Below is the suggested implementation plan for addressing the changes in the undergraduate academic regulations.

Implementation Plan

Following approval of the proposed revision of the university's academic regulations by the Faculty Senate and the Chancellor, the following will occur:

- The effective date for implementation will be the fall semester 1993.
- All new students will be under the regulations at the start of the 1993 fall semester.
- Returning students will have the following timetable in effect:
 - If a student enters the 1993 fall semester on probation and does not meet the academic retention standard, the student will be given a grace semester (1994 spring semester) to meet the required grade point average. The student will remain on probation until the end of the spring semester at which time the student will either meet the retention grade point average and become a student in good academic standing or be suspended if the retention standard is not met.
 - The number of course drops a returning student receives will be based upon the student's total credit hours accumulated (both ECU and transferred), using the schedule presented in the course drop option portion of the Schedule Changes section of the undergraduate academic regulations.
- Students will be informed of the changes via special notices and the catalog supplement.
