FISHER IS FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Man Who Made Startling Accusations in the Phagan Case Acquitted of Murder of His Brother-in-Law.

Dalton, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Ira W. Fisher, the former Atlantan whose accusation of an Atlanta merchant with the murder of Mary Phagan proved a fiasco, was found not guilty of the murder of Dug Steele, his brother-in-law, by a jury here this afternoon. Owing to the sensation which Fisher's ill-founded charges in the Phagan case caused, a vast crowd gathered to hear the verdict.

The jury went out at 10:15 o'clock this morning. At 1 o'clock it reported a disagreement, but Judge Fite refused to dismiss it.

Witnesses for the state testified that on the night of November 28, 1908, when Steele met his death, that he and the defendant were seen together, and that Fisher had threatened him, but that Steele had stated that he was able to take care of himself. Prior to that time, there had been an altercation between Fisher and Steele, in which the latter had sustained a slight injury, but after which Fisher had made threats against Steele to various persons, stating that he intended to kill him.

On the night of the death of Steele, witnesses testified that they heard the defendant and the dead man quarreling and using abusive language. When the body of Steele was found, in the northern part of the city, early in the morning, Fisher and his wife, who was a sister of the deceased, were among the first to reach the body, and Fisher is said to have been very nervous and badly excited, and remarked at that time that he regretted it very much as he and Steele had "made up" the evening before, and had become friends again.

Swear They Were Coached.

Other witnesses testified that Fisher had coached them how to swear before the coroner's jury and told them that if they repeated certain occurrences that he would kill them. Two of the witnesses on whom the defense relied to establish an alabi for the accused could not be found, both being under indictment here for misdemeanors.

The defendant, in his statement, testified that he spent the night, after leaving Dug Steele, sitting up at the home of a friend whose wife was sick, and his statement was a general denial of guilt of the crime. The state introduced as a witness the sister of the woman who was sick, who testified that she sat up at the home of her sister, where Fisher claimed to have been, and she swore most positively that Fisher was not there on the night he states that he was. This testimony was corroborated by the testimony of another woman who stated that she was with the sick woman on the night Steele was killed and that Fisher was not there at that time.

Little Blood on Corpse.

Witnesses swore that they had seen the accused man, shortly after the finding of the dead body, wiping something that appeared to be blood from his clothing.

At the time of the finding of the body, the head was completely severed from it, and one arm had been mashed off, but there was very little blood. Expert testimony of a surgeon was introduced to show that if the body had been stricken while the person was alive and mangled in such a manner it would have bled profusely and would have exhausted fully one-half gallon of blood. Dr. J. S. Rollins further testified that blood would congeal to such an extent in from two to ten minutes that it would not flow very much. It was further testified that the deceased was drinking on the night of his death, which would cause the blood to flow more freely.

It was shown that Steele frequently swung trains near where his body was found and alighted at his home about a mile above there, which is up a steep grade.

Washington, January 8.—Charles Jenkinson, lately in the Latin-American division of the state department, has been made director of the Atlantic division of the American Red Cross.

MRS. CULLOP HEADS DEMOCRATIC WOMEN

No Resolution Adopted by the League in Favor of Any Legislation.

Washington, January 8.—The Woman's National Democratic league closed its annual convention today with the election by acclamation of Mrs. William A. Cullop, wife of Representative Cullop, of Indiana, to the presidency. No resolution was adopted urging legislation upon the party. Throughout the session stress had been laid upon the avowed object of the league to aid in the congressional campaign of the coming November, and the league leaders held that under their constitution only issues outlined in the party's platform could be considered. Rumors have it that one element wanted to take up the suffrage question by resolution, but there was no attempt to do so.

A wild revolt against the rule of Mrs. Cullop as acting president and presiding officer disturbed today's proceedings. Mrs. Charles Morton, of Washington, questioned some rulings of the chair and delayed the election by demanding enforcement of a constitutional provision excluding all but members and delegates from the room during elections. The delegates were overwhelmingly in favor of the acting president, however, and the ticket went through as expected.

Mrs. Edward Taylor, wife of Representative Taylor, of Colorado, was elected first vice president; Mrs. Duncan U. Fletcher, wife of Senator Fletcher, of Florida, second vice president; Mrs. John E. Raker, wife of Representative Raker, of California, third vice president; Mrs. L. G. Hoffman, Washington, D. C., recording secretary; Mrs. Randolph D. Hopkins, Washington, D. C., corresponding secretary.

Charles S. Hamlin, assistant secretary of the treasury, addressed the convention, discussing the measures congress has enacted since President Wilson's inauguration. He insisted that they could have been accomplished only by use of the party caucus. He outlined the workings of the new currency bill, declaring it to be a business man's bill and a part of President Wilson's gospel of new freedom, and compared the new tariff law and its predecessors in terms that would appeal to housekeepers.

The reports of officers showed the league to have gained in membership and financial stability.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME OF CONVICTED PARSON

Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Misfortune seems to have marked for her own the Rev. J. A. Thacker, a former pastor of a circuit of Congregational Methodist churches in this section. Fire last night destroyed his home, which was a quarter of a mile beyond the city limits and which was without fire protection. The loss amounts to several thousand dollars and was not covered by insurance.

Thacker is the man who was convicted of immoral relations with Miss Emma Hughes, a young woman who came here from Cincinnati, Ohio, and he spent some time in jail pending trial. After his conviction he was sentenced to six months on the chain-gang without the alternative of a fine. He is out on bond pending the result of a motion for new trial.

CHARTER IS GRANTED TO U. D. C. OF GEORGIA

Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—A charter has just been granted the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy by the superior court of Clarke county. The division has never hitherto been incorporated, but owns valuable property at Rabun Gap and elsewhere, and for this reason it was decided to incorporate. The incorporators are Mrs. C. Helen Plane, Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, Mrs. Herbert Franklin, Mrs. Zebulon Walker, Mrs. W. C. Vereen, Mrs. Louise Haynes, Mrs. Howard McCall, Miss Mattie Sheibley, Mrs. Duncan Brown, Miss Jessie Cobb and Mrs. Mildred Rutherford. The organization has no capital stock and will carry out the patriotic aims and purposes of the voluntary association heretofore existing.

Probing Postal Service.

Philadelphia, January 8.—What is said will be an investigation of the entire postal service of the United States, intended primarily to effect a standardization of methods and an increase in efficiency was begun in this city today by a commission appointed by Postmaster General Burleson. The commission will visit the larger cities, giving attention to local as well as general needs.

MOYER'S STORY OF DEPORTATION

Told to Grand Jury in Strike Region—Moyer Returned Under an Agreement With Governor Ferris.

Houghton, Mich., January 8.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and Charles Tanner, auditor of the organization, today told the grand jury here their versions of the deportation episode of December 26. Less than two hours were consumed in the grand jury room, the men then returning to the hotel in Hancock, whence they were taken a fortnight ago. The nature of their testimony was kept secret.

Except for the fact that a big crowd of union men greeted their leader on his arrival and stood about the hotel in groups, no incident occurred to recall the intense bitterness that preceded the deportation. Both federation men were guarded by deputy sheriffs.

Except for their trips from the railroad station to the hotel, and to the courthouse in Houghton and back to Hancock, the two made no appearance in public.

O. N. Hilton, chief counsel of the federation, met the party at the hotel and immediately went into conference with his clients. It was presumed that developments in Governor Ferris' inquiry into strike conditions were discussed, but no announcement was made. Victor Berger, former Milwaukee congressman, here as a member of a committee from the national socialist party, was admitted to the room.

Governor and Moyer Didn't Meet.

Governor Ferris and Moyer did not meet. The governor left Houghton in an automobile early in the afternoon and did not return for several hours. Meanwhile the federation men had completed their visit in Houghton.

It was learned that Moyer and Tanner telegraphed to Governor Ferris a day or two ago offering to testify before the grand jury. The governor asked the attorney general to come to Houghton to arrange for the return of the federation leaders.

An application for protection was granted and two of the largest deputies in Houghton county were sent last night to Chassel, Mich., to meet the train and escort Moyer and Tanner back to this community. This precaution appeared unnecessary as only applause greeted the union men when they arrived at Hancock.

The deputies will act as bodyguards as long as the men are here.

It was understood that as soon as the grand jury has excused the men they will leave for Washington to attend the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Acceptance of a Challenge.

Acceptance of what union labor leaders regarded as a challenge marked the close of the hearing which Governor Ferris today gave to repreesntatives of the mining companies involved in the copper strike.

A. L. Petermann, a representative of the Calumet and Hecla company, called the attention of the governor to discrepancies between the company's statistics and those presented by the state labor commissioner on the strike situation.

He pointed out that the latter's figures accounted for more than 20,000 men, whereas both sides agreed that fewer than 15,000 were employed in the district when the trouble began. He added that the companies were willing to submit to an actual count of employees and would open their books as a source of information if the union would do the same.

Claud O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, promptly said the unions would open their books.

Governor Ferris gave no indication as to whether such procedure would be adopted. It has been known, however, that he has investigators working under the state labor commissioner and presumably these men already have gone into that phase of the situation.

Governor Ferris Completes Probe.

So far as seeking information was concerned, Governor Woodbridge L. Ferris, of Michigan, virtually completed his mission to the copper strike zone tonight. There remained the problem of a settlement, but indications were that the governor's activities in this direction might be postponed. He let it be known that if possible he would leave for Big Rapids tomorrow afternoon.

Chief interest today rested in the testimony of copper mine operators. It largely was an historical discussion, although emphasis was laid on the opinion of individual mine officials that union labor, as such, was not repugnant to them. They, however, made it plain that the Western federation could hope for no consideration from the company sources. They declared this position was unchangeable.

After the conference with the mine men the governor met a delegation of Italian and Finnish nonunion workmen, who came to ask state protection. They told the state executive they were subjected to daily threats and abuse from strikers. They said they had no use for the Western federation or any other union.

Tonight the governor met Victor Berger, Milwaukee; Seymour Stedman, Chicago, and Charles Edward Russell, New York, who are investigating the situation for the national executive committee of the socialist party.

FORCED LOANS ARE BEING MADE

gave them opportunity to prepare resistance and General Villa would have had to increase the rebel force greatly to repeat the six days' battle of last week, when the rebels reached within 400 yards of the Ojinaga trenches without being able to take them.

General Francisco Castro, commander of the federal regular army, said he was confident his army never would be beaten by Villa. He said he was well aware that the impending conflict was of momentous importance to the Huerta regime. It would settle, he said, a question whether the Mexico City government was to maintain its authority in the north or whether the "lawless rabble which goes by the name of constitutionalists is to have full sway."

The federal commander said his soldiers had endured hardships, had gone without food for days, ragged and footsore; they had marched over the waterless desert as a token of their loyalty, and he did not believe they would run at the sound of battle.

"We'll never retreat, but all of us will die right here in Ojinaga if our ammunition gives out," said General Castro, himself garbed in a torn and dusty uniform, as evidence of the recent fighting.

Reports reached headquarters that since their withdrawal from the battle early Monday, the rebels had not only been strengthened by reinforcements from Chihuahua, but that they also had obtained quantities of ammunition. The federal army has only what ammunition was left after the battle and has no means of replenishing its stores.

A story of the death of Colonel Luis Cuilty, relative of the rich Terrazas family, who joined the federal army as a volunteer, was told today by a priest. The priest said Cuilty, accidentally shot by his own men in last Sunday's engagement, had requested, when dying, that the rumor of his shooting be kept from the rebels, as they might consider the federals had become excited.

His Stabilizer to Make Flying Safe

Orville Wright made seventeen flights before representatives of the Aero Club of America in competition for the Robert Collier cup for the aviator whose invention brings the greatest advance in the development of the aeroplane. Mr. Wright demonstrated his marvelous new stabilizer, which he claims makes an aeroplane practically fool proof and safe for any one. He rode 500 feet high with his hands above his head, apparently giving no attention to the mechanism of his powerful air craft. A minute description of the stabilizer has not been made public. It is described briefly by Wright as a "compensating device attached to the steering post which, when the machine dips or swerves suddenly, automatically tips the wings and rudder to the proper positions."

CHIHUAHUA GOVERNOR NAMED BY CARRANZA

Maytorena, Sonora, January 8.—General Carranza, most of his cabinet ministers and the expedition of General Lucio Blanco are on their way to Culiacan, below Nogales, on the Arizona border. The proposed trip into Chihuahua admittedly has been abandoned.

When Carranza's special train left Hermosillo today no one knew until the main line was reached what direction the constitutionalist leader would take. By this route, Chihuahua can be reached only by a circuitous journey over the mountains and north again toward the Texas border. It had been expected that General Carranza would make an automobile trip to Juarez along the Arizona border. Maytorena was the stopping place tonight.

Coincident with the departure from Hermosillo came the announcement that General Manuel A. Chao, an insurgent commander in Chihuahua, had been named civil governor of that state. This office had been held by General Francisco Villa, military commander of the constitutionalists in Chihuahua. It was said Villa would remain as military commander.

Villa has requested General Carranza to come to Chihuahua to organize the civil government, while Villa devoted his time to military operations.

On the train with Carranza were 200 of his bodyguard and about the same number of men under command of General Blanco.

Maytorena is the insurgent base above Guaymas, which still remains in the hands of General Ojeda's federals. From this point the trip must be made by stage to Cruz de Piedra, the insurgent outpost south of Guaymas, and thence by rail into Sinaloa.

GEN. MANCILLA DENIES THAT HE'S A DESERTER

San Antonio, Texas, January 8.—General Jose Mancilla, who left the federal army at Ojinaga, Mexico, and crossed to Presidio, Texas, yesterday, did not desert his command, but is seriously ill and came to the United States to seek medical attention. This was the report which Major McNamee, in command of the border patrol which took Mancilla into custody under the neutrality laws, made today to General Tasker H. Bliss at department headquarters here.

General Bliss has refused General Mancilla's request to be allowed to come with his son to San Antonio for treatment unless he resigns from the Mexican army. General Bliss has declined to permit officers of either side to come here except under such conditions and they are expected to refrain from taking part in further hostilities upon recovery.

It was said General Mancilla will appeal to the state department on General Bliss' decision.

Other reports today from Major McNamee told of improved conditions in Presidio, where the majority of refugees, camp followers who came north from Chihuahua with the federals, have returned to the Mexican side. It was said the wounded were progressing well.

Sheppard Heads Florida Labor

Miami, Fla., January 8.—C. E. Sheppard, of Miami, was elected president of the State Federation of Labor at the closing session of its annual meeting here today. Sanford was selected as next year's meeting place.

Rate Increase Favored.

New York, January 8.—The New York Chamber of Commerce today adopted resolutions favoring the proposed increase in railroad freight rates and declaring the advance would be not only an "act of justice" to the roads, but also beneficial to the entire business of the United States.

White House Couple in Paris.

Paris, January 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre arrived here this afternoon from London. They will be the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Myron T. Herrick. The first reception of the season was in progress at the American embassy when they arrived, but Mr. and Mrs. Sayre decided to forego the pleasure of meeting the guests. It is understood they will remain in Paris until January 20.

PLAN FOR WEEDING BAD MEN FROM NAVY

Washington, January 8.—A plea for the weeding out of undesirable men in the navy by "increasing the recruiting stations at the expense of the prisons" has been submitted to the house committee on naval affairs by Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation.

Admiral Blue said there was only a small percentage of navy offenders whose conduct involved prison sentences, and that if they could be summarily discharged by the commanding officer, the navy would be better off and the government could save a large amount of money in prison expenses.

"If one-fourth of the money now spent on prisons was added to the recruiting," he said, "the navy would be well supplied with excellent men, permitting the discharge of the undesirable and dissatisfied. This would make desertions unnecessary. A recruit costs the government $20 to enlist and $60 for an outfit, while the average cost of a prisoner is from $450 to $500. Besides, the service of a prisoner is a dead loss. I think the punishments are too severe in a great many cases, and this subject will receive in the very near future the serious consideration of the navy department."

Viscount Cross Dead.

London, January 8.—Viscount Cross, 91 years old, who was one of the most prominent conservative statesmen in England about thirty years ago, died here today. He held offices in several cabinets, occupying at various times the secretaryship of state for the home department, the secretaryship of state for India and the post of lord privy seal. He was a member of the house of commons for twenty-four years, and sat in the house of lords for twenty-eight years, having been made a peer in 1886.

MANY NEW NAMES ON PENSION ROLL

736 Added to List for 1914 by Commissioner of Pensions Lindsey—Estimated 1,323 Dead.

In the report of Pension Commissioner John W. Lindsey, which will go to the governor in a few days, it will appear that 736 new names have been approved and added to the roll of confederate pensioners for the year 1914. Adding these to the number who were paid last year, 19,536, it will bring the total roster up to 20,272.

This does not mean, however, that there will be that many to draw pensions this year. There were 21,186 on the roll at the beginning of 1913, while only 19,536 were paid. It was found that 1,650 had died during the year, nearly 8 per cent of the whole. The average sum paid to each pensioner was $59.95.

As the death rate among the old veterans is rapidly increasing as they grow older, it is estimated that at lease 1,323 of those who were on the roll last year will be found to have passed away, and that there will be only 18,949 to be paid this year.

How Roll Increased.

While it may appear somewhat remarkable that as many as 736 of those who are entitled to pensions should have waited this long to apply for them, a number of causes may be assigned to account for at least a good proportion of this increase. There are some who have just qualified by residence in the state, and there are others, doubtless, whose financial condition was such that they never felt it necessary to apply for a pension before this year.

That there are a number of fraudulent pensioners on the roll, however, the pension commissioner himself does not deny. Although he has put the matter up to the legislature at every session almost since he has been commissioner, that body has never seen fit to give him the power to make a searching inquiry into the claims of doubtful pensioners and to purge the list of frauds.
