

The Savory Seamless Roaster.

Is far superior to any other Roaster made, not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or anything of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster, the moisture brought out by the cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the brown ing of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is a self-heating and self-broiling. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides.

The Savory roaster is a class to itself. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used, according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim for it, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned is in good condition.

See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.

FARMVILLE DEPARTMENT.

This department is in charge of W. Parker who is authorized to represent Th Reflector in Farmville and vicinity.

Farmville, N. C., July 15. J. Stanley Smith and family left today for Booth Bay Harbor, Maine. They were joined in Scarborough by Mrs. H. H. Shaw Mrs. Smith's mother. They will visit relatives in Boston on their way up. Mr. Smith expects to return in fifteen days but Mrs. Smith and mother will remain until October.

Miss Lula Lee Joyner, of Littleton, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. E. Joyner, of this place. Quite a little party of young people came in on the Norfolk & Southern train from Greenville today.

J. T. Thorne and wife, Misses Agnes Moore and Ada Tyson, E. O. Turnage, R. O. Lane, W. G. Gay, and Redding Fields left for Norfolk to take in the Jamestown exposition.

Horse thieves have made another raid in our community. Last Saturday night Mrs. J. A. Taylor's stables were entered and her drive horse was taken away. The stables of Mr. Redding Lewis was robbed also of one mule. No clue as yet has been learned in regard to Mr. Lewis' missing team, but Mrs. Taylor's horse was found near Greenville Sunday, being taken up by a colored man who found him in his field with bridle and lines thrown around his neck and no other harness. Charlie Joyner, son of Mrs. Taylor, took the horse home this evening.

J. J. Hearne's family, of Farmville, left today to spend several weeks out at their commodious home near Old Sparta, in Edgecombe county.

R. E. Fulford and Miss Victoria Mye were married at the home of the bride, Mr. J. F. Case, Saturday about 4 o'clock P. M. J. W. Smith, Esq., of Beaver Dam, officiating. Immediately after the marriage they departed, not for the Jamestown exposition but over in Beaver Dam to the home of the groom's father, J. G. Fulford, accompanied by a host of invited guests, where one of those old-fashioned country weddings was being awaited them. We hope the young couple may ever be as happy as they appeared on this eventful day.

A TESTIMONIAL.

Farmville N. C. July 1st 1907. To whom this may concern, This is to certify that I suffered with constipation and indigestion for twenty-five years. A fact in my stomach trouble was directed during the civil war while living and serving on the frontier with Co. E. 43 N. C. Reg., Daniel's Brigade. Upon returning from the war my health gradually became worse until my condition was such that I almost gave up to die. I was treated by the best skilled physicians within my reach, without any satisfactory results, and finally I was advised by Dr. C. J. O'Hagan to discontinue all medicines and drugs and try the waters of Green Spring, on the late Howell Joyner's farm, which I did. From that day I never took another dose of medicine, and to my surprise in a few days.

I found that I could eat almost anything I pleased without any unpleasant feeling or burning sensation in my stomach. My constipation was changed into laxation and instead of a retched and tired some nights I enjoyed sweet rest and blissful sleep. In two months I gained from 120 lbs. to 165 lbs. Furthermore I found myself suffering from indigestion I had on both my legs what the doctors pronounced eczema ulcers, which were as large as the palm of my hand. I began bathing them in the water and they healed in two weeks without leaving the least sign or scars. Twelve years have elapsed since I began using this water, and I have not felt the least symptoms of indigestion or seen any sign of ulcers. I can truthfully say I only wish all suffering humanity knew as much of the waters of the Green Spring as I do.

WOOD AND WILSON AT LIBERTY
Penalty Clause Held to be Unconstitutional by Judge Pritchard.
Asheville, N. C., July 22.—The Federal court was jammed and crowded with interested spectators today when at a few minutes after 10 o'clock, Judge J. C. Pritchard rendered his decision in the habeas corpus proceedings instituted last week for the release of District Passenger Agent J. H. Wood and Ticket Seller O. C. Wilson, of the Southern Railway Company, convicted and sentenced to the county chain gang for violating the new State rate law. The decision of Judge Pritchard ordering the release of Wood and Wilson and declaring the penalty clause of the new rate law unconstitutional, has been hailed as a landmark in the history of the State.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.
Important Occasion for Farmers of Pitt County.
Under an arrangement made by Congressman John H. Small, an agricultural meeting will be held in the court house, on Friday, August 9th, beginning at 10 o'clock.

THEODORE R. IS VERY NERVOUS
Pritchard Ought Not "To Have Gone and Done It"—Southern May Come Over to the Governor's Way of Thinking.
Washington, D. C., July 23.—President Roosevelt is embarrassed by the action of the Circuit Judge Jeter C. Pritchard in granting a writ of habeas corpus to employees of the Southern Railroad convicted of violating the State laws of North Carolina.

ACROSS THE STATE.
Interesting Items Gathered Here, There and Everywhere.
Faison, N. C., July 22.—This section is now in the midst of "cantelope season"—having shipped on Saturday 5,000 crates, with the Monday shipment still going about as well.

VALUE OF THE RAILROADS.
Corporation Commission Reassessment figures for Railroad Property.
Raleigh, July 22.—The corporation commission made public this evening a statement of the reassessment of railroad and state public corporations in the State. It shows railroad property advanced from $70,077,353 to $94,412,833. The assessment of Atlantic Coast Line is made $30,000 per mile; Seaboard Air Line $20,424; Southern Railway (all lines) $25,572. North Carolina railway division of the Southern, $47,373, giving this division a valuation of $10,573,782 against $6,680,000 last assessment.

ONEY THE LAW OR TAKE THE CONSEQUENCES
Says Governor Glenn to the Railroads—Cease Selling Tickets at Unlawful Rate and Suits Will be Stopped.
Asked what he thought of the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the court in the case of State vs. T. E. Green and the Southern Railway, the Governor said: "It is about what I expected. Upon the testimony there being no evidence offered by the defendant to show the rate was confiscatory and therefore unconstitutional, the jury was compelled to convict, and the judge was right in putting the line on the real offender and not the agent who simply sold the ticket under orders."

There will be present two experts from the bureau of plant industry. One of these will be Mr. Shamel, who is one of the best equipped men of all the United States department of agriculture. He comes very highly commended. He is well informed on tobacco culture, but is an all around good man. The other member from this Bureau will be Mr. Boykin, who is an expert on cotton. Mr. Boykin will bring with him one of his devices for testing cotton seed, which is a simple arrangement whereby farmers can screen out poor seed. There will also be an expert on drainage, probably, Prof. J. D. Wright.

Neither President Roosevelt nor the Department of Justice desired Judge Pritchard to issue his writ of habeas corpus. Officials of the department of Justice hold that the case was purely one for the State courts, and that Judge Pritchard when applied to by the Southern Railroad should have refused to act. His decision is called here the worst shock Roosevelt's administration has yet received.

It is said here the road had ample redress; that it could have obtained a stay of execution and taken an appeal to the State Supreme Court. From that tribunal an appeal could have been taken to the United States Supreme Court. These officials say that the action of Judge Pritchard is the first case on record in which federal courts have interfered in a purely State matter.

Atlanta, July 23.—President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, will probably investigate the new spray of turpentine which is said to be an effective preventive of boel weevil, and if he finds that it does the work, he will probably recommend it to farmers as a means of getting rid of the pest.

Charlotte, N. C., July 23.—While Engineer A. J. Huneycutt and Conductor T. A. Allison were at dinner yesterday afternoon between 12 and 1 o'clock, someone climbed into the cab of switch engine No. 1668 standing in the yards near the Southern freight depot, turned on the throttle and hurled the string of 14 box cars against the side of a brick building. The end car, No. 1085, broke the heavy back stop on the elevated track, leaped across a 10 foot alley, crashed through the strong wall, tore down a great section of shingles, cut through great piles of goods, and never stopped until it had penetrated more than two-thirds of the store. No exact estimate could be had yesterday afternoon as to the loss. Some said that $10,000 would cover all of the damage while others estimate the loss at a much higher figure.

While the inland waterway commission has several great waterways under consideration, there is none which can compare for greater benefits on any one state than will the one which will make Beaufort and adjacent points of commercial importance. Beaufort itself will be able to open up direct trading relations with the East and West Indies, and she will have direct communication with the great shipping centres of the east.

There will also be an expert from the bureau of public roads, probably, Mr. Spoon, who is most familiar with the construction of sand-clay roads. We have these materials in our Eastern counties, and this method appears at the present time to afford the best solution for constructing better public high ways.

Each of these men will make a few copious talks, in which they will endeavor to lay down a few important propositions, and make them perfectly clear to the audience. Each will talk about twenty minutes. I will wish you to take charge of the meeting, and I will also make a brief talk, probably, at the close.

This meeting will in no wise conflict with the farmers' institute, being conducted by the State board of agriculture. The main object is to bring our people as far as possible, the beneficial results of the work of the United States Department of Agriculture.

As you know after a sharp contest, we have succeeded in securing the Eastern Training School. There are now great opportunities for the county and therefore for you. There is now an absolute necessity for a forward movement along all lines. We need to let the world know the resources and possibilities of the county. We need to consult with each other and plan together that this may be done. We can move if we will. The only question is will we do it? We only have a great institution of learning in our very midst from which there will go out an influence, enthusiasm, and spirit that will stir this old county from center to circumference. Coming with this will be general development in every portion and section of the county. With these things in view the Chamber of Commerce of Greenville has decided to request the citizens of Pitt to meet in Greenville on Monday, August the 5th, at 12 o'clock m. for the purpose of discussing ways and means and for planning for the further advertisement and advancement of the county. We desire especially that each town and village unite with the county surrounding it and have a large delegation present on the above named day if we will come together we can accomplish something. Whatever is done for our progress we may expect to be instrumental in its being done. We shall hope for a great meeting on Monday, August 5th, and that results far reaching in their power and tendency towards a greater uplift along all lines will speedily come.

By order Chamber Commerce July 19th, 1907.
C. E. Bradley Sec.
J. L. Wooten, President.

Under a different head, the News and Observer says: "Mr. Thomas E. Green, lately selling tickets for the Southern Railway, and who gave his promise to Judge Long not to restrain sell tickets at a rate above two and a quarter cents, was not today in the ticket office of the Southern railway yesterday. Supplying the place at present is Mr. R. H. DeBatts, the Greensboro city ticket agent."

STOKES ITEMS.
Stokes, N. C. July 22, 1907. W. W. Thomas returned home from Raleigh Wednesday evening.

Each of these men will make a few copious talks, in which they will endeavor to lay down a few important propositions, and make them perfectly clear to the audience. Each will talk about twenty minutes. I will wish you to take charge of the meeting, and I will also make a brief talk, probably, at the close.

Asheville, N. C., July 23.—At a conference tonight attended by President Finley, Vice-President Ackert, General Counsel Thom and Humphrey, of the Southern Railway, Judge J. H. Merrimon, as counsel for the State, United States Assistant Attorney General E. T. Sanford submitted a proposition looking to the settlement of the railway rate dispute between the State court and the United States court. The proposition was forwarded to Governor Glenn by wire, and it was stated by unofficial advices from Raleigh that the governor would accept Mr. Sanford's proposition. The nature of the proposition could not be learned.

While Southern Railway officials are still here they have not as yet asked Judge Pritchard to take any step to stay the judgment of Judge Long at Raleigh, who imposed a fine of $30,000 on the South-rn.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—Lieutenant-Commander Victor Blue, of the navy, was yesterday ordered to duty on the battleship North Carolina, with a view to his detail as executive officer of that vessel, when she is put in commission.

Commander Blue is a native of North Carolina, won especial distinction in the war with Spain by landing in Cuba from the gunboat Suwanee, penetrating into the interior for twenty miles and communicating to General Gomez, the insurgent leader, that the Suwanee would furnish him with arms and supplies.

It will be learned with much grief by many friends that Mrs. A. W. Setzer, formerly a popular young woman of this city is dead. She passed away yesterday at the home of Mrs. John D. Allen, of this county, where she had gone to spend the summer, death resulting from typhoid fever and heart trouble.

It will be learned with much grief by many friends that Mrs. A. W. Setzer, formerly a popular young woman of this city is dead. She passed away yesterday at the home of Mrs. John D. Allen, of this county, where she had gone to spend the summer, death resulting from typhoid fever and heart trouble.

Mrs. Setzer, who was about twenty-eight years old, was the wife of Rev. A. W. Setzer, who for the summer has been preaching in Winston. She was the daughter of Mrs. S. D. Harrison of this city, and was Mrs. Luke White when about four years ago she became the wife of Rev. A. W. Setzer. She was a very lovely and attractive young woman and had many friends. She leaves three small children.

The remains will be brought to Raleigh and the interment will be in Oakwood cemetery at half past two o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Setzer was once pastor of the Memorial Baptist church in Greenville, and many friends here sympathize with him in his bereavement.

Rev. R. R. Fleming, one of Pitt county's best young men, who is pastor of the Baptist church at Newton, Kansas, is spending a vacation granted by the church with his father, Mr. R. R. Fleming, at Pactolus. He was in Greenville today to see his sister, Mrs. R. D. Harrington, and to shake hands with his many friends here. He will preach in the Memorial Baptist church next Sunday morning and night, and our people appreciate the opportunity of hearing him again.

Truth in Reference to Fiction

GREENVILLE NORTH CAROLINA FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1907

OUR INDUSTRIAL ISSUE OF TODAY

The Reflector takes great pleasure and pride in its presentation of today's issue. We have endeavored, in its columns, to give a simple, ungarbled story of the town and her people; yet the half has not been told but sufficient is given to stir the civic pride of the community and engender within our people a more general realization of what we are as a town and the opportunities and possibilities before us.

Today's issue contains more news and more information concerning Greenville than any other paper ever published. To the business men who have so liberally supported the enterprise, and without whose aid its success would have been impossible, we extend our thanks. They have proved in this, as they do at all times, that they are ever ready to support any project that will benefit Greenville or aid her in her further growth and development.

Loyal and progressive they are today making Greenville the best town of her size in Eastern North Carolina. It certainly is gratifying that Greenville is making such rapid strides in progress. The Chamber of Commerce could hardly have taken a better step than the one to establish a room here. It is going to be a great convenience and comfort to the women throughout the county who come here shopping or to spend the day. They will show their appreciation of this interest in their comfort on the part of the business men of the town.

There has not been much blowing about the special edition of The Reflector, in fact it has not been mentioned in advance in print, but it is here to do its own talking.

The railroad agents can plead neither the unwritten law nor brain storm. They go to their violations with their eyes open.

Wonder if the railroad agents will make good road hands. There is one consolation, they will not have to work extra hours.

The heat of Philadelphia was too much for the Elks and 2,500 of them had to drop out of the parade from prostration.

One trouble with Federal Judge Pritchard was that he could not be in both Asheville and Raleigh at the same time.

Oh, come off, and don't give it to us like that. Greenville has already got the training school on the way—and the policy of The Reflector is to agitate things we haven't got. That is the way to keep things coming our way. No, there is nothing dangerous about the training school, it is not likely to make any of us sick, but if any of the dear girls should happen to get sick, and it is not of the heart, we would like to have a good place in which to care for them properly.

Fact is, a hospital is not a bad thing to have handy.

Buying property in Greenville is a safe investment.

Judge Pritchard run down to Raleigh and then run back again.

This has been a strenuous week in the Old North State.

At Durlam Carrie Nation used her ammunition on the tobacco trust, and whiskey joints got a rest for the time being.

In Mississippi a negro was lynchd by a mob of thirty of his own race. Being a man of bad character, they took the shortest route to get rid of him, following a bad example that had been set them by their white neighbors.

Because of the epidemic of whooping cough in Pittsburg some shap Pittsburg hit upon the idea of giving a whooping cough party. It must have been a howling success.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Guess you mean a whooping success.

They are still arguing over what caused the explosion on the battleship Georgia that cost several men their lives. Too late for that now, as no amount of argument can bring the men back to life, and where such quantities of explosions are gathered together an accident is likely to occur any time. The safest thing to do is keep the men off the dangerous battleships.

During the past week The Reflector has published a number of excellent articles taken from the State papers, that make kind reference to Greenville in connection with the location of the Eastern Training school. To read these articles ought to fill the heart of every citizen of Pitt county with pride. For The Reflector and the people of the county we desire to thank the brethren of the Press for their kind expressions.

It has been made clear that North Carolina can enforce her laws, in spite of the attempted interference of a federal judge. Now that this fact is established Governor Glenn gives out a statement that if the contending railroads will acquiesce and obey the laws, the suits and prosecutions will stop, otherwise they must expect the consequences. No one prefers to see the railroads and their employes punished, but they should be made to keep the laws just as other citizens are required to do. We hope the railroad rate trouble is near its finish.

There are various reasons given for people committing suicide, but the Chicago man who killed himself because he was tired of raising potato bugs is the latest. A Chicago paper suggests that he might have raised turpins.

The Anson county lynchings, tried last week in Monroe, were acquitted. Nevertheless the State made out a strong case against them. You cannot allow what a jury will do.

The Southern railway undertook to make a cat's paw of Agent Green, but Judge Long reached clear over him and struck higher up.

Thirty thousand dollars is a good sized fine, and it ought to learn the Southern railway that it is better to keep the law.

Keep your eye on Greenville and you will see a town that is doing something.

Buying property in Greenville is a safe investment.

Even two and three quarter cents would have been a great deal better than three and a quarter. If the legislature had been a little less radical the people would no doubt at this moment be enjoying the half-cent reduction, but in trying to grasp too much at one time it looks mighty like we have lost all—Charity and Children.

Editor Johnson in writing the above, must have overlooked the fact that in the legislature of 1905 Representative Laughinghouse, of Pitt, introduced a bill providing for a cent passenger fare. This bill passed the house by an overwhelming majority, but the railroad lobbyists succeeded in getting it killed in the senate. If that bill had passed and gone into effect there would have been no passenger fare bill before the last legislature. The failure of the bill at that time made it an issue in the next campaign and when the legislature of 1907 took up the matter the cat was deeper than in 1905. The railroads have only themselves to blame for the situation, and if they showed a disposition of fairness with the people they would find the people ready to be fair with them.

The trouble between the telegraph companies and the union operators is about to be settled without a strike. That is good for all concerned.

The war between Japan and the United States is all in the newspapers, and will likely not be anywhere else.

It was rather a dull day this week on which some railroad agent was not indicted for violating the passenger rate law.

The Anson county lynching case now on trial at Moore, does not draw interest like the railroad matter at Raleigh.

Council in the Haywood trial have certainly grown tired of it. The public has been that way for some time.

Keep cool is good advice, but keeping cool is another matter.

Where so much lying is going on, as is noted in the Haywood case, it is no wonder that the lawyers got to calling each other liars.

Even if that article in Tuesday's Reflector was pious, everybody tried to read it, judging from the way they have been after us about it.

It may depend upon the kind of glasses one looks through, but reporters of the Durham Sun and the Durham Herald have very different ideas of Mrs. Carrie Nation.

The Asheville Citizen's cartoon of Judge Pritchard meeting himself coming back, was the best bit of the whole thing.

The next move is Governor Glenn's, and we hope he will make a good one.

Judge Pritchard takes the law on his own hands and says the law enacted by the North Carolina legislature is unconstitutional. Whether the State will submit to this, or whether Judge Pritchard is greater than the state of North Carolina, is a matter to be shown later.

The report comes from Reidsville that just across the Virginia line the dog eating monster has appeared again and prowls around at night devouring every canine that comes in reach. May the generation of that monster increase and a few of them find their way over into North Carolina.

LET ALL DISARM.

We see it suggested in an exchange that the talk of sending all our warships over to the Pacific coast, in order to ward off a possible attack from Japan, has a ruse behind it. That is to leave all over Atlantic coast unprotected for the time being except by the fort's defenses, so as to bring strong pressure to bear upon Congress for a big appropriation to build more warships. Here we are, holding peace conferences and at the same time pushing preparations for war. The best thing would be to get every nation to agree to disarm every war vessel in the world and use the ships for commerce. If there was not a war vessel in existence you would never hear any talk of war between the nations. Universal disarmament would be the quickest way to secure universal peace.

QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Guernsey Island is a Place Where Things Are Different.

In Harper's Robert Shackleton writes of his many curious customs and unique conditions in Guernsey, one of the Channel Islands.

"I found that in everything Guernsey is the place that is different. Men are of age at twenty; the weekly half holiday is on 'Monday'; the gallon is 5 per cent smaller than the English; to reduce English pounds of weight to Guernsey pounds one must multiply by two; and one is given thirteen Guernsey pence for every English shilling.

"Is it tax paying day or quarter day? Behold a long line of islanders with wagons and other islanders with panniers, for parts of rents and taxes are payable in wheat and corn, in butter and eggs and chickens and eels, and contracts calling for chickens are likely to specify 'the minimum length of 'squee'."

"Does a man wish to sell or to buy his cow? He is not a free agent. The eldest son has the right to the house and to part of the land, and the other children have the right to the remainder. If there are no children and the land is to be sold, it must be publicly announced, and any one of his kin as near as the seventh degree may stop the transaction and purchase the land himself. One easily understands why land remains in the same families for generations.

"A man dies, leaving personal property. It is divided into as many shares, plus one, as there are children. The eldest son selects two shares, and the other children choose one each in order of age, the original division, to insure fairness, having been made by the youngest, who, perforce, takes the share that is finally left."

Unrecognized. Perhaps when one makes that conversational blunder which is known as a "break" it is best to say nothing whatever about it. Extension only renders a bad matter worse.

Not long ago a lady was visiting the studio of a portrait painter and trying to make herself agreeable as possible in return for a welcome and afternoon tea. She enjoyed the pictures, although in each case they seemed to her an idealized, and the great from one to another, civilly expressing her appreciation.

"Ah," she said to her hostess, "you must let me about them! Who is this?"

"Mrs. Lorraine."

"Oh, I know her; charming, but of course I can't speak for the likeness."

"I try to be faithful," said the artist humbly.

"Oh, I know! I know! And who is the very pretty lady in brown?"

"That," said the other, with some frigidity, "is my self!"

Why Tabby Per Cat? A Florida author says that when we use the word "tabby" it is associated with cats, and goes back to the time when Mohammed named Ataby governor of Mecca. Then, later on, there was a quarter in Baghdad called "Atta Baidi," where cloth of this color was made, and the word "tabby" came from there.

"Why, my dear," said an elderly matron, "what is the matter with you?"

"Oh," sobbed the bride, "I'm going to leave George! Dear me, I'm going straight back home to mother!"

"What?" exclaimed the matron. "Has George already proved unkind? Well, they're all alike, my dear!"

"But the weeping bride interrupted her.

"No," she said, her shoulders shaking with grief. "George is a dear. He's perfect. But that brute of a Henry Simmons has refused to buy Mrs. Simmons a new dinner gown, and District No. 4 of the Amalgamated Wives' union has been ordered out on strike!"

CONCEALED STORIES.

The First Speech Made by President Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt made his first speech when he was four years old. At that time he would a holk before his father. The incident of the marriage was to see a woman like in a room of a church craft that would carry her to an attorney's office. He was permitted to see his mother in New York, and he had the best of the family.

THE OLD SEA HORN TOLD INTERESTING STORIES.

quainted with many of the most famous men of that time. Chief among them was a certain Captain Jones, commander of the clipper ship Rival.

This old sea horn used to fill the mind of the future hero of San Juan with astounding stories of storm at sea and hairbreadth escapes.

At the head of a delegation of youngsters he visited the ship when it next came into port and with due ceremony presented the library, consisting of forty-five volumes, to the skipper.

The presentation speech was made by Mr. Roosevelt. When reminded a few days ago of this event by an old friend the president said he remembered it perfectly and that frequently he had wondered if "I" of the officers or crew of the Rival were still alive and if so they remembered his speech.

"I thought it was a mighty fine speech," said he, "and so did Captain Deane"—St. Louis Republic.

What Was My Come To? Alexis Abdon, the leader of the Russian domain's labor party, was marveling in New York at the strength of the labor unions of America.

"No," that I grasp the size and power of these unions," he said smiling, "I see the point of a story that I failed to understand coming over on the boat."

"An American woman told me this story. She said that a young bride was found one afternoon crying bitterly in the smoking room of her club."

"Why, my dear," said an elderly matron, "what is the matter with you?"

"Oh," sobbed the bride, "I'm going to leave George! Dear me, I'm going straight back home to mother!"

"What?" exclaimed the matron. "Has George already proved unkind? Well, they're all alike, my dear!"

"But the weeping bride interrupted her.

"No," she said, her shoulders shaking with grief. "George is a dear. He's perfect. But that brute of a Henry Simmons has refused to buy Mrs. Simmons a new dinner gown, and District No. 4 of the Amalgamated Wives' union has been ordered out on strike!"

Met the Emergency. "With dread," said President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, "the youth of our land now behold examination time approaching. I hope, none of them will be so ill prepared and consequenceless as a student who I heard of last year."

"This young man as he sat waiting for his oral examination in Greek saw passing down the line an extract of extreme difficulty. This passage would inevitably flunk him. There was no time to lose. What was he to do?"

"In desperation he seized hold of a frail fellow student, who was subject to epilepsy, and, though the young man was quite well at the time, he carried him out as if he were a head of iron."

On his return he got an easier passage.

STAGE REALISM.

Something in Which the Ancients Far Exceeded the Moderns.

In the days of Nero the Romans gazed on realistic plays, often having them actually burned to death and slaughtered on the stage. Often in the production of "Hercules Furens" the death of Hercules was depicted by the actual burning to death on the stage of a condemned criminal.

Pelus, the great Greek actor, believed in feeling simulated emotions. When he played in Sophocles' "Electra" he was supposed to break into tears over an urn containing the ashes of Orestes.

The audience often wondered at his deep, woeful sobbing. It was a curious coincidence that the tragedy discovered that in the urn the tragedian had placed the ashes of his only son.

A rather grim piece of realism was brought out in a play, "The Glory of Columbia," produced in Philadelphia, July 4, 1807. In the play the execution of Major Andra was portrayed. Before his execution was a spy in 1780 Andra wrote plays and painted stage scenery. It was a curious coincidence that the scenery used in the play in which his execution was depicted had been painted by Andra decades before.

During the production of a mystery play in France in the seventeenth century a man who took the part of Judas got his neck tangled in a rope during the production and unwittingly hanged himself.

A passion play was performed in Sweden in 1513. An actor who took the part of a Roman soldier was so carried away by dramatic enthusiasm that he plunged his spear into the side of the man representing the Christ and killed him.

Uttering the words: "That if I do lose thee, I do lose a thing That none but fools would keep."

an actor named Patterson fell over dead while playing as the Duke in "Measure for Measure." Perhaps you will remember the death of Edmund Kean. While playing Othello in His Majesty's theater, London, There was a loud peal. Trees rushed behind the scene. "That's not a bit like thunder!" he shouted to the man who operated the machinery.

"Excuse me, boss," replied the man, "but that was real thunder outside." Again Mr. Tree during a production rushed excitedly back of the scenes and began berating a "supper" for not blackening sufficiently to represent a negro. And he found that he was talking to a real dandy.—Philadelphia North American.

The Training School question has been decided and the location has been settled upon, and let us hope wisely.

Now let us come together and pull to make it a State pride, and do everything in our power for its growth and uplift.

The board has received some very severe criticisms, being charged with being influenced by mammon. I for one believe every man on the board is of the highest type of manhood.

Now let us come together and pull to make it a State pride, and do everything in our power for its growth and uplift.

Respectfully, Rocky Mt., N. C., July 15th, Rock Mount Echo.

Hurrah for hustling Greenville! It won the Eastern Training School for teachers and is justly elated over its success.

A young man who persisted in whispering loudly to the lady who accompanied him to a symposium concert, telling her what the music "meant," what sort of a passage was coming next, and so on, caused serious annoyance to every one of his immediate neighbors.

Prompt Payment of Insurance.

Through the courtesy of the Supreme Council Royal Arzmann, a check for $3,000, has been sent to Mr. S. M. Schultz, treasurer of the Zeta Chapter, No. 1898, to be paid to Mrs. Helen Virginia Watkins, widow of Mr. S. A. Watkins, who died about a month ago.

The promptness of this transaction is shown in the fact that only two weeks ago a relative of Mrs. Watkins told Mr. Schultz he was a member of the council at Norfolk, and asked his advice as to how the policy should be settled.

Gentle Art of Pleasing a Husband.

If you have a brand new husband and are a bit uncertain just what to do with him but don't want to think that while he is a reason incarnate, a woman has no reason whatever—only intuition. It's a harmless delusion, and let him enjoy it. And so, while the clear, cold light of reason shines like a searchlight in your brain, to think that while he is a reason incarnate, a woman has no reason whatever—only intuition.

MUSIC TO THE TUNE OF CHAIN GANG THIRTY DAYS FOR ASHEVILLE AGENTS

Ticket Punchers "Catching It" in all Quarters—Green, in Raleigh, on Trial Today—Other Agents Have Been Arrested.

Defying the federal court and its writs of habeas corpus issued by Judge James P. Boyd, Reynolds at Asheville yesterday morning tried J. H. Wood and O. C. Wilson, representatives of the Southern railway, for violating the new state passenger rate law, and sentenced them to thirty days on the county road or "chain gang" of Buncombe county. The justice first fined them and when the defendants refused to pay a fine he ordered them to the county roads.

The Savory Seemless Roaster

Is far superior to any other Roaster made, not an ounce of substance lost. Other roasters waste from 10 to 20 per cent. The Savory seamless roaster needs no water, grease or attention of any kind. It simply asks to be let alone. Retains all juices and flavors, renews the youth of the toughest fowl. One great feature of the Savory roaster is the oval bottom, with the ordinary flat bottom roaster the moisture brought out of the meat by cooking has no chance to accumulate and is burned and dried up in the bottom of the pan. In the oval bottom this meat juice flows continuously to the lowest point of the bottom, where it is turned into steam and condensed on the surface of the meat. This condensation continues until the roast has become heated through to the temperature of the atmosphere in the roaster, when the condensation stops and the browning of the roast begins.

The Savory roaster is self-basting and self-browning. The bottom is raised off the oven by the outside heat-retaining jacket, which applies a uniform heat to the roast from all sides. The Savory roaster is in a class to itself. Is guaranteed to give satisfaction when used according to directions. Buy one, take it home, go by the directions, use it thirty days, if not all we claim forth, return it to us and we will give you back your money, providing the roaster when returned, is in good condition. See our window display of the Savory roasters. We will be glad to show you. Call and see them.

returned from a delightful trip to the Jamestown exposition. F. L. Allen and family are spending a few days in Ayden visiting W. L. Tucker, father of Mrs. Allen.

HAVENS-BYNUM

One of the events of Farmville will be the marriage of Miss Ruth May, daughter R. J. Bynum, of Farmville to Mr. Richard B. Havens of Tarboro. The bride to be on account of her charming manner and loveliness of disposition, is a social favorite everywhere she happens to be. Mr Havens is not only a trusted representative of the East Carolina railroad in whose employ he is but by his affability and integrity has made a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Havens will leave on the morning train on their wedding trip for the north, taking in the exposition on their route.

FARMERS INSTITUTE.

Greenville, Thursday, August 15. It is quite certain that a large majority of our farmers are not getting as good results from their farming operations as is possible without increasing either labor or expense.

Take for instance our great crop, corn. Do the 2,750,000 acres planted in corn produce what they should? Can we not increase the yield and the net profit by better methods? Do we select the seed in the best way? Do we plant the best varieties? Are the right kinds and amounts of fertilizers used and applied in the best way? Is our method of cultivation the best and done at the least expense? Is the crop harvested so as to secure the greatest feed value from it and at the least expense?

As long as the average yield for the State remains below fifteen bushels per acre it is certain that the average man still has much to learn about growing corn and it is probable that the best corn grower can also learn something and still improve his methods.

The purpose of the farmers institute is to discuss just such questions relating to corn culture and similar questions about all other crops and farming operations. If the farmers of the county will come out and discuss such questions with a view of increasing their knowledge and improving their farming this institute may be of untold value to the county.

Remember the date, Greenville, Thursday, Aug. 15th.

Prompt Payment.

Mr. J. F. Stokes, of the North State Mutual Life Ins. Co., of Kinston, today received a check for $3,000 payable to heirs of the late Mrs. L. A. McGowan, who carried a policy in that company. In the year that the company has been in business it has had only four death losses.

The Latest in Spelling Reform. A colored man at Isle of Hope, near Savannah, Ga., has improved upon the proposed methods and combined both the characters of the alphabet and the numerical. This Isle of Hope clerk recently built a small sailing ship of about six tons and named her the Extenuate. Maritime law requires that the name of a vessel be painted on the stern, so Evans applied to the custom house to have his sloop measured and to obtain a register. When the surveyor went to Isle of Hope to measure her he was dumfounded when he discovered painted on her stern, "X-4-u-s."

Farmville N. C. July 23, 1907. Well, things in general seem to be on the boom, the past week crops especially, corn seems to be shooting up cotton squaring up tobacco drying up, if not in the fields it is the barns, cabbage even have the swell head, and in fact some of them have even got the "big" head.

Peaches and apples are ripening while Mrs. cantalope and water melons are showing there colors, and don't forget old Sol, has not failed to warm us all up, but among all these we have other blessings to be proud of, say for instance fair Luna in her gentle array, accompanied by the gentle zephyr of some mystic sea seems to smooth our pathway while we journey along through happy dreamland just after struggling through the battle of the live'ong day.

But hello! who comes there!

Miss May Whitaker, daughter of Dr. W. H. Whitaker, a prominent physician of Nashville, is visiting her friend, Miss Elizabeth Gay.

Miss Ellen Parker, a charming young lady of Washington, is visiting her cousin, Miss Vivian Parker.

Miss Bessie Roberts, of Savannah, Ga., is visiting at the hospitable home of Mrs. May, near Farmville.

For many years cotton reigned king, but gradually crops became more diversified, truck farming and fruit growing was introduced, and in 1890, tobacco became a favorite product, gradually increasing in quantity and quality until to-day, Pitt county ranks as the finest "bright" tobacco county in the world. Cotton still has its loyal adherents and sends large quantities to market. Grain is raised in abundance and large acres of ground are devoted to truck farming.

GREATER GREENVILLE. A striking example of the rapid development of small cities in North Carolina, during the past fifteen years, is afforded by Greenville, the county seat of Pitt county, and in fact, during the last decade, its growth has been truly marvellous.

Greenville is located on the south bank of Tar river, twenty miles from where the Tar transfers its waters to the Pamlico, in turn, emptying into the Pamlico Sound.

Like many of its neighboring cities, Greenville is not a modern town, but bears the prestige of colonial existence. It was founded in 1771, and was called Martinborough, in honor of Governor Josiah Martin, the fifth and last royal governor of North Carolina. In 1786 the name was changed to Greenville, in honor of General Nathaniel Greene, of Guilford Court House

dition in the shop and the combined force of a loyal, progressive and hard-working people.

There is a good old phrase, part of a good old poem, dear to our recollections of school days—"But men—they make the state,"—so in Greenville, Her chief resource is the character and culture of her men and women. Association with them carries out the favorable impression made by their cordial hospitality. They are prosperous, they are healthy, they are happy, they are busy and the newcomer soon falls into the strain of cheerful optimism that makes of life in Greenville.

THE SCHOOLS. Perhaps the first thing the prospective homeseeker looks after is the her pride and her school children are greater pride. A well organized system of public schools prevails. The attendance has steadily increased and instruction is furnished by a full force of a loyal, progressive and hard-working people.

PITT COUNTY.

Pitt county, of which Greenville is the county seat, is advantageously located as to railroads, water-power, character of soil, diversity of crops and healthfulness of climate. The lands are rich and productive for the most part. The climate is mild and delightful, and very nearly perfect. Within its boundaries are to be found a variety of soil meeting the requirements of every crop indigenous to this latitude. While there are many mills and factories, its principal source of wealth lies in its agriculture.

For many years cotton reigned king, but gradually crops became more diversified, truck farming and fruit growing was introduced, and in 1890, tobacco became a favorite product, gradually increasing in quantity and quality until to-day, Pitt county ranks as the finest "bright" tobacco county in the world. There is a good old phrase, part of a good old poem, dear to our recollections of school days—"But men—they make the state,"—so in Greenville, Her chief resource is the character and culture of her men and women. Association with them carries out the favorable impression made by their cordial hospitality. They are prosperous, they are healthy, they are happy, they are busy and the newcomer soon falls into the strain of cheerful optimism that makes of life in Greenville.

THE SCHOOLS. Perhaps the first thing the prospective homeseeker looks after is the her pride and her school children are greater pride. A well organized system of public schools prevails. The attendance has steadily increased and instruction is furnished by a full force of a loyal, progressive and hard-working people.

For many years cotton reigned king, but gradually crops became more diversified, truck farming and fruit growing was introduced, and in 1890, tobacco became a favorite product, gradually increasing in quantity and quality until to-day, Pitt county ranks as the finest "bright" tobacco county in the world. Cotton still has its loyal adherents and sends large quantities to market. Grain is raised in abundance and large acres of ground are devoted to truck farming.

GREATER GREENVILLE. A striking example of the rapid development of small cities in North Carolina, during the past fifteen years, is afforded by Greenville, the county seat of Pitt county, and in fact, during the last decade, its growth has been truly marvellous.

Greenville is located on the south bank of Tar river, twenty miles from where the Tar transfers its waters to the Pamlico, in turn, emptying into the Pamlico Sound.

Like many of its neighboring cities, Greenville is not a modern town, but bears the prestige of colonial existence. It was founded in 1771, and was called Martinborough, in honor of Governor Josiah Martin, the fifth and last royal governor of North Carolina. In 1786 the name was changed to Greenville, in honor of General Nathaniel Greene, of Guilford Court House

dition in the shop and the combined force of a loyal, progressive and hard-working people.
