NORTH CAROLINA AT NORFOLK.

Winston-Whitcomb Co. Invites "Down-Homers" to Visit Them.

Among the progressive Southern dry goods houses are Winston-Whitcomb Co., of Norfolk, Va. The Whitcomb Bros., who organized and control this company, are from Pitt county, North Carolina. The progress of North Carolinians is evidenced wherever they locate, and their success has established a business that stands at the forefront of Norfolk's commercial interests. This firm desires that merchants visiting the Jamestown exposition make their house head quarters. This invitation is not given with the idea that every merchant visiting them are expected to buy a bill of goods, but because such a visit will be of mutual advantage. There is no firm in the South where the personnel of the members combines greater business ability and a desire for down-homers welfare. These North Carolina boys know how and the "made good."—Merchants Journal.

LEFT FORTUNE TO ROOSEVELT.

New York Woman Willed President Her Property and Cat. New York, April 8. President Roosevelt is the sole beneficiary under the will of Lulu B. Grover, of No. 2089 Lexington avenue, which was filed in the office of the surrogate today. No petition was filed with the will and the value of President Roosevelt's bequests are, therefore, unknown. The main part of the will, which is very brief, reads as follows: "I give to Theodore Roosevelt at my death everything that is mine, household furniture, personal property, jewelry, diamonds, estate, all money in bank to my credit and my cat, Snow Drip, Luv, and everything that is mine. I love to Theodore Roosevelt a debt greater than I can ever pay in this world, and in this way I wish to show I am not ungrateful. He has been my good angel who spread his wing of shelter, over my peace through life and was my only true friend in trouble. I gladly give my little all to him and only wish it were millions instead of so small an amount. I hope he will accept it in the spirit I give it and with God's blessing." It has been announced that President Roosevelt will accept the estate bequeathed to him and turn it over to some New York charity. The cat is being cared for now under directions issued by the President.

CHURCH HOLDS ANIVERSARY.

Sunday School Rally Postponed Until Next Sunday. Sunday was a day much enjoyed at the Memorial Baptist church, even though the weather was disagreeable. It was the day for the anniversary service of the church, and a good sized congregation was present at the morning hour. Interesting short talks were made on different features of the church works by Messrs. J. W. Bryan and W. M. Pugh. Prof. W. T. Kugelsie and Rev. J. E. Aycock. The choir furnished good music for the service. It was also intended to make the day rally day for the Sunday school, but the weather was so bad that no children could get out and the rally was postponed until next Sunday. Still, the record for the day reached 165 which was a remarkable attendance on such a disagreeable morning.

Mourn the Dead Bishop.

Nashville, Tenn. April 10.—The death of Bishop Cranberry at Ashland, Va., last week is the cause of widespread mourning and grief in the South, where his virtues were well-known. The Methodist denomination especially mourn his sudden departure, as he was very dear to all the thousands of worshippers of that faith who have known of his services for many years. Bishop Cranberry was also well-known at the North, and in many pulpits his death was mentioned with genuine regret and sorrow. His engaging personality endeared all who met him, especially the young people of the flocks to which he ministered.

Jerome Attacking Thaw.

New York, April 10.—District Attorney Jerome is today summing up the State's evidence in the Thaw case. He fiercely attacked both Thaw and his wife. He says Thaw should be held accountable for the killing of Mrs. Thaw, his "insanity" being no legal excuse for murder.

Effort to Abolish Charter of Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn. April 10.—Senator Porter has introduced a bill to abolish the charter of the city of Nashville so as to rid the city of saloons. The measure will be strongly pushed by Senator Porter, but is being widely criticized and discussed by members of the legislature, who do not agree upon the matter. Some of them think it is like cutting off a dog's head to cure him of some disease. The remedy is considered rather harsh, and as using a disturbance of the fundamental conditions to affect a temporary and subordinate purpose. The Jackson charter bill, which also proposes abolition of the instrument, will enter largely into the Nashville fight, the opponents of that measure making common cause with the Nashville opponents, to down both.

Battleships of Santiago Fame Ready for Exposition.

Norfolk, Va., April 10.—The famous old battleship Texas, now at navy yard, Portsmouth, is ready for service at the Jamestown exposition, she orders to the fleet that she must be ready having been strictly complied with. The same instructions came also for the cruiser Brooklyn, another famous old warrior, which fought beside the Texas in the rain of shot and shell of Santiago, and was conspicuously involved with the Texas in the Sampson-Seligey controversy that followed the battle. Both are to be stationed at the exposition, and both have been made ready sixteen days before the opening. The presence of the tough and absolute looking Texas and the stately and towering hull and superstructure of the Brooklyn, will revive memories of both the battle that bearing Sunday morning off the harbor of Santiago and the unfortunate controversy that followed the battle, involving Admiral Seligey's pennant ship, which was the Brooklyn.

Another Train Put On.

Eastern Branches of A. C. L. New To Have Double Daily Service. The Atlantic Coast Line has begun a double daily passenger train service on the Plymouth branch of that road, and also on the end of this branch between Weldon and Farmville. While this has made a change in trains, it does not effect the schedules at this point, trains arriving at the same hour as before. A new train has been put on to leave Weldon at 8:15 a. m. for Kinston and return to Weldon at 7:30 p. m. This train passes Greenville going South at 11:18 a. m., and going North at 4:25 p. m. Capt. J. S. Barr is in charge of the new train. Capt. Bill Wooten, who has formerly been running the special between Tarboro and Kinston, will now run the train between Tarboro and Plymouth. All connections are made the same as heretofore. The additional train makes excellent service for both branches of the road. The Washington branch already had double service.

Why Some Girls Marry. Some man with a masculine passion for statistics submits the following tabulated reasons why women marry. He is a modest little man. Most men think they know why women marry. However, let us be quite serious. Our statistician gathered from his inquiries addressed to about 95 girls these results:

Five wished to marry in order that they might go unchaperoned. Ten because they could then be able to amuse themselves. Five because their husbands would enable them to travel. Seven so that they would own their own homes. Four looked forward to possessing a family. Not one of the girls suggested love as a motive for matrimony. Either the little girl had not yet landed his arrow or they were ashamed to admit the fact. On these subjects we submit explanations that do not explain.

Drove in Man Hole. Two colored men riding in a buggy during the storm, Sunday night, drove in an open flush hole of the sewerage system on Fifth street. Fortunately the hole had filled with water by the rain so that no serious damage resulted to their horse in falling into it. The buggy was broken and it took some time to get the horse out of the hole. This is the only accident of any kind that has occurred since work began on the sewerage system.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1907

If uncertain about the fruit crop wait until it gets ripe, then you can tell.

The more the president talks about it the worse plight he gets himself in.

Even though the president called him a liar, Mr. Harriman sticks to it.

The Jamestown exposition will be the Mecca for bridal couples this summer.

The warmest March and coldest April is making 1907 do right well as a weather record breaker.

Some of these days the president may learn that calling a liar a liar does not make him one.

President Roosevelt up and says that Mr. Harriman lied. He was hardly expected to say less.

If Teddy calls many more people liars he may get on the war path before he reaches the Jamestown fair.

Reports from the trucking sections of the State are that crops suffered seriously in the recent cold snap.

It is unlikely that Thaw had money enough to put up such a trial but there will not be much left with him when it is over.

The widow to whom it was reported J. B. Luke was engaged, has come out with a flat denial. Women usually deny such things.

Greensboro, the States' educational center, was so easily taken in by the planist. How the people do love to be humbugged!

Every man in Pitt county wants to get interested in the election for bonds to be held next month. The result of that election means much to the county.

The have some names out in Chicago. Dunne was the Democratic candidate for mayor and Busse was the Republican candidate. The election was held Tuesday, and what Busse done for Dunne was a plenty.

There are to be two elections next month on the question of issuing bonds—one for the town on the 7th and one for the county on the 14th. It must be borne in mind that entire new registration is ordered for each of these elections, and only those who register can vote.

Some of you fellows who have had in contemplation the purchase of a building lot in Greenville had better not wait too long about it. Do you think after the brick making plant gets going, the new railroad gets to running trains, the eastern training school gets located, the streets paved and the town gets a cotton mill, that you can buy property as cheap as now? If you think so you will find yourself mistaken.

CORRECTION AND RETRACTION

The Reflector does not desire to do any man or institution an injustice and it is always glad to correct any mistake it may have made.

Some days ago, in commenting on the misdeeds of Jones, the assistant cashier of the Charlotte National Bank we said "We have been told that certain high officials of the same bank are among the largest speculators in Charlotte."

We wrote these words upon reports which we supposed were true. We have since been informed by a reliable source they are not true, and we gladly retract them and every part of the article which seems to reflect upon the officials of said bank.

Well conducted banks are useful institutions and we would not knowingly injure them. Their usefulness depends largely upon the confidence the people have in their management and we would not unjustly say anything to impair this confidence.

We would like April better if it was treating us better.

If we have only their words to take for it, why is not Mr. Harriman as worthy of belief as Mr. Roosevelt?

In the past week we have glanced over the bank statements published in a number of our exchanges, and find that for the size of the towns the banks in Greenville and Pitt county are the peers of any of them.

Of course we do not expect the other towns wanting it to agree with us, but there is really no question about Greenville being the best town in which to locate the Eastern training school for teachers. In healthfulness this town cannot be surpassed. We have good water works, electric lighting and power and sewerage systems, all owned and operated by the town. It has ample transportation facilities and is almost the exact center of the district which the school is intended to serve.

People get strange ideas in their heads sometime. A gentleman who spent Sunday near Falkland came back and told us that another gentleman out there said he had read an article in The Reflector that Greenville did not want the Eastern training school for teachers to be established by the State, but that the town was going ahead and establishing a school of her own. The gentleman in question has seen no such statement in The Reflector, and we cannot understand how he got any such idea in his head. Greenville does want the State school located here, and is going to leave nothing undone to secure it. The Reflector has been for the school from the beginning of the fight, and has used and will continue to use its influence to secure it.

THE EASTERN TRAINING SCHOOL.

It is now certain that this school will be located during this year at some point in Eastern North Carolina. The legislature has ordered such a school to be established and has left it to the State Board of Education to locate it. It is certain that this institution is to be a part of the educational system of the State and that it will remain where it may be located.

The people of Pitt county should therefore well understand that it is now or never. They can secure the school if they will, but they must do it this year, not next. In fact they must make their decision on the 14th of May, 1907. If on that day they vote for bonds they will record themselves in favor of securing the school. If they vote against bonds they will by that act say they do not want the school established in their county. We cannot believe that any of our people will so vote. Our observation is that the people of Pitt love their county and that they take a pride in its growing prosperity and influence. The location of the school in our midst will give an impetus and an uplift to the county that will soon make it the foremost county of all the State.

Remember that when the registration books open for the coming bond elections, every man must register or he cannot vote. People in the town of Greenville must register for both the town and county elections, while those living elsewhere in the county must register for the county election. The town election will take place on Tuesday, the 7th day of May, and the county election on Tuesday, the 14th day of May. Keep this straight in your mind and do not get the date nor the elections confused.

There are two bond elections before the people of Pitt county, one in which only the people of the town vote, and the other in which the people of the town and entire county vote. The amount of bonds to be issued by the town is not to exceed $75,000, and by the county is not to exceed $50,000. So much of the proceeds of these bonds as may be necessary is to be used to secure the location of the Eastern training school for teachers at some point in Pitt county. Every citizen of the county is interested in this and every vote should vote for the bond issues. If it should require the entire amount of the two bond issues—though that is not likely—to secure the school, it will be worth every dollar of it to the county. Such a school located in the county is going to benefit everybody, both in increased educational advantages and value of property.

There are already too many written laws, and some of the unwritten are better than the written.

Greensboro has not yet quit talking about the palmist, but such "Easy Marks" should never have squealed.

It is a long time before another general election, but there will be no let up on political discussion in the meantime.

A good motto for every voter in Pitt county.

"As for me and my house, we favor bonds to secure the Eastern training school."

The man who argues against bonds to secure the location of the Eastern training school in this county, argues against both his own and the county's interest.

What it will cost to get the Eastern training school located in Pitt county will only have to be paid once, while the benefit the county will reap from it will go on through years without number.

It matters not in what section of the county a man may live, he should be in favor of bonds to secure the Eastern training school. Such a school will benefit every section of the county and all neighboring counties also.

The Daily Free Press, of Kinston, has reached the age of ten years. It is a paper that has always been active in advancing the interest of its town and community. There is no single enterprise in Kinston worth so much to the town as the Free Press.

The rumor is sent out from Raleigh that the railroads of the State will test the validity of the act of the recent legislature reducing passenger fares to 2-1-4 cents. The railroads may know their own business, but we believe it is bad policy to continue a further fight in this matter. Even if they could prevent the act becoming operative for the time being, it would only make the next legislature more determined in passing a law to reach the railroads, and the rate might be made lower than under the present law. It would be better to stop the agitation and give the law a fair trial so that the railroads and people may both see if it is advantageous. The Reflector has all along been of the opinion that if the railroads had accepted the Laughinghouse 2 1/4 cent bill in the legislature of 1905, there would not have been a passenger reduction bill considered by the legislature of 1907.

Truth in Reference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1907

If uncertain about the fruit crop wait until it gets ripe, then you can tell.

The more the president talks about it the worse plight he gets himself in.

Even though the president called him a liar, Mr. Harriman sticks to it.

The Jamestown exposition will be the Mecca for bridal couples this summer.

The warmest March and coldest April is making 1907 do better than a weather record breaker.

Some of these days the president may learn that calling a liar a liar does not make him one.

President Roosevelt up and says that Mr. Harriman lied. He was hardly expected to say less.

If Teddy calls many more people liars he may get on the war path before he reaches the Jamestown fair.

Reports from the trucking sections of the State are that crops suffered seriously in the recent cold snap.

It is unlikely that Thaw had money enough to put up such a trial but there will not be much left with him when it is over.

The widow to whom it was reported J. B. Luke was engaged, has come out with a flat denial. Women usually deny such things.

Greensboro, the State's educational center, was so easily taken in by the populist. How the people do love to be humbugged!

Every man in Pitt county wants to get interested in the election for bonds to be held next month. The result of that election means much to the county.

The have some names out in Chicago. Dunne was the Democratic candidate for mayor and Busse was the Republican candidate. The election was held Tuesday, and what Busse done for Dunne was a plenty.

There are to be two elections next month on the question of issuing bonds—one for the town on the 7th and one for the county on the 14th. It must be borne in mind that entire new registration is ordered for each of these elections, and only those who register can vote.

Some of you fellows who have had in contemplation the purchase of a building lot in Greenville had better not wait too long about it. Do you think after the brick making plant gets to going, the new railroad gets to running trains, the eastern training school gets located, and the sewerage system is completed, the streets paved and the town gets a cotton mill, that you can buy property as cheap as now? If you think so you will find yourself mistaken.

CORRECTION AND RETRACTION

The Reflector does not desire to do any man or institution an injustice and it is always glad to correct any mistake it may have made.

Some days ago, in commenting on the misdeeds of Jones, the assistant cashier of the Charlotte National Bank we said "We have been told that certain high officials of the same bank are among the largest speculators in Charlotte." We wrote these words upon reports which we supposed were true. We have since been informed by a reliable source they are not true, and we gladly retract them and every part of the article which seems to reflect upon the officials of said bank. Well conducted banks are useful institutions and we would not knowingly injure them. Their usefulness depends largely upon the confidence the people have in their management and we would not unjustly say anything to impair this confidence.

We would like April better if it was treating us better.

If we have only their words to take for it, why is not Mr. Harriman as worthy of belief as Mr. Roosevelt?

In the past week we have glanced over the bank statements published in a number of our exchanges, and find that for the size of the towns the banks in Greenville and Pitt county are the peers of any of them.

Of course we do not expect the other towns wanting it to agree with us, but there is really no question about Greenville being the best town in which to locate the Eastern training school for teachers. In healthfulness this town cannot be surpassed. We have good water works, electric lighting and power and sewerage systems, all owned and operated by the town. It has ample transportation facilities and is almost the exact center of the district which the school is intended to serve.

People get strange ideas in their heads sometime. A gentleman who spent Sunday near Falkland came back and told us that another gentleman out there said he had read an article in the Reflector that Greenville did not want the Eastern training school for teachers to be established by the State, but that the town was going ahead and establishing a school of her own. The gentleman in question has seen no such statement in the Reflector, and we cannot understand how he got any such idea in his head. Greenville does want the State school located here, and is going to leave nothing undone to secure it. The Reflector has been for the school from the beginning of the fight, and has used and will continue to use its influence to secure it.

THE EASTERN TRAINING SCHOOL.

It is now certain that this school will be located during this year at some point in Eastern North Carolina. The legislature has ordered such a school to be established and has left it to the State Board of Education to locate it. It is certain that this institution is to be a part of the educational system of the State and that it will remain where it may be located. The people of Pitt county should therefore well understand that it is now or never. They can secure the school if they will, but they must do it this year, not next. In fact they must make their decision on the 14th of May, 1907. If on that day they vote for bonds they will record themselves in favor of securing the school. If they vote against bonds they will by that act say they do not want the school established in their county. We cannot believe that any of our people will so vote. Our observation is that the people of Pitt love their county and that they take a pride in its growing prosperity and influence. The location of the school in our midst will give an impetus and an uplift to the county that will soon make it the foremost county of all the East.

Remember that when the registration books open for the coming bond elections, every man must register or he cannot vote. People in the town of Greenville must register for both the town and county elections, while those living elsewhere in the county must register for the county election. The town election will take place on Tuesday, the 7th day of May, and the county election on Tuesday, the 14th day of May. Keep this straight in your mind and do not get the date nor the elections confused.

There are two bond elections before the people of Pitt county, one in which only the people of the town vote, and the other in which the people of the town and entire county vote. The amount of bonds to be issued by the town is not to exceed $75,000, and by the county is not to exceed $50,000. So much of the proceeds of these bonds as may be necessary is to be used to secure the location of the Eastern training school for teachers at some point in Pitt county. Every citizen of the county is interested in this and every vote should vote for the bond issues. If it should require the entire amount of the two bond issues—though that is not likely—to secure the school, it will be worth every dollar of it to the county. Such a school located in the county is going to benefit everybody, both in increased educational advantages and value of property.

There are already too many written laws, and some of the unwritten are better than the written.

Greensboro has not yet quit talking about the palmit, but such "Easy Marks" should never have squealed.

It is a long time before another general election, but there will be no let up on political discussion in the meantime.

A good motto for every voter in Pitt county: "As for me and my house, we favor bonds to secure the Eastern training school."

The man who argues against bonds to secure the location of the Eastern training school in this county, argues against both his own and the county's interest.

What it will cost to get the Eastern training school located in Pitt county will only have to be paid once, while the benefit the county will reap from it will go on through years without number.

It matters not in what section of the county a man may live, he should be in favor of bonds to secure the Eastern training school. Such a school will benefit every section of the county and all neighboring counties also.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS. Entertainments in Honor of Mr. Skinner and Miss James.

The last few days have been full of activity in Greenville's social circles, there being a series of brilliant entertainments in honor of the approaching marriage of Mr. Charles C. Skinner and Miss Nina C. James.

Monday evening witnessed another festivity in a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Ficklen. West End street. Mrs. Ficklen is a sister of the groom elect, and her many friends made her home gay with joy and cheer.

The guests were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White, assisted by Miss Margaret Skinner with Mr. Charlie James in the company.

Misses Ruhie Whedbee and Winnie Skinner conducted the guests to the dinner room, where the beautifully decorated table invited all to partake of the generous hospitality of the hosts.

The color scheme of green and white was so artistically combined in lace and glass, flowers, silver, bonbons, cream, cake, &c. that it needed only the final touch of merry guests and the music of the well known Italians to complete a perfect scene.

At 4 o'clock Miss James was blind-folded and led into the parlor by Miss Mary White, and placed in a chair under the umbrella, which was of pink decorated with roses and carnations and suspended on a gilt rod with pink ribbon and amilies.

A Man's World.

'A man's world' is an unimpeachable term recently created by the 'Boswell' St. Michael, Paris. He was smoking a cigar, when his nose became suddenly inflamed, and it had his beard with soon on fire. The man jumped about in great pain, and was carried through a horridly crowded to a druggist's shop, where the blaze was extinguished. It was then found that he had a child's rose. The real nasal organ had gone under in a street fight, and he went to a flesh peddler for an artificial nose. He had been supplied with one of celluloid instead of horn, hence his mishap.
