Subject: Faculty Development Modules

Marianna, first, thank for sending a rep to the OQC meeting yesterday. I think we will be able to move much more quickly down our road with timely feedback from you.

I will be presenting / discussing the modules at the DE&T meeting today and they will be open for their review. In an effort to get a more complete evaluation and to simultaneously move the project along, the OQC has recommended that the modules be opened to all new faculty who attended orientation last month. The modules were mentioned at that time, and a number of faculty have asked about them. I think that this group can serve as additional reviewers and ones from whom we may gain valuable feedback as some of them are new to DE.

As you know, none of us serves on only one committee and none of us is without other obligations. The OQC members are concerned that the review process will take some time (which is fine) and the committee would hate to dampen the new faculty's enthusiasm for completing the modules by not letting them "have at them" sooner rather than later.

Please advise.
Have a great week!

Maggie
