CAPDUALS.

PORTLAND, Me., May 29, 1882. I have examined Mr. Mansfield's formula for CAPILLARIS, and freely state that I regard it as a very valuable compound, and know of nothing now before the public surpassing it. It contains nothing injurious; I use it myself, and recommend it to my patients E C. NEAL, M. D. and the public.

(Dr. Neal has had a life-long experience in hospitals.)

BOSTON, Aug. 6, 1883. MR. T. HILL MANSFIELD, Dear Sir: - Upon the recommendation of a friend, I was induced to try your Capillaris to prevent the falling out of the hair. I have found it a sure cure for the same; also causing a thicker growth of hair. A most excellent preparation for the toilet. Yours truly, MISS M. L. WHITTEN,

I most cheerfully recommend T. Hill Mansfield's CAPILLARIS, it having cured me of all scalp difficulties and eruptions on my face, wherein the many other compounds and prescriptions tried, utterly failed. CHARLES K. RAYNSFORD, Druggist,

MR. T. HILL MANSFIELD, Portland, Me. Up to three months ago, for ten years, I have had a very bad Scalp Disease, broken out a part of the time, my head feeling hot and uncomfortable all the time. I have doctored, and tried everything and had come to the conclusion that nothing would cure me. I procured a bottle of CAPILLARIS, and it cured me in six weeks.
