

LAND SALE. Mr. Moore Coming Next Saturday. Mr. Chas. C. Moore, the president of the North Carolina Division of the Southern Cotton Association, sends the Reflector a card in which he says enthusiastic meetings were held this week at Monroe, Wadesboro and Lumberton and the farmers were greatly interested in the $100,000,000 company that will be organized to buy week cotton. Mr. Moore says he hopes to meet at least 500 Pitt county farmers in Greenville on next Saturday, Dec. 1st. He will be here that day and all farmers interested in getting better prices for their cotton should be present.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN. And History of the Bible. Rev. Ada C. Bowles, of Boston, delivered two interesting discourses here Sunday in Delphia Moyer Chapel. The morning subject was "The Garden of Eden," and as a foundation she used this text: "Now is the man become as one of us to know good and evil." - Gen. 3:22.

Science today tells us that the history of one of a certain species is the history of the species as a whole. If we will then apply this fact to the story of the Garden of Eden, we will see its force. Every child born, is born into a Paradise of innocence.

The first demand is for food. Adam, representing the race, is supplied first with food as a primal need. Next intelligence in the child is developed, it distinguishes objects, is able so to speak, to give names to things as Jesus, and John says "as Moses lifted up the serpent so must the son of man be lifted up."

The mother places a fine vase of lilies on a bracket and warns the children not to touch it while she is absent. The girl is drawn first to the flowers, suggests that they stand upon a chair and just smell the perfume. Then between them the vase falls, is broken, and the children run away. The mother comes and calls. The little culprits are ashamed to show themselves. The naughty impulse has cooled down. The Lord God walks in the cool of the day in their little spiritual garden, and they heard his call before they heard the mother's "John, Mary, where are you?"

By means of a diagram, enlarged from the Bagster's Teachers' Bible. The history of the Bible from the beginning of the fourth century to the revised version of the nineteenth century was clearly shown.

All original manuscripts being lost in the first century and oral teaching depended upon, it was not until the close of the century that the gospels were collected as sacred writings. The sources of Bible manuscripts were the manuscripts in the original tongues, reaching into the third century, versions in other languages and writings of the Christian fathers from the second to the fifth century.

Not until the versions of the nineteenth century was the most perfect Bible made, by a careful study and comparison of the three sources were never before so compared. Knowing the cost of its making, the blood and tears and martyrdoms, it should be doubly precious to students today.

sector of all being was represented as protected within the folds of the serpent. Serpents are sculptured by thousands on the temples of India, of Yucatan and Central America. To the Greeks the serpent was the symbol of health and good fortune. It was also the symbol of immortality and purification. It is still a household deity and fed with milk in many parts of the East and in India. If a dead cobra is found a coin is placed in its mouth and the cobra carefully buried. But you say these people were heathen, they had not Moses and the prophets, nor the Gospel, the Hebrews were no exception in reverence for the serpent. The rod of Moses is turned by God into a serpent which swallows other rods so transformed and becomes a mighty rod to smite the rock and work wonders. And when a fatal disease strikes the nation Moses lifts a brazen serpent upon a pole for their healing which is reverently cherished for hundreds of years in the temple. Be ye wise as serpents says Jesus, and John says "as Moses lifted up the serpent so must the son of man be lifted up."

Relative to the clerk's costs taxed in the case at issue, Col. Lusk contended that the bill of costs of $15.55 was not legal; that only $2.05 should have been taxed. Judge Allen held that the clerk was entitled to all the costs taxed. Col. Lusk intimated that he would appeal, whereupon Judge Allen said he thought Col. Lusk's client should be satisfied.

The final decision of the the question will be of interest all over the State. The matter came up during the last election when Democrats charged that Solicitor Brown in taking $4 fees on scifas was accepting illegal fees. The Solicitor contended that that Democratic Solicitors were taking the same fees that he was, and that there was law for such fee collections.

SALARY OF CLERK. Judge Allen Cuts Out Four-Dollar Items for Scifas.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 23. - Incidentally growing out of a pre-election charge that Solicitor Brown of the Fifteenth Judicial District was collecting illegally $4 fees on scifas cases, the Supreme Court will be called upon to determine whether or not the solicitor in this district or any other district in the State is entitled to collect the $4 fee on scifa. The question of costs was heard by Judge Allen this afternoon on motion of Col. Lusk, to retax the costs in a certain case. Col. Lusk argued that both the clerk's costs and the solicitor's fee were illegal. The solicitors fee was the same in the case at issue as have been taxed in other cases. After hearing argument Judge Allen held that the solicitor's fee of $4 was illegal. He said that there was a decision of the Supreme Court that he held. Judge Allen said that he was positive he had seen this decision many many years ago, but admitting that in looking into the matter he was unable to find it. He held however, that the fee was not legal, and Judge Shuford, attorney for Solicitor Brown, appealed to the Supreme Court. It is probable that the case on appeal will be heard at once.

Relative to the clerk's costs taxed in the case at issue, Col. Lusk contended that the bill of costs of $15.55 was not legal; that only $2.05 should have been taxed. Judge Allen held that the clerk was entitled to all the costs taxed. Col. Lusk intimated that he would appeal, whereupon Judge Allen said he thought Col. Lusk's client should be satisfied.

One Pension Account Closed--Many Outstanding.

For the first time in her history the United States has closed one of her many pension accounts; that is of widows of veterans of the Revolutionary war. The last Revolutionary soldier's widow drawing a pension died in Vermont a few days ago, aged 92 years. She was the widow of Noah Damon who was 75 years old when she, at the age of 22 years, married him. Soon after the Revolutionary war closed young women went into the marriage speculation, marrying old pensioners so they could secure a life pension after the death of their husbands, and many young women all over the land have carried on this species of marriage speculation after every war our country has had. The pension office records showed last June that there were still living 600 pensioned widows of the war of 1812; of the Indian war 3,367 widows, while there were only 2,173 surviving soldiers of those wars; of the war with Mexico, 7488 widows, with only 3,984 pensioned soldiers. The number of pensioned soldiers in the war between the States would be too numerous to mention.

While the pension bureau has closed the pension list of widows of Revolutionary war soldiers, it has not closed that of the daughters. There are three living who are drawing pensions by special act of Congress. As the youngest of these is 85 years old it is most likely that there will soon be the second closing of a pension list by our government. Judging by the length of time it takes to close the widows' pension lists of our earlier wars it is probable that the one for the war between the States will not be closed until toward the end of the present century. - Wilmington Messenger.

Dr. Harper, of Kinston Dead. Dr. H. D. Harper Sr. one of the most prominent citizens of Kinston, and who was well known and had many warm friends all over Eastern North Carolina, died in Wilson Saturday morning. His daughter was sick in the sanitarium at Wilson and he went to see her, and soon after arriving there he was stricken with pneumonia that caused his death.

And so it goes. The Progressive Farmer gives instance after instance—but we mention these examples merely to warn our farmer readers against wasting further the many hard earned dollars that go out from our county each year for these much advertised frauds—for frauds they are, although so conspicuously advertised in many farm papers; and the Progressive Farmer reports that it loses $1,000 a year, in advertising patronage by exposing them to its farmer readers.

Here is one little leak which our farmers may stop and keep some good money at home. Let stock foods alone.

Love makes the world go round, but it isn't always able to make the girl's father come round. If a man wishes to convince his wife that he is a genius, he must do it during the courtship. A man loves a woman because she is a woman. A woman loves a man for want of something better to love. Love is a sea of trouble upon which everyone wants to launch his boat, even though he knows it will swamp. Respect and esteem are the daily bread of matrimony; a little jam or jelly on it now and then would do no harm. Few women love a man enough not to pretend to somebody that she is not so sure about it as she would like to be. A couple may be able to live on love in a cottage until they read advertisements of bargains then the trouble begins. A woman's idea of being nice to another woman is to kiss her and say: "Oh how lovely that new hat is!" when she knows she has had it in her possession at least twelve months.

THE STOCK FOOD FRAUD--WARNING OUR FARMERS AGAINST A COMMON SWINDLE.

The Raleigh Progressive Farmer prints a notable article exposing the stock food fraud, which it pronounces the most stupendous swindle now being practiced upon American farmers. Millions and millions of dollars are spent every year—several thousand dollars a year perhaps in this very county—for fraudfully advertised "stock foods," "condition powders," etc., for farm animals, while the investigations and tests made by the Experiment Stations have demonstrated that these preparations are nothing more than common meal, bran, etc., with a little cheap sulphur, salt, Epsom salt, pepper, saltpeter, etc., added to change the taste, and the mixture hardly more valuable than ordinary ship stuff put up in flaming packages, advertised in big illustrated ads in farm papers and sold to gullible farmers at rates ranging from $250 to $2,500 a ton.

These stock foods, which can be found in almost any country store, have recently been tested in seven different Experiment Stations, and our farmers who paying such enormous prices for the mixtures, should be interested in the results as reported by The Progressive Farmer. In Minnesota steers without stock food gave better results than those using the stock foods. In Kansas two lot of stock we fed, and those without stock foods made 117 pounds greater gain. In Massachusetts a slight gain in butter was made—but at an increased price of 48 cents a pound! Of nineteen experiments in New Jersey, sixteen showed no gain, and in three cases where gains were made from stock foods, their cost was so great as to make their use unprofitable. In Iowa $1.40 a steer was lost by using these high-priced mixtures.

And so it goes. The Progressive Farmer gives instance after instance—but we mention these examples merely to warn our farmer readers against wasting further the many hard earned dollars that go out from our county each year for these much advertised frauds—for frauds they are, although so conspicuously advertised in many farm papers; and the Progressive Farmer reports that it loses $1,000 a year, in advertising patronage by exposing them to its farmer readers.

TWENTY BANKERS: NOT ONE PRINTER.

The Ohio Penitentiary News, for many years a famous and flourishing daily paper published by convicts, has suspended publication, for the very good reason that there is not left in that big penal institution a single man who can handle type. There is not a printer in the Ohio penitentiary. Bankers are there in plenty. More than twenty are there, and more are on the way. Several convict banks might be operated, with men to spare. Enough lawyers are there to take care of an enormous amount of legal business. Doctors, brokers and other "eminently respectable" citizens are not lacking. Business men, farmers, mechanics, and representatives of almost every other department of industrial activity are common there. But there is not one printer. The fact throws new light on a character that has long been commonly misjudged. The printer today is a home-owner. He is of fixed employment and is head of a family. He is—and always was—far above the average man in information and intelligence. All the notable events of human life pass through his hands and make an impression on his brain. The fact that more than twenty bankers are in the Ohio penitentiary, and not one printer, tells of the relative honesty of the printer of today—and tells more.

It tells us that the most common and most dangerous crimes of today are being committed not by the world's workers.

Nobody has any use for a kicker the one who runs down his town least of all. Be careful what you say. Don't kick. Put your shoulder to the wheel and push the town along. Your little kicking can't stop the march of progress. It merely clogs the wheels with a little dirt for the time. This will soon be cleaned out and you will be left in the lurch, looking way ahead at the procession which has cast you aside. The perennial kicker is an incubus. He is a millstone around the town's neck. Get out of the rut. Stop looking for little discrepancies—see how many good things you can find, and then turn around and tell the other fellow about them. It's the right way—the only way. - Gastonia Gazette.

TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY NOV. 30, 1906

And now comes one Brigadier General Nobles, retired commander of forces at Fort Seward, Alaska, who gives out an interview that Colonel Roosevelt, of Rough Rider fame, was not at San Juan but two miles away when the famous charge and capture was made at that point in the Spanish-American war. Too bad to spoil the president's glory he has been claiming out of that charge up San Juan hill. It recalls how Sampson tried to steal the glory from Schley of capturing the Spanish fleet at Santiago.

The Kingston Free Press says that at least ten per cent of the cotton now being marketed in that town is false packed, that is sorry cotton is put in the bale with a little good grade on either side so that when the buyer cuts into the bale to examine it he sees only the good cotton. The law makes it a felony to pack cotton in a false manner and those who do so and are convicted can be sent to the penitentiary.

And now Italy comes up and wants Uncle Sam to apologize to stand up for a scrap. All because a New York police court fined an Italian singer $10 for insulting a woman in central park.

A new swindle is abroad in the land, according to the papers. The swindler sells barbed wire fencing stretcher machines. A SWEET CHILD TAKEN

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baker, Sorely Bereaved.

Mary Estelle, aged 20 months, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baker, died at 3:25 o'clock Tuesday afternoon after a brief illness with meningitis. The little one was taken sick a few days ago, but no one dreamed that she would be so soon torn from loving hearts. It was seen late Monday evening that meningitis had developed, and from then the approach of death was rapid.

Much sympathy is expressed for the heart broken parents. It was their first and only child, and the sorrow falls heavily upon them.

The funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Cherry Hill cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue. The pall bearers were Drs. R. L. Carr, C. O. H. Laughinghouse, J. E. Nobles, Messrs. J. N. Hart, R. C. Flanagan, C. M. Jones, H. L. Carr and A. C. Holloman.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Membership Growing—Banquet Next Wednesday Night.

The membership committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce has been meeting with splendid success in canvassing the town. Between ninety and one hundred names have been enrolled as members. Some business men were out when the committee called at their places and there may be others yet who want to become members. All such can have an opportunity of enrolling their names by seeing Mr. W. S. Atkins, chairman of the committee.

The Chamber of Commerce will have a general meeting and banquet on Monday night of next week and every member should be present at that time.

A recent book entitled "The Family," written by Mrs. Herbert Parsons, wife of Congressman Parsons, of New York, and a daughter of Henry Claws, has attracted an amount of attention out of all proportion to its importance. As a contemporary states it, "Mrs. Parsons advocates what she calls 'trial marriages,' or what might otherwise be spoken of as experimental marital relationships. In other words, her idea is that a man and woman shall be allowed to enter into a marriage contract for a limited period, the continuance of the marital relation to be optional with the contracting parties. At the end of the period agreed on the parties are to be free to separate and to enter into other contracts of the same kind." This is no more nor less than the ancient doctrine of free love and the practice suggested would be wholly destructive of the marital relation. A people who would tolerate it could no longer be called a Christian people. Why waste time and space in discussing it?—Charlotte Observer

ADVERTISE

METEORIC BODIES. The realms of space contain probably innumerable masses of solid iron or other minerals which are whirling about at an inconceivable rate. Occasionally these masses come within a comparatively few miles of the earth's atmosphere, and their instead of crashing to the ground, carrying devastation in their paths, they suddenly become terrifically hot and melt away into an incandescent gas. This is what is going on when we see what is usually called a "shooting star." Stars do not shoot. The sudden flash we see is the result of the friction between the meteoric body and our air. The former travels at such a rate as to generate an enormous heat. Occasionally, however, solid masses do not become completely vaporized, but fall to the earth with a great force. A stone fell in 1555 on the coast opposite Zanzibar. It was picked up by some children herding cattle, and all the tribe gathered to assist it with oil and ornaments to make a fetish. It was as a true deity come from heaven. The missionary warnings were unheeded. One day the warlike Massai attacked the tribe and slaughtered them, whereupon the survivors lost faith in their fetish and sold it to the Munich museum. At Wold Newton, in Yorkshire, England, a meteoric fall over a century ago. Scientists were only then seriously considering such falls. On a Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, 1795, in misty weather during thunder and lightning at a distance suddenly there came a noise like an explosion. A farm servant was so near that he was struck by some of the earth thrown up by the stone as it plunged into the ground. It excavated a hole more than three feet in diameter and was found imbedded in the chalk rock. This meteoric stone is as big as a man's head and can be seen in the British museum. Aerolites pass with enormous speed across the vault of the heavens. As the aerolite falls its speed is greatly reduced as it passes through the ever thickening atmospheric strata until finally it descends to the earth.

Philosophy of a Clown. The late Charles Bliss, the famous star of the Dan Rice circus—he was the original "human fly"—imputed his success to thoroughness. "Don't attempt a new trick," he said one day, "till you are a thorough master of it. The only way to succeed is to be so thorough in everything you undertake that failure is altogether an impossibility. If you are going, for instance, to be a stump speaker, if you are going to address a lot of farmers, don't talk farm unless you have studied it up. Don't be like a stump speaker I know who yelled at a crossroads meeting: "He who puts his hand to the plow must not turn back the head." "Wot he is to do, then, when he gets to the end of the furrow?" shouted a hired man in blue overalls. "—Denver News.

Not Too Good For Him. The unobscured humor of the English peasantry is shown in a story told by the London Tribune. A Lady Bountiful was calling on a devoted old couple with such creature comforts as the doctor said were suitable for the old man, who was dying and being tenderly nursed by his consort. Entering the cottage, she saw the old dame leaning over the fire. "Ah, Susan," she said, "and how's John?" "He be gone, mum; he be gone," muttered the old lady. "Leastwast I can't say that for sartain sure, but he did seem a-gwine just now. But there, it's that mortal cold up there that I had to come down to warm my hands."

Not Guilty. "Tommy" said the teacher reproachfully, "why didn't you take your hat off to me when you passed me yesterday?" "I didn't have me hat on, ma'am," replied the boy. "Don't tell me that. I saw it on your head." "I know you seen me, but you didn't see me hat. That was me brudder's hat I had on."

Executrix of the last will and testament of Alfred Forbes.

The Omission Regretted.

The article in Tuesday's Reflector headed "A True Thanksgiving Day" was written by Rev. W. E. Cox, but by an oversight of the printer the signing of his name was omitted. We very much regret this omission, but being called away from the office about the time the paper was going to press it was not detected until almost the entire edition had been printed.
