Simply a farmer and a business man, but a lover of my country and a lover of my race and I am proud of my state for I am a native North Carolinian, proud of her past glory, proud of her glory in war, proud of her achievement, accomplished in the past and I thank God I had the honor of being born upon her soil. I love her citizens; they are my people; I love her for in her soil lie my father and my mother surrounded by all my kith and kin ~~and~~ for five generations born here sister states to the north and south of us. My life has been a quiet, peaceful and happy one spent upon the farm where I should have been to day, in all probability, had agriculture had its need of success.

But about the year 1883 my attention was first called to the very serious depression in all agricultural pursuits. The fact ^{that} this depression

Old Sparta, N. C.

was general and the reverse the case with manufacturing stimulated further investigation. It was also noticeable in the falling into disuse of Agr. Fairs all over the country; in the abandonment of Country homes every where; in the marked decline of professional spirit among farmers and in the difference with which they were once treated; in their incessant clamor for cheaper freight rates to compensate for the diminishing prices in their crops; in the great increase in the number of trusts and strikes; in the alarming multiplication of farm mortgages, and the increasing difficulty farmers had in paying the interest on them and in the gradual displacement of independent farming; in the perceptible loss of power by the farming class in Congress, state legislatures, conventions and over public affairs; in the abandonment, even by farmer's sons, of a vocation that yielded neither fortune, dignity or influence and in the steady degradation of the Agr. States to the position of provinces, from which the colossal fortunes of the East draw their annual increment. These and other considerations, compelled me, as a duty, to cast my lot with my fellow toilers, with an earnest, honest effort to gain relief through the most available means. The first measure presenting itself was the North Carolina Farmers Association of which I was the honored head. That was soon succeeded by the Alliance of which order I was twice made president holding the office the constitutional limit of two years. The faithfulness and assiduity with which these trusts were administered can be best attested to by the honor you have conferred upon ^{me} in the late state convention in naming me ^{for} your next

Old Sparta, N. C.

189

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Now, fellow citizens, we have come together to day to talk of political issues dividing the people. There are many. The trouble is there are too many,
and in this great number we are forgetting the one great issue at the foundation of the whole thing, and that is the necessity of dethroning
The Republican Party. The

Old Sparta, N.C.

189 party that has dominated this country for the past thirty years and is to day responsible for every obnoxious law upon the statute books that is so heavily oppressing the people. National Banks, ^{Protective} Tariff, ^{demonitization of silver,} Fraudulent, Pensioners, Counties and Spoils, not forgetting their determination, so expressed in their platform and approved by Harrison himself, to still further degrade this beautiful Southland of ours, by the enactment of that infamous measure the Force Bill, which means an absolute annihilation of the liberties of the South, a godless rule of ~~black~~^{plunderers} under the patronage of Federal boyards, a reenactment of the reconstruction days, a period never to be forgotten in North Carolina. I tell you my friends as sure as the sun shines, as sure as the waters of the Nile will eventually reach the sea, that the continuance of this party in power for another four years will involve the liberties of this people.

And altho the Democratic Party has been in control, of first one branch of the government and then the other, it has not seen the day in thirty years when it could make or unmake a law. We will admit that some Democrats thirty years ago, in 1862, voted to establish National Banks; that some Democrats voted ten years ago, ¹⁸⁸² to recharter them; that some Democrats voted nineteen years ago, 1873, to demonetize silver, but no one seems to have known anything about that; that more than twenty years ago, in 1871, seven Democrats voted to repeal the income tax; that twenty five years ago, in 1866, some Democrats voted to retire a portion of the Greenback Currency. we will concede all this. Yet, the

Old Sparta, N. C.

The declaration that the Republican party is the responsible party, remains true, absolutely true. Every intelligent man in this audience or in this country knows that the party in control of the government is always held and necessarily ~~to~~ held responsible for the legislation of the government. It can not be otherwise, and the reason for it is too plain to admit of question. That reason is that the chosen party has been selected by the people at the ballot box for conducting the affairs of the government. The people have said by their votes "this is the organized

Old Sparta, N. C.

party on which we confer the power to make our laws," and that party so selected has all power to pass good laws or bad laws. If they fail to make good laws or repeal bad laws they alone must take the consequences. But you may ask, does not responsibility attach to the minority? Yes undoubtedly, but it is the responsibility of individuals, and not the responsibility of the party for the reason that the people by their votes have not selected the minority but the majority to control legislation. The individual members of the minority are responsible for their individual acts. The Senators to their respective States and the members of the House to their districts; but it is not a logical conclusion to claim that an organized party, which has been defeated at the polls, shall be held responsible for the legislation of the government because some members of that defeated party vote one way and some another. Let us bring the proposition home. Suppose, for illustration, the Farmer's Alliance, acting as a separate, organized political party, had endeavored to take control of the government and had succeeded in controlling both Houses of Congress and the Presidency. Do you not plainly see that in the eyes of all the world they would at once have become responsible, as an organized party, for all the legislation of this Congress? They, however, sent only a minority to the two Houses. Some of these Alliance representatives have taken one course of action and some another. Are you going to hold the Alliance, as an organized body, responsible for the individual opinions and

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Old Sparta, N. C.

189

Old Sparta, N.C.

189 separate action of each of these representatives? How utterly intolerable and senseless would be such a position! See folio 2#

This same Republican Party has transgressed the powers of the constitution to make extravagant appropriations of the hard earnings of the people and its financial policy has been ^{in the interest} such ~~as~~ of the ~~classes~~ ^{or} the ~~monopolies~~ ^{to place the currency of the} country in the hands of one man, the secretary of the treasury, who can expand or contract it at will, according to the dictates of the monopolies in which he may be interested. This policy has ^{been} ~~been~~ ^{proved} ~~beneficial~~

Old Sparta, N. C.
Plutocracy into whose pockets flow steadily year after year all earnings of the true toilers, the creators of wealth. 189

~~to the plutocracy but not so~~ ~~to the masses.~~ It has been Hamiltonian in principle and practice, a government for the classes. Think my friends. Are you willing to sit down in the narrowed circle of a little horizon and let the country go to pieces? Seek us reason together like sensible men and if we are in error let us acknowledge it; if we are right stick to the right.

Your vote for another than the Democracy is half a vote for The Republicans. Seek me beseech ^{you} not to do it.

Old Sparta, N. C.

16

Now my friends I want to say just a word about the St.
Louis platform. Admitting for the present the pension plank was not in it, and excepting the ownership of Railroads, so far as it goes, there is no objection to it. It is good sound Alliance doctrine. But its sin is one of omission much greater than Commission by ignoring the tariff issue altogether. A question like Dan-quo's ghost, ^{that} will not down at one's bidding, and the frequent efforts to side track it, as a minor issue, are alike unsuccessful. I propose to show

Old Sparta, N.C.

17

189 you, if you will only beon patiently with me the intimate connection between ^{protective} the tariff and finance, so intimate that it is difficult to say just where one leaves off and the other begins and how the present deplorable financial condition ^{of our people} may be attributable directly to it. I would not have ^{you} think I am minimizing the importance of the our demands ~~upon~~ for financial relief ^{for} by an increase in the circulating media, but I do believe that had we a financial jubilee and the money now in circulation divided pro capite, it would

Old Sparta, N.C.

18

189 take a less time than it has to put the agricultural class in as deplorable condition as they are to day.

Tariff.

Now let us look into it. Tariff is a tax imposed upon articles imported into a country from abroad. It is of three kinds, viz: revenue, protective and prohibitory. The first is imposed for revenue to support the government. Protective Tariff is imposed chiefly for the benefit of certain home interests while a prohibitory Tariff is one so high as to prohibit the importation of foreign

Old Sparta, N. C.

189 articles it is levied on, and give to the home manufacturers of the article an absolute monopoly of the home market. The duty on sugar was a revenue tariff and yielded to the government $56,000,000. We traded with the Republicans got the Tariff taken off agreeing to pay sugar producers a bounty of 2 cents per pound which we flattered ourselves would all come south principally to Louisiana. More than half the sugar in the world is now produced from beets and largely grown in the north west and California. By late agricultural reports

Old Sparta, N.C.

189 from Wisconsin it is shown that upon 1945 acres the average yield of sugar was 2,267 pounds. The government bounty of 2 cents a pound upon which amounted to $45.34 per acre. Now who pays this bounty. Every man who consumes ^{protected goods} sugar. So they get us always when we trade with them. When we produce enough sugar in this country to supply the home demand ~~the~~ we will be paying, in bounty, as much tax as ever but the U.S. treasury will be minus $56,000,000. Now the duty on blankets is ~~or was~~ protective because the object is to protect the home manufacturer, thus enabling him to get a higher price for his blankets than he could get without it, by protecting him against foreign competition. If an English blanket is worth $1. it is made to pay a duty of 50 cents. This increases the price to $1.50, and enables the home manufacturer to exact $1.50 for his blankets. So that for $1. worth of blanket the government, your government - says you must pay your New England brother $1.50. Robbery nothing else and the Treasury no better off. The Tariff on all protected articles operates

Old Sparta, N. C.

189

Old Sparta, N. C.

189 in this way. But there is still more injustice in this. A friend of mine who is posted in tariff duties said to me a short while since that his better half had given him an order for a pair of nice blankets for the spare bed room. Upon getting in his buggy his man servant requested him to get him a pair of cheap ones. Examining the ~~schedule~~^{che} he found for his fine blankets he paid a tariff tax of 35% while the poor man paid about 65% upon his coarse ones. Do you not think this iniquity worth looking into? And this is the rule to tax the necessities of life

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Such as Salt, rice, saltfish, lumber, woolen goods of all kinds, cotton goods of all kinds, window glass and all glassware, table ware, tools, paper, soap, Tin plate, leather goods, wooden goods, hardware, needles, thread and so on. The average duty upon which is about 50% and you can not avoid paying it if you use them - you must pay either the customs duties or the protective duties and you may possibly pay more for the benefit of some trusts as I will presently show you. Duties under the present tariff are both revenue and protective

Old Sparta, N. C.

189 because they do not prohibit the importation of foreign goods entirely and therefore, yield both revenue ^{to government} and protection to the manufacturers - but as a rule three times as much to the manufacturers as to the government for the government gets the duty only on the foreign goods imported, while the manufacturers get it on all the protected goods they make which is five or six times as much. I heard of a North Carolina farmer take a lot of Cotton to Liverpool worth there $1000. sell it and invest in goods to that amount, upon his return he would be required

Old Sparta, N. C.

23'

Monahan
189

We should be permitted to sell in England for instance

Suppose a North Carolina Farmer ~~to~~ raises 10 B/c and takes it to England & sells it for $500. He exchanges this amount for the necessaries of life - clothing, glassware, tableware, tools, paper, soap, leather, good hardware, needles, thread &c. He brings them back ~~to~~ to America with him, lands them in New York, but before he can take them out of the Customs house he must pay a duty of 50%, which amounts to $250. In other words

Old Sparta, N.C.

23²

189 for $500. worth of goods

The North Carolina farmer must pay $750. Now suppose the farmer bought in this country instead of Europe, would the result be the same? Exactly, ~~in~~ except in the former case the $250. would go into the U.S. Treasury and in the latter case it would go into the pockets of the New England manufacturers, who protected by a duty of 50% are enabled to exact from the home consumer the enormous price of $750. for $500.

Old Sparta, N. C.

23³

189 worth of goods. Now what does this protection mean? Just this, that you North Carolina Farmers can not take the money you receive from the sale of your crops and invest it in the necessaries of life without paying 50% more in the shape of protection to some of the favored manufacturers. Now please bear in mind this fact, that every pound of corn, cotton, tobacco or whatever else you grow is taxed 50% because that, corn, cotton, tobacco or

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Wheat can not purchase as much American goods by 50% as it can by English goods - and at the same time let us look at the disastrous results of such a policy right here in our state, and ~~indeed in all agricul-~~ ~~tural states, you complain~~ ~~and justly so, of being~~ so. Let us take for instance a county raising 2000 B/c per annum. Is it to be considered ok then its farmers are poor with $50,000 going out of the county from their cotton crop alone,

Old Sparta, N. C.

23⁵

189

every year and never a cent returning? These figures are startling but true. At $50. per Bale the value of the crop is $1,000,000, 50% on this is $500,000. Within the last 20 years the farmers have paid out on their cotton crop alone $1,000,000. Every thing else they raise is taxed in this proportion when they exchange its proceeds for the necessaries of life. Every agricultural State in the Union is being drained just as these farmers are with no prospect of relief except

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Through the abolition of this iniquitous Tariff System.
Now if what I say be true, ought we not to find all the money of the Country in the Manufacturing States?
Well look at the Statistics and what do we find - That the Manufacturing States own $\frac{5}{6}$ of the Savings deposits in the Country and that Mass. alone has more money in her Savings Banks than all the Southern and Western States combined.
Now is it not plain that until this system is abolished the Agricultural States must

Old Sparta, N.C.

23⁷

189 from poorer and the manufacturing state richer?

Old Sparta, N.C.

24

189 to pay at the New York Custom House $500. duties on them. If he ^{had} disposed of his cotton in New York and purchased goods in Boston the result to him would have been the same - the duties he paid the Custom House going into the pocket of the manufacturers. The ^{greater} ~~gre-~~ ^{er} alien protection, the less imports and as imports are paid for by exports, and ours are agricultural products ~~alone~~ or almost so, protection proves a still further burden upon the South and west to the benefit of the northeastern section, including the nine States of Maine,

New Hampshire, Vermont

Old Sparta, N.C.

25

189

Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. As an unprotected farmer pays taxes to a protected manufacturer, so all the Agricultural States pay taxes to the favored section where the protected manufacturers abound. It is often asserted by protectionists that cheap goods bring low wages but that is disproved by Maj McKimley himself in his speech in the House in support of his bill, but without intending to. He shows that the price of American carpets have cheapened more than one-half in the last eighteen

Old Sparta, N. C.

26

years - one style from $2. a yard now .93 cents; another from $1.46 per yard to .65 cents; and another from $1.20 to .45 cents; and other manufactures have cheapened similarly - and yet wages, instead of declining, have been advanced. New inventions, labor-saving machinery, improved manufacturing processes and increased consumption have brought this about. In talking with protectionist their invariable advice is, "go into manufacturing yourself". Then my friends there would be no one to prey upon and all would collapse. Let us make an illustration. Suppose ten men living near each other, and engaged in different industries, agree to encourage one another by paying each a weekly tax of $1. to each of the other nine. Then at the end of the first week each would have paid the others $1. a piece - or $9. in all; and each would have received from the others $1. a piece - or $9. in all. Each man therefore, would have paid out $9. for protection, and received $9. for protection - and the whole party would be at the point they started from. But suppose one man persuades

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

the others that his particular business, only, ought to be encouraged, and they consent to pay him, each, $1. a week. This makes a very different showing, for at ~~for~~ the end of the first week, he has received $1. from each of the others - $9. in all, and has paid out nothing to the others. He is, therefore, $9. better off, and the others are each $1. worse off. At the end of the second week he is $18. better off, and at the end of the third week $27. He is growing rich at the rate of $9. a week, and perhaps he points to his manifest increase as an evidence of the prosperity of the whole fraternity. In a little while he begins to loan money - the very money he took from them - to the other nine, at 8% and takes mortgages on their homes as security; and as the interest on these mortgages comes regularly in, in addition to the tribute money of $9. per week, he indulges in self complacent eloquence on the striking benefits of the system which the fraternity have adopted, and tries to convince the others that any abandonment of it, or even a reduction of the weekly tribute from

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

\$1. to 75-cents, would curtail his income, derange his financial affairs, force him to discharge one of his household servants, and lower his style of living, and bring dire disaster upon the whole community. This I think a fair picture of protection. In the same degree a protective tariff enriches one man, or one interest, or one section, it impoverishes others, and it can not be otherwise. Farming pays $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ while manufacturing pays 30% , which looks like taxing the poorest ^{business} business in the land for the benefit of the best paying business. And that is not all. Protection draws money from the least prosperous sections, or rather, from all other sections of the Country, and gives it to the most prosperous one. These nine favored States own one-half the wealth of the Country.

Old Sparta, N.C.

In the year 1880 the estimated wealth of the entire Country was $43,642,000,000 - over forty-three billion dollars. The entire population was 61,000,000 of this the nine manufacturing States, ^{previously} ~~above~~ named had 15,500,000, or ^{about} less than ^{fourths} one-third and the other States and territories

Old Sparta, N. C.

189 had $$5,500,000$, or ~~more than~~ ^{about three} ~~quarters~~ ^{two-thirds}. Now the estimated true wealth of these nine manufacturing states is $$19,643,000,000$ — the other states and territories is $$24,000,000,000$. This leaves an apparent excess of $$4,357,000,000$ in favor of the other states and territories. But it must be remembered that a large portion of wealth in the other states and territories, consisting principally of Railroads and farm mortgages— not less than $$4,000,000,000$.

— is owned in the manufacturing states. This sum must therefore be taken from one side and added to the other— and when

Old Sparta, N. C.

189 it is done, the account will stand thus:— Wealth of nine manufacturing states $23,643,000,000. Wealth of all other states and territories $20,000,000,000. This shows that the nine manufacturing states own over $23,000,000,000 worth of the country's wealth and the other states and territories $20,000,000,000. Now as further proof that this great accumulation of wealth is with these manufacturing states— The aggregate deposits in all the Savings Banks of this country, at the time alluded to, were $1,425,000,000— and of this $1,214,000,000, or nearly six-sevenths was in the nine manufacturing

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

States, and only $211,000,000, or one-seventh, in all the other States. All the banking institutions in the land, national, savings, state, private, and trust companies show total capital, surplus, undivided profits and deposits of $5,201,000,000 - and more than three-fifths of this, or $3,377,000,000 - is in the nine manufacturing states, and less than two-fifths, or $1,823,376,000 in all the other States. Now my friends, this shows that we are protecting the best paying business in the Country at the expense of all other kinds of business and that the benefits of the policy

Old Sparta, N.C.

189

go chiefly to the richest section of the Union, which stands least in need of it. The people of Kansas have not a dollar in saving banks, while the people of Massachusetts have over $300,000,000. - nearly enough to buy the whole state of Kansas, at its assessed value.

I promised to show you a while back how the protective tariff can and does aid the trusts to the detriment of the farmer and we will take the Axe Trust as an example. Twelve Companies met together in Buffalo in 1890 and formed what is known as the Axe Trust. At

189

This time standard axes were selling at \$5.25 pr dozen but this included a protective tariff tax profit of 45% equalling say \$1.57. Upon these prices the trust advanced prices \$2.25 pr dozen, making a total profit—over and above ~~what~~ a legitimate^{one} profit—of \$3.82 pr dozen or $3\frac{1}{6}$ cents pr axe, and this your government says right. Every man who uses an axe must take out of his pocket .31 cents and put into the pocket of the axe trust and all growing out of the infamous protective tariff. And this is so with all trusts. There can be no trusts unless the articles are protected. Now it is fair to presume that the average farmer's family consume \$150. worth of the necessaries of life, ^{per year} from the list I have mentioned. So that in the last thirty years, since the protective tariff has been enforced, he would have spent \$4500. $33\frac{1}{3}\%$ of which or \$1500. would have gone to protection and he would have gotten but \$3000. worth of goods. At a glance you will readily see that this tax could and would have produced the present deplorable condition of the finances of this country.

Old Sparta, N. C.

189

Old Sparta, N. C.

189

Now fellow citizens tell me where the iniquitous protective tax iff seeds ^{and} financial oppressions begin? They are as intimate as were the sim twins. Destroy the cause and the effect can be rationally treated.
