By ELSIE WEST
The Freshman Orientation program, which began on Tuesday, September 19, proved to be very successful...

The program began on Tuesday morning with group singing led by the Glee Club. During the course of the program the students heard Miss G. L. Mott, F. D. Duncan, Dr. J. M. Amodeo Etheridge, and Miss M. Daniels. The students were divided into the afternoon for a discussion with their various advisers...

Approximately three hundred freshmen have registered up to this time. On Wednesday afternoon there were explanations of the college rules and regulations by Miss M. Daniels, conducted at the gymnasium by Chief Marshal Fred Lewis, and use of the college canteen by Alice Wiggins.

Plans For Post-War Expansion Program Presented To Advisory Budget Commission

By KATHRYN SPRINKLE

Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, acting president, and Mr. F. D. Duncan, treasurer, appeared before the Advisory Budget Commission of the 1945 General Assembly of North Carolina on October 10 to present the plans discussed with the Board of Trustees, the Faculty Advisory Council and various alumni for general improvement and enlargement on the ECTC campus.

New buildings requested in the budget are a student union, health and physical education building, a boys dormitory, a girls dormitory and a dormitory for women teachers. The student union building will contain rooms for various student activities, such as the Student Government association, college newspapers and societies, student stores, a small auditorium and stage for work in dramatics, an alumni lounge and alumni office, a college post office and a small dining room and kitchen where small private dinner parties may be held.

The lack of a health and physical education building has handicapped this department in carrying on its program. Its program is of the utmost importance from the standpoint of the personal health of the students enrolled.

Before the present war our dormitory space was inadequate to house the number of women students applying for rooms on the campus. A decided increase in enrollment is expected after armistice, and the same conditions will return if not immediately provided for, since only a few students can find accommodations in private homes in the city.

Requested additions to the college staff included a director of public relations and student welfare, a dean of the college, a director of practice teaching and placement bureau, six additional teachers in 1945-46, and five more in 1946-47. Additions to the laundry and the Training school are requested. In this request of 1941 a budget of some over two million dollars was proposed for the biennium.

The Advisory Budget Commission, composed of three senators and three representatives, visited our campus this past August and discussed matters of our budget requests, and according to Dr. McGinnis, the council was favorably impressed with the college and recognized its urgent needs.

Commenting before leaving to appear before the commission, Dr. McGinnis stated, "The outlook at present is that the college will receive favorable consideration of its budgetary requests by the Advisory Budget Commission of the Legislature. The friends of the college must rally to its support and help to secure these much needed improvements. We are ready to move forward on a constructive program of education which the public expects."

Christian To Direct First Chi Pi Play

Mr. W. K. Christian, new member of the English department, was chosen director for the first Chi Pi play at a meeting of the Chi Pi players Friday, September 29.

The Chi Pi players plan to present three plays this year, the first of which will be presented November 24-25. All of these plays will be given at the Cherry Point Marine base in addition to the two regular performances here.

A committee, composed of Mr. Christian, Jimmy Warren and Ethel Smith, is now working to choose several plays for consideration by the club.

FRESHMEN

The editorial staff of the TECO ECHO is very anxious to have some members of the freshman class on the staff of the paper.

The freshman class comprises over one-third of the student body, and they should be well represented on the staff of the TECO ECHO.

Societies Give Party For New Students

The three literary societies, Poe, Lanier, and Emerson, gave an informal party Saturday night, October 7, for the freshmen.

The party opened with the singing of the college song and the national anthem, led by Mary Alice Charlton, president of the Emerson society.

The dancing was started off by a Grand March in which the freshmen girls and marines participated. A no-break dance followed this, and then the regular-break dances.

During the evening Camille Jernigan played popular songs. Refreshments were served throughout the dance by marshals of the societies.

One - Act Plays To Be Presented By English Class

Three one-act plays will be presented by English class 330 this quarter under the direction of Mr. K. W. Christian, who is teaching classes in journalism and dramatics.

As yet the plays have not been chosen, but Mr. Christian states that they will be comprised of one serious work, one comedy and one fantasy. These plays will be a part of the class work and will probably be given in chapel.

English 330, a course in high school dramatics, will consist of an extensive study in the production of plays before high school audiences. The building of scenery, lighting technique, make-up, acting and directing—all these subjects will be discussed and studied during class time.

Actual experience in putting on plays will be offered when the plays are presented, and the students will do everything from acting in them to handling "props."

Tryouts for the first play, whose title has not been revealed, were held Wednesday, October 10. This play will be presented during a chapel assembly. Tryouts for the other two plays will be announced later.

"I hope that a great deal of students will come to our tryouts," stated Mr. Christian. "These plays are an invaluable educational experience, besides being fun."

New Courses Added This Year

Fourteen new courses are being offered this year at ECTC. New courses are offered in the art, commerce, foreign language, home economics and physical education departments.

Stage designing and oil painting are now being offered to students in the art department. In the commerce department seven courses in office machines are being offered.

One course in German is being taught this year in the foreign language department. The home economics students will be offered courses in the selection and care of clothing; nutrition, which teaches the selection of well-balanced meals; and kindergarten-nursery school seminar for those students planning to go into kindergarten work after graduation.

Fencing has been added to the physical education curriculum.

CAMILLE JERNIGAN

Camille Jernigan, senior music major, played a group of selections representing both classical and popular music in chapel on Tuesday, October 17.

Brooks Suggests Lights Go Out At Earlier Hour

A suggestion made by Dr. F. P. Brooks, college physician, that students turn their lights out at a definite time, was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting of the Student Cooperative Council on October 4.

According to Dr. Brooks many students are becoming sick because their constitutions are being weakened by the lack of sleep and rest.

Discussion of the situation brought out the fact that many students stay up late because they cannot study earlier due to the noise in dormitories in the early evening. It was decided that the only way to remedy this would be to have definite study hours, during which each student would have to stay in her room; lights would be out at 11:00.

OCTOBER 11 MEETING

The Student Cooperative Council met Wednesday night, October 11, immediately following the mass meeting. The members voted to postpone the ratification of the action taken by the student body until a committee composed of Willie Mae Daniels, Elsie West, Dot Creech, and Amanda Etheridge, ex-officio member, could (See COUNCIL on Page Four)

893 Students Enrolled At ECTC This Year

At the close of registration last Thursday a total of 893 students had registered for the fall quarter at East Carolina Teachers College.

Of this number 844 are women and 49 are men. Incidentally, there were 49 men students enrolled here for the fall quarter of last year.

There are 304 students in the freshman class, 229 in the sophomore class, 175 in the junior class, 159 in the senior class and two special or unclassified students.

This year's enrollment is only slightly below the figure for last fall, when there were 920 enrolled.

College Compared To Three-Ring Circus By "Lowest Thing On Earth"--A Freshman

By NEIL POSEY

As a freshman, the lowest thing on earth (as the upperclassmen say) do hereby solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the wishes—whatever they may be—of the upperclassmen, that I will study 42 hours out of every day, that I will not break any rules of the college and that I will conduct myself as well and as manfully as the seniors do.

That I became a freshman at ECTC—of course after crossing the palm of the college treasurer with the necessary cabbage and then filling out of 2159 forms requiring everything from phone number to the length of my "huggie-woggie-beat toe."

Down the list of stars went the acting president. Each was a grave, highly trained intelligent animal from the swamps of North Carolina or the prairie lands of the middle west, or from the goffer holes in Texas.

But at last a name was called—the owner stood up in the back row, bowed, and sat down—but none saw him. This is a suggestion that this small fellow from Missouri be played on the front row in future shows. There, the freshmen could see and admire the creature that remembers all the history of the world since the time of creation.

"These animals, (teachers, to you) however, commanded our uttermost respect because they were to teach us all the great knowledge and tricks they had learned.

After the opening day the mad rush from place to place began. Trips to the administrative building, down to the Wright building, up to the Austin building, over to the infirmary, down to the dormitories, rush here, rush there, here, there, everywhere.

"Old Mack Donald had a farm, and on that farm he had some ducks, e e i o Quack, Quack here and quack-quack there and a quack quack here there and everywhere ee i e i o." Excuse me I'm off the track.

This, however, proved harder on the boys than the girls. They were kept busy satisfying their draft board of their changes in address.

By Friday we became settled down to normal college life with study, dates and other things. We, however, are not at rest yet, because initiations come around soon. Till then I remain silent so my words may not be used against me in any initiations.

WAA Offers Varied Activities Throughout Year

By ELSIE WEST

Last year the constitution of the Women's Athletic association was revised to the extent that at the present time all women students of East Carolina Teachers college are members of this organization and may participate in its activities free of charge.

Under the leadership of Dot Peelo, who was elected president of the organization upon the resignation of Hilda Moore, and Vice-President Doris Franck, the WAA is planning a full and varied schedule that will include activities to please everyone. During the fall quarter volleyball, field hockey and soccer will be played. Soccer, the first to be offered, meets each day, Monday through Friday, from 4:00 until 5:00 on the football field back of the Wright building. Those who already know how to play and those who would like to learn are cordially invited and urged to attend at least three days each week. The dormitory managers — Cotten, Betty Joyce Kinlaw; Fleming, Lib Upchurch; Jarvis, Tommie Averette; and Wilson, Nell Murphy will appoint the managers of the dormitory soccer teams. If you have not signed up and would like to play, see the manager of your dormitory.

Point System Revised
 This year one individual award for winning points through participation in activities of the association will be given rather than many as in years before. In addition, two awards will be given annually—one to a senior Physical Education major and one to a senior non-major in recognition of sportsmanship and service to the association.

The units of competition will be the dormitories, and here the dormitories will not be able to win only by skill. The number of participants from each dormitory will contribute to the final house score.

Two seasonal awards will be given to dorms—one for the hall with the highest number of winning points, and the other for the hall with the greatest number of participants.

Each person needs recreation every day, and the WAA gives a varied program of activities for all. Come on, kids, let's get some competition between dorms and make our new plan for WAA work the best ever! We'll be looking for you.

Mustangs Win Intramural Opener

Touch Football Schedule

Led by Jessie Parker the Mustangs shot down 22 points to top the Warhawks' 6 in the opening tilt in the Men's Intramural Touch Football league here at the college field at 4:15 October 13th. The Mustangs were slow to get started but zipped into the win column, once their passing and running attack got under way.

The Warhawks managed to get a lone score early in the 2nd quarter, but the Mustangs came back fighting to score in the last of the second quarter. A touchback in the third quarter and 2 touchdowns in the fourth added the remaining 14 points.

First Half
 The first quarter saw both teams sizing each other up. Action began in the first of the 2nd quarter, however, when Strickland cornered a fumble for the Warhawks on the Mustangs 38-yard line. Two runs by James Parker, captain of the Warhawks, and a pass to Harper put the Warhawks on the Mustang 5-yard line. From the 5 James Parker threw a pass to Manning who was standing in pay dirt. The try for the extra point was not good. Later in the same quarter the Mustangs tied the score when Jessie Parker made a spectacular run from the Warhawks 40-yard line.

Second Half
 The 2nd half was all Mustang as far as the score went. Early in the 3rd quarter Beddingfield caught James Parker behind his goal to score 2 points for the Mustangs. In the fourth quarter Posey intercepted a Warhawk pass and then took another one from Jessie Parker for a touchdown. Jessie ran around right end for the extra point. Again in the 4th quarter quarter Jessie Parker ran for a score, but this time from the 50-yard line on an intercepted pass. A pass by Jessie Parker was incomplete but counted for the extra point because of interference with the receiver.

This was the opening game of the season and all came away happy including referees Charlton, Tripp, Crandell and Hankner.

Physically in shape for the army or just healthful living.

Fans, this is your chance to see good ball and good sportsmanship. The leaves are falling, the air is turning cold—just the kind of weather to enjoy sports and root for your favorite team. Here's hoping you'll be seeing you yelling your lungs out.

Various Men's Sports Scheduled for School Year

By NEIL POSEY

The veil of inactivity in the sports world at ECTC is slated to rise soon. Scheduled knockouts for the 1944-45 season are intramural football, tennis, table tennis, basketball and possibly intercollegiate basketball.

Again this year the men's sports program will commence under the guidance of Coach O. A. Hankner, head of the physical education department. Coach Hankner states that he hopes that all men will participate in the activities offered. In any event the Finates are expected to offer good ball and keen sportsmanship to the sports fans.

Touch Football
 October 12th marked the starting whistle in the men's intramural touch football league, and all indications are for a bang-up season. Teams have been chosen and will give battle every Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at 4:15 o'clock.

Teams are composed of six players. Each team will be allowed six downs to make a touchdown instead of the usual four downs to make ten yards. All members of the team will be eligible to receive a pass, including the center, the two ends and the three backs. A play may block by running into or shouldering out an opponent, but may not leave his feet. Runners may be stopped by tagging them with two hands. Except for the above rules, regular football rules will be observed.

Three able captains have been chosen to lead three fighting teams. Jessie Parker, James Parker and Stuart Tripp will captain the Mustangs, Warhawks and Thunderbolts, respectively.

Players on the Mustang team are Jessie Parker, Beddingfield, Posey, Gray, Warren, Jones and Cutler.

Warhawks are James Parker, McKenzie, Harper, Bonner, Manning, Strickland and Cherry.

Thunderbolt players are Stuart Tripp, Ferrell, Jackson, Crandell, Dees, Johnson and Futzell.

Debaters Launch Membership Drive

All students who are interested in debating, extemporaneous speaking, or any other phase of public speaking are urged to attend the next meeting on Thursday, October 19 at 7:30 p. m.

The Jarvis Forensic club had its first meeting of the year in Dr. Posey's classroom Thursday night, October 5. Plans were made to have two debating teams, if possible, one affirmative and one negative, which will represent ECTC in the Grand Eastern Debate Tournament and perhaps in some inter-collegiate contests this year.

In preparation for possible participation in the series of college radio programs, a committee, including Elsie West, Katherine Sprinkle and Curtis Butler, was appointed to make the necessary plans.

The program for the night consisted of the recounting by Katherine Sprinkle of a true story, The Prisoner of the Night, which was selected from John Nesbitt's famous Passing Parade.

During the Fall term the club wishes to launch a new-membership campaign. For this purpose a publicity manager, Nell Murphy, was appointed by the president, Miriam Averette.

Awards Given Individual Winners And Team Champs

In recognition of their outstanding play awards will be given to the individual tournament winners and to the members of the championship team in the various sports. Additional awards will go to the four or five athletes who are the most outstanding.

A point system is being worked out whereby each player will receive points for each achievement he makes during the year. Winning a first, second or third on any individual tournament will net the players a selected number of points. Points will also be given to members of championship or second place winners in team sports. In the final count for the winning of the outstanding Intramural Athlete award sportsmanship and scholarship will also be tabulated.

All tournament or team winners will receive certificates of their achievements. Medals are being sought for the winners of the Intramural Athlete award. If these cannot be obtained, certificates will be awarded.

Watch college bulletin boards and the paper for more about the point system to be used.

Garner First Secretary Of Alumni Association

"I like my new job immensely," said Mrs. Clem Garner, this year's new secretary of the Alumni association. Mrs. Garner, who was president of the association last year, recently resigned that position to take over the duties of the new full-time office of secretary, which has recently been put under the supervision of the college. Mrs. J. L. Markham of Raleigh, formerly vice-president, takes over Mrs. Garner's position.

"This year I hope to visit every chapter in the state," continued Mrs. Garner. "Since I started in September I have been doing my best to keep in contact with all the members, and see what they are doing."

The new secretary particularly stressed the fact that she hoped people would notify her of the changes in address of servicemen, or if their addresses aren't as yet listed, to let her know them. A Christmas card is being sent to all men in the armed forces, and to insure prompt delivery she must mail them by November 15th.

Initiations Make Pledges Do Crazy Stunts On Campus

It seems that the upper-classmen had a "heap big time" last week initiating the pledges for the societies—ah, pity on the poor pledges.

They did everything imaginable—shine shoes, clean rooms for the "big bosses," burn cigarettes (which, of course, is a very gruesome job nowadays), propose to marines, sailors and soldiers, wash clothes, and many other unheard-of tasks.

But the climax came Saturday afternoon when the unlucky gals (and one or two eeds) were ushered down town to perform on the streets. The Laniers were lead by a gorgeous goat—what a stinking good time they had. It seems that they were expecting a rain storm or something of the sort because they were lugging their umbrellas around (maybe they were protecting their friend, Billy).

The Emersons had to do a bit of scrubbing on the campus building steps with tooth brushes—some fun, eh? Then they were marched down to shine shoes and fish in the street at five points. Did you have any luck, kids? They also had to fall face down on the ground whenever one of the old members called "Air Raid."

Oh, and let's not forget the fashion show put on by the Laniers Saturday evening at the campus building. Didn't they look divine with their Sunday-go-to-meeting hats and yellow and green sweaters and skirts. May I make the suggestion that you girls try out a Powers Model—well, it's only a suggestion.

Nominations Made At Mass Meeting

Nominations for the vacancies in the Student Cooperative council were made at a mass meeting held Wednesday night, October 11.

Margaret Hall, Margorie Jones and Doris Franck were nominated for secretary of the council. Faye Jessup and Penny Smith were nominated for second assistant treasurer.

For faculty adviser to the Student Cooperative council Miss Ellen Caldwell, Dr. Beecher Flanagan and Dr. Carl Adams were nominated.

McGinnis, Ernest Speak At Vespers

Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, acting president, addressed a host of students, faculty members and visitors at the Vespers hour on Sunday evening, October 1, at six thirty in Austin auditorium.

His speech was centered around the subject of religion and the application of the teaching of the Bible in everyday life. Dr. McGinnis said that our religious life must be a part of our everyday life, and the two must not be separated. We came to college to grow in wisdom, knowledge, and preception, he continued. The classroom is merely a device through which we must work and grow. We must observe and learn the laws of the universe for they are the laws of God, then, we must apply these laws in our everyday relationships with others.

Dr. McGinnis said that many people use and consider the Bible as a devotion. He emphasized the fact that we must look upon the Bible as a guide not only for religious life, but everyday living as well, for it is full of counsel that is very practicable in our times.

Guest soloist was Jack Currin who sang "O Lord Most Holy". He was accompanied by Camille Jernigan at the piano.

Christian Succeeds Grisby As Head Of News Bureau

Mr. W. K. Christian is succeeding Miss Lois Grisby as head of the News Bureau. He comes to us from Cornell university, where he has been an instructor for the servicemen for the past eighteen months.

This year Mr. Christian wishes to end out news releases every day. One of his objectives is to send out good copies of good news from the college. All news will go to the DAILY REFLECTOR and big stories will go to the near-by papers in Rocky Mount, Raleigh and Durham.

The information cards filled out during registration have been alphabetized and filed in the news office. His file will enable the office to send out more stories to the home-town papers about the activities of individuals here on the campus. However, Mr. Christian urges the students to cooperate with the office by turning in information of news value.

"If a student is elected president of some club or organization, that would be news for the home-town paper; so turn it in," said Mr. Christian.

He is also asking the students who have relatives or friends in the armed forces who are alumni of ECTC, and who have done anything outstanding, or who have received any kind of medal, to turn the facts in to the news office so that they may be sent to the local paper.

Mr. Christian thinks that cooperation from all the student body and reporters of various organizations clubs will make the News Bureau a success.

Miss Grisby stated that she had enjoyed the work in the News Bureau, but that for several years she had wanted to return to full-time teaching; so she is doing that this year.

During the seven years as head of the Bureau, Miss Grisby has collected as much news as she had time for and has written it up and sent it to the local paper. Practically every day bits of news went out from our campus to the local paper and to the near-by towns and counties.

Individual stories have been written about students who have made outstanding accomplishments and sent to their home-town paper. Once or twice each term a mimeograph clipped sheet with news of our campus was sent to seventy-five or a hundred papers. All important events of the campus were handled by wire.

Miss Grisby has started a new file for the office. There are clippings and type-written copies of all news that has been sent out from the bureau for the past eight or ten years. This permanent file will be of value to the news office and to the college in the years to come.

Miss Grisby has not confined her work to the teaching of English and being head of the News Bureau; she has also been advisor to the YWCA most of that seven years, advisor to the TECO ECHO three or four years, and faculty representative on the entertainment committee for four years. She has also advised the Chi Pi players with some of their work.

Miss Grisby has had student assistants working with her. Last year it was Frances Glogston and this year Frances is going to assist Mr. Christian with his work.
