Captain W. H. Ashford, Jr., U. S. Navy
Commander, Fleet Logistic Air Wing, Atlantic
U. S. Naval Air Station
Patuxent, Maryland

Dear Ashford:

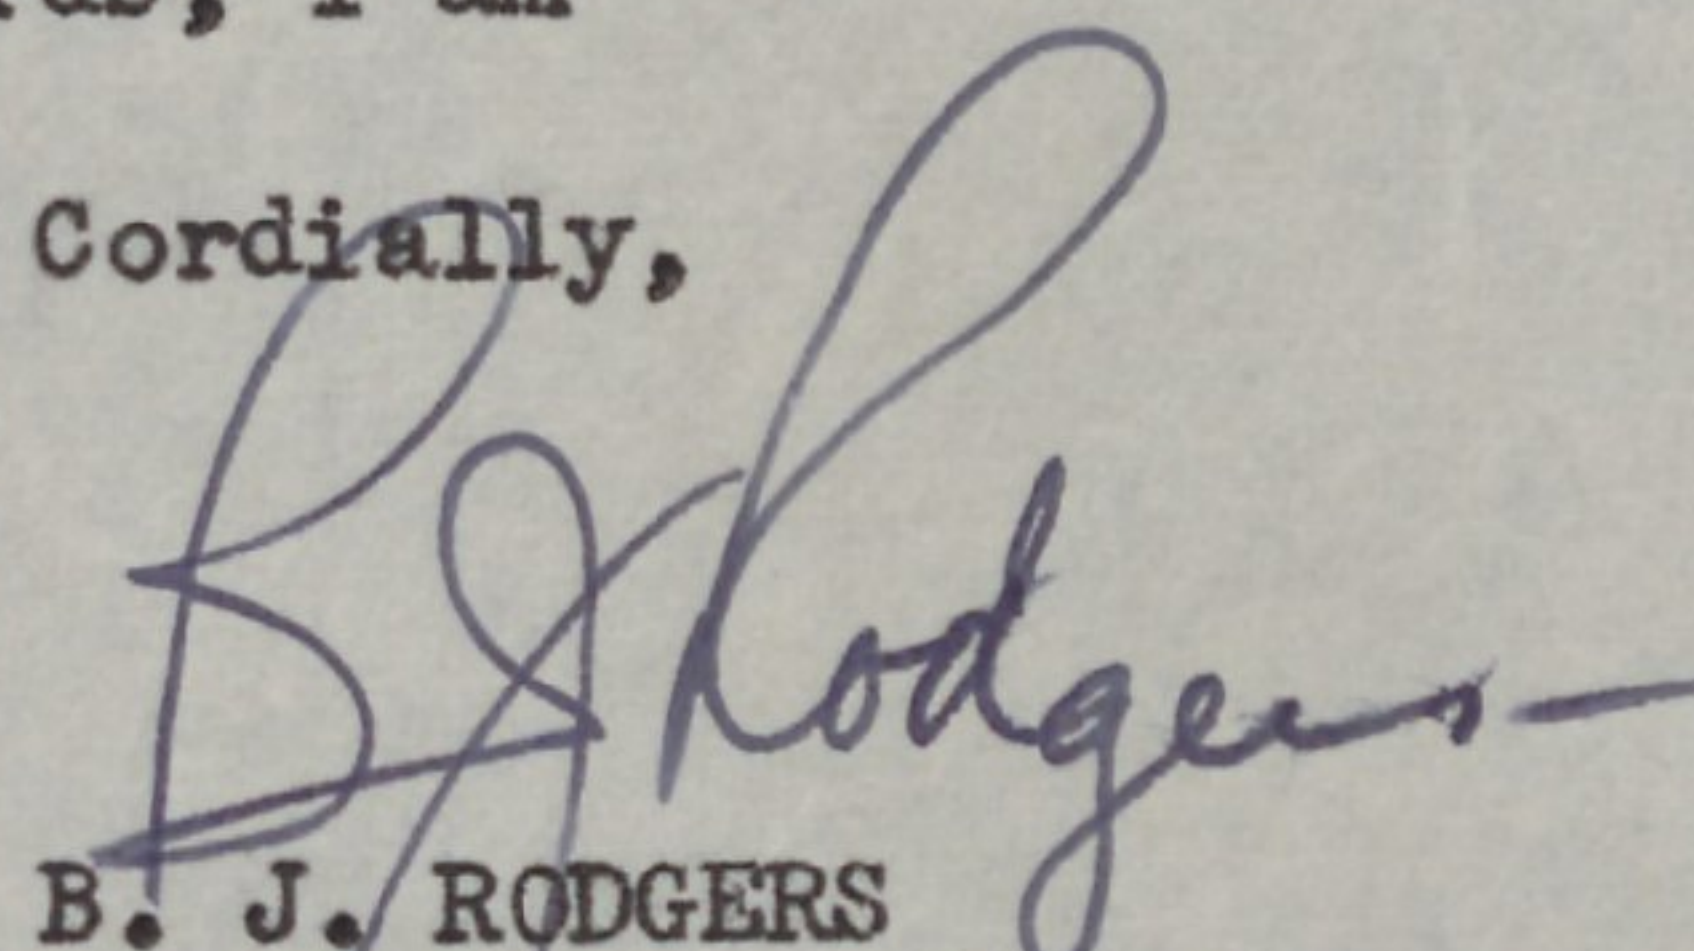

When I was at Moffett Field last week meeting with SecNav, I had occasion to talk to Captain Colestock, who is now under orders to the Pacific, I understand. Colestock made some mention of a possible schedule of the Constitution plane to make one weekly round trip between Washington and Moffett Field. If you have a tentative schedule of such flights, I would appreciate you forwarding one to me.

My personal interest in the matter is in connection with a possible plane ride for my Midshipman son, James R. Rodgers, Third Class, who will be looking for a ride to California over the Christmas Holidays. Is there a possibility that some space might be made available to midshipmen in case the Fleet Logistic Air Wing intends to schedule a big plane about that time?

I realize that the plane schedules must remain quite fluid, but I would appreciate a note from you as to the likelihood of transportation via Fleet Logistic Air Wing between Washington and Moffett Field between mid-December and mid-January.

With kindest regards, I am

Cordially,

B. J. RODGERS
