DEDICATION

The Teco Echo is very proud to dedicate this issue to the alumni now in the armed services of the United States. Through the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College, sending the paper has been made possible by the work the association has done in securing the list of names which appears in this issue. This list is as complete as it was possible to make it up to date.

Anyone who can supply names and addresses of other alumni, or corrections for addresses listed will please send the information to the Teco Echo, the Alumni office or Miss Maria D. Graham of the college.

Jessica T. Biddle Newest Addition To ECTC Faculty

Mrs. Jessica T. Biddle, a charming southerner, is the newest addition to the home economics teacher list and she is well-established in the foods department where she teaches classes.

Mrs. Biddle is a native of New Bern. Before coming here she taught home economics in the public high schools of Craven county, did social service teaching in Philadelphia and taught in the University of Maryland summer session.

She attended Beaver College, Jenkintown, Pennsylvania, East Carolina Teachers College and the University of Maryland.

Replacing Miss Lottie Simmons, Mrs. Biddle instructs classes in foods and is head of the Training school cafeteria.

Besides her classroom and extra curricular work, Mrs. Biddle finds time to indulge in interesting hobbies, collecting poetry, glass, and crystal. Although her collections are not very large, she says she has several very interesting pieces.

Paula Ross Head Third Frosh 'Y'

Paula Ross was elected president of the freshman "Y" cabinet at a meeting in the hut on Tuesday, November 23. Electing individual officers and holding separate meetings has been a part of the "Y" program for the past two years. Other freshmen elected to serve on the cabinet for this year are Mary Warren, vice-president; Eleanor Booth, secretary; and Bessie Council, treasurer.

Freshman YWCA members meet twice a month for their regular meetings and once a month at the whole YWCA service.

Ballard, Cox Win Certificate At Dixie Debate Tournament

Lt. O. D. Andrews

Lt. John Johnston

Second Lieutenant O. D. Andrews, who was killed in line of duty, July, 1942, when the bomber, on which he was navigator, crashed somewhere in the United States. He was from Rocky Mount and attended State college for two years before coming to ECTC.

Second Lieutenant John Johnston, of Greenville, was killed in action in the New Guinea area, on November 30, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. F. V. Johnston, Wednesday night. He was 22 years old, a graduate of Greenville high school, and a former student of ECTC. He received his civilian pilot license at the local airport prior to entering the army in October, 1941. He received his wings and commission in the Army Air Force at Speer Field, Moultrie, Ga., on May 20 this year and was instructor at an air base in Florida before being sent overseas for duty.

Carlyle Cox and Jennings Ballard composed an E. C. T. C. debate team which achieved a rating surpassed by that of only three other teams at the Dixie Strawberry Leaf debate tournament held in Charlotte December 2-5.

Having won this rating by overcoming five of their seven opponents, the debaters were awarded at the closing session of the meet a certificate of merit which has been placed on display in Dr. M. N. Posey's classroom. Among the teams defeated by E. C. T. C. men were teams from the University of North Carolina, the University of Alabama, Davidson College, and Wingate College. A team from the Wofford College and the girls team from Alabama won over the local team.

Three teams which ranked ahead of the East Carolina debaters were: a team from Duke University, which by winning all of its scheduled debates became the champion among the boys' teams, the top girls' team from Lenoir Rhyne College, and the girls from Alabama.

William J. Baird To Speak Here January 11-13

William Jesse Baird, dean of Berea College, Kentucky, on leave of absence from his college, and serving as a "Traveling Associate" with the Danforth Foundation, of St. Louis, Missouri, will visit the E. C. T. C. campus January 11, 12, and 13, to study what is being done by religious groups on the campus and to share with them what he has learned from his contacts with such groups in other colleges and a long and rich experience.

Tentative plans for Dean Baird's visit here include a meeting with the cabinets of the YWCA and YMCA and the officers of the various church groups, a meeting with all interested students who occupy positions of leadership on the campus, a talk at chapel, and a special service on Tuesday night for everyone. Dean Baird is interested in discussing ideas and plans with any groups on the campus, students or teachers, who are striving to help the campus community "find a richer way of life."

Whitehurst And Wilkerson Attend Methodist Meet

Patsy Whitehurst and Edith Wilkerson represented the Methodist student association at the third annual Inter-Racial state conference held in Durham on November 20 through 22. "Adventures in Applied Christianity" was the theme of the conference.

Registration for the conference began at 4:00 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

In the afternoon session discussion groups were continued, and at the close of the session discussion leaders made reports to the combined sessions.

On Saturday night delegates were entertained in Saint Phillips Episcopal parish house at a buffet supper. Marion Gunn, a student from Livingston college for Negroes acted as toastmistress.

After supper Miss Gunn introduced Dr. Frank Hickman, Dean of Duke university chapel, who spoke on "The Student in War Time."

Closing the conference, Dr. Hart brought a message Sunday morning on "Tensions as Main Springs." Special music for the service was furnished by the North Carolina college choir.

Campus Donates $134 To W. S. S. F.

One hundred and thirty-four dollars was the amount of the check recently mailed to the World Student Service Fund by Helen Stone, treasurer of the WSSF Drive. The drive started November 20 and lasted through November 28, sponsored by the YWCA and the YMCA.

Special collections were taken up after chapel and the Thanksgiving service. During the middle of the drive week the WAA sponsored "Play Night". All entertainments cost one cent and 4000 pennies were on hand for change. Sixty-six dollars and sixteen cents were taken in at the "Play Night". See W. S. S. F. on Page Four

Tableaux And Xmas Music Program For Sunday Night

E. A. Poe Society Host For Dance Last Saturday

Sponsoring the first quarterly college dance this year, the Poe Society played host to approximately a thousand dancers Saturday evening, December 5.

Decorations carried out a Christmas theme. A large Christmas tree stood in the center of the floor decorated, and with packages and candles underneath. Stockings hung from the basketball goals, and St. Nick rode across the curtain behind the orchestra. Stars were shining from the curtain, also. Lighting the candles under the tree was part of the figure ceremony which ended in the group forming a star.

Billy Knauff and his orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. Sponsors for the dance were: Anne Poythress, Burchie Smith, Mary Windley, Margaret Pugh Harden, Mary Long Ford, and Anne Gilliam.

Instrumental in the carrying out of the society's plans were the following committee chairmen: Figure committee, Camille Jernigan; Decoration committee, Mary Louise Wallace; Refreshments, Bessie Council; Invitation committee, Hazel Dale Jones; Property committee, Martha Jefferson.

"This year's program is expected to be comparable with last year's efforts," states Mr. A. L. Dittmer of the program of Christmas music with artistic tableaux to be presented by the music department Sunday night, December 13.

For quite a number of years Miss Gussie Kuykendall has directed the Ladies glee club in a recital of Christmas music. This year Miss Kuykendall will be unable to direct her group in their part of the program Sunday night, having been called away from the campus for the remainder of the quarter. Mr. A. L. Dittmer will direct the music for the program which will be offered by the College choir, glee club, and orchestra. Bessie Fay Hunt will be the reader. Solos will be taken by Jean Abeyounis and Morris Flow from the glee club, Mary Alice Charlton and Donald Perry from the choir.

Two years ago the tableau was first introduced by the choir and orchestra. Last year the program was given for two nights, but in compliance with the gas rationing there will be only one program this year. A capacity of both students and townspeople is expected to be present for the program.

Addresses Of Service Alumni Gathered By Association

Negro Spirituals Sung At Vespers By Marine Choir

Chaplain Phil H. Grice, and the 51st Composite Defense Battalion Choir of New River Marine Barracks, conducted the service at the college YWCA and YWCA vesper hour Sunday, December 6. Chaplain Grice spoke for a time on "What it Means to be a Christian." Before and after the talk, the choir sang groups of negro spirituals.

In his talk, Chaplain Grice went back to the Bible for an answer to his question, and recalled to the audience that the Bible calls Christians the "salt of the earth," "the light of the world," and the "brandies of the vine." "One thing these have in common," he said, "is they are used up in making their contributions to life, and Christians are truly like Christ only when they realize that he who loses his life in service... See Vespers on Page Four

YW, YM Present Xmas Program

Contributing to the Christmas spirit on the campus, for many years the YMCA and the YWCA have had a white gift service on Sunday night. Last year the student body received this program in assembly with such enthusiasm that it was given again last Tuesday in chapel Bessie Fay Hunt headed the committee composed of members of the two "Y" cabinets which planned and arranged the program.

At the beginning of the program the curtain was drawn to reveal the manger scene with Helen Stone as Mary and Ed Brown as Joseph. Dorothea Massey accompanied at the piano a quartet singing "Silent Night." Singing the quartet were Jean Abeyounis, Jim White, Bobby Pritchard and Donald Perry, all of the music department. Bessie Fay Hunt was the reader.

Campus organizations were represented by students who came to the manger scene to bring their gifts. Representing the various organizations with their gifts were: Samuel Crandell from the YMCA offering worship, Estelle Davis from the WSGA offering faith, Evan Griffin from the MSGA offering hope, Mozelle Hooks from the freshman class offering courage, Pat Edwards from the sophomore class offering love, Dave Owens from the junior class offering unselfishness. Stage Crew And Musicians Working With 'Martha'

Musical as well as stage rehearsals for the opera "Martha" have been in progress for the past month. Although the opera will not be given until February such advance rehearsals are made necessary by the task at hand. "Producing an opera and producing a play are undertakings of a somewhat different order," states Denton Rossell who is handling the production. "An opera not only requires the memorization of the text and the working out of stage action but requires the memorization of difficult music and the coordination of action to the beats of that music."

Miss Ellen Caldwell, teacher in the mathematics department who has had training in dramatics at Randolph Macon and Columbia University, is assisting Mr. Rossell with the stage movements. Miss Caldwell had produced plays at Donelson High School in Nashville, Tenn. before coming to East Carolina Teachers College.

Ophelia Hooks and Dave Owens, who have competently managed the staging of several plays here, have been appointed stage managers.

Hazel Harris is supervising the construction of the sets and will also serve as property mistress.

Ben Miller, campus electrician, will have charge of the lighting effects.

Rehearsals of the chorus music, which will be supplied by the Ladies glee club and the Choir under the direction of Miss Kuykendall and Mr. Dittmer, will commence immediately after the Christmas holidays.

Beli-Java Dancers Perform At ECTC

Devi Dja and her Bali-Java Dancers, widely-acclaimed by critics to be the "most exciting entertainment ever brought to America," presented an exotic program of South Sea dancing art in the Wright Auditorium, Tuesday night, December 8.

Perhaps the most unusual entertainment ever witnessed in Wright Auditorium, Devi Dja and her dancing ensemble brought to the E. C. T. C. audience the native dances, costumes, and music of Bali, Java, and Sumatra. Included in the varied program of numbers were many of the jealously guarded dances of their native islands. To give the program greater interest Devi Dja's company included a small band of instrumentalists, who through the use of archaic instruments brought the music of Java to life on the Wright stage.

This performance is among the first of its kind in the United States, Devi Dja and her company having just arrived in America a short time ago after a successful tour of Europe.

With the new world of dance and music, the South Sea Islanders brought gorgeous costumes, noted for their richness of color and their dazzling contrast. The stage was free of setting, lending the entire space to the dancers and the performance of their exotic art.

How Resourceful Are You?

Audiences that wiggle, squirm, whisper, and shuffle their feet are thorns in anybody's speech. When a speaker prepares a talk it is a matter of common courtesy for the audience to be quiet and attentive. Students here at E. C. T. C. have on several occasions been rude to performers on the stage. Sometimes it was an entertainment, other times in assembly. Whatever the place and whatever the cause, it is time an analysis was made to find some means of exterminating this campus menace.

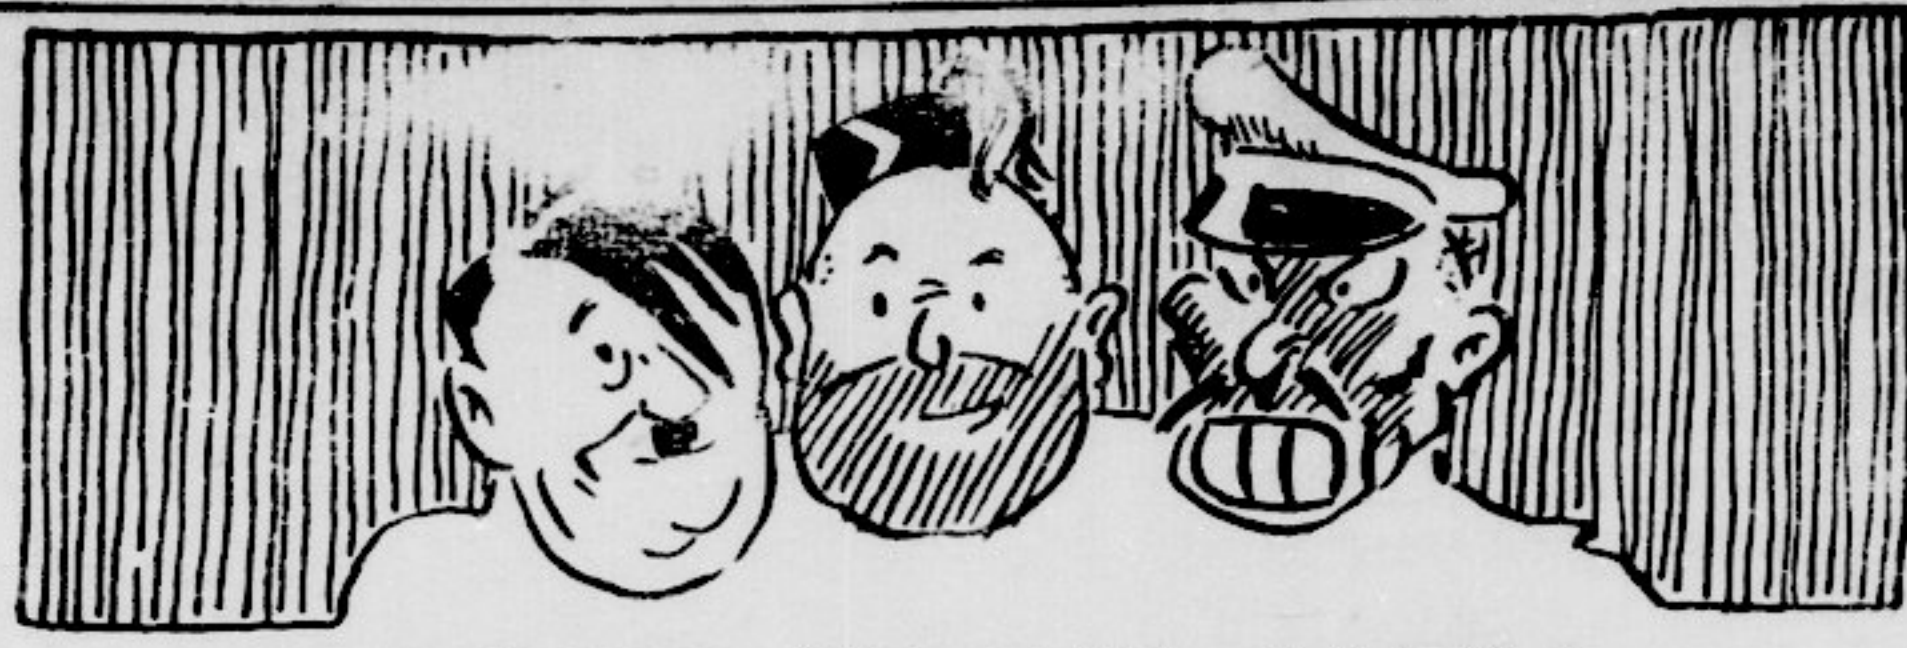

People who can not sit through any entertainment, program, or service with patience—if not attention—are evidently immature. They are shallow and their attitudes show they have little resource within themselves. Whether a person is bored or not by what is going on before them, they should always be able to retire within themselves and either enjoy some fancy of their past, or plan for some future event. The next time a program is presented to the student body, in assembly or elsewhere, it might prove worthwhile for the students to see how resourceful they are, should the program become tiresome or boring.

Today Or Two Years! Which Is Your Choice?

One year since Pear Harbor, and still part of America acts like Sleeping Beauty waiting for the prince to come to the rescue. Fairy tales turn out fine, but those who write the wars are not so merciful.

This is everybody's war. Gone are the days when the gallant knight went out to battle with sword in hand to fight for the swooning maiden. This is the women's war as well as the men's. It is energy and brains which is needed. A woman that is strong and alert belongs. Her hands are needed to do the tedious things in war work that they once did at home. It is up to everyone to decide where they belong. In some cases, Uncle Sam has to decide. But Uncle Sam has given you a year to decide in. Some people feel that it is their duty to finish some job they already have started, particularly school. Who knows, maybe they should? But how much good is the man or woman going to do that goes to officers training school, or into defense work, two or three years from now? The most pessimistic person has reasons to believe the war will be over before those fellows will have a chance to finish training. Today is the time when men are needed. Today is the time when men, boys who a year ago were right here on this campus, are starving, fighting, and dying. Not such a cheerful picture appears when we stop to think what would happen if the shipyards, airplane factories and other essential industries decided to wait two years to go on with their job.

Youth has a great problem today, and no one can solve it except them. The answer lies in the heart. We must do what we think is right, and then stick to it, without illusions of grandeur or reward. Everyone who wants to share the inevitable peace to come should want to share in the bringing about of it. We didn't want this war, we don't want to fight; but it is too late for that now. We have a war. A long, hard, and bitter war. No true American can close his mind to it now and say, "I just won't think about it." You must think about it! Start thinking. Are you living on borrowed time,

What Other Colleges Are Doing

By Associated Collegiate Press

Brunets who dance well and are good conversationalists are the ideal date, according to the applications received by the Independent Women's association dating bureau at Pennsylvania State college.

Girls should not pay too much attention to advice to be a good listener, it was disclosed. The men defined a good conversationalist as one between a constant chatterer and an unaltered listener.

Of 79 male applicants, 21 rated conversational ability as essential, 17 demanded good dancers, 17 requested brunet dates, 16 voted for slenderness, 14 asked for a talkative date, 13 said the date should not be too quiet, 12 objected to too much makeup, and 10 condemned snobbishness.

Only seven votes each were given to beauty, a sense of humor and intelligence; five favored good figures and five "a reasonable amount of reserve;" four ruled out smoking and two vetoed wearing glasses. Three voted for blonds and two for red-heads.

Coed applicants rated height as a virtue, with 26 of the 64 specifying it. Ten objected to conceit, three to drinking, one to cigars, and one to glasses.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(ACP)—Physical conditioning is combined with practical training in woodcraft in a course being given at the University of Michigan by the school of forestry and the department of physical education and athletics.

Through field trips, seminars and instruction in wrestling holds and judo blows, the course is designed to help students acquire sound judgment in coping with situations encountered in out-of-door life. The knowledge thus gained is useful to the student whether he serves in the armed forces or joins field expeditions to any part of the globe.

Fundamentals of out-of-door life are stressed with emphasis on preparation of nourishing meals, proper technique of setting up camp, how to detect edible plants and catch wild animals which may be eaten in emergencies, and sufficient knowledge of scouting to enable students to keep on a proper course through use of the compass, landmarks, rough maps and bearings taken on the sun and stars.

Safe ways of crossing bottomless muskegs and bogs, proper handling of canoes, small boat and rafts plus training in protection against injuries, disease, insects and reptiles are important features of the course. Self-defense and speedy ways of dispatching an adversary are learned from wrestling and judo.

The course developed from a non-credit seminar on personal care in the field given for forestry students by Dr. Samuel A. Graham and Dr. Earl C. O'Roke and a series of practical field exercises offered experimentally in the spring semester of the 1941-42 school year. With the advent of compulsory physical conditioning for all men students.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—(ACP)—"Here's hoping this gets to Dad in the form of a bomb or part of a plane, because he will know what to do with it," William H. Kenney said as he added to the scrap pile on the University of Cincinnati campus.

His father is Major General George C. Kenney, in command of the United Nations' air forces in the southwest Pacific.

Young Kenney, pre-medical student, has been busy with scrap collecting. The university's pile to date weighs more than 150,000 pounds.

Crawfordsville, Ind.—(ACP)—Fourteen Wabash college seniors recently spent a week at the Shades, 15 miles southwest of Crawfordsville, inaugurating the fall session of senior study camps.

Discussions of topics relative to their courses and interests had been planned by a committee of the seniors. Guest speakers took part in informal evening discussions.

WASH.—(ACP)—The women's service corps, newly organized military class for co-eds, walked off with the honors at the final ROTC dress parade of the fall semester, competing with men.

Making their first appearance—wearing raincoats and saddle shoes and anklets because their uniforms hadn't yet arrived—the 73 girls now training in the corps scored 52 out of a possible 60 points.

Units were graded on halting and dressing on the line when first coming on the drill field, steadiness in ranks, alignment of companies while passing in review and keeping in step.

In winning the parade, the WSC's instructed by Lieutenant Richard Ellis out-pointed one signal company, four engineer companies and nine infantry companies.

Merry Christmas

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all the students and administration. May this year hold some of the joys known on other Christmases, and bring a new realization of the true Christmas spirit.

—The Staff.

To The Editor

It seems that finally at least a small portion of the members of the student body of East Carolina Teachers College has awakened to the fact that there is a foreign influence existing in the administration of the affairs of the Student government.

There is no reason whatsoever, as I see it, why the students themselves should not be allowed to administer their affairs unmolested by outside influences, through a properly set-up and properly functioning Student government association. Yet under the present set-up many privileges which I feel rightfully belong to the students are actually not present, but are controlled by persons other than representatives of the students.

Not as a major objection, but only to cite an example of this, I refer you to the form of the off-campus permit as printed on page 18 of the current handbook. Why, may I ask, when a student conforms to all the regulations of the college and has the written consent of her parents, should she be required to secure further permission to spend a week-end off campus?

My idea of college is that it is a place for the training and development of an individual's mental capacities to prepare them to become the social, intellectual, and religious leaders of the future.

Aren't the intellectual capacities of the students of E. C. T. C. properly developed to the extent that they are capable of evaluating situations and choosing for themselves the course of action to follow which will be most beneficial to their intellectual, educational, and social development? Or do they have to go back to the practice, commonly associated only with youths of the grammar school age, of letting someone else make their choices in the course of action to take in matters which may be of vital importance to the future life of that individual?

Let's get awake fellow students and try to create democratic and social conditions here on the campus which conform with those existing in our homes, communities, and state at large.

Let's formulate a plan for a student government here at our college which will be a credit and honor to us as individuals and to the institution itself.

I am aware of the fact that most students are unwilling to have their name definitely linked as leaders in any movement toward the transplanting of powers rightfully belonging to the students but not exercised by them to its rightful position, namely the Student government for fear the remainder of their stay here will be made both unpleasant and difficult. Let's all get together and present a united front in an effort to get what is rightfully ours.

The men students here are all confronted with the situation of having to go to the battle fronts of the world to fight in a war which is termed by our national leaders as a war for the preservation of the democratic principles in the world. Are we going to be forced to fight supposedly for in this public institution of our state? Permore enthusiasm in our war effort when we see the actual existence of those principles, for which we are supposedly fighting.

You will always find me ready to cooperate with and work to the limit of my abilities with any organized movement aimed at securing for the students conditions allowing the democratic functions of student affairs by the students through a properly Student government association.

How about it students, divided and dominated or united and democratic?
—Leon R. Sparrow.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

BY JACK EDWARDS

For the past three years Jennings Ballard has been an outstanding student on this campus. Jennings, who is from Alexis, transferred to E. C. T. C. from Brevard during his sophomore year.

Since his arrival here, Jennings has been especially outstanding for his speaking ability. During the past two years, he has been on the debating team of the Jarvis Forensic club. Last week he was one of the two representatives who won third place at the Dixie Strawberry leaf tournament.

For the last two years Jennings has represented the YDC at the State Student Legislature in Raleigh. Last year he was appointed the Majority leader for the House. He was president of the Jarvis Forensic club during his junior year. Also, that year he was a member of the MSGA and an associate editor of the Teco Echo. He has been an active member of the YWCA and the YDC for the past three years.

When quizzed about his course of study, Jennings replied, "My majors are English and Social Science, but I minor in music as my hobby." He gave as his two favorite spots on the campus Flaming Hall and the campus lake.

Jennings is very fond of popular music, but he likes symphonies better. His favorite singing band is Glenn Miller and for sweet music he says he prefers Guy Lombardo. As for symphonic music, he favors the Philadelphia and CBS symphonies.

After finishing practicing teaching this quarter, Jennings expects to go into active service. He is now in the Naval Reserve.

PARADE OF OPINION

By Associated Collegiate Press

Health, foundation of the nation, will demand the most trained experts after the war, asserts E. E. Crabb, president of Investors Syndicate, in reporting on predictions of 346 American colleges, technical schools and universities.

"Nearly one of every three predictions by American educators on post-war demands for trained experts, perhaps reflecting the maxim, 'health alone is victory', forecast health or allied activities," reports Crabb. "Over a fifth of the replies mentioned business or associated fields. Natural sciences received 18.4 per cent, other professions 13.2 per cent, social work 6.4 per cent, miscellaneous experts 3.6 per cent, and government specialists 3.4 per cent of the total mentions.

"Ten occupations accounted for 72.36 per cent of the total mentions in the list of 65 specific types of experts. The number of times such experts were mentioned and their percentages to the total follow: doctors 118, or 11.6 per cent; engineers 104, or 10.2 per cent; foreign trade specialists 99, or 9.7 per cent; teachers 98, or 9.7 per cent; nutritionists and social workers each 54, or 5.3 per cent; occupational therapists 46, or 4.5 per cent; dentists 37, or 3.5 per cent; economists 33, or 3.2 per cent; and business administrators 31, or 3 per cent."

A summary of predictions on demands for trained experts, after victory and peace, with co-educational, men's, and women's schools combined, by groups, follow:

| GROUP | Mentions | % To Total |
|---------------------|----------|------------|
| Health | 334 | 32.8 |
| Business | 228 | 22.4 |
| Natural Sciences | 188 | 18.4 |
| "Other" professions | 132 | 13.0 |
| Social Workers | 65 | 5.4 |
| Miscellaneous | 36 | 3.6 |
| Government | 34 | 3.4 |
| Total Mentions | 1,017 | |

"What trained experts will be most in demand after the war?" the nation's higher educational institutions were asked. Three hundred forty-six schools—261 co-educational, 54 women's and 31 men's—replied, many of them mentioning more than one type of experts in their aggregate of 1,071 mentions.

Doctors led the list in both co-educational and men's colleges. Teachers headed the list in women's schools. Engineers came second in both co-educational and men's universities, while nutritionists held that place in women's institutions. Foreign trade ranked third in both co-educational and men's faculties, though sixth in women's colleges. Medical technologists took third place in schools exclusively for women.

Doctors received 15, or 16.1 per cent of the 93 mentions predicted by exclusively men's schools.

Fashion Writer

Holding the most unique and interesting position on the campus, Mary Sue Moore has the distinction of being E. C. T. C.'s first campus representative on the College board of Mademoiselle, popular fashion magazine.

Interested in a career of fashion designing, Mary Sue decided that being a campus representative to Mademoiselle might offer good experience in the field in which she is most interested as well as being fun.

Early this fall Mary Sue wrote to the editor of Mademoiselle inquiring how she might become a campus representative. Her first assignment, which was also an application, "Fashions at East Carolina Teachers College" landed her the coveted position.

Mary Sue is working hard to become one of the fourteen guest editors who, with the regular magazine staff, put out the college issue of Mademoiselle each fall. The best campus representatives of the year are chosen as guest editors.

Campus representatives have distinct duties. First, they must keep the college board posted on news of campus fads and fashions of their respective campuses. They must fill assignments given by the board.

These assignments are on campus life, activities, clothes, fads, and fashions. Each assignment is graded and evaluated by the Mademoiselle staff. Assignments meriting it are published. This is the basis on which guest editors are chosen.

The fourteen guest editors for next college issue will spend the month of June in New York planning and editing the new college issue.

Mary Sue has been interested in costuming as long as she can remember. As a child she drew clothes for paper dolls and made doll clothes. She joined the Chi Pi Players for the opportunity to work with costumes. She has been wardrobe mistress of many of the successful Chi Pi plays.

Mary Sue became a member of the Teco Echo staff her freshman year and was elected to serve as an associate editor for this year. Because of her ability to put fashions into words, she was assigned the fashion column Bit O' Fashion, and writes under the name Sue. She is a home economics major and hails from Greenville.

After being held to a 14-14 halftime tie, Atlantic Christian College's Bulldogs rolled on to a decisive 42-22 victory over the ECTC Pirates in the season's opener last Friday night.

Eight Compete For Table Tennis Championship

Eight of East Carolina's best table tennis players will clash in the fourth and fifth rounds of the annual championship tournament next week.

Thirty-two boys entered the tournament, and eight have been eliminated in each of the first three rounds played last week.

In the final rounds Bob Young is favored to defeat Jack Edwards, Wiley Brown to top Russell Rogerson and Doug Jones to win over Bill Council. The Frank Coiner-Brant Waters games is a toss-up.

"Much interest has been displayed in the championship tournament, and the boys seem to be enjoying it," states Physical Education Director O. A. Hankner.

Coach John B. Christenbury's Pirates will meet the strong Bulldogs two more times this season. Their record thus far this season includes wins over Mount Olive's USO team and the Fort Bragg reception center. Twice has ACC lost to the Fort Bragg replacement center.

In the final game of the girls' intramural hockey tournament Captain "Sit" Knowles' Sophomore-Junior aggregation won a 2-0 decision over the favored Senior-Freshman team Nov. 22.

Yellers Progress Under Cushman

Ten experienced cheerleaders under the direction of Head Leader Charles Cushman made their first appearance of the year last Friday night at the ECTC-ACC basketball game.

"Rosalie Brown, Evelyn Lewis, Elna Powell, Lois Sessoms, Ruth Bostian, Bernice Freeman, Harry Jarvis, Doney Jones and Lena Rose Giles are cheerleaders for this year," states Leader Charles Cushman. "We practiced every day for two weeks before the first game, and we will practice regularly before each game."

"Our plans for the year include pep rallies, if they can possibly be arranged. We also plan to introduce new cheers."

Three of the ten leaders worked with Cushman last year and all have had experience in high school. "I'm very pleased with my assistants. They are hard workers," concludes Pepster Charles.

'Not Married,' He Says Versatile, Athletic Jack Young Excels In Sports, Activities

Excelling in football, basketball and baseball since he enrolled at East Carolina three years ago, Jack "Daddy" Young will be sorely missed by Pirate athletic teams when he graduates at the end of this quarter.

"Whether or not I come back next quarter to work on my Master's degree depends upon whether or not I'm called into the Navy. I'm in V-7, and if I'm called I'll probably go to Columbia university or the University of New York for my schooling," states the six feet one 210 pound giant.

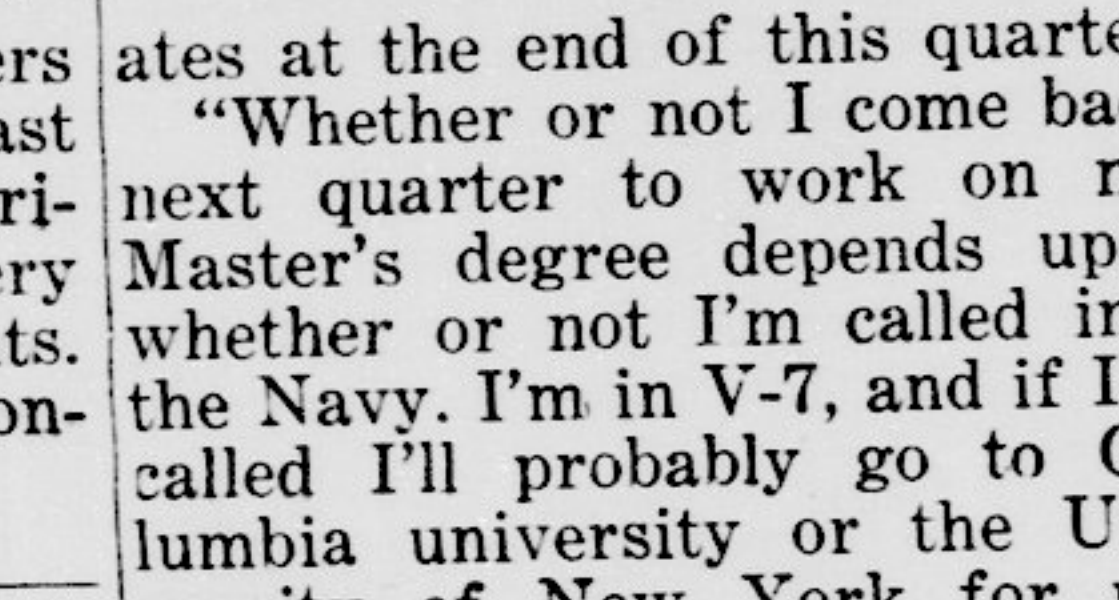

"Of course my future is uncertain. I may teach after I leave the service, or I may go into engineering," he continues.

Not only has Jack been one of the most valuable members of the East Carolina football, basketball and baseball teams, but he has exhibited leadership in extra-curricular activities as well. A member of the Varsity club for three years, the sports lover was vice-president of that organization last year.

Versatile, Young is a member of the YMCA and the Ki Phi fraternity. He was a member of the cast of "Rainbows in Heaven," a Chi Phi presentation that won honors last year at the University of North Carolina dramatics contest.

East Carolina students will have an opportunity to see brawny Jack show his talent in the Music department's opera, "Martha," which is now being rehearsed—that is, if Uncle Sam doesn't want Jack before the presentation.

"My hobby is work in industrial arts. I enjoy making tables, cabinets, and similar articles," replies Jack in answer to the question, "Is it true that you are married?" Yes, Jack was evading the question, but he later said "No, I'm not married." For further information, consult Shorty Sessoms.

Jack Young

honors with four points was Center Jack Young, who was ordered out of the rough game by Referee Walter Latham at the beginning of the second half. Captain Bob Young and Doug Jones accounted for three points each.

Jack was not the only victim of Latham's strict refereeing. ACC's Ed Smith, Howard Chapin and Dick Godwin were sent to the showers because of disagreement and unorthodox play.

FIRST HALF

Wiley Brown's three foul put the Pirates in the lead early in the game, but Bulldog Howard Chapin's six points for the Teachers. Markers by Doug Jones, Jack Young, Clyde Mann and W. B. Harris completed the Bue's first-half threat.

SECOND HALF

Only four ECTC players penetrated the strong ACC defense in the second period. Bob Young, Wiley Brown, Douglas Eley and W. B. Harris scored and inspired the Dogs to put on the pressure to erase all chances for a Pirate victory.

HERE'RE THE FIGURES

Slightly rougher of the two teams were the Pirates, who committed 15 personal fouls to 12 by ACC. The Bulldogs made their free throws count most by sinking 10 out of 16 tries while the Pirates dropped in only eight of 16 attempted. Each team used 10 players.

Alumni News

Greetings to Our Uniformed Alumni

The Alumni Association sends its warmest greetings to you, men and women, who spent happy days at East Carolina Teachers College as students; who here learned to follow the spirit of your Alma Mater's motto, "To Serve"; and who today, at home and abroad, serve all your country and all mankind by your heroic sacrifices.

Nash-Edgecombe Chapter—The Nash-Edgecombe Chapter of East Carolina Teachers College Alumni Association has held two successful meetings this fall. On October 13 the initial meeting in the home of Miss Wita Bond, was largely devoted to discussing plans for the year. After a social hour in which games were enjoyed, refreshing fruit drinks and wafers were served. Miss Irma Vause was in charge of the social hour.

On November 10 a dinner meeting was held at Overton's in Rocky Mount, with a good attendance present. Mrs. E. P. Gerard, (Elsie Horton) conducted the short business session and Mrs. J. M. Bridger read a letter from Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the college, urging the chapters to carry on their work.
