Broadway Hit "Ladies In Retirement" To Be Presented Thursday And Friday

"Ladies in Retirement," an exciting melodrama in three acts which was as a Broadway success two years ago and was presented as a movie, will be presented by the Chi Pi Players next Thursday and Friday nights at 8:30 in Austin Auditorium. This production will follow that of Broadway as far as possible, as Miss Caldwell, the director, saw the play in New York and made a careful study of it. Some of the costumes are the very same as those worn on the Broadway stage.

The play should rank with previous successes of the Chi Pi Players which for the past six years have attained fame throughout Eastern North Carolina with such plays as "Satan Through," "Double Deal," "Wuthering Heights," and "The Skull."

According to Miss Flora Robson, famous English actress who starred in the Broadway production, "Ladies in Retirement" is a psychological rather than a mystery play.

The story centers around Ella Creed who is driven to murder by the goodness of her heart. She is almost fanatically obsessed to care for her two half-brother sisters.

The setting of the play is a cottage above the salt marshes of the Thames Estuary in the England of a century ago. The play contains not only murder and tension but in subtle English style portrays a collection of unusual characters.

Hazel Harris, sophomore from Black Mountain will play the eccentric Ellen Creed, who was portrayed by Flora Robson on the stage and by Ida Lupino on the screen. Hazel made her debut on the college stage as the maid in the Chi Pi production, "A Doll's House," last year.

Denora Fiske, in whose house the play takes place, will be played by Mary Alice Charlton, a freshman from Raleigh. Mary Alice had one of the supporting roles in the opera, "Satan Through."

Black two half-witted sisters, Louisa and Emily, will be played by Hooks and Betsy Hobbins. Mizzelle, a freshman from Whiteville, is appearing on the stage.

Represent ECTC At State Meet

A strong delegation of members from the Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary education fraternity for teachers, attended the state meeting in Raleigh this past week-end. Among them were three faculty members, Dr. Lucile Turner, Miss Mamie Jenkins, and Miss Annie Newell.

Dr. Lucile Turner, head of the English department of this college, who is a state founder and state treasurer, also attended the meeting of the Council, which preceded the general meeting, and was a guest of honor at a reception for Dr. Stroh and the state officers.

Miss Jenkins, also of the English department, spoke at the Friday afternoon session as chairman of the standing committee on progress. Miss Newell, of the Education department, was a delegate from the local chapter.

All three assisted in the initiation ceremonies for new members, and the reception which followed.

Among the initiates were three for the local chapter, Mrs. Ethel R. Watters, of the Home Economics department; Miss Mabel Lacy, field worker with the State Department of Education and member of the Home Economics faculty; and Mrs. Mary Langston Evans of Manteo, formerly a teacher in the Greenville schools.

Members of the Northeastern Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, including Farmville, Kinston, Plymouth and Manteo, will

Leon R. Meadows Attends Meet

At the meeting of the Council on Cooperation in Teacher Education in Chicago last week-end, from which President Leon R. Meadows returned early this week, the chief problems considered, said President Meadows, were financing the schools, maintaining morale in education, pre-service and in-service training teachers, and post-war education.

Around 75 representatives of the fourteen national education organizations of the country were present at this meeting, which was, for most of them, a substitute for their usual annual convention. President Meadows represented the executive committee of the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

All met first in a general session, then divided into four groups to consider separate topics, and later brought together the findings and suggestions of each.

Also, representatives of the National Safety Organization met with the Council, to seek the assistance of teachers colleges especially, in carrying out a plan for safety education.

The chief suggestions recorded by the Council were the need for the prospective federal aid being offered the schools by the three hundred million subsidy bill now before Congress, the necessity of the development of a retirement system for teachers as a contribution to morale in education, the need to train teachers for both immediate and long-time needs, and the importance of trying to envision the needs of the education of the future from knowledge of the past and of making preparation for it.

Rudy Walters Gives Successful Piano Recital

Ingram Walters, senior student in music, presented a piano recital with a skill and artistry that won much applause Friday evening, April 2.

The program was varied and interesting. Among the compositions given, those of modern composers seemed to win most response from the audience. Walters' own composition, "Prelude" was so well received by his listeners that he repeated it.

Spring Fever!

I spend a considerable portion of my time observing the habits of my fellow students. By their various movements and migrations they bring the year about, to me! I see they have the fever. What fever? Spring, of course.

Yes, Spring is here! I can tell it by the air, the budding of the trees, chirping of the birds, and yes, the pairing off of the birds, and also the ECTC lassies—mostly with the Marines.

Along with spring comes this thing called spring fever which is the cause of all the changes on our campus—changes such as sitting on the grass instead of in the parlors. From my window I now see several couples who seem to be lazily enjoying the pleasantness of it all. That couple straight in front of my window, is none other than Hazel Branch and Harold Smith.

Dr. Haynes has "it," too! Look at those most becoming shorts he is wearing. He has his tennis racket, a box of balls, and a little cap sitting back on his head, coming toward the tennis courts. This fever seems to be

Mrs. May Eure Tyndall Elected Alumni Secretary

Mrs. May Johnson Eure Tyndall, of Ayden, North Carolina, has been elected to the position of secretary of the Alumni Association of East Carolina Teachers College and will arrive on the campus about the first of May to begin her duties and will continue, in this beginning period of her service, through the first term of the Summer School. This is the important announcement just received by Mrs. J. C. Holland, State president of the Association.

Mrs. Tyndall, who received her A. B. degree in June, 1933, was a major in grammar grade education; and for the past two years has been teaching in the elementary grades in Deep Run, North Carolina.

As a charter member and the first president of the Ayden Chapter of the Association, Mrs. Tyndall demonstrated her leadership and loyal service in the Association. Each year since her graduation she has taken an active part in both her local chapter and the Association at large, so that she is well informed on the nature of the organization and experienced in many phases of its work.

In her senior year in college Mrs. Tyndall was chosen among the "superlatives" of her class as the member with the "most personality." It is this striking personality, her friendliness, intelligence, and poise which also make her well fitted to take over the responsibilities of alumni secretary.

Mrs. Tyndall is affiliated with the Ayden Christian Church and was formerly a member of the Ayden Junior Woman's Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eure of Whiteville, North Carolina.

Mrs. Tyndall succeeds Miss Estelle McClees, the Association's first secretary, whose resignation last June to return to her former position as a science teacher in Elizabeth City left a vacancy that has been difficult to fill. The committee that secured Mrs. Tyndall's services was appointed by Mrs. Holland last June, and was composed of Mrs. J. L. Marcom of Raleigh, Miss Virginia Blount of Roanoke Rapids, Miss Maria D. Graham of the Faculty Advisory Committee to the Association, and Mrs. Holland, ex-officio chairman, of Raleigh.

Dr. W. A. Browne, Father Maurice Vespers Speakers

Dr. W. A. Browne, adviser for the YMCA and a member of the faculty spoke at the Vesper service Sunday evening, March 29.

Dr. Browne used as his topic "Religious Mannerisms", and in the talk brought out some of the differences in religious ideas and practices that groups have fostered at one time or another.

"We cultivate our religion to suit our wishes instead of making our wishes suit our religion," he told the audience.

Then turning to some of the "religious mannerisms" in ways of thinking that are practiced now, he said, "We have acquired, for example, the idea that some occupations are better than others or that the interests of a few groups are more important than others."

Dr. Browne warned against failing to recognize values in others. In hating our enemies we may lose sight of the good in them. To get ourselves into the right ways of things we must get right ways of living, he declared.

Alice Ferrell of Clayton conducted the devotional. Pianist was Dorothea Massey of Pleasant Hill.

For the vesper hour service April 5, Father Maurice, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church of Greenville, spoke on the vital need for religion along with formal education.

Presiding for the YMCA, the student welfare chairman of the organization, W. B. Harris, presented Miss Pearl Langston of Four Oaks, who introduced Father Maurice. For the special music, Jean Abeyounis sang "I Heard a Forest Praying."

The purpose of education, said the speaker, is not to make walking encyclopedias, but to fit people to live in their own state in life. A man may have any number of degrees, and still not be fit to meet his obligations to his fellow men and God.

Inter-Faith Council To Sponsor Holy Week

Recently organized Inter-Faith Council composed of representatives from the denominations the YWCA and the YMCA will sponsor Holy Week services April 19-24, the week preceding Easter.

Short devotionals in the "Y" Hut each afternoon from 1:30 to 1:45 concerning the significance of Holy Week. Everyone is cordially invited to attend and share in the worship.

Phi Sigma Pi Elects Officers

On Monday night at the regular meeting of the Tau Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi, new officers were elected for the '43-44 term. This year for the first time in its history, the fraternity elected rising sophomores to offices. The newly elected officers are as follows: President, Clyde Mann, Manteo; Vice-president, Harry J. Jarvis, Hopewell, Va.; Secretary, Robert B. Morgan, Lillington; Assistant - secretary, Francis Coiner, Newport News, Va.; Treasurer, Buddy Murray, Raleigh; and Historian, Belvin B. Beck, of Lexington.

Vern Kuetyemyer Arranges Melodies

When Jean Abeyounis, Lorraine Pritchard, Linwood Gurganus, Camille Jernigan and Denton Russell appear together in concert on May 4th they will include on their program melodies from "Porgy and Bess" in an arrangement which has a unique distinction. The arrangement was made by Private Vernon Kuetyemyer of the Army Air Corps and was completed in the barracks and around the amusement center piano at the army air base in New Orleans where Private Kuetyemyer is stationed.

Last year as a graduating senior in the music department, Vernon Kuetyemyer arranged melodies from Jerome Kern's "Showboat" which were sung in a campus concert and repeated this week in chapel. This year although in a much different environment he has found the necessary minutes of time to complete his arrangement of themes from the famous folk opera by George Gershwin. The arrangement includes such familiar numbers as "Summertime"; "I Got Plenty o' Nuttin'" and "It Ain't Necessarily So."

The four singers and Miss Jernigan will offer a diversified program of solos, duets and ensemble numbers.

New Officers Elected By BSU

BSU officers for next year have been elected by the Baptists of ECTC. They are Carol Leigh Humphries, president; Gwendolyn Ward, membership vice-president; Mary Cox, devotional vice-president; Ruth McHair, social vice-president; Mary Frances Ellis, secretary; Edna Earle Lange, treasurer; Jean Dailey, Baptist Student representative; Dorothy Sasser, reporter; Rebecca Perry, editor of Key; Dorothy Whitley, music chairman; Christine Hellen, day student representative; Laura M. Walker, YWA president; Mary Ann Rogers, Immanuel Sunday School representative; Annie Sue Perry, Memorial Sunday School representative; Marguerite Ricks, Immanuel Training Union representative; Clarine Johnson, Memorial Training Union representative.

New officers will attend the Spring Retreat in Raleigh, April 9-10, to discuss with the other officers throughout the state, their plans for next year. They will be installed at a formal party April 30, and will begin their duties May 1.

Bessie Fay Hunt's Motion Carried At Mass Meeting

A. L. Dittmer

A. L. Dittmer To Give Recital Next Tuesday

The next musical offering from the Music Department will be given next Tuesday evening, April 13, in the Austin Auditorium at 8:30 P. M. when A. L. Dittmer, violinist and Mrs. Guy Smith, pianist appear in a concert of violin and piano music.

Mr. Dittmer of our faculty is well known in and around Greenville for previous appearances as a violin soloist. Mrs. Smith, formerly of our faculty, is now organist at the First Presbyterian Church of this city. She will always be remembered for the excellent accompanying she used to do for the many traveling artists who frequently appeared without an accompanist; her accompaniments for all of these were, in spite of their extemporaneous nature, practically flawless.

The program to be given next Tuesday is particularly interesting from the fact that so many contemporary composers are represented. A composition by Efen Zibalist, husband of the beautiful Alma Gluck who died not long ago in the prime of her life; another by Albert Spalding, well remembered for his appearance here last fall; another by Albert Stoessel, professor of music at N. Y. U.; two by Fritz Kreisler, and another by Samuel Gardner, violin instructor at the Julliard School of Music in New York—these are all given in answer to the often made query, "Must a musical composition be old to be good?"

This concert has been timed in order that it may at the same time serve as a special feature of the "Greenville Art Festival" See Dittmer on Page Four

By a unanimous vote of almost the entire student body, the Student Cooperative movement, new constitution for the student government association, was accepted and ratified in a mass meeting Wednesday night. The new government which was presented in full in the April 5 issue of the Teco Echo, will go into effect May 4.

Bessie Fay Hunt, chairman of the committee which planned the constitution, put forth the motion "that the constitution and by-laws of the Student Cooperative Government association appearing in the Teco Echo of April 5, 1943, be adopted and that they go into effect on May 4, 1943."

In the discussion which followed the motion by Bessie Fay, two amendments to the constitution were carried. Harry Jarvis' suggestion that nominees for cheer leaders be required to try out before the student body at a mass meeting before elections was accepted. James Worsley, moved that the individual, not the organization, be punished by loss of membership for unexcused absences from Student Cooperative council meetings. The motion was carried.

Two motions concerning the election of marshals were rejected.

In order to insure the constitutionality of the coming elections, a list of special provisions was presented by Carlyle Cox, a member of the constitution committee. The provisions were accepted; and a nominations committee composed of eight women and four men was appointed by Estelle Davis, president of the women's Student Government association, who presided over the meeting. Carlyle Cox was made chairman of the committee, which will recommend candidates for the major offices of the SCGA at a mass meeting Tuesday night. Elections will be held April 26.

WAAC Recruiters To Visit Here April 26-27

A team of WAAC Recruiters consisting of one WAAC Officer, one Auxiliary and one Enlisted Man will be at East Carolina Teachers College on April 26th and 27th to answer questions, contact interested girls and take applications for enrollment in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

The team is making a tour of the major women's colleges in North and South Carolina in an effort to increase enrollments and at the same time expedite enrollment of college girls who have waited until the end of the college semester before joining the rapidly growing corps of the Women's Army.

Lt. Dorothy E. Cooper, 3rd Officer of the WAAC and Assistant Recruiting Officer of the Charlotte District Recruiting Headquarters is in charge of the "Collegiate Recruiting Crew". Auxiliary Mary E. Foster and Private Bill Mitcham are the members of the team which is covering every major women's college in the two Carolinas for the purpose of enrolling college in the Women's Branch of the U. S. Army.

This lightning tour of the major colleges in the Carolinas will cover a total mileage of more than a thousand miles, and will take place during the month of April.

Women are desperately needed now to release men for actual combat duty, and the college women are an untapped source of women-power that is now being called upon to aid in the fight to protect the freedom of America.

Navy Training

Official information regarding the Navy College Training Program has been received by the ECTC boys in classes V-1 and V-7 in the Naval Reserve. The new Navy College Training Program will be inaugurated about July 1, 1943. Qualified students enlisted in the Naval Reserve will be ordered to active duty as Apprentice Seamen under this program on or about July 1, with pay, subsistence and uniforms. They will be assigned to colleges with which the Navy will have contracts for further training. Class V-1 and V-7 students will initially be assigned to training on the basis of their present or indicated major field of concentration and the needs of the service.

The present class V-7 students who, as of July 1, 1943, have one term or less to complete in order to meet the requirements for a bachelors degree may, if they desire, remain on inactive duty at the college in which they are now enrolled.

The Navy will enter into contracts with selected colleges and universities for the training, housing, feeding and medical service of its students. Colleges are selected by a joint committee consisted of representatives of the Armed Forces and the War Manpower Commission. The list of colleges with which the Navy will have contracts in connection with the Program has not been announced yet.

Students who are able to carry elective courses in addition to their Navy Curriculum may do so provided the extra work does not interfere with their proper performance of assigned duties. Under similar conditions they will be allowed to participate in college athletics or other extra-curricular activities. Navy students may, at their own personal expense, join all previously established college organizations and fraternities which are available to all students on the same terms. The discipline standards of the Navy will be maintained.

Pitt county boys in the Reserve are W. B. Harris and James Worsley of Greenville. Samuel Crandell of Stokes and Max Tucker of Bethel. In all, there are twenty ECTC boys in the Naval Reserve.

To The Editor

Tuesday night, as I sat in the library trying to study, I suddenly realized one (and maybe the most important) reason why my eyes are gradually going to the bad. The print in the book, which it is imperative that I read, was rather small but that was only a minor factor why I couldn't see. As I looked around, I noticed that almost everyone was hovering over their work trying to make out their own notes or the printed material before them.

Yes, it's just what everyone of us knows—it's those "doggoned" dim lights. Can't something be done about them? I think that if something isn't done this will soon have to be turned into an institution for the blind and we wouldn't want that to happen! Maybe that's one reason why so few students use the library.

Commerce Club

President Meadows has given his consent for the use of a small room in the Commerce department to be used by Commerce majors as a reading room.

The Commerce club and Commerce sorority met at a call meeting Monday evening, March 29, to discuss plans for raising funds to furnish this room. To this end, the club and sorority are sponsoring a square dance Saturday evening, April 17, in the Wright building. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

Regular meeting of the Commerce club was held Thursday evening, April 1, and officers for the coming year were nominated. Voting will be by secret ballot in the Commerce department sometime soon.

Square Dance

A square dance, sponsored by the Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity was given last Saturday night at the Campus Building. Levi Evans and his five-piece string band furnished the music for the occasion. Mr. Vance Corey, famous in this section for his ability to call square dance sets, led the Virginia Reel, Four-handed Star and other forms of folk dancing. At the end of the dance Mr. Corey remarked that this was one of the best square dances ever held on the ECTC campus.

Members of the fraternity and the committees on which they served are as follows: Harry Jarvis, "Tete" Beck, and W. B. Harris, Door; Nick Zuras and Ray Sparrow, Music; Metzel Simmons, Tickets; Frank Coiner and Robert Morgan, Publicity; and Robert Martin, Russell Rogerson and Nick Zuras checked hats and coats.

Cafeteria

The East Carolina Teacher's College cafeteria under the supervision of Miss Stella Marie Cox, of the Food department, and with the assistance of the girls, who are taking the lunch room management course, Home Economics 220, are providing well planned, prepared and properly served meals for the training school students and others who wish to get their meals there. Meals are served between the hours of twelve and one o'clock every day except Saturday.

Well balanced plate lunches are served three times a week, and soup and sandwiches are served the other two days. Each meal is

By The Keyhole Korrespondent

The service men must have heard about the lack of dirt on the ECTC campus, for one calm and peaceful morning, while all were quiet and sleeping, a soldier invaded Wilson Hall and had a friendly chat with several befuddled lassies. All we have to say is ECTC has the calmest, COOLEST, and most collected bunch of girls or else the dumbest one we've ever seen. Not a one of them screamed! It seems that even Mr. Beans did not protest when the said person or another (?) spent the night in Miss Morton's private parlor.

From the service men back to civilians... the Frances Phelps-Emmett Fisher case seems to be about the most potent and all-of-a-sudden affair we've encountered. As for our predictions, we are afraid to predict.

sold for the sum of ten cents, which includes a desert. Half pints of milk are sold to the students for one cent and popicles for five cents.

More of the college day students and others are urged to get their lunches at the cafeteria which is located on the first floor of the Wright building.

Following are some of the typical menus used:

- | | | |
|-----------------|----------------------|----------|
| Vegetable soup | Meat Sandwiches | Crackers |
| Rice pudding | Milk | |
| Meat loaf | string beans | |
| Mashed potatoes | corn muffins | milk |
| fruit | | |
| Brunswick Stew | Carrot Strips | |
| Greens | whole wheat biscuits | |
| | vanilla pudding | |

But, Frances, a word to the wise... For all of you girls who were afraid Brant and (?) were joined in Holy Wedlock last week-end, we have the matter all cleared up and definitely know he's still on the loose.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde have hit the campus—or should we say Miss Jekyll and Mrs. Hide? Yes, these dual personalities really exist in Fleming, Jarvis and Cotten. Why the fictitious names, girls? Maybe that's the explanation for the strange man in the dormitory!

Here's a triangle for you. Lorraine Moore, Powell Spaight (State, guy), and Betty Lee Spruill. May the best gal win!

We thought the custom of frat pins had ceased to mean "taken", but not so with the Teet and Peacock affair, if what we've heard is on the level.

And Lois Green is "pinned". Cam Fetter has returned and she wears a pair of silver wings! The cradle—it rocks no more—or does it?

Baby Pearsal and "Cosanova" Warren have been seen together somewhat lately.

Now that Troy Rouse is in the army, maybe we'll see if his relationship with Betty Batson and Dot Johnson was just a beautiful friendship. They've been together almost constantly, y'know.

We hear that Marguerite Ricks is planning to visit her best love in Washington, D. C., this week-end. Can it be that when she returns she will be another among the ineligible?

Roper, you better watch yourself. You seem to be invincible, but Jean Asbell seems to have a way with her men.

Just a reminder folks. Bill Council and Janie Eakes are not allowing their friendship (?) to dry-rot.

Anchors away my lad... All hands on deck! Bob Adams is back in town and spending every spare minute with Mary Louise Wallace. Stand back, girls, and worship from afar. She has the situation well in hand. (Pardon the expression, Marines.)

Ho hum, folks. Wake up! Don't take life seriously—you'll never get out of it alive.

Physical Coddling

by Associated Collegiate Press

Coddling of the nation's youth by automobiles, double feature movies and the radio is reflected in a recent war manpower commission announcement that more than 40 per cent of draft registrants are being rejected, according to Prof. Leon Kranz, head of Northwestern university's department of physical education.

Prof. Kranz, who was a lieutenant in the army air corps during World War I, says the rejection rate of 35 per cent during that war was serious enough, but that the current rate offers challenge to educational and health authorities. He maintains that many defects which show up in the prime of life originate from unhygienic practices during childhood.

"Excessive gas rationing it was a common practice to see youngsters riding to school in the family automobile," he said. "They sit through three or four hours at a stretch in the movies and then lounge before the radio for several hours. These practices are going on at a time when the youngsters should be building bodies for the future."

"We are not beginning in this country to do a proper job of training our youth in helpful physical pursuits."

Americans, in Kranz's opinion, have glorified the white collar worker and abandoned use of the hands except for getting food to the body and dressing themselves. Even walking is avoided whenever possible, he said.

Kranz blames the high percentage of rejections among older men to what he claims is a misdirected physical training program. "The reason men degenerate so rapidly after 25," he said, "is because they give up the activities of youth and do not re-

Bits o' Fashion

BY SUE

The college glamour-puss of the past gives a deep bow, as the New American Girl is ushered in mid cheerings from the bleachers.

This New American Miss has finally given herself a clean scrub off come the winged lips (everybody knew they were faked anyway); off, the gobs of mascara on "curled" eyelashes; up and back go those snaky locks; and—strike up the band! The new Miss America comes forth smoothly feminine. Her hair is much shorter, not allowed to blow with the breezes but smooth and simple; her lips are natural in bright red instead of the previous purples; her eyes sparkle behind lashes only touched with mascara in fact our belle has come out in the clear.

For this new Miss America, the dictators of fashions—Americans, too) decree that she shall be more fetching than ever.

Spring has come

And winter has went;

And Skirts 'n sweaters

Is past and spent.

So the wise ole gal

Packs 'em up till later,

And wears cute cottons

So men'll want to date 'er.

Peasants skirts and blouses, nothing new to the campus lassie, this year however, have a new approach. The skirts come in deep, rich colors in heavy cottons or rayons; the blouses, in bold splash prints in rayon jersey with low round drawstrings forming the neck lines and big billowing sleeves.

Chambray, eyelet embroidery, and seersucker are favorites for the little girl dresses which are favorites of college girls. Pinaflores, drawstring skirts are found in every girl's closet.

To go with these "baby" dresses you'll find baby sandals called Alice in Wonderland, but which call for number 17. So you might choose a play shoe-ropez, or the like which'll retain your glamour and your valuable coupon.

This new Miss America likes to wear a hat! Especially since she finds such a variety of step-'n-fetchers in the stores. There are the petite skull-huggers which Mlle features in pale pastels or in print to match a blouse. Or perhaps you'd like one in straw with a big, big rim for your glamorous moments. If it's a sporty number you're after take a tip from General Montgomery and snitch his African beret; it's an adaptable thing, can be worn tipped fore, aft, or sideways.

For a fling-on jacket the Navy has loaned us the pea-jacket, the brief cut cute little double breaster. Or for an elongated number, the trench coat.

Madam Chiang Kai-Shek has hit the records, she appeared on a fashionable woman's college in slacks and fur top coat. Presto, the college lifted its band against that versatile garment, and fashion now decrees the tunic look of a trench coat worn over slacks. Madam Chiang gave Adrian, the elite Holloywood designer, the inspiration for new prints for spring, raw silk, showing dragons, fans, and other things oriental.

With new glamour and new spring clothes our campus Miss gives a star performance anywhere, anytime so that she's asked back for a curtain call. Our new Miss is one-A!

Quotable Quotes

by Associated Collegiate Press

"Dictators dare not permit the untrammelled and objective study of the institutions and policies of government, but democracies cannot live without it. In every land it is the holders of irresponsible power, the possessors of vested interests, and those who fear a genuine government of the people, who are the first to attempt to suppress the free discussion of political questions. I liberal constitutional democracies that know their true interests protect and promote the unrestricted study of political institutions and methods, because their own welfare and progress depend upon it."

Prof. William A. Anderson of the University of Minnesota.

place them with a suitable program. "If we could create in the minds of men the importance of continuing training after they have given up participation in so-called strenuous games, then we could continue to maintain a high level of body-conditioning well beyond the present age."

In this regard, the Northwestern educator challenges the exercise value of two of America's most popular sports, golf and bowling. He asserts it is a delusion to believe that participation in these sports provides an adequate program of physical fitness. These sports are valuable chiefly for their social relationships and not as conditioners, says Kranz, who shoots golf in the 70's and bowls in the 200's.

Kranz recommends that three parts of the body most neglected in everyday activity be given special attention. They are the abdomen or midsection, the feet, and arms and shoulders. For the first he suggests lying on the back and repeatedly raising the head and shoulders to a trunk-curl position. This is done by contracting the abdominal muscles and should be increased gradually until it can be repeated 60 to 75 times daily. To strengthen the feet he recommends more active use of the toes in walking. For the arms and shoulders he suggests some activity in which the body weight is supported, such as chinning or pull-ups.

As a general conditioner, Kranz recommends running according to the individual's capacity. Running, he said, is becoming a lost art and must be revived in order to raise the level of fitness.

With The Armed Forces

By Harold Taylor

"Just call me Buck," said Wesley Johnston, "because next week this time I'll be a buck private." Others who left this week for the army were Troy Rouse and Edward Bright. Doug Jones and Leslie Nelson left Monday for Keesler Field, Mississippi, where they will get training in the air corps. Charles Cushman will report to the Air Corps headquarters in Richmond next week but doesn't have any idea where he'll be sent.

Captain W. Victor Workman has established quite a record for himself as leader of Company "L" of the 339th Infantry regiment, which is stationed at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. Since leaving here when a senior in 1940 he has risen from a Sergeant to his present rank of Captain. He married Miss Frances Wertz of Asheville shortly after going in the service.

Herbert Wilkerson appeared to be right at home when around the tennis courts during the past two weeks. Herbert graduated at the Naval Communication School at Harvard University recently and was commissioned an Ensign. Ensign Wilkerson leaves for San Francisco Saturday morning.

Bronzed by the Florida sun, Pvt. Tom Cox looked fit last week when he was here on a ten day furlough. Tom is stationed at McDill Field, Tampa, Florida, and is in the ground crew of the air corps. He has taken examinations for O. C. S. and hopes to get a chance at a commission soon. As captain of a basketball team at the field this past season he showed his buddies that he was still a good player as he led his teammates on to win the camp trophy.

Pvt. Robert Chambliss, junior here last year, is in North Africa. Bob reports that he receives the college paper regularly and is very glad to get it. He says that he is near a large city and is in the best of health.

Pvt. Dallas G. Whitford, a sophomore here last year, recently graduated from an Army Airforce Technicians' School at Madison, Wis. Dallas is spending a ten-day furlough at his home in Winterville and will return to Drew Field, Tampa, Florida, next week.

Nearly all the upperclassmen remember Merle Slater, who was drafted into the army while a junior here last May. Since that time Merle has been moving about. After crossing the continent a time or two he was sent to Panama where he remained for six months. In January he was sent back to the states to study navigation at Selma Field, La. "I haven't had a furlough since I've been in," wrote Merle, "so maybe they'll give me a few days leave after I complete the first part of my course next week." James Bullock is also learning to be a navigator at Selman Field.

Pvt. Vernon Kuetemeyer is an instructor in aircraft instruments at the army air base in New Orleans. Vern wrote that assembling aircraft parts was a far cry from music, but when Uncle Sam shuffled his cards for him he came out a mechanic.

After being in the combat zone for several months, Floyd Hinton, former three-letter man from ECTC came back to the campus for a brief visit this week. Floyd is a First lieutenant now and has many experiences to relate after having seen service in the thickest of fighting in the far Pacific battle area.

Soon after graduating from ECTC in 1941 Floyd entered the Army Air Corps and after training in several states he won his wings and was commissioned a second lieutenant. One of his first assignments after going on active duty was dropping paratroopers at Ft. Benning, Ga. When the air corps started experimenting with gliders Floyd found himself in the midst of it all and was one of the first pilots in the United States to work with gliders.

With a South Pacific island as his home base after leaving the states, Floyd made many trips to Guadalcanal carrying freight and supplies and bringing back wounded marines.

Because of an ulcerated stomach he has been grounded since last December and has been at Nichols Hospital in St. Louis. His doctors think he'll say he can hardly wait to get flying again soon and Floyd back at the Japs.

Former ECTC women students aren't letting the men get ahead of them in this war. Lt. Mary Belle Clark is a Nurse in a hospital in England and reports that our English allies are very nice people to work with. Ensign Frances E. Nance is working in the office of the Navy Chief of Personnel in Washington, D. C. She got her commission after completing the WAVES Officer Training course at Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

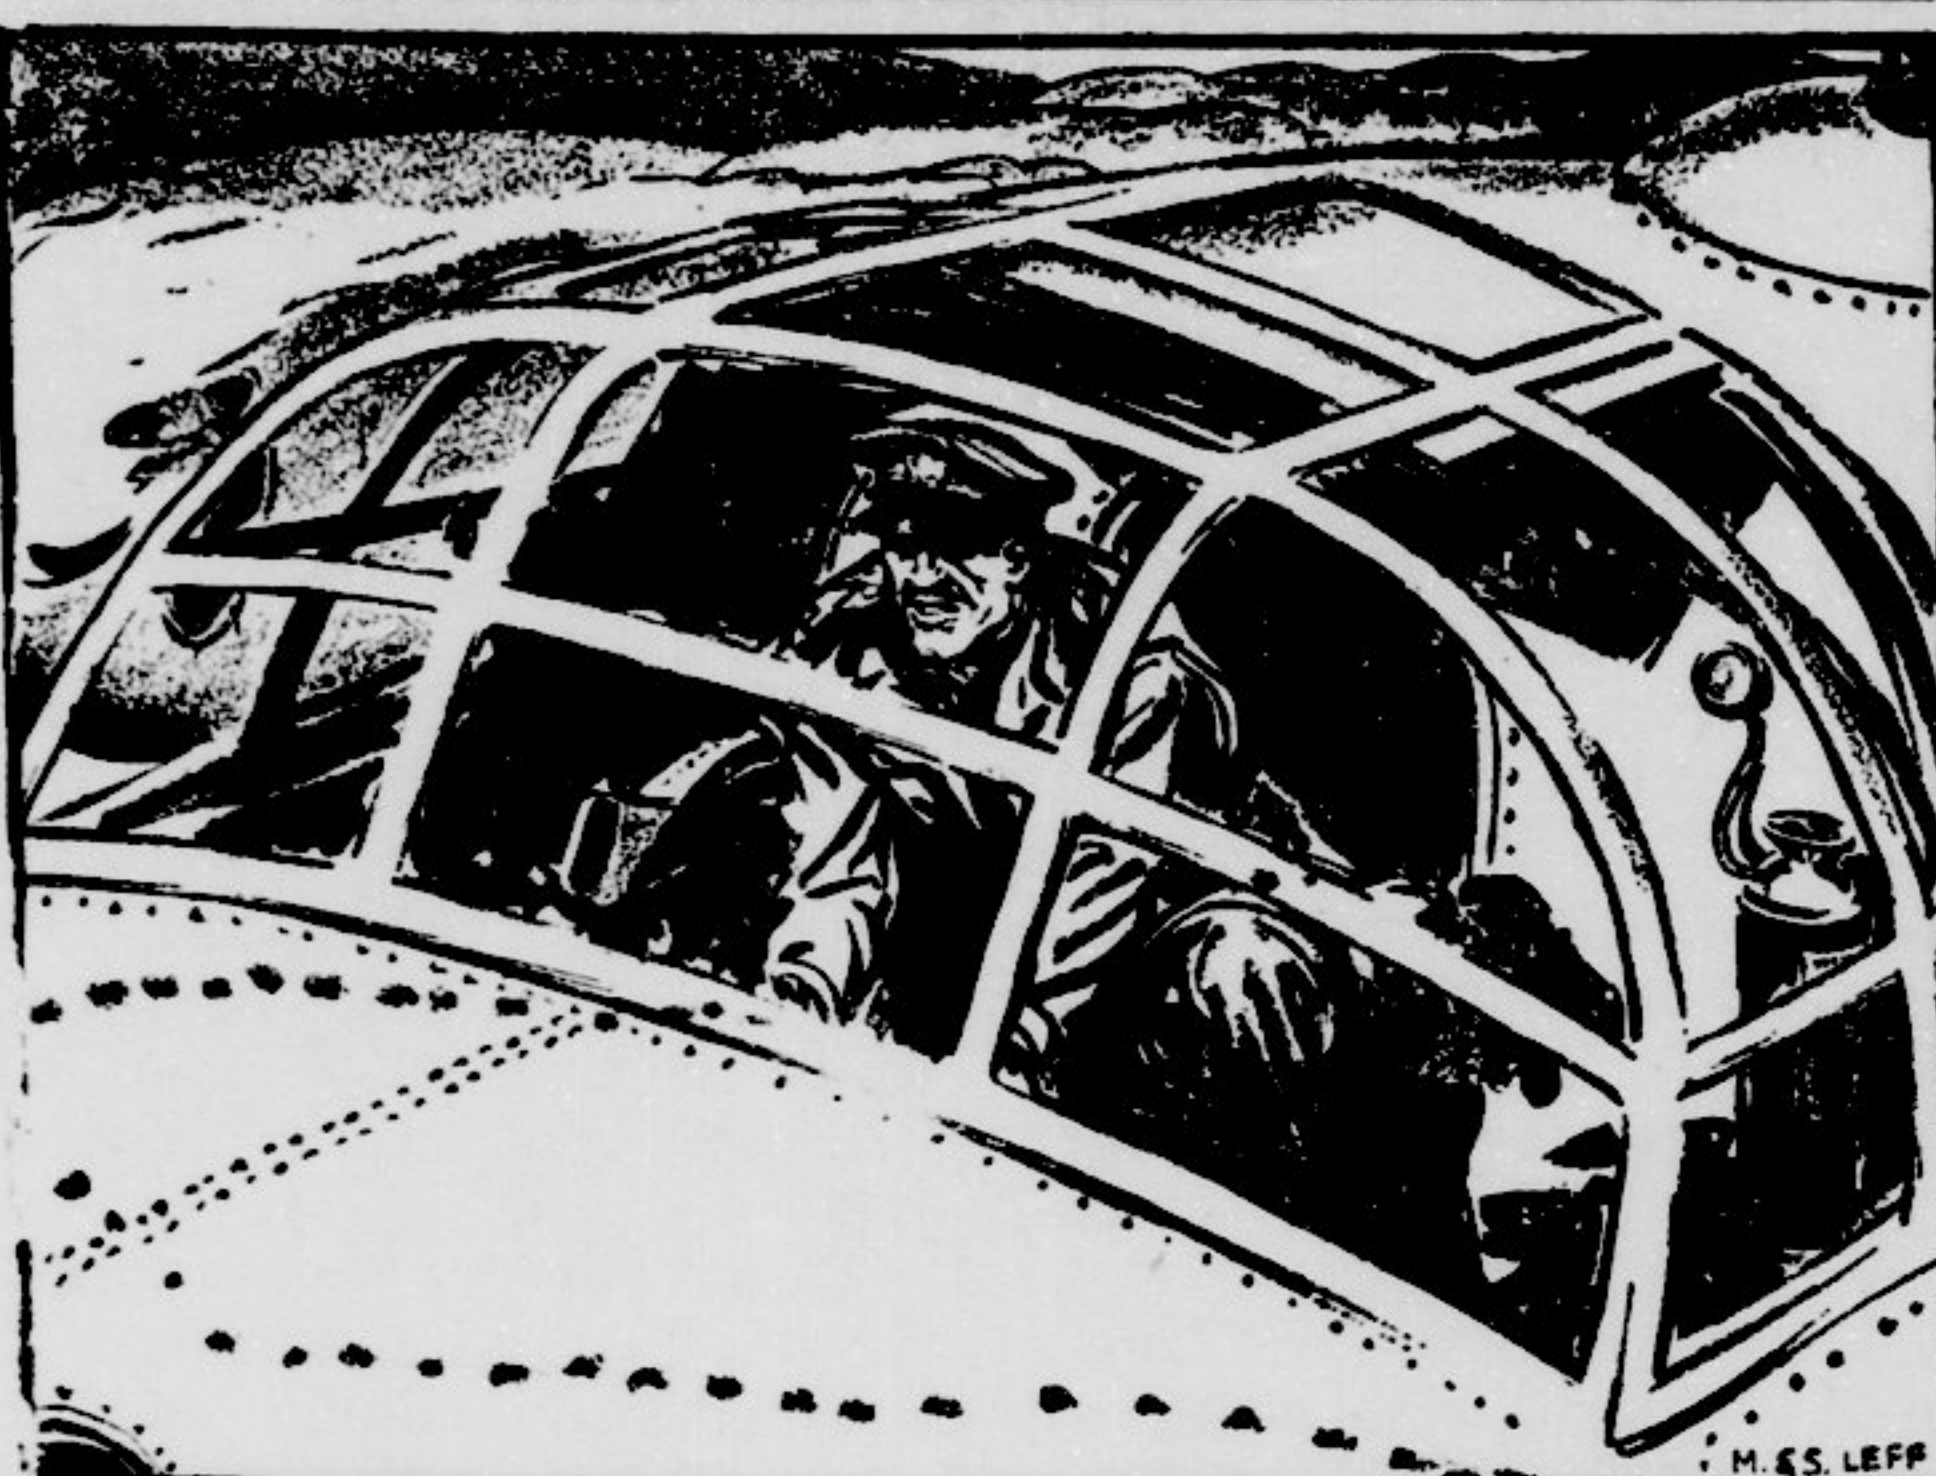

Other former ECTC girls and their service addresses are listed below:

Mildred Owens, Co. 4, Reg. 62nd, WAAC Training Center, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Edna E. Whitley, WAVES Officer Training School, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.; Lucy Inez Glover, WAVES Training Center, Bloomington, Indiana; Rachel Farris, WAACS—address changed.

former students of ECTC and one daughter of Mrs. O. H. Forrest of Winterville are now in the service of their country.

Hyatt Forrest, an A. B. graduate of this college in 1938 entered the Navy February 3, 1943. He was commissioned an ensign on March 4, 1943. He will be stationed in Rhode Island. Prior to his entering the navy, he had been a teacher of science in schools of Grimesland, Pactolus, and was principal of the Ayden School when he resigned to enter the armed forces. Ola Forrest, who was ECTC junior in 1942 is now a yeaman

YW-YM Elections

Helen Stone of Reidsville was chosen in elections at ECTC the last week in March to serve as president of the YWCA for next year. She will succeed Charlotte Shearin of Rocky Mount in that office.

In the same election Willie Mae Daniels of Oxford was chosen vice-president; Sylvia Green of Ruduco, treasurer; and Violet Sparks of Reidsville, secretary.

As treasurer of the YWCA this year, Helen Stone has sat on the cabinet and been active in the work of the organization. She is now president of the Future Teachers of America on the campus.

Miss Daniels has been the "Y" secretary this year. She is also organizer and first president of the college Four H club.

Miss Green has been serving as chairman in charge of properties. Miss Sparks is a freshman.

J. C. Shepherd, rising senior from Lexington, was elected second class in the navy. He is stationed in Norfolk, but is now out at sea. He was in the battle of Casablanca.

Gordon Forrest, sophomore here this year, entered the army on March 7, 1943. He was inducted at Camp Lee, Virginia.

Lynwood, who attended King's Business College in Greensboro, is now a sergeant at Camp Rucker, Ala.

A sister, Christine, is a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps. She took her nurse's training at Lynchburg, Va.

Beatrice Forrest, another sister, is now a grammar grade sophomore in this college.

president of the YMCA to succeed Sammy Crandell. He was chosen in a run-off election with Edward Brown.

In the same run-off Joe Lassiter of Conway won out over Robert B. Morgan for treasurer.

In a previous election Delton Creech of Smithfield was chosen secretary and Sammy Strickland of Rich Square was elected vice-president.

Jim Slay Makes Captain

James M. Slay, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Slay of Student street, has just been promoted to the rank of captain, according to word received yesterday by his parents.

Captain Slay is an instructor in the Marine Corps School at Quantico, having been stationed there in January of last year. Before that he was an instructor in Randolph Macon Academy, Fort Royal, Va.

Alumni News

At the state meeting of the Future Teachers of America in Raleigh Thursday, Miss Mabel Watson of Fremont, ECTC junior was elected state secretary for the coming year and Miss Rebecca Perry, student, was named to serve on the executive committee.

Miss Perry and Miss Edna Earle Lang of Gatesville represented the Robert H. Wright chapter of F. T. A. at the Raleigh meeting. This is the local chapter of which Helen Stone is president and Mabel Watson is the vice-president.

The F. T. A. is the student branch of the national Education Association and also of the North Carolina Association. It is open to college students of all classifications and 11 courses leading to the teaching profession.

ECTC Alumnae in Charlotte Honored at Tea—

The Charlotte Chapter of East Carolina Teachers College alumnae was entertained at a charming afternoon tea last week at the home of Mrs. Alex Kohn on Sherwood Avenue.

Mrs. Kohn (Clara Grissom) was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. E. Love (Annie Lota Arnold) and Mrs. L. W. Rogers (Nancy Brantley), who is president of the Charlotte Chapter. The college colors purple and gold were used in the decorations.

During the afternoon Mrs. Patsy Goodwin gave an interesting review of Tolstoy's novel "War and Peace."

Members and guests present included Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. E. F. Scholl, Mrs. L. J. McGinty, Mrs. J. B. Davis (Evelyn Terry), Mrs. R. A. Hand (Pearl Daniels), Mrs. J. R. Harris (Vera Miller), Mrs. H. J. Steagall (Rosalind Satterwhite), Mrs. W. E. Love, Mrs. O. W. Smith (Grace Whitaker), Mrs. J. Floyd Piper (Helen G. Lewis), Mrs. Fred E. Sprock (Louise Kittrell), Mrs. Lammie Rogers (Nancy Brantley), Mrs. L. R. Carrington (Shirley Miller), Miss Lucy Hanks, and Miss Florence Jamison.

meet Saturday afternoon in Ragsdale Hall. Mrs. Mabel Evans Jones, president of the chapter, will preside. Miss Jenkins is vice-president of this group.

As the annual national meeting has been cancelled because of the war, the national president, Dr. Margaret Strob, of the Wilson Teachers college, Washington, D. C., attended this meeting to bring the national point of view. Her speech at a dinner meeting on Friday evening on the effect of the war on the schools of the nation, which she declared are being "bombed" by the forces of greed and short-sightedness was a highlight of the program.

Other attending the convention from this chapter were Mrs. Mabel Evans Jones, president of the chapter, Miss Annie Perkins, and Miss Edna Robinson of Farmville and Miss Ethel Perry, Plymouth.

at the end as an encore. The two-piano number "Auf den Bergen" by Grieg, played by Walters and his teacher, Miss Lois V. Gorrell, was a feature of the program because of close coordination attained between the two instruments. Assisting the pianist was Jean Abeyounis, soprano, with Denton Rossell of the music faculty as her accompanist, who sang three pleasing songs. Walters will graduate in music at the college in June.

ECTC stage for the first time. Mozelle's brother was active in the Carolina Playmakers Society while a student at the University of North Carolina. Betsy is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. A. E. Hobgood of this city. Now a junior in college, she was active in dramatics in the Greenville high school, as member of the Black Masquers' and taking one of the leads in the play "Night Must Fall."

Virginia Cooke will play Lucy, the maid, who with Albert, cheerful, corrupt, dapper, helps to solve the mystery. Virginia became known to play-goers' last year when she had the leading role in the melodrama, "On the Bridge at Midnight."

Albert will be played by Billy Greene of Crossnore. Billy's most outstanding performance up to the present was as Cathy's drunken brother in "Wuthering Heights."

Ruby Taylor, sophomore from Greenville and a transfer from Greensboro College, will portray the Catholic nun, Sister Theresa.

Miss Ellen Rion Caldwell, teacher in the mathematics department is directing "Ladies in Retirement." She assisted in directing the opera, "Martha."

Miss Caldwell had courses in play directing and experience in plays at Randolph Macon College and at Columbia University. She has directed plays in Nashville, Tenn., before coming to Greenville.

Having seen the play on Broadway and having had an interview after the play with the star, Miss Robson, makes Miss Caldwell especially capable of directing "Ladies in Retirement."

Later Miss Caldwell watched the Nashville Little Theatre group give a creditable performance of the play.

Denton Rossell, who directed "Martha" last quarter, is assisting as technical director. Members of the Chi Pi Players are assisting in various ways.

Ophelia Hooks, president of the club, and Dave Owens are stage managers. Stanfield Johnson is head of the stage crew and Katie East Owens and Jerry Albritton are in charge of properties.

Mary Sue Moore is in charge of costumes and Margie Dudley of publicity.

Ruth Bostonian is prompter.
