

12 SECONDS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD.

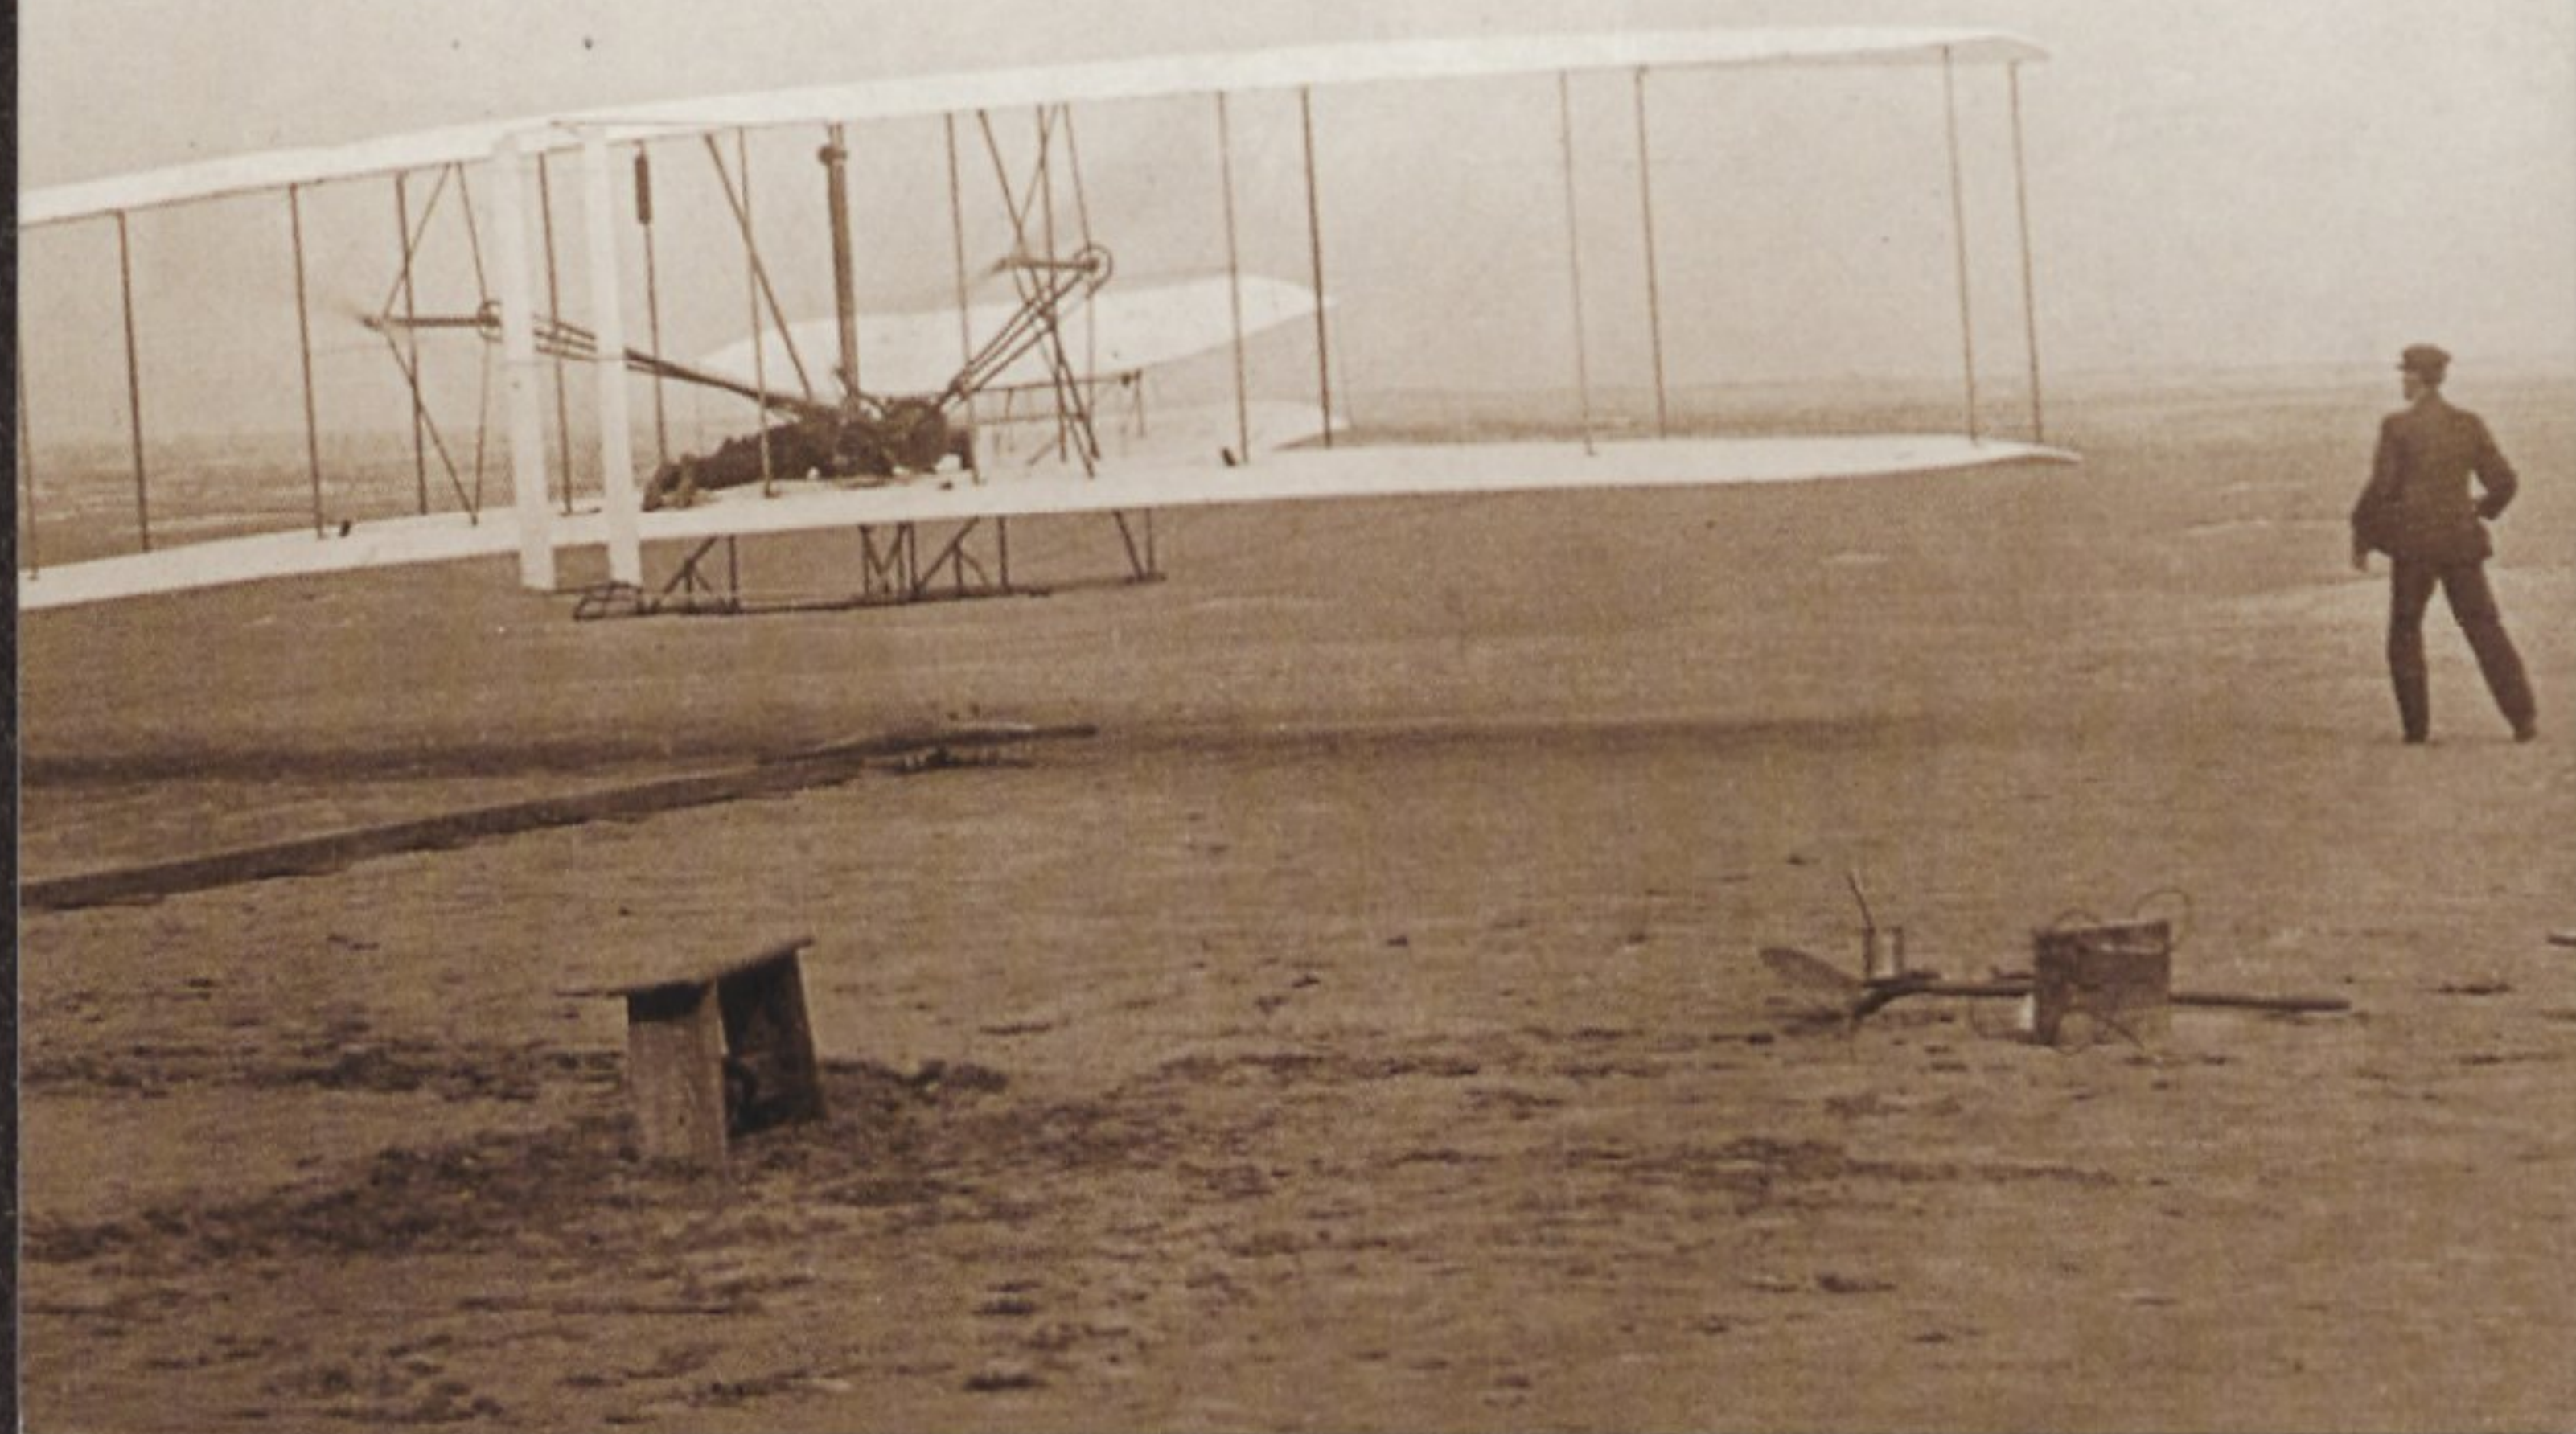

December 17, 1903...

With Orville Wright at the controls and his brother Wilbur running alongside, a fragile craft lifted off the sands of North Carolina's

Kill Devil Hills.

It flew 120 feet.

The world changed.

CELEBRATE THE CENTENNIAL OF FLIGHT

In 2003 North Carolina will be the proud host of the centennial celebration of humankind's first successful flight in a powered aircraft. North Carolina's First Flight Centennial Commission is celebrating and commemorating the magnificent achievement of the Wright brothers and the changes that human flight has brought to our world—what that moment on a cold, windy day on the Outer Banks of North Carolina has meant to us all.

Visit www.firstflightnc.com and learn about news, events, educational activities, history, information and links to our partners and colleagues. Celebrate with us this great moment in history.
