ECTC Is Host To Northeastern Instructors

McElwain, Hankner And Dittmer Named Department Heads

The 18th annual Northeastern District Teachers Association Convention was held at East Carolina Teachers College with twenty-two counties represented.

The convention, held for the purpose of discussing educational problems, was climaxed in the election of next year's officers and departmental heads. N. E. Gresham, superintendent of Edgemore County school, succeeded J. E. Miller, John Small, High School, Washington as president.

Miss Helen McElwain and O. A. Hankner of the college faculty were elected president and secretary, respectively, of the physical education department. A. J. Dittmer is president of the department of music for next year's conference.

After the first general session, Friday morning, departmental meetings were held at which time discussions were led and officers elected.

'I Hate Him!' Explanation Follows

By Madam Lazonga

Between gulps of water and mouthfuls of sea foam candy, I heard a very interesting conversation as girls were sitting around peacefully discussing first one thing and then another. "Boys being the first thing of course, and boys being the other." Our conversation hadn't been "gossiping" very long before Madamoiselle Y. said to Madamoiselle Z. "I'm not in love with 'So-and-so' any more! He makes me sick."

"Oh! Yeah! I don't believe that!"

"Well, I'm not. In fact I hate him!"

And thus the conversation was on. It seemed that three out of the five girls there hated someone they were in love with. Therefore I began to figure—If three out five girls in a group, felt like that, then surely on our campus out of a thousand girls, there would be plenty of others who feel the same way. So here goes!

"Don't walk around saying to yourself, your roommate, or your 'logical' self—that you 'hate him' because he won't ask you for a date, he's indifferent, he doesn't like you, he goes with somebody else—or you have just broken up with him. That's no good. It won't help your ego one drop! In fact it won't even help you dislike him. The very worst stage of lovesickness comes when you start hating the one you really love. Come on girls! Take it on the chin, but don't take it 'lie-ing' down. 'Faint heart ne'er won fair lady!' And hard head ne'er won Romeo. You aren't going to get anywhere finding fault with your 'S. P.' (Secret Passion). Of course there are plenty of hopeless cases! You'll have to write to Dorothy Dix to find out what to do about that. Here's one thing, though that's certain! When you try to 'hate him' or say you 'hate him,' you are in a bad fix. That's a sure sign that you still 'love him'! P. S. This article is backed by actual experience, but is purely fictional! Any resemblance to true experiences is accidental.

During the all-day meeting, which has occupied two days heretofore, a large number of recent graduates of East Carolina Teachers College were seen in attendance.

Survey On ECTC Programs Shows Rigid Opposition

New Angling Angles

By Lydia Piner

Yep — here's another fish story—or have you heard this one?

Behind the post office in a iddy biddy pool
Fim lots of iddy fiddies and some mamama fiddies too.
Bet some of you didn't know it, but there is a pool behind the post office—and it does have fish in it.
This pool was built at least twenty-five years ago as a system for cooling the water for the ice plant. It is approximately five and a half feet deep, thirty feet wide, and contains one hundred pounds of mud crap. Though these fish are not especially edible, it would be a thrill to catch one, for they are from twenty-four to thirty-six inches in length. One of the fish decided to find deeper water this summer and jumped out of the pool. Of course it was killed. However, in spite of the fact that the fish are good jumpers, the high wire fence around the pool is not to keep the fish from jumping out, but to prevent the children's falling in.

Authorities say around fifteen million people will be going fishing this summer—if the fish aren't conscripted with the rest of us. If you like to fish—dig out your hook and line come spring—and join the crowd—but not at the college fish pool.

84 Opposed, 16 Approved Entertainment

Interviews Staged Because Of Recent Controversy

by Clifton Evans

A survey conducted at random among 100 students on the campus showed that 84 were against the type entertainment that is presented to the student body of East Carolina Teachers College while 16 were for them.
This survey was conducted as a result of the controversy that arose in the Student Opinion Column of the Teco Echo in order to get a more thorough sampling of student's attitude toward entertainment.
During the student survey an effort was made to choose students whose views would give a good cross-section of campus opinion. Students interviewed were members of all four classes, including two of the class presidents. Athletes, musicians, dramatists and journalists all were asked for their opinions and the result was decisive—84 to 16 against the entertainments.

Here is what a few students say about the situation:
Bill Merner: "If variety is the spice of life then we're certainly not getting much spice. Why not get someone who can sing something besides classical selections?"
Pauline Aheyounis: "It is the duty of a college in rounding the education of its men and women to take steps toward raising their ideals and standards of appreciation for 'real art.'"
Jean Reid: "The entertainments are boring to say the least."
George Latures: "There's only one good opera company—the Metropolitan—if we can't get that, why have one at all?"
Rosalia Brown: "Enjoyment of a higher entertainment is an important step toward a well-rounded personality."
Rosa Farrior: "Poor consideration for the regards of the student body have been the Entertainment Committee's chief program for the year."
Smut Burks: "Should spend money for good orchestras and have better dances rather than in presenting programs that the students neither understand nor appreciate."

Home Economics Clubs Of State Convene Here

Initiates Ten New Pledges

by Helen Margaret Jenkins

Miss Lois Swain of Salem College was elected president of the State Student Home Economics Club Association by 172 delegates from 25 high schools and five colleges at the concluding session of a two-day meeting held at East Carolina Teachers College, Friday and Saturday, November 22 and 23.

Miss Swain succeeds Miss Agnes Watson of this college. Miss Erma Edwards of Cary High School is the new secretary, and Miss Edith Horsefield, also of Salem College, is the publications representative.
Greetings were extended the delegates by Miss Katherine Holtzclaw, head of the local Home Economics department at the opening session Friday afternoon.
"The Home and National Defense," theme of the convention was discussed by Dr. John Barclay of Wilson. Also at the afternoon session Miss Virginia Ward, assistant supervisor of Home Economics in North Carolina, told of the organization, aims and activities of the National Home Economics Association.
Following this session, a tea was held in the College Home Management House for faculty advisers, and one in the reception rooms of the department.

Grads Return Despite Cold

Despite the promise of a dreary day to come, over 200 alumni of East Carolina Teachers College gathered November 16 to celebrate Homecoming.
During the morning the group met in Austin Auditorium with Miss Estelle McClees, Alumni Secretary, presiding. Speakers on the morning program were Mrs. Elizabeth S. Bennett, president of the state alumni association, and Mrs. Leon Fountain and Mr. George S. Willard, representative alumni. Also on the program was president L. R. Meadows, who made the address of welcome. Mr. Denton Rossell and the Women's Glee club rendered special numbers.
A barbeque luncheon was served in the dining room, cafeteria style. In the afternoon a movie was shown in Austin Auditorium and a tea dance and social gathering was held in the Wright Building from 3:00 to 5:00. Billy Knauff and his orchestra furnished the music.
The day's activities terminated with the football game with High Point College at the Guy Smith stadium at 7:30.
Eighty-two of the visitors spent the night on campus during the week-end.

Alpha Iota Sorority began its observance of rush week with an informal tea held in the Home Economics Department. On this occasion, the new members were presented with the plans and purposes of the club and the benefits derived from membership with the sorority were explained. During initiation week, the pledges were seen wearing colors and signs which proudly bore the name Alpha Iota.
A formal candlelight service brought the initiations to a close and at this time the secrets of the club were revealed to the new members. This service was also held in the Home Economics department where the officers of the club assembled around a table beautifully decorated with American Beauty roses, this being the sorority flower. After an impressive ceremony by candlelight, the roses were distributed among each of the ten new members.
The following girls honored with membership, for their character, personality and high scholastic record as commerce majors are: Carrie Mae Mann, Zora Waller, Katherine Davenport, Dallas Howard, Hilda Tew, Claire Jenkins, Martha Wheelless, Pearl House Audrey Dempsey, and Tommie Lou Corbett.

Yep, Library Is A Busy Place

By Virgil Ward

The busiest place on the campus at night is the main reading room of the library, the James Y. Joyner room. Its twenty-four large tables are usually full to capacity making it necessary to use the upstairs reading room to accommodate the overflow. The center of attraction is the circulation desk behind which five or six of the girls work. They are kept in constant motion passing books across the desk or checking them in.
In the past five years the growth of the library has been greater than in all the twenty-three preceding years. There are now 2 reading rooms, a periodical room, reference room, a text book room, and other rooms used for special purposes. In the past five years the number of volumes has doubled, there now being around 35,000; the card catalog has increased from thirty trays to 120; and the tier of stacks has increased fifty per cent and can now accommodate sixty thousand volumes. Last year, $8,750 was spent for books and $1,000 for binding.
The staff is composed of 3

Noted Writers At Congress

"My trip was unusually interesting and quite profitable," stated Dr. Lucile Turner, recently chosen head of the English department of East Carolina Teachers College, who attended the thirtieth annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English in Chicago, November 21-23.
Dr. Turner reports that among the 3,607 present, besides the representatives from every state in the Union, there were those from Honolulu and China. "It was almost an international council," explained Dr. Turner. "Authors, administrators and supervisors were there in small numbers; high school, college and university teachers were there by the hundreds."
High lights on the programs for the annual luncheon and banquet were outstanding writers of the day: Mark Van Doren, winner of a Pulitzer prize in poetry; Elizabeth Page, who effectively gave an account of the writing of her book The Tree of Liberty; and Louis Bromfield, the novelist.
Such topics as "the gifted pupil," "literature and reading," "drama," "creative writing," "international relations," "journalism," and "the training of teachers of high school English" were discussed at group

Blalock And Rodgers Attend New Jersey Meet

Doris Blalock, president of the Woman's Student Government Association, and Walter Rodgers, president of the Men's Student Government Association, will attend the 16th annual congress of the National Student Federation of America in New Brunswick, New Jersey, December 27-31.

The convention will be held on the campus of the New Jersey College for Women.
As the theme of the convention delegates from colleges throughout the United States will discuss "The Role of Student Government."
Each year East Carolina Teachers College sends the presidents of the self-government organization to the convention in order that they may acquaint themselves with practices used by student government organizations of other colleges and universities in solving problems that arise.

Everyone Had Quite A Scare At 'The Skull'

by Rosalie Brown

Oh! Mama! Why did I ever come to this play! Roommate, we are sho' going to pull our beds together this night. Professor Vorheese is going to raise the dead but you can bet I ain't going to be anywhere near!

These and many other comments could be heard on the nights of November 21-22. After much hard work on the part of the cast, and breathless anticipation of the students, "The Skull" was given. The house was so "packed" that the swooning ladies couldn't even fall over. Instead they remained tightly wedged in their seats, with their closely hovered to, together neighbors holding them up.
Of course you've heard of audiences "reacting". Well—the witnesses of the spine-chilling (literally, too) drama, "The Skull", did some reacting not to be compared with. Some cried. (Janie Eakes, particularly) Others bit their fingernails, lovers locked arms (?), and very effective screams were offered all over the house at appropriate times.
"Soon the great doors will swing open, and they (the departed choir) will come marching down the isles!" If they hadn't been afraid of bumping head-long into "some poor departed soul" I think perhaps quite a few students would have left at that point. But grimely they sat on. Even Louise Park, who, by this time was one perpetual scream.
There's a time and a place for everything, but some people just couldn't see the necessity of that coffin. (By the way that "Smoot", how did you like it?)
I had to have my sweater blocked the next day, Margaret Futrell on one side, and Sally Joyner Davis.

A Big Time Had By All At Carnival

by Criss Humphrey

A bitterly cold night, along with tests galore, put a damper (I hate puns, don't you?) on the Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity Carnival Wednesday night, and discouraged a large number from attending the fun; but taking all into consideration, a rather nice-enough-to-be-comfortable crowd came and seemed to enjoy themselves.
As I wandered across the floor to the other side, I was almost bopped on the head by a foot-ball which was being used as a basketball by a few zealous folks... I got over safely, however, and found three cute entertainments: dart-throwing at a baseball field target; a fortune-teller, whom I discovered later to be Virgil Ward; and a zoo, on the outside of which bore the following sign: "See! Dog Without Legs; a Red Bat; Monkey and Ground-hog!" The monkey turned out to be a mirror (nothing like insulting your customers); the dog—you guessed it—a hot-dog; the red bat, a brickbat; and the ground-hog, a sausage—grr!
Over in the extreme right were Waylan, Jimmie D., Polly P., Margie S. and Red Mc. with a few others dancing to ye ole 'pick', with Jimmie W. doing an Indian War Dance around some couple. At nine o'clock there was a free demonstration show See THE SKULL on Page Four See CARNIVAL on Page Four

Basketball Season Begins After Christmas

Along The Sidelines
With
George Lautares

The E. C. T. C. Pirates, who heretofore have been labeled as "breather" by stronger opponents this year, arose from their slumped complex and bowled over several strong teams in winning the first games of an eight-game schedule. The Pirates lost to State Freshmen, who are now in a tie for the Big Five Freshman title. The WCTC who staged a strong comeback after trailing in the first quarter by 14-0; and High Point in a close 6-0 thriller.

The Pirates this year ran up a total of 143 points against 70 points against their opponents. Only one team was successful in plunging through the Pirates strong defensive line, and that team was State Fresh. The touchdown that spelled defeat for the Pirates, and the key for High Point came on a pass. WCTC threw passes, and pulled every trick in the bag in their victory over Coach John's boys.

The scores:

ECTC	14	Kutztown	6
	40	PJC	0
	18	Wm. & Mary	0
	14	WCTC	25
	0	State Fresh	26
	0	High Point	6
	44	Naval	7

The entire Pirate team is to be complimented on their wonderful record for this season. The work of Craven at end, Young at tackle, and Gianokas at guard, has been consistently good. In the backfield, Chuck McFee, and Wilson Schuerholtz provided guts and brain work that were responsible for several of the Pirate victories.

Basketball practice has started and already Coach Christenbury is whipping his boys in shape for the early practice games that will be played before the Christmas holidays. Newcomers to Pirate basketball will be: Jack Young, Bob Young, George Roberts, Billy Green, and Peterson from Brevard College, and Wilson Schuerholtz of Maryland. Several of the players from last year's squad are now out for drills, and others are expected to report later.

It will soon be time to vote on the most valuable Pirate basketball player. The winner of this honor will receive the Fox Trophy, an annual award, given by Mr. M. P. Fox of Greenville. Chuck McFee, Wilson Schuerholtz, Jack Young and Jimmy Gianokas have been the Pirate Standouts of this season and one of these boys is predicted to win the award. Last year, the winner was Mervin Frazelle who played end for the Pirates.

The ruling that will prevent several Pirate basketball players from participating in varsity sports is a stipulation of the Federal NYA Act. In short, the ruling states, "It is a Federal offense for any college student receiving pay for NYA services to participate in any form of college varsity athletics." As said in a previous issue of this paper, the ruling will prevent some of the boys who were lettermen on last year's basketball team from playing on the Pirate basketball team this year.

The rehearsals for the Varsity Club play have been postponed until after the Christmas holidays. Already Director Britton is looking for talent to fill the many good roles in the play. Britton's latest production, The Skull, was well received by large audience.

The girl's volley ball league have begun practice and soon play will begin. Practices have been held at night in the gym; and after the Thanksgiving holidays, league play will be in full swing. The program is under the direction of Miss McElwain, Athletic Director.

Several of ECTC's outstanding athletics have asked me to mention in this column something about the men's shower room. Every boy in ECTC who has used the shower room, is aware of its condition. If East Carolina Teachers College were a small school, with a paucity of funds for such improvements then the "shower" shower room that we have would be excusable. But with over twelve hundred students, a magnificent gymnasium and science building, and a beautiful campus such as we have, it is rather disconcerting and deceiving to have such a "Black Room" on the campus. Since we do have a beautiful gym, why not have a shower room that will enhance that beauty, and not detract from it. It might be well if some of the college heads who are interested in varsity and intramural activities were to take a look at that shower room.

Blocking Trophy To Be Presented In Near Future

Award To Go To Best Blocker On '40 Eleven

Votes have been pouring in fast for the "Best Blocker" award. The trophy, which is given each year by Mr. M. P. Fox of the Fox Mutual Life Insurance Co., will be presented to the football player on the E. C. T. C. team of 1940 that is voted the best blocker by the townspeople. The voters have been casting their ballots through the Daily Reflector.

Mr. Fox has presented a similar trophy during the last two years. In those two years, however, the trophy went to the best all-round player; while blocking ability, along with sportsmanship, is the only requirement for the award this year.

Bill Shelton, of Danville, Va., received the trophy in 1938; and Mervin Frazelle received it in 1940. Frazelle is a senior at E. C. T. C. this year, and Shelton is teaching in the Charles L. Coon high school in Wilson.

The voting will cease at noon Friday and the Award will be made at a suitable occasion next week. The original plan was to present the trophy at halftime of the final home game of the Pirates but this could not be done, due to unforeseen circumstances.

The voting has been plentiful and the race promises to be a close one with several boys receiving many votes. An award will also be given to the Greenville high school griddier by Mr. Fox. Mr. Fox hopes to stimulate interest in football by sponsoring this contest. The Greenville football fans have cooperated fully with the balloting and the interest has been unbounded.

According to an announcement made this week, the basketball schedule for the 1940 season at East Carolina Teachers College likely will be completed during the Christmas holidays.

Popular Athlete Receives Diploma This Quarter

By George Lautares
At the end of this quarter, Donald Batrik Brock will receive his diploma and one of the most popular boys ever to attend ECTC will bid his Alma Mater adieu.

Donald first came to ECTC in 1938 and immediately became a campus celebrity by starring on the Pirate basketball team. The following year, he again led the Pirates through another successful basketball season by leading his team in scoring.

Brock began his basketball career at Trenton high school after graduation he attended State college where he played one year of varsity ball under Coach Doc Sermons. At the end of his sophomore year, he accepted a job with the Unique Furniture Company in Winston-Salem. That was the year that Unique went to Denver and played in the National Semi-Pro Tournament.

Since he has been a part time resident of Eastern North Carolina, Brock has become well-known to all basketball players and coaches in this section. He has participated in many tournaments in surrounding towns and it is not unusual for Brock to return home from a tournament with more than his share of the trophies.

Notice!
Men's Intramurals in Volleyball will begin immediately after Christmas. Sheets for signing up are on the bulletin boards in the Post Office and in the gym. All men interested in Volleyball are asked to sign up now so the schedule can be made out and play started immediately after the holidays. Volleyball will count points toward an intramural award.

Joe Williams Improving

Joe Williams is improving after having been in two automobile accidents within two weeks' time. He was on his way to the ECTC-Guilford game when the automobile in which he was riding turned over near Raleigh. He suffered severe back injuries but was out of school only a few days.

Friday night, two weeks after his first accident, he was on his way to the Greenville-Rocky Mount high school game at Rocky Mount when another accident occurred wrecking the car badly. Joe received a deep cut across his face which required 15 stitches. The other boys in the car escaped with minor injuries. Joe is improving now but he will not be able to be back in school this quarter.

Pirates Outclass Apprectice School In Grid Finale

East Carolina's Pirates finished their football season here on the college field November 22, with a swashbuckling 44-7 defeat to the Naval Apprectice School of Norfolk.

The initial Pirate score came with less than three minutes of the game gone, with acting captain Gianokas falling on a fumble kicked on the Tars' three-yard line and Wilson Schuerholtz bucking it across two plays later, McFee adding the point from placement.

From that point on it was a scoring parade with the Pirates crossing the Tars' goal once more in the first quarter, twice in the second, once in the third, and twice again in the final period. Schuerholtz crossed the double lines three times during the game, with McFee and Roberts adding two si-pointers each. The two extra points chalked up came from the toe of McFee.

While McFee and Schuerholtz were the offensive giants of the game that was to be expected by their past performances, the surprise package came in the play of Stuart Tripp and George Roberts.

Prospects Good For Successful 1941 Court Five

Coach John Christenbury has begun regular practice with the basketball hopefuls of E. C. T. C. Since the Thanksgiving holidays the squad has been holding daily workouts and will be in top shape when the schedule begins after Christmas.

Christenbury has not chosen a definite first team as yet and is alternating the different boys in hopes of finding a smooth-working five that will give a good account of itself on the court.

Standouts in the practices have been George Roberts, elongated center; Wilson Schuerholtz, shifty guard; Peterson, Simpson, Hinton, Bob Young and several other contestants for a starting berth on the first-string five.

Donald Brock and George Lautares, mainstays on the team last year, will be sorely missed this year. Brock graduates Christmas and Lautares did not report for practice this year.

The Fifteen Chapter

A group of East Carolina Teachers College alumni living in Kinston and vicinity met Thursday evening, November 21, and organized a local alumni chapter. Miss Hannah Turnage served as temporary chairman. The following officers were elected for the year: Mrs. Ned Carwile (Frances Harvey), president; Miss Hannah Turnage, vice-president; Mrs. P. E. Shoulers (Leta Williams), secretary-treasurer; Gladys Swindell, reporter. The chapter will meet four times a year. Miss Emma L. Hooper, Miss Mamie E. Jenkins, and Miss Estelle McClees assisted with the organization.

Bridge Tournament

At the Woman's Club, on Friday evening, November 15, members of the Raleigh chapter of the East Carolina Teachers College Alumni Association sponsored their annual bridge tournament. The following committees served to make plans for the event: Mrs. O. K. Joyner (Christine Vick) and Mrs. J. L. Marcom (Augusta Woodward), ways and means; Mrs. Henry Chadwick (Bronnie Estelle Cogdell), publicity; Mrs. J. C. Holland (Alla May Jordan), Mrs. R. J. Ray, Mrs. John Terry (Estelle Chamblee), and Miss Alice Penny, prizes; Mrs. J. G. Weaver (Martha Sloan Stewart), Mrs. J. L. James (Walter Ross), Mrs. J. L. Marcom, Mrs. E. H. Browning (Fannie Elizabeth Brown) and Miss Mildred Herring, decorations; Mrs. C. H. Baker (Carrie Mae Ward), Mrs. O. K. Joyner, and Miss Ruby Garris, tables; Mrs. R. F. Noble (Mamie Cutler) and Mrs. William Gravely (Margaret Olivia Tyson), reservations. Mrs. R. F. Noble is president of the Raleigh chapter.

Charlotte

The Charlotte chapter of the Alumni Association held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. J. R. Harris (Vera Miller). Mrs. B. M. Bennett (Elizabeth Stewart) visited with the group and discussed plans for the chapter's program for the year. The November meeting was held with Mrs. H. G. Bradford (Janie Staton) at her country home near Davidson. The secretary, Mrs. H. J. Steagall (Roslyn Satterwhite) reports that the chapter is gradually increasing its attendance.

High Point

Members of the High Point Chapter of the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College held their November meeting with the president, Miss Ruth Modlin, 212 Lindsay Street. Miss Betty Fleming served as hostess along with Miss Modlin. Plans were made for the second half of the year.

Rocky Mount

Mrs. B. M. Bennett (Elizabeth Stewart) was the guest of the Rocky Mount alumni group for its November meeting which was held Monday evening, November 18, at the home of Mrs. F. L. Greathouse (Eula Proctor). Mr. Bennett spoke to the chapter members on several topics: the building program of the College, the activities of local chapters, the recent talks made on Homecoming by two of the former students, and the book of poems written by Mrs. Braxton Craven Page (Gertrude Cook) which has recently been published. Mrs. R. M. Taylor (Ethel Shelton) is president of the Rocky Mount chapter.

Ayden

Members of the Ayden chapter of the East Carolina Teachers College Alumni Association met in November with Mrs. S. H. Underwood (Viola Gaskins). Mrs. Lee McLawhorn served as associate hostess. Mrs. Staton Ross (Josephine Dixon) presided over the business part of the meeting. Hostesses and places for the next three meetings were arranged. Several contests proved to be much fun. Miss Lela B. Stancliff and Mrs. James Ray Pittman (Marie Moore) were winners in these. The December meeting will be held with Mrs. Seth Muse (Dorothy Crumpler).

dining hall. Later in the evening they attended the Chi Pi Players' production, "The Skull".

The second general session opened Saturday morning with Miss Watson presiding. After a general business session, led by Mrs. Mabel O. Cotten, Student Club Adviser, who brought news of the state association, members of the Greenville High School presented a play, written by their advisor. A movie "White Lake Camp Life" followed.

Group meetings were held with Miss Frances McGregor, Assistant 4-H Club Supervisor, leading the discussion of the high school delegates. "Loyalty, Americanism, conversation and production of foods, and production of Community Moral"
