

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY JAN. 4. 1907

Do not let the water wagon run in the mud. Let's make this year 1907 a record breaker in Greenville's progress.

Watch Greenville hump herself to get a normal and industrial school located here.

Let nothing get in the way of securing that normal and industrial school in Greenville.

If Greenville is to be represented in the exhibits at the coming Jamestown exposition there should be an early move in that direction.

While there is always room for doing better, Greenville is to be congratulated for doing as well as she has during 1906.

The Indians on the western frontier are getting on their war path again, and giving some trouble. When they get bad they are bad sure enough.

The newspapers that have been coming since Christmas report the usual number of holiday casualties. In this fortunate section there were none of consequence.

The people have in the past contended with bad train schedules, but the railroads never gave poorer service than in the present holidays.

Heart Strength. The big event for 1907 is the Jamestown exposition. It is hard to get accustomed to the 1907 date, and slips a year back are yet frequent.

SHOT AT LEEING PRISONER. Negro Breaks for Liberty but is Recaptured.

Two pistol shots drew a crowd to the vicinity of the court house Saturday afternoon. A negro had been arrested on the charge of stealing a turkey and while officers had him at the court house awaiting investigation he gave them the slip.

Bomb Thrower Wrecks Bank. Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—Demanding a loan of $5,000 and failing to get it, a man who has not yet been identified dropped a bomb in the Fourth Street National bank today, blowing himself to pieces, instantly killing Cashier W. Z. McLeary, and injuring six others, one or two of whom may die.

Two Probable Candidates. Washington, D. C. Jan. 5.—Fairbanks will be the presidential nominee of the two parties in 1908 in the opinion of Representative Poy.

Pitt's Part. Pitt county's part of the first one hundred thousand dollars apportioned by the State to lengthen school terms in the various counties where the school fund does not run the schools the required time, is $1,616.14.

Handy Book. The Bank of Greenville is distributing an almanac that is a very handy and useful book. Besides the calendar of the different months it contains a complete directory of all officers, State, county and municipal, in the States of Virginia and North Carolina, gives the dates for holding county and state elections.

The Prosperous South. The South is prosperous as it never was before. It has more material advantages than it ever had before. Except for the matter of lynchings it is probably as well governed as it ever was before.

Confessed His Guilt. Huntington, W. Va. Jan. 7.—Percy Martin, of Atlanta, Ga., was arrested by Chief of Police Dawson of this city, charged with being one of the bandits who held up a Seaboard Air Line train, 80 miles south of Richmond New Year's eve.

Capturing Skills. Sheriff Tucker, Policeman Clark and Revenue Officer Miller captured an illicit distillery in the Reidy Branch section on Sunday. We hear that the distilleries were broken up in the county in the past week.

No Fire. A foul fire at the home of Mr. H. A. White, on Greene street, caused an alarm of fire to be given Monday afternoon. The fire department responded to the alarm but found no fire.

Office of the new, Kalama zoo, Mich., opens with prayer each morning. This is a frank admission of the need of an editor and manager of a paper.

MEETING OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Raleigh, N. C. Jan. 9th. We have experienced our first visit to Raleigh on the eve of the assembling of a session of the General Assembly, and to say that the experience was interesting is not more than half expressing the situation.

Death of Mrs. Ballard. Mrs. J. S. Congleton died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter on Second and Green Streets. She was in her eighty-fourth year, and has been an invalid for several months past.

PROGRAM FOR TEACHERS MEETING. Saturday, January 12, 1907. 11 a. m. Devotional exercises, Rev. M. T. Plyler.

There is a surplus in the state treasury of about $300,000 and a surplus in the penitentiary account of $230,000, making a surplus of about $500,000.

It is to be hoped that the legislature appreciates the desirability of few new laws as much as the private citizens of the state do. It is to be hoped that most of the coming session can be devoted to a full consideration of the four or five really important matters to be brought before the legislature.

The following other officers were elected: Chief clerk, Frank Mackett of Wilkes county, by acclamation. Reading clerk, B. F. Arendell, of Wake county, by acclamation.

The Senate held its caucus at the same hour, as the house and elected the following officers: Speaker, James H. Pegram, of Wake county.

Both houses met at noon to-day and elected all the caucus nominees.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

We extend to all our friends and customers this season's greetings, thank them for their liberal patronage in the past and enter the same wish to all for the coming year.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year.

We believe that the Old Year has been a good one to you in every way, and that the new one will be even better.

1906 has been a good one with us but if high grade merchandise is an inducement we will be better.

BLACK JACK ITEMS.

Black Jack, N. C. Jan. 2, 1907. Misses Mary and Martha Williams went to Greenville to visit James H. Clark left Sunday on his way back to Whitsett. Misses May E. Midgett and Rebecca Mills spent Saturday night near Shermidine with Mrs. J. D. Williams. Miss Julia Cox is near Greenville visiting Miss Fannie and Eva House. Walter Dixon, who has been attending school at Whitsett, has been here visiting relatives for a few days. Miss Lula V. Mills left Sunday for Winterville to attend school again. Godfrey S. Porter went to Washington to-day. J. S. Smith and wife visited relatives near Chocowinity Sunday. Heber Porter spent a part of last week here clerking for Johnston & Porter. A. O. Clark of Grimesland, was here a while Sunday visiting relatives. E. L. Clark of Greenville is spending a few days with his people. Elder G. S. Johnson went over the river Sunday to spend a few days with relatives. Miss Maggie Lancaster, of Washington, has returned from a visit here to Mrs. J. B. Mills.

Outerbridge-Burroughs.

At the home of the bride's father, Mr. S. G. Burroughs, near Williamston, Miss Ida Burroughs was married to Mr. A. W. Outerbridge, of Scotland Neck, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., December 27, 1906, Rev. G. T. Lumpkin, of Scotland Neck, performing the ceremony.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Why He Stays at Home.

Mr. Bigsbee seems like a model husband. "Yes, lately. You see his wife got the burglar scare and bought one of those pretty little pearl-handled revolvers. "Will?" "Well, as Mrs. Bigsbee wishes to do at the slightest noise, and has very near-sighted, Bigsbee doesn't have any chances on prowling around the house after dark."

Prepaid Charges.

There is a very considerable complaint that the express companies are guilty of a chronic fault in collecting charges on express matter at the delivery end of the line, where the charges have been prepaid at the starting point. This thing occurs so very often that there is a growing feeling that there is something wrong in the express organization. How many instances there may be where prepaid charges are collected at the delivery end and the double collection is never found out, nobody can tell. The frequency of the cases where it is found out, is sufficient to show that the fault is a great one and a growing one. If the express companies themselves don't stop this fault, it is important that penalty laws shall be made which will lose them more money than they make by the practice.—Charlotte Chronicle.

If you do not think Greenville needs more houses, try to find one for rent.

Tutt's Pills

This popular remedy never fails to effectually cure Dyspepsia, Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness and ALL DISEASES arising from a Torpid Liver and Bad Digestion. The natural result is good appetite and solid flesh. Dose small, elegantly sugar coated and easy to swallow. Take No Substitute.

Not Quite!

How often you can get a thing "not quite" done—a nail or screw driver or auger lacking. Have a good tool box and be prepared for emergencies. Our line of tools is a "not quite" desire, and we will see that your tool box does not lack a single useful article.

Of course!

Unfeeling.

"My husband is a brute," said the exclaiming woman. "Have you been scolding him?" "Of course I have." "Ah, I suppose he talked back and used harsh language." "Worse than that! He yawned."

Married.

Mr. W. H. Forbes and Miss Pearl Evans were married at 4 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of her brother, Mr. G. A. Evans, one and half miles from Greenville. Rev. D. W. Arnold officiating.

New Year Vows.

We hold that whoever makes a resolution or a solemn vow to be better or do better, is helped by such frame of mind, whether he is able to keep the resolution and vow or not. The very fact that one reaches the point of desire for better things is a score in his favor on the side of good. One's people differ concerning New Year vows. Some say that so many vows are made and broken that they would better be left off. This is true if the person who makes the vow all the while maintains the mental reservation that he will keep the vow if convenient, but not if it will feel at liberty to break it. Such a vow is not in the spirit of a genuine desire for improvement—is indeed frivolous—and amounts to nothing. But even a desire in the soul for better things and for improvement is helpful. Then, in the matter of new year vows, we believe that the making of them leads one to an ideal, and without an ideal no one ever got rose to better things. So we rejoice to believe that all through the land there are many who have made solemn vows before that and mean to make them.

ROYAL MESSENGERS.

They Carry Other Things Besides Government Dispatches. Very often the messenger service in Great Britain. At an English resort, for instance, a sealed packet which was being conveyed across the channel to Windsor in the care of the messenger, was found to contain a quantity of champagne instead. As the messenger was about to start, the champagne was discovered and the messenger was ordered to return to the hotel. The messenger, however, was of the opinion that it was a reasonable rate that the king can do no wrong, and neither, therefore, can the messenger. It is well understood that the service is maintained for other purposes than the nominal one. During the late Queen Victoria's reign these messengers used frequently to carry to the continent in sealed bags supposed to contain despatches and collars of a special make and pattern for one of the British ambassadors, hats and bonnets for her majesty's female relatives, all sorts of English knickknacks for the late Empress Frederick at Berlin and even barrels of native oysters for the embassies at Paris and Vienna.

For many years, moreover, it was the practice of the messengers to call each week on their way back to England at Brussels, where they received from the court kitchen a box of special biscuits of which Queen Victoria was very fond and which she believed nobody could make as well as the head pastry cook of King Leopold's kitchen. This box of biscuits was solemnly sealed up at the British legation with the official seal and then conveyed with infinite care to Windsor by way of Dover and London—Chicago News.

THE LAKE SKIPPER.

How He Taught a Salt Water Yachtman to Handle. There was a salt water captain who, for reasons of his own, accepted a berth as first mate in a big passenger steamer on the great lake. He was a capable sailing man, but he did not know what "hustle" meant until he went aboard at Buffalo. The lake skipper to whom he reported for duty remarked in the most casual manner: "Just give her a coat of paint this morning, and if the sun stays hot and she dries in good shape, give her a second coat this afternoon."

The salt water mate staggered in his tracks and made amazed protest. This was a 5,000 ton vessel, and giving her two coats of paint was an event of no small importance. The skipper, however, was a person of discernment, and forbore to quarrel with the captain's explanation with a tolerant grin: "All right. I suppose you'll have to learn to move lively after snuffing around salt water all your life. You just pass that order along to the boys and tell him it's got to be done, and then you sit up and take notice."

The boat's work, the order calmly, as if it were the day's work, and by nightfall the big steamer was spick and span with two coats of paint from her water line to her guard rail. The sailor from deep water had learned his first lesson in the ways of the great lakes during the navigation season, when the hard driven pipeline must be forced to do twelve months' work in half a year.

—Ralph D. Shippe in Outing Magazine.

THE GOLDEN RULE OF THREE.

Three things to be pure, just and honest.
Three things to live—courtesy, honor and gentleness.
Three things to govern—temper, courage and conduct.
Three things for which to fight—honour, home and country.
Three things to cherish—the true, the beautiful and the good.
Three things about which to think—life, death and eternity.
Three things to command—thrift, industry and promptness.
Three things to despise—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.
Three things to love—the wise, the virtuous and the innocent.
Three things for which to wish—health, friends and contentment.
Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and intellectual power.
Three things to attain—prowdness of spirit, integrity of purpose and cheerfulness of disposition.—Lansdowne.

Pugnacity of Rats.

A glove manufacturer took from a cabinet a handsome pair of brown gloves. "These gloves are made of ratkin," he said. "They look well at first glance, but examine them carefully. Look into the skin. The skin should be soft and fine, revealed on close examination a great many cuts and scars and scratches. None of these were quite thorough. Nevertheless their effect was to weaken the gloves greatly. "These cuts and scars," said the manufacturer, "are what rat skin is all about. You never get a skin without them; hence you can't have soft and fine skin in a glove. Rats fight so much that they become at an early age a mass of scars. Their torn hides are of no use to commerce."

London's First Ballroom Accot. When Lamard made the first balloon ascent from London in 1784 he had a pigeon. Such was the excitement caused by this ascent that a jury, deliberating on the fate of a criminal, returned a hasty verdict of acquittal in order not to miss the spectacle, while King George III. broke up a meeting of his council to watch the progress of the balloon. It was in the following year, 1785, that an adventurous Dublin undergraduate, Mr. Maguire, made a balloon ascent and was actually knighted by the lord lieutenant for his courage.

Don't Be a Sensitive Plant.

The sensitive plant is found in the church. The pastor has a sensitive plant in his house to do church work. The sensitive plant is found in political circles. The candidates must handle him with gloves. The sensitive plant is found in all avenues of human activity. Most generally he is a nuisance. Don't be one.—Columbia Herald.
