Dear Frank,

I received your letter this morning
and was very happy
to hear from you.

You'll have to excuse
me if this letter

sounds crazy but Frank Sinatra is on

and he's singing

my favorite song.

"You Never Walk Alone."

Have you heard him

sing it yet. He really puts that song over.

I'm feeling fine and hope this finds you
the same.

Saturday was heavy
day and quite a day
and New York. In fact it's been navy day
ever since the fleet pulled in. I never saw the sidewalks of New York so crowded
with sailors in my life. They certainly took over every place that they went. And with everything that was given to them, some even wanted more. Oh well, such is life.

Have you heard Frank Sinatra is coming to the Paramount next week. You can bet I'll be right there rooting for him. I better save my voice, I'm going to need it, then. I'm not really crazy Frank but you have to have some fun and this is one way of enjoying myself. I don't belong to the Bobby Sox Brigade - that you saw for yourself. I saw that picture "A Bell for Adano" while

I was up the country. I liked it very much. I've been seeing quite a few good pictures recently like - You Came Along - The Unseen - Mildred Pierce. That Mildred Pierce was excellent. Leave it up to Joan Crawford to act good. I saw that picture up the Strand on Broadway. We got out of the movies early so we decided to go dancing. It was Fleet night at the Arcadia so we went to the Roseland. That place gets worse and worse every year. I hope they have seen some of the dance places around here now that the boys are home - at least some of them. We used to have some very nice times in those days. But that's all gone and what's ahead no one knows.

I'm not working very hard. We're not so busy right now. Material is hard to get and then the government has to check up on everything we make even though

we're not a defence
plants.

I don't blame you for being impatient for Dec 1st to come. They took you fast enough but to release you boys you have to sweat. But they must have their reasons.

And they better be good.
Crazy ~~weather~~ weather we're having. First we freeze and now its like Spring again.

Good night for now
and Pleasant Dreams.
As Ever, Jodie
