Fresh Water a Valuable Disinfectant

In the Sickroom Pure fresh cold water is one of the most valuable disinfectants, inasmuch as it is a powerful absorbent. Every sickroom should have a large vessel of clear water, frequently renewed, placed near the ed or even beneath it. This not only absorbs much of the hurtful vapor, but by its evaporation it soliens and tempers the atmosdone, doing away with the dryness [which is so trying and depressing an invalid or even to persons i ith, for that matter.
