, preached in the Memorial Baptist church here Sunday morning. His subject was "Faith" and from it he gave his hearers a good sermon. At the conclusion of the sermon Mr. Vernon also made some statements relative to the plan of building a Baptist church at Farmville, one of the mission points under his charge. He exhibited a map showing a large territory adjacent to Farmville and covering portions of Pitt, Edgecombe and Wilson counties that is without a Baptist church, and emphasized the need of the denomination building at Farmville.

PROTECTION FOR THE TRUCKER.

Senator Simmons has introduced a bill in which the truckers of the eastern section of the State are particularly interested.

It provides for the proper inspection of vegetables, strawberries, melons and the like, so that all of unmarketable nature may be condemned and that which is damaged may be passed upon in order to prevent the consignee from being duped relative to the latter. In other words the bill provides that the consignee will have to transmit to the consignee the certificate of inspection, a duplicate, which will show the precise status of the products when received; also that the commission in receipts who receive vegetables, melons, berries and the like on consignment must keep a record of sales, and the prices, and that these records must be open at all times to inspection.

All consignees who fail to transmit certificates to the consignors in cases where the products are reported damaged or who shall make false entries about the same shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to punishment by both fine and imprisonment.

The Wilmington Dispatch says that such a bill is intended to protect the interests of the consignors and will stop them from being swindled. It is now other the case. Unscrupulous commission merchants who have been in the habit of writing checks that vegetables or berries were in badly damaged condition, when in truth they were not, and who sell for one price and quote one under that to the consignors, will have to halt in their nefarious ways or run the risk of imprisonment. The recording of all sales may prove somewhat cumbersome, but will be excellent if it can be accomplished. However, is such recording is deemed too impracticable, on account of its detail and botheration, the penalty for misrepresentation should still stand.—Charlotte Observer.

Early Closing.

The merchants of the town, at least all but the grocers and druggists, have begun early closing in the evening for the summer. The idea is to close promptly at 7 o'clock and the people of the town should help the merchants as far as possible in conforming to this movement. This can be done by not waiting until too late in the afternoon to go shopping, and making purchases through by 7 o'clock so as not to detain the merchants and clerks later than that hour. It will be easy for all to observe this.

FRANCISCO MIRANDA.
Maid in Reverence in Venezuela as a Pioneer of Liberty.
Francisco Miranda was a type of the reckless fighter and adventurer always dear to the hero worshiper, and he was so closely identified with the inception of Venezuela's revolution against Spain that he will always be held as a national hero. He was born in Caracas in 1756 and entered the Spanish military service in the United States in 1810 and later in Cuba. He was forced to leave Cuba for some illegal transaction and for several years led an adventurous life in Russia, Turkey, England and Germany. He went into the French service at the outbreak of the revolution and by brilliant service reached the rank of major general. His name is on the Arc de Triomphe in Paris as one of the great captains of the revolution. His reckless and adventurous spirit apparently kept him in constant conflict with sober law, for in 1797 he was condemned by the directory, but escaped to England. Receiving no aid in England, he came to the United States.

GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1906

Is your home mortgaged? If so, take stock in The Home Building and Loan Association and pay it off its easy!

Put together and lets make The Home Building and Loan Association a great success.

Some of them does not have much better opinion of Federal courts than he does of some other things.

It is easy to save if you provide the way. The way is to take stock in The Home Building and Loan Association.

Do you own a home? If you don't it's easy to pay for one with building and loan stock. Way continue to pay rent all your life.

The Wilkesboro Chronicle is responsible for the statement that a dog caught whooping cough from some children and died. So there is some virtue in whooping cough after all.

Mr. S. C. Wooten, secretary and treasurer of The Home Building and Loan Association, will be in the office for the entire day tomorrow to receive your initial payment. Remember the out-ance fee is 25 cents per share and weekly dues are 25 cents per share.

From the evidence we believe Duke is entitled to the divorce from his wife. But a man of his caliber ought to have been more careful in the beginning and not become entangled with such a woman of the world whose character he knew practically nothing.

Greenville certainly makes a fine showing in the launching of The Home Building and Loan Association. This association begins the first series of stock with one thousand shares. There are many building and loan associations in North Carolina and some several times larger than Greenville, but we doubt if there is another that started business with as many as one thousand shares in the first series of stock.

No, The Reflector is not discouraged because people did not go tumbling over each other to carry out the suggestion to build habitations on the river front, nor because the town is not yet provided with day needed electric current. This paper has learned the lesson to keep hammering patiently after needed measures until they are procured and be gratified later in seeing the fruit of its labors. So will it be as regards the bath houses, and the day current—both are coming. Greenville is sometimes slow to move, but when she moves it counts.

QUINERLY SCHOOL CLOSING.
Edit r Reflector:
It was my pleasure to visit the closing exercise of Quinerly school and enjoy the pyrotechnic display of the high school oratory of the two distinguished speakers for the occasion. Hon. L. I. Moore, of Greenville, and Prof. Corley, of Wake Forest. Our young friend, Hon. L. I. Moore, gave us the development of the mind by education, and it makes a man a man a good one and in some cases a good man a mean one. It depends altogether how you apply the education received, whether for good or bad. If you educate him for meanness he will be mean. If you educate him for wisdom and truth, he will be a good man, and apply your teaching in that way you can make a man a man of being you would have him be. I heard an old nigger say once that the preacher learned him how to be a successful thief. I asked him how was that? He said, says he, "that the preacher told him to always go 'round his enemies, as by doing so they never noticed him stealing yet." All this because he usually went around his enemies. And then again when friend Larry closed his address, in his usual happy style, by his meekly tribute to the angel women of our land, and all about our beautiful land and country, its beautiful women, etc., our heart melted with the sentimental eulogy. His words were so beautifully portrayed in language that we cannot express.

It is beginning to look worse for Snoot and he may have to walk the plank.

Cuba is getting uppish again and another revolution is reported as brewing on the island.

Time to be thinking about who you want for aldermen in your ward. Only five weeks to the town election.

President Roosevelt has sent a special message to Congress which we will write on as regards the operations of the oil trust.

It looks like our county man Mr. J. J. Laughlin to see, is right in warning the people not to send a corporation lawyer to represent them in the legislature, when such men as ex-Judge A. C. Avery endorses his views and uses the same principles. Judge Avery, who is one of the best and most able men in the state, says no man who is in any way controlled by or under the influence of a corporation is fit to represent the people in a legislative body. The people will stand in their own light unless they heed these suggestions when they select men for the legislature.

The story copied in this paper a week ago from the New Bern Journal about a pigeon following a train, and which at the time we thought was a fake because we had seen almost the same story in the correspondence of the Charlotte Observer, has occurred in another section of the State, is vouched for by Rev. J. S. Corbett. He tells us that it occurred on the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad last week and saw it occur by following with the train. So it is in order for The Reflector to apologize to the New Bern Journal for suggesting that the latter report was pulling a fake on its readers and here it is.

A FINE JOURNAL
The first number of Plantation Life, a monthly agricultural journal published at Greenville, has made its appearance. It is published by the Plantation Life Publishing Company 1100 Commerce street, with O. L. Joyner editor. This new journal is 16 pages in size with cover. Typographically it is beautiful and the publishers can well be proud of its appearance. Editorially it is a gem and is creditable to Mr. Joyner's reputation as a writer of ability. Every article from his pen bristles with earnestness and mastery of the subject in hand. This number also contains several splendid contributions by local writers of note.

We regard Plantation Life as an agricultural journal, and the first number indicates a successful career. It has an inviting field before it and should be read in the home of every farmer in Eastern Carolina. It will be helpful to the farmer in the pursuit of his business, as well as being entertaining to the family circle, and at so small a subscription price it will have a large circulation.

A young lady in Gastonia mistook a preacher for a dancing master. She wanted to take lessons and thought she was talking to the right man. He assured her that she was wrong, but she insisted, thinking he was only teasing her. At last she was made wise. Now one of two things must be true in the case; either the dancing master is a mighty pious looking somebody, or else the preacher has a gay and flashy look. If either is true the legislature ought to pass a law. No dancing master should be allowed to look pious, certainly not without license; nor should any preacher be allowed to favor a dancing master, therefore he is enacted, resolved and whered until these things be straightened out.—Lexington Dispatch.

It doesn't take an expert to tell when a Shirt is comfortable, but it takes an expert to make one comfortable. It has to be roomy, well-shaped, well sewed; the sleeves aren't too long, the collar must not be cut too low or too high.

FRANK WILSON,

The King Clothier.

A NEW RAILROAD SYSTEM AND ITS PRESIDENT.
Mr. Frank S. Gammon, who has recently become president of the various railroads in Eastern North Carolina and Tidewater, Virginia, that will comprise the Norfolk and Southern railway system, was in Raleigh yesterday making an inspection of the Raleigh and Pamlico railroad and will today go over the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad and the Pamlico, Oriental and Western railroads.

It is understood that the purpose of this company is to bring together all its properties as rapidly as possible by building links that will give them physical connection. When joined together the mileage of the system will be six hundred miles. The force at work on the Raleigh and Pamlico round railroad, which will run from Raleigh to Washington, is to be increased and the construction work prosecuted without interruption with a view to its earliest possible completion, giving a new line from the city to Norfolk. Concurrent with this work will be that of the construction of a line from the Norfolk and Southern at Washington to some point on the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, probably New Bern. Also it is understood that the Pamlico, Oriental and Western will be extended from Bayboro, its present terminus, to Oriental. By September 1st if not earlier the extension from Morehead City to Beaufort will be completed and in operation, and it is announced, on what we take to be good authority, that a bridge across Albemarle Sound will be built at once from Mackey's Ferry to Edenton to take the place of the railroad ferry now in use. This bridge will be over five miles long—the longest railroad bridge in the South except the Flagler bridge at Key West, Florida. This in general seems to be the outlines of the plans for linking up these very valuable properties without taking into account the various branch lines and feeders that this company is constructing and preparing to construct.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The expedition of Father Sherman, who with a detail of United States soldiers will traverse his father's route on his famous march to the sea, has stirred up a good deal of feeling along the route. If the son of the man who said "war is hell," and conducted his part of it with that idea uppermost, desired to traverse the route taken by his father he had a perfect right to do so, but why the thing should be so extensively advertised and turned into an official military expedition, is a mystery.—Charlotte Observer.

FACTS ABOUT MAKING TEA.

Japanese Way Is Best. Explains an Expert in the Trade.

Remarks made recently by a man who has acquired some prominence in the tea trade and who passed some years in Japan may be of interest to some to whom they come as hitherto unknown facts.

"There are two ways to make tea," said the dealer in this commodity, crossing his legs and squinting his left eye reflectively—"the Japanese way and the other way." Whether or not tea is harmful may depend entirely on which of the two entirely different methods is employed.

"A small platter or bowl is an indispensable part of every Japanese tea set. In this the water to be used in the process is heated, not to the boiling point, but to a point as near it as may be without actually reaching it. The native expert will bend over the little sizzling fire, testing the degree of heat indicated by the water in the bowl by delicately fingering the outside of this receptacle from time to time, even while earnestly talking. When he becomes at last satisfied that the desired end has been attained he pours the warm water on to his tea leaves and lets it stand for from three to five minutes. He then pours off the liquid into his teapot, and the result is the mild aromatic stimulant much prized as being genuine Japanese tea.

"The 'other way' is very well known in this country. It consists in pouring boiling water over the leaves and letting the mixture steep for an indefinite period. By this means the tannin which is contained in the tea is brought out and a dark amber colored liquid is produced. It is the tannin which is responsible for the long crusade against indulgence in the beverage and the result is 'injurious principle.' Chemically there is no difference between this tannin and that which is used in preparing leather for the market. No wonder the 'inner man' rebels.

"The average American, however, cannot wait and watch throughout the time required in the preparation of the Japanese drink, and a practical substitute must be suggested if he is to enjoy its harmlessness and flavor. My experience has been that if boiling water be used and allowed to stand only a minute and it then poured off a decoction is obtained which is very similar to the oriental in every way. Such a drink is mild at best, but it has the value of being physically undetrimental. Should there be any one, however, who in opinion regards the old-fashioned way as the best, and who does not like her tea strong and never let it steep more than fifteen minutes it is to be feared that no substitute will be accepted."

How He Knew When He Had Enough Eaten.

William Henry B. Jr., aged seven, has an insatiable appetite for breakfast cakes and maple syrup. At breakfast the other day his grandfather watched him with amazement, counting the cakes as they disappeared.

"Dad," he asked, "does you ever in all your life left that you had all the cakes eat cases you could get enough?"

"Yes, sir," replied Junior. "For of those I've left that I've had enough."

"How do you know when you've had enough?"

"Oh, I just keep on eating till I get a pain, and then I eat one more to make sure."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Gamer—I wonder why nature developed the sense of smell so much stronger in animals than in man? Suppose a man had the scent of a deer.

ART AND AN ALDERMAN.

A Criticism That Took Sculptor French's Breath Away.

A story is told of an Allegheny alderman named McElroy who won a place in the hall of fame by reason of a criticism that for the moment rendered Daniel C. French, the sculptor, speechless.

When Andrew Carnegie announced that he would present a statue of Colonel William B. Anderson, the first incumber of Pittsburgh, to the city of Allegheny, Daniel C. French was given the commission.

The statue was duly finished, and a committee of aldermen came to New York to inspect and decide whether it was satisfactory. Mr. Carnegie's stipulation being that the finished work of art be subject to the approval of the city council. It is an extraordinarily beautiful work, representing a brawny blacksmith resting on his anvil with a great mail resting on one knee and a book on the other. Sir French's idea was an extraordinary one, and the blacksmith was resting between the heels of his feet and employed the interior of his hand.

Five members of the company were unanimous in praise, one moving at once that the statue be accepted in behalf of the city.

Then the critical Mr. McElroy jumped to his feet and said:

"There is one point I want cleared. I notice this blacksmith has no shirt on. I never saw a blacksmith in my life who did not wear a shirt. If he didn't wear a shirt the sparks would fly and burn him when he strikes the hot iron."

The sculptor was speechless. This was a class of criticism to which he had no reply ready.

But another member of the committee saved the day—and the statue—to posterity. He explained that the blacksmith had probably removed the shirt to cool off while reading.

The sculptor breathed again. He permitted the committee to believe that was his purpose in showing the wonderful physical development of the man of brain and muscle.

The statue was then accepted, and the shirtless Anderson now occupies his pedestal in the Haymarket square, Allegheny.—New York News.

The Prodigy Class.

Selected Mer Victims.

An official government service at Washington tells of the rupture of the friendly relations that had so long subsisted between his daughter and nine years, named Katherine, and another little girl of the same age called Marie. It appears that immediately after the falling out the youngster last mentioned was moved to communicate to the parents of Katherine certain details of the distressing occurrence. When next the two children met there ensued some rather severe reprimands. Said Katherine:

"I think you're just a hateful, mean thing to tell me father and mother that I hit you. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

"Well," retorted Marie, "I think you ought to have been ashamed to hit me."

"Suppose I did hit you," vehemently answered Katherine. "You hit me sometimes, don't you?"

Whereupon Marie evinced the greatest indignation. "Let me tell you one thing," she observed, "if I do hit you I never hit any one outside my own family!"—New York Times.

A RELIC OF THE WAR.

Senator S. E. Williams recently came into possession of an interesting old relic of what we think must have been the civil war. It is a shell of perhaps 10 pounds in weight and has never been exploded. It was found at the railroad bridge over the Yadkin river, on the Davidson side. The double tracking force discovered it while scraping away the dirt from the rock, and it was buried but a few inches, as the earth over the rock is not more than a foot in depth. At the same time a mine ball was found. On inquiry, it was told the Senator that there was a battery at the spot where the ball was found just at the close of the war in 1865. The Yankees appeared on the Rowan side of the Yadkin and there was some firing done. That night Salisbury was set on fire. This relic it is supposed at this old 'impement' of war was left where it was found, something more than a week ago. Greene crossed the Yadkin not a great way from this place, and as he fought the British at every fording he made, that the bomb has come down from Revolutionary times. We do not know if shells were in use at that time, and the reference books at hand fail to tell us when they were first used.—Lexington Dispatch.

GREAT MILITARY AND NAVAL CELEBRATION.

Armies and Navies of the World to Participate in the Jamestown Exposition at Hampton Roads.

(By Frank Eberle.) (Norfolk, Va.)

The greatest naval and military exposition of the age will open its gates on the historic shores of Hampton Roads April 26, 1907. It will be known as the Jamestown Exposition, in honor of the first permanent settlement of English speaking people in America. Three centuries of important events will be commemorated in this history-making exposition. Every acre of land and water around the exposition grounds has played a part in the great drama of events from the arrival of the frail vessels with their little colony of English pioneers. April 26, 1607, to the passing of the French and American fleets with the remains of the founder of the American navy, John Paul Jones, a few days ago.

The first English settlers, who founded Jamestown, in 1607, and made the vast territory of Virginia an English colony, influenced the destiny of America and saved it from the clutches of Spain, then the most powerful nation on the sea. The importance of the settlement of Jamestown is therefore apparent, and the great exposition now in progress of preparation will be a worthy celebration of an event of such magnitude and far-reaching influence.

In the trying times of the American revolution the country around where the exposition is located was a bloody battle ground, and at Yorktown, but a few miles away, the last great British army surrendered to the Americans and the decisive blow was dealt which gave independence to the American colonies.

During the bloody war between the States, when two opposing ironclads met in battle for the first time, it was in the harbor of Hampton Roads, just off the point where the exposition grounds are located. The fight between the Monitor and the Merrimack was significant in more ways than one and denotes the passing of the wooden ships and the establishment of the ironclads in the great navies of the world.

The important events which have transpired in this locality led to the selection of this historic ground for the international exposition in which the great navies and armies of the world could be brought together in friendly parades and maneuvers. The American Congress appropriated money to this grand affair and the President invited the nations of the world to participate in the Jamestown Exposition. It will be primarily a military and naval exposition, on the most extensive scale ever undertaken in any country, but there will be numerous other features to give it all of the attractions peculiar to world's fairs and great industrial and commercial exhibitions.

A Washington dispatch to The New York Sun explains why only $300,000 of the $2,500,000 appropriated by Congress is now available for relief. All of the appropriation but $300,000, or most of it, will be used in replenishing army supplies sent to San Francisco as soon as the nature of the disaster became known and before action had been taken by Congress. The San Francisco authorities, it seems, had overlooked this feature of the relief measure.—Charlotte Observer.

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bae, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have enjoyed my health since. It cures all chronic coughs, settled colds, and all the ailments of the chest and lungs. Every bottle is guaranteed by J. L. Williams, Druggist, and is sold in all drug stores."

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as is that of a disinterested party. Dr. Pierce's medicine, however, forms a single and therefore exclusive exception to this rule. Their claims are solely upon their own merits, and are not based upon the say-so of any other party. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each bottle in plain English. Thus, the ingredients are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of these general ingredients, entering into these well-known medicines.

THE LAW OF ENTAIL

One of the chief sources of dissatisfaction among our Revolutionary forefathers was the law of entail which prevented the distribution of estates, created a wealthy and privileged class and deprived every other class of hope and ambition. Even Lord Bacon said that money was like a compost heap, which grew more and more offensive until it was distributed, but then produced everywhere fertility and beauty.
