EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE

ATTEND THANKSGIVING GAMES

VOLUME III

GREENVILLE, N. C. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24TH, 1927

North Eastern District N. C. E. A. Here Last Week Well Attended

The North Eastern District of the North Carolina Education Association closed its annual session in Greenville Saturday, Nov. 19. The out of state speakers at this meeting were Supt. Willis A. Sutton of the Atlanta, Ga. schools and Dr. Maxia A. Woodring of Teachers College, Columbia University. Mr. Sutton is one of the outstanding figures in American Public School education, having done a piece of constructive work in his own state that has attracted nationwide attention. His message was one of inspiration dealing with the problem of education for initiative. Dr. Woodring is considered one of America's authorities on secondary education.

This meeting was one of the best attended that has ever been held in the district. There are some two thousand white teachers in the district. It is estimated that about thirteen or fourteen hundred attended the meeting.

Greenville opened up its heart and its homes to the teachers and took care of the convention in a masterful fashion. The Merchants Association gave a barbecue supper on Friday night in the Campus Building to all teachers and visitors. This supper which was under the management of the Home Economics Department of the college was served in splendid style. The Merchants Association also found homes and placed all of the visiting teachers.

Some very lively bidding was done at the business session Saturday morning when Elizabeth City, Rocky Mount, Kinston and Greenville all bid for the convention for next year. After several series of ballots Greenville finally won out by eight votes. So the meeting place of the convention will not be changed. The meetings in this district have been held in Greenville every year with the exception of one. In 1925 it went to Washington, N. C.

Musicians Give Splendid Program

On Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Campus building the college and people of Greenville were given a real musical treat in the program recital by the renowned Russian trio, Leo, Jan and Mischel Cherniavsky. The program consisted of trios for piano, violin and cello, and groups of solos on each instrument.

Although each of these brothers is an artist of decided individuality and strong personality, their ensemble was unsurpassed in unity of expression, rhythm, and interpretation. In addition to the regular program, eight extra numbers were given, the large audience was most enthusiastic, and the artists generous, appreciating the quiet intelligent listening.

The Cherniavsky brothers will shortly leave this country for a concert tour in Japan, Australia, England, and other countries. Owing to insistent demands they will return to the United States in 1930 and it is hoped that the college will be fortunate enough to secure them again. This is their second appearance here.

A Tribute To Mr. Wayne

On Monday evening, Nov. 15, Mr. Wayne, our college carpenter was instantly killed while tearing down an old house. We do not feel equal to the task of telling to those who were not privileged to know him just what he meant to us. A dutiful father, an honest and upright citizen and a friend to man—these were his qualifications. But he was more. He did not stop at the first mile and direct one on to the journey's end, he went with him and helped make the way more pleasant.

As we pass down the corridor now where his workshop is we look in and expect to see him there, fixing a bookcase for a student or framing a picture. His hand was never idle, and his tools were in constant use. Mr. Wayne loved his work and mixed with it the little joys of life always.

There never was a task too hard for him to do and he gave freely of his time for all of us. It was while working on a job outside of regular working hours that he was killed.

The Student Government Association and the Y. W. C. A. sent flowers as a mark of the respect we hold for him but these cannot express our full gratitude for the man who was a part of our college life and who never forgot the Golden Rule of rendering some service for others.

What does everyone want? See the "Blue Bird."

RECOGNITION SERVICE UNUSUALLY PRETTY

The beautiful and impressive recognition candle service of the Y. W. C. A. was held on Sunday evening October, thirteenth, in the old auditorium. Each new member entered carrying a candle symbolizing the light of her life. Following the services in the auditorium all the members, carrying the candles, marched out on the front campus. The same beautiful theme of the light of our lives, following the gleam, and letting our lights shine for our fellow students on the campus, was carried out here.

The Y. W. C. A. is the largest voluntary organization on the campus and is in cooperation with the entire work of the college. The enthusiastic and spirited work of this organization, and the friendly and helpful service rendered the new and old students under the information bureau is worthy of much comment.

This year one of the novel features of the Y. W. C. A. was the annual campaign in the form of a Trans-Atlantic aeroplane flight. As a result 516 members were secured.

The leaders of this active organization consists of President, Miss Elizabeth Smith, and eleven assistants or cabinets officers.

They're all in search of it. What? The "Blue Bird."

Stefansson, the great Arctic Explorer, who will deliver an illustrated lecture at the college on Monday evening, Dec. 12.

Sophomores and Freshmen Bury Hatchet and Snake Peace Pipe

Characteristic of all sophomore and freshmen classes is jealousy and ill feeling between the two. The sophomores assume an attitude of importance and the freshmen keenly resent it. Each tries to outdo the other, and they become rivals in social, literary, and athletic activities. Sisterly love that binds sister classes is sadly lacking. To intensify this spirit on our campus, the basket ball teams of the two classes were scheduled to play Saturday in the elimination game. Each team played well, and the sportsmanship was excellent; but the sophomores, having the stronger team, were the victors.

The sophomores wishing to destroy these petty differences, invited the lower classmen to meet with them and bury the hatchet Saturday night, Nov. 29, at the Poe Society hall. After each class had held its regular meeting, the sophomores escorted the freshmen to the place of meeting. The hall was beautifully decorated, and the shaded lights cast a soft glow over the scene. In the center of the room was a wigwag, at the entrance of which sat the two presidents, Kay Lee Cloaninger and Margaret Silver. The guests were seated in a semi-circle about the wigwag.

The first thing on the program was an Indian war dance, given by six girls wearing Indian headdress and dressed in gaudy blankets. The dance was given about the mock camp fire built before the wigwag. Following this a statement of the prejudices was read, after which a vow was taken, to maintain constant friendship and peace. Then the peace pipe was lighted and smoked by the two presidents.

After this the members of the classes formed a procession and filed out to the north side of the campus building, where the hatchet together with the prejudice was solemnly buried. The dignity and seriousness that every one maintained, and the sincerity and solemnity in which the program was carried out, made the scene an impressive one indeed. Both classes took on an entirely different attitude toward each other, and a new understanding sprang up—the beginning of a friendship that will last.

At the conclusion of the program a social hour was enjoyed, and hot dogs and marshmallows were served.

Seniors and Sophs D's and C's To Play In Thursday's Tournament

SENIORS TO GIVE 'BLUE BIRD SOON

The Senior play is headed toward success for December 1 and 2 under the unexcelled management of Miss Knott, the State Representative of Community Drama. Various committees working with her have all plans well formulated.

Miss Knott is quite familiar with the "Blue Bird" having successfully given it in other prominent places, thus she has carefully worked out the scenery, lighting and costumes and has secured scenery from various places where the play has been given.

Because of the exceptional character of the play, plans and dates of presentation are watched with interest by people of this part of the state. Two night presentations are arranged so as to accommodate the patrons.

The Story

The Blue Bird, inhabitant of the Pays Bleu, the fabulous blue country of our dreams, is an ancient symbol in the folk lore of Lorraine and stands for happiness.

Tyltyl and Mytyl, the children of a poor family, wish greatly for happiness; they dream of searching for the Blue Bird. With the help of the elements, animals, and people, they search everywhere, but all in vain. Finally the children return home to discover happiness within their own home.

It is a story of how Tyltyl without knowing it, has discovered Life's great secret, which is that we draw nearer to happiness by trying to give it to others.

The dog and cat play important and unique parts in the play.

Persons in The Play

The girls in the play, the "Blue Bird," are busy rehearsing their parts.

Ethel Spratt is Daddy Tyl, a woodcutter; Sarah Garris—Mummy Tyl, his wife; Inez Van Dyke—Tyltyl, their little boy; Rosina Pittman—Mytyl, their little girl; Annie Batts—Neighbor Berlingot; Elizabeth Smith—Neighbor Berlingot's little daughter; Sarah Gurley—Gaffner Tyl, a spirit in the land of memory; Mary Hocutt—Granny Tyl, his mate; Elizabeth Stewart—Maternal Love; Bronnie Cogdell—Tylo, the dog; Ann Kanoy—Tyllette, the cat; Evelyn Hutcheson—Light; Carrie Lee Peele—Night; Mary Cummings—Tire; Mary Campbell—Water; Delma Smith—Bread; Kathleen Faison—Milk; Doralita Larkins, Sara Gurley and Elizabeth Smith—Ghosts; Sabra Garris and Ethel Spratt—Colds in the head.

The Happiness and Joys of the home are Vera Wester, Spokesman, Ruth Jones, Sarah B. Jenkins Catherine Clark, Bessie Willis, Goldie Harrell, Ina Bishop, Lucile Britt, Julia Satterwhite, Ruby Yelverton, Janie Belle Johnson, Mae Henderson, Eunice Richardson, Nina Ruth Rouse, Nancy Hinson, Elizabeth Smith, Lillian Trippe, Elizabeth Newsome, Margaret Shaw.

End your search for the "Blue Bird" by seeing the Senior Play.

Happiness lies just around the corner—Don't forget Senior Play.

On Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the preliminary basket ball games were held. These games were to decide the participants of the Thanksgiving games. The winning teams were the Sophomores and Seniors. The Sophomores defeated the Freshmen 45 to 21, the Seniors defeated the Juniors 40 to 10. All teams showed excellent training, thanks to Miss Alexander, Mr. Flannigan and Mr. Frank.

The two losing teams proved to be good sports and took their defeat in an admirable manner.

The vim and excitement of Saturday's games is being carried over until Thursday, the day of friendly rivalry will reach its heights. The game between the Sophomores and Seniors is expected to be one of the fastest and closest games of the year.

The line up for the two college classes is as follows:

Sarah Gurley, Capt., Center; Delma Smith, R. F.; Louise Evans, L. G.; Vera Wester, C. G.; Elizabeth Smith, L. G.; May Henderson, R. G.

The Sophomore Line up:

Sarah Ogletree, Capt., R. F.; Kay Lee Cloaninger, Center; Mary Ward, L. F.; Grace Whitley, C. G.; Margaret Outland, L. G.; Janie Gold Hardee, R. G.

The game between the two normal classes will also be a very exciting one. Both teams are composed of excellent and efficient players.

The "D" line up:

Mittie Norwood, Center, Capt.; Winifred Rouse, R. F.; Hester Gist, L. F.; Josephine Lane, L. G.; Rosa Lee Cuthrell, R. G.; Dorothy Connor, C. G.

The "C" line up:

Willie White, Center; Louise Gurley, Forward; Kathleen Burns, Forward, Captain; Mary Louise McCormack, Guard; sther Mae Tilghman, Guard; Josie Liverman, Guard.

Tell your friends to come see it. The "Blue Bird."

Classes Elect Officers

D's ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

After a series of class meetings the D's have at last come to a definite decision concerning the class officers for this year: namely—

President, Gladys Jones; Vice-President, Edna Goodwin; Secretary, Jennette Sessions, Treasurer, Margaret Brogdon; Representative Student Gov't., Flora Tarkington; Tecoa Representative, Cynthia Daughtery; Teco Echo Reporter, Pattie Edmondson; Critic, Martha Mason; Cheer Leader, Margaret Ward.

With the above co-workers for leaders, the D. class, is expecting to accomplish great work this year.

"C" CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

After several meetings, many nominations, and much discussion as to the various officers, the C's have elected the following girls as their leaders for this year.

President, Hazel Batson; Vice President, Hilda Ross; Secretary, Evelyn Heileg; Treasurer, Rubye Lee Campbell; Cheer Leader, Flora

Once Bernard Shaw wrote, "those who can, do, those who can't, teach." We wish to add our names to the list of those who have already openly contradicted him in other statements and this one in particular.

Bernard Shaw as always must be taken with a grain of salt for so full of irony are his statements that we set a-pondering and wish we had him in a big arm-chair close by so that we could talk back to him.

We would tell him first of all that his statement needs revision. That was true years past, but why not be modern and up to date in literature as in dress? It isn't true that those who can't do anything else teach. True, we have hundreds who enter the profession but realizing the great responsibility to civilization which they are taking upon their shoulders, they soon leave the ranks, and it is well that they should. Other professions have their failures. Why ignore them and cast our failures at us.

Rapidly the old certification of teachers is changing. Once a mere high school graduate could secure a certificate and teach but that is no more. There is slowly creeping into the school system everywhere a current of thought which is lighting the minds of school executives to the realization that every teacher should receive four years training.

Just because we did not choose to enter another field of work that is no logical reason for saying that we were not capable. Perhaps our minds do not run in the grooves of finance and others that lead to fame but rather in a more human and personal channel. With one voice we deny the statements, "those who can't, teach."

One of the biggest events of the college year will be held Thanksgiving Day. The annual Basketball tournament and Thanksgiving dinner is always joyously anticipated by both new and old girls. It is then that competition's spirit will hold sway on our campus, however, it is hoped that the spirit of friendly rivalry will continue to prevail.

Della Does Her Shopping

Child, don't think that I didn't set myself up to a new coat the other day! Yeah—and when you revive I'll tell you about it. You see I just had to have one since I sold my old one to one of the maids for money to pay my dues. I couldn't decide what kind I wanted so I had two sent up on approval. Then I wrote Mama and Papa to come Sunday that I had something "important" to talk over with them. Of course they broke their necks getting here thinking that their poor child was thinking seriously of getting married or something equally appalling. Imagine their expressions when I displayed the two coats. We'll pass over that! Anyway we decided on the brown one from McKay-Washington. It has a beautiful fur collar extending all the way down to the hem. On the hip, just where we hold our coats, is a large brown buckle. It gives such a nice and individualistic touch to the coat. If you want to get a god looking coat that will just set off your eyes and hair, get it at McKay-Washington's.

Isn't it funny how one thing calls for another? After I had bought my coat, I realized how shabby looking my shoes were. So I took them down to Maultsby's and had the heels built up and new taps put on them. The man who waited on me certainly was nice, he didn't charge me a thing for the taps.

I have already picked out my Christmas present. I made up my mind the other day that I would get a society pin from Mr. Best's jewelry store. I haven't informed Santa Claus of my intentions yet but there is plenty of time yet to send the letter up the chimney. Mr. Best was terribly nice about putting it up for me. I guess he has put away things for Santa Claus before.

Let me see, have I bought anything else lately? Oh yes—Mama's birthday candy! I bought it from Warren's—a nice 2 lb. box of Whitman's. But after I got home, I decided that it would be a sin to send her a box of candy

DELLA DUPLICATE

I'm just so nervous over the games and the dinner that I'm afraid I'll forget to be thankful.

when she is already kinder fat—so I kept it myself. I know she would have wanted me to. I wrote her a nice letter telling her that I wanted her to give a complete rest and let the boys do the work. I took up some much time with that that I hardly had room to tell her about baking me a cake and frying me some chicken.

Was that the bell? Gee—let me run! Now, I won't get time to pass around those "Cracker Jack" buns that I got at Woltz's. They are absolutely wonderful! You must try them.

BIBLE STUDY CLASSES CONDUCTED

Bible Study Classes are now being conducted under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. on Monday evening of each week at 6 o'clock. These groups will continue to meet every Monday evening for six weeks and many Bible characters, parables, psalms, prayers, and other topics of interest are to be discussed. Every member of the Y. W. C. A. and all other girls are urged to enroll and attend one of these Bible Study groups. The following faculty members are conducting the classes in their various rooms:

Mr. Hollar, room 111.
Mr. Slay, room 202.
Mr. M. L. Wright, room 16.
Mr. Picklesimer, room 209.
Miss Wahl, room 125.

The Voices of Women

An interesting and impressive play, "The Voices of the Women" was presented by the Student Volunteer Band at the Sunday evening, Y. W. C. A. services on November the twentieth. Catherine Hill, president of the band was in charge of the services.

The missionary play is the story of an American woman who has refused the request of a Foreign Mission Collector. The following night, women of other lands come to her in a dream to plead for foreign missions. She sees the harvest field as she has never seen it before and resolves to go forth to do everything possible for the sake of these women in bondage.

Those taking part in the play were:

Dreamer, Mildred Sasser; Conscience, Elizabeth Hooker; Malaysia, Louise Carr; Mexico, Mae Hampton Keith; China, Sarah Moore; Africa, Marie Jenkins; India, Grace Bazemore; Hindu Widow, Ellie Ford Hinson; Child Widow, Helen Minton; Korea, Laura Hunt; Japan, Gladys McLean.

Old and young join in the search for happiness. See the Blue Bird.

ALUMNAE

The invitation to spend the night at the college during the meeting of the N. C. E. A. was accepted by twenty-six Alumnae. The "Y" hall in the campus building was used for this occasion—all the girls reported a good time.

We want you to realize that the mother association is at your service at all times.

Girls! don't forget to send in your contributions to the Bazaar before November 30.

Be sure to visit the Alumnae Gift Shoppe in the campus building.

CHAPTER AT FARMVILLE

The E. C. T. C. girls teaching in Farmville, reported the organization of a chapter there. Plans for work are well under way.

ALUMNAE BAZAAR

The Alumnae Association is planning to have a Bazaar early in December. Each girl is asked to contribute one article. Please do not feel that you have to be affiliated with some chapter to contribute, but mail your contribution to Elizabeth M. Stewart, E. C. T. C. not later than December 1st.

The second meeting of the Junior Class was held Saturday evening, November the nineteenth, and was marked by a good attendance of both the dormitory and town students.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Lillian Colson, and the following officers were elected:

Vice president, Clyde Stokes; Secretary, Sarah Fussell, Treasurer, Appless White, Teco Echo Reporter, Nannie Evans; Cheer Leader, Elizabeth Allen; Sargent of Arms, Susan Harriet.

Many important business questions were brought up and discussed; chiefly those concerning the plans for Thanksgiving and for the Junior Play which will be given shortly after Christmas. The meeting was then turned over to Rebecca Alexander, chairman of

FRESHMAN CLASS

After much discussion and "politicizing" the Freshman class met and chose Margaret Silner as their president.

Then on November 16th a very important meeting was called for the purpose of electing the following officers:

Vice Presiden—Alma McGinnis. Secretary—Katherine Lemmond. Treasurer—Dorothy Richardson. Student Council Representative—Selma Gray Hooks.

Cheer Leaders—Cornelia Boney and Ertha Mitchell.

Tecoa Reporter—Katie Pritch. Teco Echo Reporter—Josephine Gaul.

The question of class colors and a class flower was also settled.

Gold and white were chosen as the colors and the daisy as the class flower.

Before adjournment the class promised its loyal support to its sister, the Junior Class, in its basket ball games which are being looked forward to, and decided upon a joint pep meeting with them.

Alumnae Gift Shop

Have you seen the Alumnae Gift Shoppe? It is located in the Campus Building in the room to the right of the spacious auditorium. Tis here that Lizzie Stewart, the Alumnae Secretary, will welcome you on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from four to five o'clock on Wednesday evening from six thirty to seven thirty.

Attractions will be added from time to time but at present it is a very unique brass shop. Many beautiful pieces such as bridge gongs, book ends, candelabra vases, candle sticks, nut bowls, sandwich trays, etc. are on display—at a reasonable price.

It will pay you to examine the collection since there are so many pieces but few duplicates. In case you would like to have certain articles ordered this could be done. Don't wait until Christmas to do your shopping because there are many pieces which would be lovely in your rooms now. Go over and make your selection.
