EASTER TRIP TO TO WASHINGTON

The Easter trip to Washington, D. C., always enjoyed greatly by those who take it, was this year, in the opinion of those who took the trip, the best of all.

There were several new features about this, the sixth annual spring tour. The party traveled by special bus from Greenville, instead of by train and boat. In the way they were free to stop or go as they saw fit, and were enabled to get ahead of the immense crowds of sight-seers. Much of the way was enlivened by singing and games, every one being in a hilarious mood.

Leaving the college at 6:45 a. m. March 29, they reached Richmond in time for lunch, drawing up right at the back door of the Melba restaurant. Mount Vernon was reached about 3:30 that afternoon, and after stopping to see the inside of that historical mansion, and explore the grounds, they reached the capital city in time for dinner.

As they journeyed northward, signs of spring, which were very evident on our campus, gradually receded until Washington was reached, when the glorious sight of the Japanese cherry blossoms made all conscious of spring's arrival.

Three days full of sight-seeing were spent in Washington, the party visiting most of the places of national interest in the city. It seemed that almost every one in the country was in Washington. All were enjoying the holiday spirit. There were many other school parties enjoying their vacation by sight-seeing.

Not all of the time was spent in directed sight-seeing. The evenings were free for shows, writing letters, or "dates". The Fox Theatre, a new theatre, was one of the most beautiful places visited. And with so many boys in Washington, not only high school boys at the hotel, but also soldier boys at Fort Myer, and no rules concerning conversation exceeding ten minutes, who wouldn't become acquainted? It is rumored that, several girls have received letters from persons whose identity was unknown to them before this tour.

Another new feature of the trip was attending the Easter service at the Franciscan Monastery, perhaps the most famous Roman Catholic church in this country. This is a most beautiful church, being especially lovely on that day, as it was literally covered on the inside with flowers.

The peculiar custom of egg-rolling on Easter Monday was watched in the Zoological Park, but the party did not have time to wait several hours in front of the White House in order to catch a smile and bow from President Hoover.

After spending two and one-half days sight-seeing in Washington, the party left for Baltimore, going by Annapolis. At the Naval Academy the sight of the boys drilling and the band playing, together with the wonderful view across the Bay, made a spectacle long to be remembered. Monday night was spent in Baltimore. There was no sight-seeing there, but most of the girls went to a show. Early the next morning they left for home, stopping to see the Lodge House and old church at Alexandria. As they travelled, the same signs of spring began to appear as they had receded on the way up. Lunch was had in Richmond again at the Melba restaurant. Arriving at the college at eight that night, the party disbanded reluctantly after giving cheers for all who helped make the trip enjoyable.

Much of the success of the trip was due to the efforts of Miss Grace Moore, of the H-M Tours, who was in charge of the tour. Miss Moore is very accommodating and a jolly person to have along on a trip, and, at the same time, she had the trip organized so as to get as much in as possible. Mr. Sheppard, the bus driver, also was very obliging and did many little courtesies for the group. To Miss Jenkins, especially, go the thanks of the entire party for her untiring efforts to have every-

CAMPUS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

The election of officers for the various outstanding student positions was held this week. More interest and enthusiasm were shown in these elections than any others for the past several years.

It is believed that the staff of officers for the coming year has been well chosen and that all organizations have excellent leaders. The most outstanding of the major officers have had some training along the lines of their new duties during previous years, and this will be found most beneficial to them in training those who are to fill similar positions next year.

For the past three years the officers of the Student Government Association have been elected by Australian ballot; the publication staffs are elected by popular vote, and the Y. W. C. A. officers, by the Y. W. C. A. which is composed of the greater part of the student body. The various officers are filled as follows:

Student Government Association
President—Jeannette Sessions.
Vice-President—Marcella Deal.
Secretary—Hannah Turnage.
Treasurer—Lina Johnson.
Chairman of Campus Committee—India Bateman.

House Presidents:
Josephine Grant.
Bessie Grissom.
Margaret Byrd.
Annie Laurie Hunt.
Julia Cogdell.
Katherine Lemmond.
Betsy Baird.
Frances Craig.
Sara Cobb.

Young Woman's Christian Assn.
President—Evelyn Jennings.
Vice-President—Lena Lineberger.
Secretary—Cullie Stafford.
Treasurer—Katherine Whitehurst.

Ch. of World Fellowship Committee—Ethel Baskins.
Ch. of Social Service Committee—Lucile Stanley.
Ch. of Publicity Committee—Grace Bazeman.
Ch. of Religious Education Committee—Hannah Turnage.
Ch. of Social Committee—Lessie Blackman.
Teco Echo Reporter—Eula Livingston.

EDUCATING JESSICA

After Jessie had been at the boarding school a few weeks she began signing her letters "Jessica". Brother Tom thought he would give her a little dig about it, so he wrote: "Dear Jessica, Dadica and Momica have gone to visit Aunt Lizzica. Uncle Samica is talking of buying a new machinica, but he doesn't know whether to get a Fordica or a Chevicica. The old cowica has a calfica. I was going to call it Nellica, but I changed it to Jimica because it was a bullica. Your affectionate brother Tomica."

thing arranged for the comfort and convenience of everyone.

The following took the trip: Julia Dixon Blount, Clara Mallard, Effie Trippie, Grace Rouse, Margaret Hunter, Elizabeth Martin, Grette Little, Edith Belk, Mabel Menefree, Mary Adams, Emily Smithwick, from the college; Eda Stroud, Christine Wilkerson, Annie Mae Cherry, Thelma Cherry, from Greenville High School; Hazel Phillips, from Ayden High School; Mary Beck and Irene Dozier, from Rocky Mount; Thelma Mason, Pearl Smith, Mildred Willis, from Atlantic.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON

RICHARD HALLIBURTON was around the world on a shoe-string. For the past five years he has surrendered heart and soul to the call of romance—across Asia and Africa, from Spain to Siberia, and up and down the Seven Seas. His first book, "The Royal Road to Romance," shattered all literary records for books on travel and adventure. His most recent effort, "The Glorious Adventure," bids fair to outdo the record of "The Royal Road." Mr. Halliburton is to appear here in the near future, bringing the personal story of his fascinating adventures. His name has become, almost overnight, a by-word for youthful enthusiasm, sparkling imagination, and for the dauntless liberated spirit of the age. He recently returned from new adventures in Mexico, Yucatan and Panama.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON LECTURES HERE

As the Teco Echo goes to press, girls are excited over the coming of "Dick" Halliburton, but when it comes out from the press their curiosity will have been satisfied, for he comes and goes while the paper is being printed. In the next issue will be recorded the impressions he made on the College. Rumors have reached the campus that he is red-headed and is terribly conceited, and both of these items increase the interest, for nowadays nothing makes a man more interesting to college girls than the fact that he has red hair, except the news that he has the added charm of conceit.

Some girls are studying the list of his daring deeds as earnestly as they studied the laundry lists before society initiations. Others are making out a list of questions to ask him, trying to guess the eleven questions that he says he hears everywhere and finds boring, and hoping to guess the twelfth he says he is still listening for.

The last Ladies Home Journal has the beginning of his account of his experiences of last summer when he followed the trail of Cortez in his Conquest of Mexico, using Prescott as a guide. The girls have probably bought out the stock of magazines hoping to get these autographed. Most of them cannot afford to buy copies of his books for the sake of getting them autographed.

He has never had a warmer reception, even when he looked into the craters of the different volcanoes he has visited.

Requesting from the column of "Here and There" we carry on the following ideas concerning the publication of a college paper. Truth is really stranger than fiction.

Getting out a paper is a picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly or vulgar.

If we don't they say we are adolescent and too serious.

If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety.

If we print things from other colleges we are lazy.

If we are rustling news, we are wasting time.

If we aren't rustling news, we are not attending to business.

If we print local stuff, they say we hurt people's feelings.

If we don't print contributions, we lack appreciation.

If we do print them, the paper is full of junk.

Y. W. C. A. INSTAL- LATION SERVICE

One of the most beautiful and effective Y. W. C. A. services of the entire year was held Sunday evening, April 7 at 6:30, when the retiring cabinet members gave the symbol of light and fellowship to their successors.

The two cabinets marched in from the back of the auditorium, the retiring ones carrying lighted candles. As they marched in, the audience sang "Father of Lights". After they formed a semi-circle on the stage, the retiring president led the devotional. This was followed by a vocal solo by Pauline Ratcliff. Each of the retiring members then exchanged places with her successor, giving to her the lighted candle and repeating a verse of light. To set on high a torch carried by those members of the Association preceding us, and to add to a continuous flame of love and service that is burning in all our Associations, the retiring president lighted two candles which were on the table before her. She then passed her lighted candle as a symbol of faith to the incoming president, who accepted the privilege and responsibility of leadership. The retiring cabinet then marched from the stage after which all repeated the national objective. The incoming president then led in prayer. The recessional "Follow the Gleam," was then played and the cabinet marched from the stage carrying the lighted candles.

The service was very beautiful. We are wishing for the new cabinet a year of great success and hope they enjoy the work as much as the retiring cabinet has.

MRS. BLOUNT ENTERTAINS CLASS

Mrs. Blount's Sunday School Class of the Jarvis Memorial Church was delightfully entertained in her home last Saturday, April 6, from four to six o'clock.

The party was the conclusion of an attendance contest held in the class between the Red and Blue divisions. The Reds, with Geneva Lou Franklin as their leader, won over the Blues, who had Corinne Harris as their captain.

Several very interesting contests and games were carried out with much enthusiasm. In the contests Katherine Lemmond and Ruth Burkette won prizes. The Misses Fillolove, members of the Greenville school faculty, sang very beautifully several selections.

Punch was served during the evening. Delicious block cream and cake were served at the conclusion of the party.

"LITTLE WOMEN" --D CLASS PLAY

This year the D's have selected for their class play, to be given April 18 and 19, "Little Women" by Miriam D. Forest. This play is taken from Louisa M. Alcott's book, and proves to be just as sweet and effective as the book itself.

The characters in the play are: Mr. March, Nancy Gordon; Mrs. March, Mary Morton Williams; Meg, Olivia Stadler; Jo, Evelyn Heilig; Beth, Elizabeth Hooker; Amy, Evelyn Mitchell; Aunt March, Lucy Pritchett; Mr. Lawrence, Excie Burton; Laurie, Lela Brown Stancill; Professor Bhoer, Thelis Bowden; John Brooke, Pauline Anderson; Hannah Muller, Louise Dail.

Miss N. Strobach from the Bureau of Community Drama at Chapel Hill, N. C., is coaching the play. She has already proved her ability in coaching plays by the Senior Play, "Smilin' Thru", and we hope that this one will be just as big a success.

MR. J. H. ROSE GIVES PROGRAM

Sunday evening, Mr. J. H. Rose, superintendent of the city schools, rendered a very interesting program to the Y. W. C. A. first cantata, "The Triumph of the Light and Salvation" after which he gave a short talk on "A Changed Conception of the Christian Religion."

Mr. Rose gave illustrations from his own experiences and based his talk on "Be sure your sins will find you out." It is the breaking of any law whether fundamental or spiritual. In looking back years ago, people were made to live in a spirit of fear. This was the fundamental purpose of their teachings. Today we have a religion that meets the present day needs. We do not live in an age of fear. We always live with ourselves. Have we respect for ourselves? Are we satisfied that none of our sins will be found out publicly? It is our duty to take care of the world before us. Are we doing this? Every day is judgment day. Today our sins are finding us out. What are we saying about ourselves, not considering what others say about us? Are we Christians because we are afraid not to let it so the teachings of the past are responsible. We show as a judgment of ourselves.

Mr. Rose is a very good speaker and we feel everyone enjoyed his talk and much.

MISS PITENSON TALKS THE PHILIPINO RELIGION

Friday evening, Miss Pitenson gave a very interesting talk on the religion of the Philippines. Miss Pitenson has been doing Civil Service in the Philippine Islands and knows a great deal about the people and their customs. She has related to many of her experiences and is very religious. About ninety percent of the population has the Christian Religion, and in every home is found a family altar. Everyday flowers are placed there and every night a candle burns. The consider the altar as sacred and no American is supposed to move one of them. The natives may be seen worshipping in the churches at any time of the day. They are very devout but have peculiar beliefs. They consider themselves the last remnant of all people. We feel that everyone enjoyed Miss Pitenson's talk very much.

My Routine

Early in the morning when I arise
I wash my face and splash my eyes
With water, cool and bright
Then I run to the shade to let in the light
Off to the dining room I hurry
Feeling at ease and free of worry
I feast on eggs, meat and a hard-boiled
"Oh, that menu", I often beg
Back to the room I hurry along
Whispering low or humming a song
So, book, I start to class,
Grabbing my nose to comfort
From my mask.
Four lights, and to the dining
Peas, potatoes, and brain.
I automatically, and back to class—
That fifth period is over
Last! across the campus and sniff
the air,
Day is warm and rather fair.
Morning was as bright as this right now.
It to appreciate it, I do know how.
ner at six, and back to work
My mind tries to study, but body wants to shirk.
Blink of the lights and I
to bed
With eyes that burn, aching head.

Y. W. C. A. CHOIR AND GLEE CLUB

Sunday evening, March 24, at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service, the choir and glee club gave a program to the Y. W. C. A. first cantata, "The Triumph of the Light and Salvation" after which they gave a short talk on "A Changed Conception of the Christian Religion."

As the choir came in they sang, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today." This was very effective for all of them were dressed in white. The devotional was led by Kay Lee Cloaninger. She took as a scripture lesson, the crucifixion of Christ. After this the program was as follows:

The Rejected Saviour—choir with Pauline Ratcliff taking a solo part.
On Calvary—contralto solo with chorus—Mildred Sasser.
God so Loved the World—soprano solo—Pauline Ratcliff.
Resurrection Day—choir.
Abide With Us—Soprano solo with chorus by the choir—Pauline Ratcliff.
There is No Night Where Jesus Is—Solo with chorus—Pauline Ratcliff.
Now is Christ Risen—a chorus—Choir.
Lord's Prayer—Association.
The entire cantata was very beautiful. We wish to thank Miss Kuykendall and the glee club for the well rendered program.

You can't ride without paying the fare. For this journey we are making no passes are issued. We have to pay for everything we get in coin of the realm, and for those of us who make up the student body, just now is the best of all times to learn this unchangeable law. To try short cuts, to seek the easy way, to dodge difficulty, presents a temptation with which we are all familiar. We want success a little more than we want anything else in the world, but too often we are not willing to pay the price.

TILLIE TRIPLICATE

Tillie Says.

"Little Women" bids fair to be our best college performance. Everybody come.

"Come on, girls, let's go to town. My afternoon off. While we're booting it along, let's talk about what we did Easter."

"Oh, Sara Jane, stop up here and see what Mr. Lautares has in his window. Aren't they the cutest and daintiest little compacts and vanities you ever saw? Who says I'm not going to carry one of the pretty things to the Press Convention at Greensboro soon?"

"Why hello, Grady. Where am I going with this bevy of girls? Shopping of course. This gang up at the college seems to have faith enough in my judgment to bring me along to help choose some of the things they want to take to the dance at State."

"Lib, honey, here's just the tone of tan-grey hose you want to match your new satin. This Jenny Wren gold stripe shade that Blount Harvey has. Aren't they smart looking?"

"Here's the spring coat you want, Betty. A cape collar and deep cuffs. You can get it ridiculously cheap. Mr. Abeyounis has a cut-price sale on. Oh, this biege one is just the thing. Try it on. There that's adorable. Buy it quickly before someone else gets it."

"Shoes for your sport dress, Sue? O Yes. The neat blue ones you just bought at Saleed's. Sure thing. The very thing is at Bowen's—the Rita. Hasten here, child. In ten minutes you can show your old Roman lovely Uncle Daddy some nifty-looking pedes."

"Girls, look at this adorable evening dress! Oh, la la. Who wears this to the Junior-Senior banquet? Your Aunt Tillie does. Try it on right now, says I. William's and Chapman must have had this on display for me—orchid-violet. Forty reasons why I will dance—and forty five of them are that evening dress. I wonder if the Evangelist Carl Basset ever saw so lovely. Would I like to die dancing? No, not specially, but if I had to die dancing I'd like to have on that dress. It's mine already, and slippers. I saw them up at the Pitt Shoe Co., silver things."

"While we're down town let's run up to DeLuxe Beauty Shoppee and get our Origidines set. Better yet. Part of us will go there and part to the Cinderella. What you want, a shampoo? Edith, Roger will never know the difference. You and Josie hot-foot it down to the Vanitie Boxe. Let's finish our shopping and then get beautiful, after everything else is done."

"I'm tired. Let's get some refreshments some where. Ice cream with nuts. Name the place—there are several to choose from."

"I most forgot my hat down at Lowe's Hat Shop. It's a beauty. I wonder if it wouldn't go with that black satin over in Heber-Forbes window? You try it while some of us run down to Penny's to get some new undies. Why, hello, Bessie, where have you been all the time? Anything happening? Bet your life lady. We're going to the dance at State this week-end. Then, the Senior-Normal play, "Little Women," will be given April 18 and 19. Surely you can come over one of the two nights. Let your pupils go early Friday evening and come over. The High School play is to be given next Tuesday night. I'm sure those students will do justice to "Daddy Long Legs." Are they good? I'll say the word. We college girls are all thrilled to pen and ink. We're writing our special friends at Duke, State, Carolina, and other colleges, telling them what treats we have in store. Then too, we're writing to our other friends all the way from Hyde to Raleigh.

Tom Tarheel says his sweet potato patch is an essential part of his farm.

Top-dressing small grain with quick-acting nitrogen is a sure way to increase yields of grain and hay, say agronomists.

In Scotland County, the farmers still believe in the old cowpea and recently a group of them had the county agent to order a supply of seed.

PASSING

Another life has left us,
Has entered the fabled gate;
Another life has passed away,
Has ceased on earth to wait.
Another life has entered
On its era of peace and joy;
Another life has ceased to live
Where cares and toils annoy.
Another life has left
Its vacant place on earth;
Another life has departed
Leaving a place of dearth.
Another life has finished
Its work in the world below;
Another spirit has answered
The summons, "From earth to go".
Another of God's great gifts
He has taken back to him;
Another of God's great followers
Has entered this blissful realm.
That soul in God's presence is living;
That soul enveloped in love
Has taken its white-winged flight
To its Father's Mansion above.
In the Mansion of God in the Heavens,
In the Palace of God in the skies
That soul lives on, aye, forever
That spirit that never dies.

ALUMNAE

Get-together Dinner.

On Friday evening, March 22, the Raleigh Chapter of the East Carolina Teachers College Alumnae sponsored a get-together dinner of the College Alumnae at the Carolina Hotel.

Invocation was offered by Mr. Deal of the College. Mrs. E. H. Spruill, president of the Raleigh Chapter, gave an address of welcome. Mr. L. R. Meadows responded to this in behalf of the visiting alumnae and College faculty.

Mrs. L. W. Rodgers introduced Miss Mamie Jenkins, who gave a message to the alumnae from Miss Bonnie Howard, alumnae president, and Wita Bond, alumnae secretary. Two vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Payton Brown, Supervisor of Music for the Raleigh Public Schools, accompanied by Miss Mabel Thomason at the piano.

Dr. R. H. Wright, principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by Mrs. R. F. Noble. His speech being mainly a plea for a higher and better education, that through the teachers the people may be taught to spend more for education and less for luxuries. He stated that statistics show that only 2.64 per cent of the taxes of the people go for education. He also pointed out the fact that the majority of the people in the prisons today are there because of their lack of educational advantages as children.

Dr. Wright also gave the proposed plan for the enlargement of the College by the appropriation of $283,000 by the past Legislature. This will go toward providing a new Administration Building, a larger and better equipped infirmary, another unit to the Training School, and new classrooms and other improvements in the old Administration Building. Then for the benefit of those who had not visited the College in the past two years, he told of the improvements and enlargements that had been made. He also stated that East Carolina Teachers College had as fine a faculty as any College in North Carolina.

At the close of his speech Mrs. Spruill asked every Alumnae to rise, tell her name, town in which she was living or teaching, and the class in which she graduated. Then the members of the faculty present were asked to rise and give their names. Those present were Dr. R. H. Wright, Mr. L. R. Meadows, Miss Kate Lewis, Miss Miriam McFadyen, now teaching at N. C. C. W., Miss Newell, Mr.

Deal, Mr. M. L. Wright, Dr. R. J. Slay, Miss Hazel Moore, Miss Dora Coats, Miss Brown, and Miss Mamie Jenkins.

The following alumnae were present, Miss Mary Overman, Mrs. Mrs. R. F. Noble, Mrs. John Baker, Miss Nannie Evans, Helen Modlin, Evelyn Loyd, Dayton Lejonard, Mary Outterbridge, Pattie Jenkins, Mrs. Harry Fagan, Zelma Wester, Irene Fleming, Vera and Ann Wester, Gay Albritton, Ethel Southerland, Helen Watson, Mrs. William Harding Jr., Mabel Thomas, Elizabeth Thomas, Betty Fleming, Mrs. Robert Barbee, Stella Howell, Lillie Fogleman, Fannie Bett Brown, Mrs. E. T. Howard, Pattie Edmundson, Mrs. Browning, Mrs. E. H. Spruill, Mrs. Lonnie Rodgers, Mrs. J. M. Newsome, Miss Jeannette Duncan, Clara Lynn, Mildred Herring.

Club Bridge Party

The East Carolina Teachers College Alumnae Club of Rosemary, N. C., gave a bridge party on the evening of March 22 in the Rosemary Winter Garden. Bridge was played at eight tables. Mrs. George L. Haynes won first high score prize. Miss Marjorie Caldwell won second prize and was given two decks of cards. Miss Winifred Beckwith was winner of the third ladies' prize, which was a powder jar. Mr. Ben Isreal, of Weldon, won the gentlemen's prize, which was a cigarette case with cigarettes. Miss Christine Scott won the low prize.

Hooks-Matthews.

Miss Edith Matthews of Clinton and Mr. Oscar Hooks of Fremont were quietly married in Mt. Olive, Wednesday afternoon March 27. Only a few intimate friends and near relatives were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. L. L. Matthews and Mrs. Matthews of Sampson County. She is a graduate of the East Carolina Teachers College at Greenville, N. C., and has been teaching in the Fremont School. The groom is the son of the late Rev. J. C. Hooks of Fremont. He was educated at the University of N. C. and is now in business in Fremont, where the young couple will make their home.

Miss Mary Morton '28, who is teaching in Wilson, N. C., was a visitor at the College on Sunday, March 24. Miss Morton has accepted a position to teach Public School Music in the Wilmington City Schools during the next school year.

Monster Turtle Caught By Farmville Men

Farmville, April 10.—The latest true fish story is an experience related by three of Farmville's most reliable citizens, noted for high regard of truth and their admiration for and practice of veracity, and the writer is inclined to believe it though feeling certain that the catch had in some way escaped from Lenoir county waters during a recent freshet. Anyhow here is the story and the three principals vouch for it and tell it for a fact.

On a recent day D. R. Morgan, jeweler, D. E. Oglesby, banker and Plato Monk, tobacconist, were fishing for chub in Broad Creek. D. R. noticed the scarcity of bait and started fishing for minnows with a roach hook. His companions happened to look up just in time to save him from being pulled from the boat and drowned by a supposed minnow on the other end of the line. After the rescue the minnow turned out to be a huge turtle, the like of which had seldom been seen in these parts. The fishermen grabbed the monster by the tail and made for shore where the three of them managed to get him out of the water and after shooting him three times in the head, cut out the choicest parts, said parts weighing anywhere from 15 to 100 pounds.
