With the Colored People. The biblical and musical cantata given last night at the G. S. and O. F. Hall, was indeed a grand affair. Subject: Jephthah and His Daughter, under auspices of York's Temple, Mrs. S. J. Walters, as its instructor and manager. The play was given in the interest of the missionary department of the above named church, and there was a nice crowd in attendance to witness one of the richest treats of the season. Each participant acted their part well, and deserves much credit. The pastor, Rev. R. Henry Sawyer, Jr., has only three Sundays here before his annual conference convenes in Kingston Nov. 27th. His rally to meet his local and general demands will be on the 3rd Sunday. He will preach his farewell sermon the fourth Sunday of this month. Tomorrow he will fill his regular appointment. Every member and friend is kindly asked to be present.

THE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The weather was ideal and the attendance of teachers and visitors was unusually large. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. C. O. Armstrong, of Ayden, after which the regular program of the day was taken up. Supt. Cale, of Grifton, made an interesting talk on how to manage the idle bad boy in the school. He laid down four principles: 1. Keep him busy. 2. Learn him by finding what things were interesting to him. 3. Speak to the sex separately. 4. Be strict. By thus doing you will command his respect.

Miss Randolph Archer, of Falkland, gave an excellent talk on the manner of marching pupils in and out of the school room. Supt. C. L. Coon, of Wilson, was then introduced by Pres. Smith. Mr. Coon has his whole heart and soul in the educational work of North Carolina and as he speaks of the great needs of the teachers of the State that earnestness in his countenance shows that it comes from a soul on fire for the work. Mr. Coon tells things as they are and does not sugar coat them. He drives the truths home to the hearts of his hearers. He outlined the course of study as adopted by the state for the public school system and spoke with that authority and familiarity as only the author of it could. The program closed with a strong and convincing talk of the importance and value of drawing in our schools, by Mrs. D. W. Webb. She represents the Webb and Ware system of drawing adopted by the state. This closed one of the finest sessions in the history of the Teachers' Association.

Funeral of Mr. Laughinghouse. The funeral of Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, Jr., who died suddenly Thursday night, was held this afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, on Pitt street, and the remains were then taken in charge by the Masons and Red Men, both lodges attending in a body, and borne to Cherry Hill cemetery for interment with the last honors of these fraternities. A large number of sorrowing friends followed and their esteem was expressed in many beautiful floral tributes. The pall bearers were Messrs. Frank Wilson, W. H. Dail, Jr., J. L. Joyner, J. D. Garden, A. M. Moseley and T. M. Hooker, of Greenville, J. F. Taylor and F. H. Rollins of Washington.

Jack Laughinghouse Dead. Summons Comes to Him Suddenly. It was a terrible shock to his many friends in Greenville, when a telephone message came from the Avon farm, Thursday night, that Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, Jr. had died very suddenly of apoplexy. It had been only a few days since he was in Greenville looking strong and vigorous and even on Thursday he appeared in good health. That afternoon he was of hunting a short while, ate a hearty supper after returning home and retired early. About 9 o'clock he awoke complaining of much pain and a peculiar sensation in his head. His father went to the room with him and he, with others in the house, rendered all possible aid, but in half an hour the young man was dead.

It is recalled since his death that he had recently told some close friends that he sometimes was troubled with dizziness in his head that made him very uneasy, but no one anticipated that there was to be such a sudden realization of his fears.

Mr. Laughinghouse was in his 33rd year and a son of Representative and Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, of Greenville. He was manager of his father's large plantation, the Avon farm, 8 miles below town, where he lived, usually spending Saturdays with his parents in Greenville. He was a young man of strong character and integrity and had a host of friends with whom he was very popular. He was a member of both the Masonic and Red Men lodges at Grimesland, and also of the Carolina Club in Greenville.

Besides the parents he leaves one sister and two brothers, Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes, of Raleigh and Mr. Charles O.H. and Mr. Ned Laughinghouse, of Greenville. Much sympathy is expressed for these in their great sorrow.

The remains were brought to Greenville today to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laughinghouse, on the street, and the interment will take place at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Give Year By A Chance. Did you live a hard life when you were a boy? Were you denied the common pleasures due every healthy boy and to which he is entitled? Then all the more reason why to your own boy should be given those things by you. It may be that your spirit was not broken or dwarfed by such neglect and injustice, but your own boy may not possess the will power and courage that you did at his age and you should run no risk in denying him the healthy amusements denied you in your youth. Give the boys a fair proportion of the things that go to make them happy and they will work all the better and be all the better men in every way.

On the Wrecked Train. It is feared Miss Winnie Fleming, of Middleburg, N. C., was a passenger on the Coast Line train wrecked near here yesterday, was pretty badly hurt. Fleming of this city and was returning home from visiting him, for several days.—Kinston Free Press, 7th day.

Widows Who Are Shunned. "The are widows and widows," said the gray-haired man. "Take for instance, the widow whose husband committed suicide. She's different—that is, everybody treats her as if she were different. There is a belief abroad, and rooted as the everlasting hills, that it is the easiest thing in the world for a widow to remarry. As a general thing this may be true, but in the case of the woman whose husband died by his own hand the belief is a fallacy. They don't find it easy to marry again. I know three most estimable women who attained their widowhood through the revolver and poison route. Their husband's tragic taking off was in no wise attributable to nerve-racking qualities in the wives. The women didn't nag, they were not extravagant, they were not fickle. The men were driven to their rash deeds solely by their own cussedness; yet in each case the widow was blamed for his self-destruction and is still paying the penalty. Each has received offers from men who fell victims to their charms; but as soon as the prospective bridegroom learned that their predecessor committed suicide they backed out for fear that if they consummated the bargain they might be driven to the same end."—New York Press.

The Fair Falters Agriculturally. The State fair last week was a great financial success, indeed the greatest ever yet held, but the exhibits were disappointing. As an agricultural fair, for the promotion of the agricultural interests of the State, it was not a success, to put it mildly, and yet that was no fault of the management. The farmers themselves do not seem to take an interest in the exhibition of their products. The chief attractions at all fairs nowadays seem to be the sideshows and horse racing. The people seem to want them more than exhibits of agricultural products. Without such attractions the crowds could not be gathered. The fairs are also occasions for reunions and social pleasures, when old friends meet and new acquaintances are made.—Chatham Record.

Truth in Preference to Fiction
GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, (FRIDAY, NOV. 15, 1907)

You can always count on Greenville.
The president has told a committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association...

Anything that buys what you want is as good as gold.
If the president is gratified that Burton got beaten, the rest of us have nothing to care about it.

The New Bern Sun is advising people to keep cool, and here it is the middle of November.
Hearst reminds us of the under fellow in the fight who cried he had enough, after he found out he was licked.

When a man is tight you want to sober him. How about applying the same remedy to tight money?
Congressmen were thoughtful enough to raise their own salaries before the pinch came, and they are not hurt by it.

If we are to have less money prices must necessarily come down within reach of what is left.
Once Tom Johnson was such a victory in Cleveland, there may be more talk connecting his name with the presidential nomination.

When air ships become the fad, the fellow who owns one will not have to wait on schedules or watch bulletin boards, but can go when he pleases.
Hearst's Independence League going to the ceiling so hard last Tuesday should cause him to pull down his sails and quit juggling about politically.

That fine of $300,000 Judge Welborn, of the United States district court of California, imposed on the Santa Fe railway for rebating, may stop the road from giving rebates, or it may not.
Raleigh will have a prohibition election on the 26th of December. That looks like another case of "good bye booze," for the morning after egging there may be as many abusing the staff that they will readily vote to put it out.

North Carolina came off well in the way of medals at Jamestown exposition. People and firms of this State were awarded twenty-six gold medals and nearly a hundred silver and bronze medals. "Down Home" has taken front rank all through the exposition.
The folly of the telegraph operators' strike is emphasized in the termination of the matter. The strike proved a failure and was declared off, and many of the strikers applying for reinstatement find that their places have been filled. So the strikers agitators and walking delegates are the only ones who have profited by it, while the men who formerly had good positions and gave up part of their earnings to make big salaries for the agitators are the sufferers.

A person county farmer went to a corn husking a few nights ago, and while gone from home some one broke in his house and stole $500. Moral: money should be deposited in the banks and not hid around the house to invite robbers.

Both the railroads and the politicians are to blame for the 1 1/2 cent rate when it was suggested in 1905 and the policies for trying to cut too deep and make capital for themselves. Of course State rights should be maintained, but all the same railroads and the State have been hurt by the fight.

We hear more or less about taxes from the year's beginning to its end. People as a rule do not like to pay taxes but do so from force. There is a town in West Virginia, Harrisville, the county seat of Raleigh county, that will be without any municipal tax on the year, however, and this is an unusual case that it is worth of attention by all taxpayers who are who are fond of paying them. Harrisville has its own electric lighting plant and the profits from its operation, combined with interest on the town's money held in banks, will afford ample revenue for all municipal expenses, so that as corporate tax whatever will be left. Then, it is another case that we know of in this country where there will be no tax to be paid. — Greenville News.

Keep Your Money Moving.
The patriotic as well as the reasonable thing to do under conditions like these is to pay your debts promptly, and with checks as far as possible, or with currency if you choose. Any currency not needed for actual use should be placed in bank, where its usefulness is multiplied. The holder of bank reserves in time like these cannot quite defend himself from the charge of being an undesirable citizen, for he discharges others without benefiting himself.

Now is the time to stand by your bank if you want your bank to stand by you in pleasant times. Keep up your balance, deposit your unnecessary currency and show yourself a good citizen. The velocity of bank circulation is almost as important as the amount, and no sensible man should in these times hobble a dollar in its movement. — New York Times.

GREENVILLE GREETED GOVERNOR GLENN.

Other State Officers, Chamber of Commerce

Business Men and Fraternal Organizations Passing Through on Special Train

WITH THE ALDERMEN.
Matters Transacted by the Board.

Greenville never does things by halves. Whatever she goes at is entered into with a hearty and with a view that is characteristic of our people.

The greeting extended Governor Glenn and other State officers, and the business men of Raleigh and other organizations of Raleigh, as they passed through on a special train today, was with spirit and enthusiasm. Four hundred graded school children and fully as many hundred citizens, were assembled at the Norfolk & Southern depot, and made such a representation as does the town credit.

The long train of nine cars, all gaily decorated, rolled into the local station a little before noon, and was greeted with shouts from a thousands voices.

As soon as the train stopped Governor Glenn appeared on the rear platform and was given an ovation. The children of the graded school sang two verses of "Carolina," the governor and others on the train, as well as the multitude on the outside joining in the chorus.

As soon as the song was over and a cheer given, the Third Regiment band accompanying the train, played an air. Mayor F. M. Wooten in a few words cordially welcomed the governor and others to Greenville. Gov. Glenn responded in a happy brief speech. He said he already knew Greenville was the best town in Eastern Carolina, and this outpouring of people today, rejoicing over the completion of a great railroad through a town, had convinced him more than ever that no town equalled it. He then congratulated Greenville on what the town had accomplished in the past, and turning to the children gathered around said that in their bright faces he could see great things the future held in store for Greenville.

Governor Glenn said he left Raleigh determined not to make a speech on the trip, but such an inspiration as met here had resisted. After a few cold more witty remarks that brought frequent bursts of cheers, he introduced Col. Johnson, president of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, whom he said was "dying to make a speech." Col. Johnson responded in a few happy remarks, and said that while he was not a speaker he would tell a joke, (the one about the old barber being asked to change a 10 cent bill) and show that he "preciates de compliment."

State Superintendent J. Y. Joyner also made a few remarks, and after another selection by the band there were cries of "all aboard" and at 12:30 the train pulled out for Washington, the governor and party waving hats and handkerchiefs at the crowd as long as the train was in sight.

It was a happy half hour that the train was here, the people of Greenville and those on the train all enjoying it.

Col. F. A. Oida, secretary of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and special newspaper correspondent, kindly furnished us a list of the officers, organizations, clubs and societies represented, together with names, but owing to its length and the late hour we are unable to print it.

No doubt this trip through Eastern North Carolina will be a revelation to the people of the capital, and they will return home impressed that we have a great section.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

Bear Hunter Mistook a Comrade for a Wild Animal.

News reached the city last night of a horrible and accidental killing at Adams Creek. The story of the accident is as follows: Four gentlemen left Stonevall, Pamlico county, and went over to Adams Creek for a day's bear hunting.

The man on watch took deliberate aim and emptied a load of buckshot in the unfortunate man's head, striking him on the forehead and penetrating his brain. The brother hunter was killed instantly. The tragedy was purely accidental and deeply regretted by all. — New Bern Sun

GOT THE MONEY BACK? A Clever Bit of Detective Work. A day or two ago a Mrs. Everett was on the way from her home to Greenville, and on the road lost her purse, containing $57.27, out of the money she came some distance before finding the purse and turned back to look for it. Meeting two colored men who had come along the road behind her, she asked them about the purse. They said they saw another colored man pick it up, but refused to tell who he was. The woman came on to town and was telling the matter to Mr. W. C. Hines, who said if she would point out the two colored men she met in the road he thought her money could be recovered. The negroes were pointed out to Mr. Hines and when he interrogated them they both admitted seeing another man pick up the purse in the road, but refused to give his name. Mr. Hines told them he would have a warrant issued for them and make them tell. The men tried to slip out of town before the warrant was obtained, but were kept under surveillance, and when taken in custody they not only told the name of the finder of the purse but went with Mr. Hines to his house. All the money was recovered and the lady was very much delighted.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 13, 1907. Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond Va., and vicinity: There is little change in the condition of the market for dry goods and kindred lines. Orders for immediate shipment are small. Dealers in toys and holiday goods are having excellent season and in some instances are from two to three weeks behind in shipment. Orders for produce and provisions show a decline, although prices are lower generally in this line. Offerings of tobacco on the Richmond market are considerably behind the average at this season, but for what has been sold prices show a better average than last year. Manufacturers of tobacco are working at full capacity, in most instances the old crop is well used up. Small quantities of cotton are being marketed, this is believed due to the lateness of the crop and scarcity of currency. Prices continue good. In Richmond the bankers have been able to care for their regular patrons while in some smaller centers scarcity of currency has retarded generally trading. Collectors are not good.

Here is a Tree 183 Years Old. A sheep's horn that was imbedded in a tree 183 years ago is the curiosity that Jason Elder, a forest ranger living at Paisley, Ore., has delivered to his superior, Supervisor Ingram, at Lakeview. While rambling in the woods in 1838 Elder came across a yellow pine tree in the base of which was imbedded the horn of a mountain sheep. He did not then have time to make a thorough examination, but since becoming forest ranger he had occasion to go to the vicinity and he cut the tree down. He took a section of the trunk containing the horn to Lakeview.

The horn was a little to one side of the center of the tree and ran in a circular direction. It was not curled as the horns of mountain sheep at this day, but was almost straight. Counting the rings of growth, the tree was shown to be 129 years old. Outside the horn were 183 rings, indicating the number of years that had elapsed since the mountain sheep was caught and held fast by the yellow pine. The horn was soaked with pitch. It is ten inches in diameter at the base and protruded from the tree about six inches. The length of the horn is 30 inches. -San Francisco Chronicle.

Probably the greatest strike of gold in the history of California was made today at the level diggings of the Prevalent Channel Gold Mining Company, 18 miles east of this city, on the American river and near the Lake Tahoe State road. As soon as the news of the strike reached this place there was a stampede for the district. Men packed in by hundreds, on horse back and in wagons to stake out claims.

The mine in which the discovery was made is owned by local people and San Francisco capitalists. For many years it has been known that great deposits of gravel existed under the lava formation that caps the eastern part of the county. Prospectors have spent years in trying to locate the pay streak, but the lead was not heretofore found. A drift was not over the channel for twenty feet and fabulously rich deposits uncovered. The gold is coarse granular nuggets, weighing from one to sixteen ounces, and was found in great quantities. -Placersville Dispatch to San Francisco Chronicle.

Charlotte, N. C. Nov. 11. President C. C. Moore, of the North Carolina Division of the Northern Cotton Association, reports that twenty-two warehouses and holding companies have been organized, and committees are working on this five more in the State as a result of twelve months' work. New warehouses at Burgaw, Wadesboro, Pollockville and Trenton have just been organized. The president is now on a tour of every county organizing the farmers to build warehouses and hold their cotton.

The Coming Winter. Those who fear that the weather will seem to agree as to what the coming winter will be. The Winston Sentinel says that the local weather prophets are coming up with the predictions of a mild winter, giving all the numerous signs. On the other hand, Amos Mavor, a farmer of Beaufort county, Pa., who pins his faith to the goose bone, says: "December will be a cold month, with an occasional snow storm. January will be a month of snow, hail and an occasional cold spell. The dark cold of the end of the breast bone indicates that February will be a very cold month, and there will be several blizzards. At one particular part of the bone it is almost black, which means that we will have lots of snow and sleet. The cold weather will continue into March, and we will have a very late spring."

Five Lives Lost in H. A. New Haven, Conn., Nov. 12. -Flames sweeping through the servants' rooms on the fifth floor of the Hotel Garder this morning burned to death four employees, while a fifth man was killed while using the rope of the fire escape.

Four other employees were slightly injured. None of the guests were seriously hurt, although many of them made hasty exits through the dense smoke by means of the stair case and fire escapes.

The committee from the two white fire companies of the town met Friday night with a part of the committee of aldermen to confer with regard to consolidation of the firemen into one company. Several suggestions were discussed but no definite conclusion was settled upon. It is likely that both companies will be called together in a general meeting with the board of aldermen for consultation.

Some of the good ladies of the Episcopal church tell us The Reflector gave them more credit than they are entitled to in saying they had purchased a lot for a church rectory. The lot has been purchased, but the men helped pay for it and are entitled to part of the credit.

"So disastrous are the greater number of those marriages," says the Houston Post: "that average people have come to regard an American girl who marries a wretched foreigner as a fool. We do not pretend to offer a plan that might discourage these foolish alliances, but if, as Mr. Clews says, the withdrawal of these millions annually affects our great business enterprises, then surely Mr. Roosevelt can find a remedy. Mr. Roosevelt has tackled almost every problem except this and we do not doubt he can solve this one if he ever decides to give it his attention."

James A. Cobb, a negro, has been appointed special assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia.

The best of plans fall out and the best of friends get married.

STATE NEWS.

Some boys near Black Creek were playing with a rifle when one of them shot a little child in the eye, causing instant death. Mrs. Nathan Holleman, of Apex, was run over and killed by a freight train on the Seaboard Air Line Tuesday morning.

Sixty bales of cotton on the freight platform of the Atlantic Coast Line, at Battleboro, were burned Sunday morning. The fire was caused by sparks from a passing engine.

The work of the orphans' homes of North Carolina appeals strikingly to our judgment and to our sympathies. It merits our heartiest support. In helping to provide for homeless, orphan children a home, a tender care, and an opportunity to obtain training for life, we perform a service the value of which is present, present and in the future, will be multiplied beyond measure.

The Thanksgiving season has been set apart by the good people of this State as a time of special effort for aid to our orphanages. This is a beautiful and practical expression of the spirit of gratitude and is, we are sure, pleasing to the great and loving Father of the fatherless. Thank-offerings at Thanksgiving are a real factor in the maintenance and improvement of our orphan's home.

We bespeak for this most worthy work even the greater interest and love of a people who are so signally blessed of God, a people who have abundant cause for gratitude. We believe the offerings will be made gladly and that they will be truly large and liberal.

Jack Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elyan, shot a rifle ball through the thumb of one hand this morning. He had his gun sprung when he dropped it and the weapon was discharged. It is fortunate the damage was no worse.

Several suggestions were discussed but no definite conclusion was settled upon. The Raleigh News and Observer sensibly remarks about the present state of affairs: "The wise business man knows that the money stringency is only temporary. He is not sitting down without hope, but is pushing his business more vigorously than when money circled more freely. The only way to make things move is to 'get a mov' onto' yourself."

The cotton Journal, via the Jordan's paper and the official organ of the Southern Cotton Association, says: "The Texas farmer is holding not less than 1,000,000 bales of cotton today, is the way our scores of correspondents inform us, and the banks are meeting demands made on them by growers, in a most satisfactory manner, generally speaking."

My Dear Sir: We take this early opportunity of endeavoring to express to you and through your organization our most sincere appreciation of the attentions and courtesies paid us by you and it during our stay in your town last Monday. The genuineness of your greeting was apparent and it touched our hearts. We assure you, my dear sir, that we shall be happy at any time to endeavor to reciprocate your courtesies. Yours very sincerely, Chas. E. Johnson, Pres. Fred A. Olds, Secy.

PROHIBITION WINS.

Scotland Neck Keeps Out Sale. Scotland Neck, N. C., Nov. 14. Prohibition wins in Scotland Neck by six majority. The bill for saloons met its Waterloo at the polls today. The election was quiet and orderly. The prohibitionists marshalled their forces and voiced their strength clearly. By ten o'clock the victory was conceded by saloon forces. The fight has been warmly contested. There was made a vigorous but unavailing effort to establish saloons in Scotland Neck, but the victors, our women, the great speakers of Governor Glenn and others, the active work of the temperance leaders and the hearty cooperation of every man enlisted in the cause effected the result. Scotland Neck has cleared itself in accord with the temperance sentiment of the State and is on the waterway to remain. Out of 254 registered voters, 121 voted for and 127 against saloons. Six didn't vote.

It was announced at the White House Friday that President Roosevelt will sign the proclamation admitting Oklahoma and Indian Territory to statehood at 10 o'clock Sunday morning next. The signing of the proclamation will bring the new State into existence instantly which will be at 9 o'clock. Central time in Oklahoma.

The Liquor Dealers' Association sees the South gaining ground on it and the federal government determined that the whiskey it sells should be pure whiskey. Under such adverse circumstances and while they have fallen upon such hard lines it would be a good idea for the fellows engaged in the business to close out and engage in something more profitable and more respectable.

There will be divine services in Odd Fellows hall on above date. Morning services at 11 o'clock, evening prayer and sermon at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited. Rev. Wm. Hood, Rector in charge.
