EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE

Greenville, N. C., Wednesday, January 17, 1934

Number 6

Registration For Winter Term Is Completed

888 STUDENTS ENROLLED Increase In Enrollment Over Winter Term Of 1933

69 NEW STUDENTS

When registration closed at the end of the first two weeks of the quarter, 888 students had enrolled for this term. This is an increase of 25 over the number who registered for the corresponding quarter of 1933, and it is one of the largest enrollments the college has ever had for the winter term.

The majority of students registered on Tuesday, January 2, followed the usual procedure for getting permits to register, schedules made and approved, and cards signed. There was little confusion. The comparative ease with which registration takes place is in great part due to the fact that the students now go to the campus building at whatever time is specified for their classification.

Radio Orchestra May Be Here In The Early Spring

Entertainment Committee Has Not Made Definite Plans Yet As To Who It Will Be.

Plans are being made by the Entertainment Committee, headed by Mr. Cummings, to bring a popular radio orchestra here early this spring.

Negotiations have been made with several orchestra managers, but no definite announcement can be made as to who will be the leader of the orchestra that will be brought here.

Air Transportation Is Discussed At The Science Club Meeting

New Inventions To Improve Aviation Is Theme Of Talks.

"New Improvements in Aviation" was the theme of the discussion at a meeting of the Science Club last night.

Margaret Lee, Chairman of the program committee, presided. Jean Tate gave a talk on "Improvements in Comfort in Air Transportation." She mentioned the tilted seats, individual reading lights, and ventilation.

"The Speed of Air Transportation" was discussed by Dan Wright. He gave figures showing the records airplanes have made. He said that it has been proposed to build planes with such highly developed powers that it will take only a short time to fly from Europe to U. S.

Clyde Morton talked on "Improvements that have Made Flying Safer." She told about several inventions that are being improved upon so that aviation is safer if an accident occurs.

Hattie Lee Humphrey Represents College At National Student Federation.

John Lang Re-elected President of Federation.

Hattie Lee Humphrey represented East Carolina Teachers College at the National Student Federation of America held at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, December 27 to 31. The American University was host to students from 32 states who came to attend this, the ninth annual convention of the Federation.

John A. Lang, the president of the Federation, who is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, was re-elected.

In his welcoming address, Dr. George B. Woods, dean of the college of Liberal Arts at American University stated: "Democracy must stand or fall on the integrity of the lower class. Ills caused by dishonesty can be cured by honesty secured through two methods. Teaching pride in decency, and through religious teaching. Colleges should train students for intelligence and character."

A proposal by Assistant Secretary of Commerce Chester H. McCall, that in 1935 a group of 200 to 500 politically ambitious college juniors spend the first three months of each year in Washington studying government at first hand, was approved by the federation.

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, addressed the group on the monetary system of the United States. He said in his talk, "Our value of the dollar will be determined when England and other countries go on the gold standard."

Hon. Henry T. Rainey, Speaker of the House made a broadcast address to the delegates at the convention. He said that students must face the future with courage and insight.

Federal Commissioner of Education Zook greeted them with this pronouncement: "My complaint about college students is that they are too darned docile. They are too easily bossed. They don't create enough problems for the college and university administration."

As a part of the social program, the federation visited the White House to attend a reception given by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Thelma Peele To Head Junior Class

Former Vice-President Is To Fill Vacancy Left By Ellen Baker.

Thelma Peele will be president of the Junior Class for the remainder of this year. This was decided at a meeting of the class last week. She was formerly Vice-President. Ellen Baker, who was President during the Fall Term, did not return to school after Christmas. She has accepted a position to fill a vacancy in the third grade in the Reidsville school.

Mary Ella Bunn was elected Vice-President. It was decided that a banquet would be given this year, as in former years, for the Senior Class. A discussion of the class dues was held, and it was decided that they would be $1.50.

The whole purpose of education—the only purpose in the final analysis—is to train for social participation.—Charles H. Lake.

UNCLE REMUS AND JUDGE BEAR

Two of the characters in the Uncle Remus Stories which will be given by Tony Sarg's Marionettes at the college January 29.

Students Hear Dr. Combs At Y. W. C. A. Vesper

Traffic Problems Of Life Is His General Theme.

Dr. G. R. Combs of the Methodist Church, in his initial appearance at the college vesper service Sunday evening, January 7, based his talk on a little unknown verse from the book of Proverbs, "The path of the upright avoids misfortune. He safeguards life who watches when he goes." From it he drew a most worthwhile analogy between the highway of Life and the roads on earth. A guide-post on both is "Keep to the right," and is perhaps, the most important. Another sign is "Help make the road safe; be courteous." How important that last word is, Dr. Combs pointed out, for many are the marvelous things which spring from a little seed of kindness. Both of these signs are found on life's road as well, as on earth's roads, but a third need never be applied to the King's Highway. It's "Detour; road closed for repairs." Although for two thousand years that road through Jesus, who said, "I am the way," has been bearing far heavier traffic than one earthily road, it has never been "closed for repairs." There has never been need for detouring from it.

Several Teachers In City Schools Graduate Here

Ten of the teachers in the Greenville City Schools are graduates of East Carolina Teachers College. Employed in the college training school are Miss Anne L. Redwine, first grade; Miss Christine Johnson, second grade; and Mrs. J. L. Savage, the third. In the City High School Miss Mary Shelton McArthur is English teacher. The West Greenville School faculty, Miss Helen Gray Jones, the third grade; Miss Laura Foley, the fourth; and Miss Alma Lee, second have graduated from the college. In the Third street school Mrs. E. T. Robeson teaches the first grade, Miss Dixie Taylor the fourth, Mrs. A. B. Corey the fifth and Miss Estelle Greene, the seventh.

All of the above teachers have, at some time or another graduated from the college and some have come back from time to time to take additional work in their field.

Puppet Show To Be Given Here On January 29

TONY SARG, DIRECTOR Uncle Remus Stories Are The Attraction.

Marionettes Make Third Appearance Here.

Brer Rabbit, Brer Wolf, Brer Fox and other Uncle Remus characters will live anew, when they are presented by Tony Sarg's Marionettes, in the Campus Building, January 29.

Tony Sarg's marionettes have appeared here twice before. They were here in January, 1928, and presented "Alli Baba and the Forty Thieves" at the evening performance, and "Young America Reads" at the matinee. They were here again in 1930 and presented "Bremen's Band" and "Rip Van Winkle."

This year they will give a play made up of material from "Uncle Remus, His songs and Sayings," "Uncle Remus and His Friends," and "Nights with Uncle Remus." This dramatization was especially adapted for Tony Sarg's Company. The characters to be presented are Rufus, Rastus, Uncle Remus, the Little Boy, Judge Bear, Brer Rabbit, Brer Fox, Miss Buzzard, Mrs. Rabbit, Peter Rabbit, Mr. Tarry Pin, Mr. Coon, Mr. Possum. The drama is in three acts and the scenes are varied. Uncle Remus and his stories should be particularly pleasing to a Southern audience, and particularly to children who are fond of Uncle Remus lore.

Besides the Uncle Remus drama there are six additional novelty features. These are March of the Wooden Dogs, the Old Quartet, The Colonial Trio, Ballet Fantastique, The Big Fight, and High Brow Concert.

Mr. Sarg chooses his puppets very carefully, taking into consideration not only good singing voices, and former dramatic experience, but also the hands of the applicant. Hands must be firm, strong, and flexible. (Continued on page four)

ADDITIONAL FUNDS GIVEN FOR CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

Number Of Tennis Courts To Be Built.

The student body will be glad to know that an additional allotment of $1700 has been obtained through CWA for use in reworking the old tennis courts and building new ones. The menagerie on back campus is being moved, probably down near the barns, and the court will be extended to cover its former site. Plans are to give the college 7 complete courts. By the addition of 100 ft. to the bleachers on the athletic field, the seating capacity has been increased about 70 per cent. The position of the football field has been changed from north-south to run east and west in front of the bleachers, this change being much needed for convenience in good visibility of the game. The fence around the field, 1420 feet long, has been completed, and approximately 3000 cuttings of Armour-river privet has been placed around the fence to form a hedge.

The bleachers are to be painted before the project is completed. There is an allotment for painting 5 buildings, which will include the President's home and the faculty houses.

There will be a new sidewalk down the south side of the drive below Wilson hall, which is being changed to meet the back campus drive so that they culminate into one at the West Campus entrance. The Beaman Memorial columns now placed before the Austin entrance, are to be moved and made a part of the west gateway.

PICTURE SHOWS ARE ANNOUNCED

For the next three weeks the following pictures have been scheduled by Mr. Cummings who is chairman of the entertainment committee. January 20, Dr. Bull (Will Rogers). January 27, My Weakness. February 3, The Power and the Glory.

Unemployed Teachers Study Here Under CWA

Raise In Student Fee Will Help Organizations

Entertainment Committee Gets Large Portion Of Fund.

The Board of Education of the college acted favorably on the request, which was presented to them from the students, that the student activity fee be raised from three dollars to five dollars a quarter. The higher fee will add approximately $3000 to the amount available for the budget. This estimate is based on the number of fees paid during the school year 1932-33 and the fall of 1933.

Guided by a study of the expenditures of the classes and literary societies for last year, the Budget Committee has appropriated certain amounts to all of these organizations.

Half of the amount has been set aside for entertainments. The total amount spent for entertainments this year, however, will be less than last year.

The smaller fee for last quarter reduced the total fund for the year by about $1600. This makes it necessary for every organization to cut expenses to the minimum.

A one hundred per cent payment of fees would do much to off-set this cut. Prompt payment by the students guarantees the prompt payment of appropriations by the Budget Office.

Roosevelt Ball Will Be Staged Here Jan. 30th

Proceeds Will Go To Endowment Fund For Paralytic Foundation; Eddie Poole And His Orchestra To Furnish The Music.

Members Of Senior Class are To Check Hats.

A Ball honoring the birthday of President Roosevelt will be held in the campus building of the college, January 30, sponsored by the civic organizations of Greenville. The ball here is to be one of 5,000 such affairs held on that night throughout the nation, the proceeds of which will go for a permanent endowment for Warm Springs Infantile Paralysis Hospital.

Eddie Poole's Orchestra of State College, composed of ten musicians, has been secured to provide music for the occasion, and good music is expected to be one of the outstanding features.

President Roosevelt will deliver a radio address to the attendants of the balls in all parts of the country.

The dance is to be formal and all dancers will wear evening dress and will pay an admission fee of $1.50 per couple. The fee for spectators will be 50 cents. The plans of the various committees seem to indicate that it will be one of the biggest social affairs ever held here and it is expected that it will be well attended.

The Senior Class will have charge of checking the hats at the ball. The money they will make will be used to help produce the play.

Unemployment insurance is an essential thing in this whole problem of the distribution of wealth.—Senator Robert F. Wagner.

123 Are Enrolled For Extension Course.

Nursery Work And Adult Education Are The Courses Taken.

The group of unemployed teachers taking the two weeks intensive training course in this college under the Federal Relief Program numbers 123, over a hundred more than was expected before the course began.

North Carolina has been allotted $45,000 each month for the next four months to be spent for the benefit of furnishing employment for unemployed teachers. The teachers must first be passed upon by authorities in charge of relief work in the various counties, as they must also be approved by the county superintendent of schools, it is necessary for them to be properly certified teachers. They will be paid $12.50 a week, the pay beginning with the first day of training. All state institutions of higher learning are offering courses in connection with the Federal Relief. Courses of various kinds of work are being offered, such as Nursery School, Adult Illiteracy, and Vocational Education. This college is offering the Nursery School and adult educational courses.

There are four subjects offered in the Nursery School Course. They are as follows: Child Development, Nursery School Procedures, Food planning and Menus for Nursery School. During the second week of the course, January 15-19, a great deal of time will be devoted to observation and conferences concerning such topics as the following: plant, materials, and equipment; children's activities indoors and out; eating and sleeping; toileting, dressing and undressing; periods of literature, music and science; activities with such materials as clay, paints, said, and crayons. There are one hundred and five unemployed teachers who are taking this course.

Some of these teachers are also taking subjects in the adult education course. There are a larger number of subjects offered which are listed as follows: English, Social Science, History, Health Education, Art, Home making, Hygiene, and Psychology.

In the first registration there were by noon Tuesday, unemployed teachers from twenty-five counties. Between twenty-five and thirty arrived on Sunday, January 7, before the work was to begin the next morning, Monday, January 8, and continue through January 20th. There are seventy-two teachers in this group who are living in the dormitory. The cost will not exceed $7.00 a week for those who are staying on the campus.

EIGHT NEW CO-EDS ARE REGISTERED FOR WINTER TERM

Three Boys Who Were Out Fall Term Have Returned.

There are twelve boys registered for this quarter who were not here the fall quarter. Four of those have matriculated here before. They are Clifford Bostic, William Nisbet, Clyde Brown, and Mayhew Sawyer. The new boys are Ralph Stokes Collins, James Davenport, Preston Dunn, Robert Halley, Richard L. Sigmon, Stanley Seago, Elmer Smith, and George Willard.

A few of the boys who were enrolled for the fall quarter will not be back this quarter.

STUNT NIGHT

Last year for the first time a stunt night was given which was sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. The purpose of the gate receipts was to buy song books for the organization. The need of song books had been greatly felt, and is still being felt. Although about $25.00 was taken in at the gate, no song books were bought. Why?

WHY? WHY!

Why should the staff of the Teco Echo be elected, and the staff of the TECOAN be appointed? There is no fairness in the situation. If one is to be elected, the other staff should be elected. If the TECOAN staff is appointed, the Teco Echo staff should be appointed.

In the appointing of the staff of the TECOAN, there has been invariably for the past several years D's and Seniors on the staff usually leaving only one person who is eligible for the editorship and business management. Although this may be only an accident, the student body has realized that the accident has happened too frequently. Precaution should be taken in the future that such a situation will not arise.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT

Keep to the right signifies a great deal on the highway of life. Dr. Combs in his talk at the Y. W. C. A. service emphasized that thought. The "Keep to the Right" signs may be seen on the campus in many places. Do we follow the excellent advice? We can keep to the right in class. Giving and receiving help on tests show that the axle has been bent, and we are severing a little away from the right side of life. Borrowing things without the owner's permission shows that perhaps a rock is in the road, and to keep to right is almost impossible. No, not impossible we can keep to the right, and in doing so our life will be paved with happiness.

BE ON A SCHEDULE

The new civilization that we are entering into is going to call for promptness on the part of the individual. Everything that is efficient starts and stops on time. The radio, transportation, every business is organized on a schedule. Our life is a business, and to be the right kind of business it too must be organized on a schedule. Dr. Wright a few weeks ago in Chapel said that if one wants to make the most possible out of his life he will have to follow a schedule. He gave as an illustration the life of Gamiel

Bradford who was an invalid all his life, and yet wrote hundreds of poems, articles, plays, editorials, and also found time to keep a journal. He could do this because he followed a definitely organized schedule. We are going to have to follow a definite schedule, and the time to prepare ourselves is now. If we are not accustomed to be on time, now is the time to get in step with the progress of the civilization around us.

THINK BEFORE YOU ACT

Although it may seem rather early in the year to be talking about the elections for next year, it is essential that we begin thinking of them.

The offices to be filled at the spring elections should be held by girls who are capable, trust-worthy, broad-minded, and in many instances, girls with experience in the particular line for which they are running.

To nominate girls for an office because they are cute or because they are your friends show exactly how little your minds really are. We do not stop when we nominate a person if she is willing to sacrifice many hours for that work—and often without any credit for doing it. Consequently, we find the standard of our offices lowered. The girl will want the honor—but not the work.

Before the nominations this spring, go over the qualifications of every girl who is eligible for any office. Talk with people who have worked with her—decide who will give her best unsparingly, and elect that girl.

ADJUSTMENTS

One characteristic of a good teacher is that she should be able to make an adjustment in her social life to the community in which she is living. We are learning to be teachers, but unless we can adjust our ways to the ways of the college we are already handicapped in our chosen work.

A girl who smokes at home cannot smoke here. She must adjust herself to the rules of the college. A student must sign up when leaving campus. This is only for the purpose of helping the student. One who continually walks off campus without signing up has not yet understood the necessity of adjustment. A student must also adjust herself to the privileges of her class. One class may have a privilege that you desire, but cannot have. Don't take it, but try to adjust your college life to the privileges you have.

With the changes going on about us, we are going to have to make many adjustments. If we start now, it will be easier later on.

A LITTLE REPAIR NEEDED

A number of C. W. A. projects are being carried on about the campus. These are all needed improvements; but there are several improvements that cannot be seen that needs to be attended to. Although no serious accident has happened while students were coming down the steps from the first floor of Austin building to the basement, the steps are in such a bad condition that perhaps as one of the projects they should be repaired. It has been said that a stitch in time saves nine, and a little repair work on these steps may save some one a broken leg or a sprained ankle.

Another little project that could be carried through is to put a light at the front hall steps in West Jarvis. On the brightest days the stairs are always dark, and one has to grope his way down for fear of falling. These little changes will not cost much, and will help a great deal.

SITTING ON NEW GATEWAYS

Dr. Wright asked the students not to sit on the new gateways that have been built on the campus. After hearing him talk, they realized that it did not make a good impression for people to see them sitting there.

On the other hand, the gateway seemed to be the solution of the problem that has been confronting those students who can not walk on Fifth street on Sunday. They had found a place to sit down. After being in her room for 2 hours, naturally one would want to go out on the campus. What is there to do after one gets there? It is tiresome to spend all of the time walking, but there are only a few benches to accommodate the large number of students. A few more benches placed on the campus will help the situation a great deal.

Don't Quote Me

From the way some of the girls around here act you would think they were at a masquerade or else they were trying to camouflage somebody. They remind me right much of a little poem I heard on one time.

"Blow me down
A little paint
Makes her look like
What she ain't."

And in short time when our co-eds will be prancing around on the basketball court with one eye on the ball and the other on the sidelines, the girls will be like this:

"Come days when the girl
Cuts the football hero short
And casts her fickle orbs upon
The basket baller's court."

But from what I hear the football heroes (?) also intend to be the rah, rah guys of basketball. However, don't quote me.

I was walking along behind Jimmy Johnson and Bill Puckett the other day and I heard Jimmy say, "Well, what did you say to that new girl last night?" Er, I asked if I could see her home, and she said she would send me a picture of it." Wonder why she said that?

And boys, if you are planning to spring a surprise on yourself and propose to your girl during the holidays—just don't do it this way—you might get results—but don't quote me. She: "I know you have something on your mind. Won't you tell me what it is?"

He: "What I wanted to say is that there is not another man in the world who yearns for a mother-in-law as much as I do since I have become acquainted with you." A long way of getting anywhere.

It seems that Mae West has even influenced religious activities, because an announcement on the bulletin board at Drake University read "Come up some time—anytime—to the Christian Endeavor society meeting." That little phrase seems to be rather popular with some of the girls here—just who I'm not going to say, but from their actions you would think that was their pass word—but don't quote me!

At Hunter College one out of 650 Frosh says they're planning to marry after graduation. That doesn't apply to E. C. T. C. however, so don't get excited. If we had an interview of our Frosh I could call the names of those who plan to be wedded, but I'm not going to as I prefer not to be quoted.

Don't quote me, but I heard that Theo Eason remarked that two girls told him that they fell in love during the holidays. Wonder why they should pick out Theo? Oh well, as advice to the lovers, but I can't offer my advice, I merely say, don't quote me!

Don't quote me but I heard that blonde boy from Pittsburg had a new girl. If he keeps on he'll be worse than John Blanchard. Now how did John Blanchard's name get in here—well if you know say so—but don't quote me.

FROM THE CAMPUS FLAG POLE

Happy New Year to you all from the flag pole sifter. Funny how everyone says, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Who is that laughing? Oh, I see it is in the psychology class—and is Dr. Adams theme song "Is My Face Red?" Let's see what he has to say—oh, yes—I hear the words "world war"—Am I really in the psychology room or is it the history room? I wish they would stop laughing for a while so I could ask what was funny. Finally, they are through; and I find out that Dr. Adams said that during an examination during the war; they examined part of him in one room, and part in another. Wonder how they got him together again?

I hear some one talking behind me. I wonder if I can turn around? It's awfully hard to turn around, because I really don't have a very good place to sit. However, there is so much that is interesting that I don't mind it. To go back to who was talking—John Blanchard, and one of his numerous girls. His motto must be, "Love 'em and leave 'em." I wonder who will be the next one who will be roped in, and get left after a few days of blarney. I'll bet—who will take my bet. Some day some one will come along and John will try to string them along—and maybe they will have a line too. What would he think if one day he was the one that way, well—you know what. From the way he acts, you would almost think school was a fraternity, and he was the person to do all the rushing. Enough, enough from me—just a mere flag-pole sifter.

I can even see as far as the campus building—and do I see plenty that is happening there. Over in one corner is one of the girls on the campus who is actively engaged in Y. W. work and one of the co-eds who says he is going to be a preacher. I believe Bax—Oh pardon—is just fooling. Anyway, I guess they have so much in common that they have to have extended conversation. Ain't it grand?

Ho hum! it is a tiresome job sitting on this woobly perch. And, even though I didn't spend Thanksgiving here, I'm telling you I heard things. What was that rumor about the girls having dates in their rooms. I got quite excited about it, but then my feathers fell for they were nothing but stuffed dates that they made in the kitchen. I never felt so let down since the time I heard that there wasn't any Santa Claus.

And another thing—did you know that there's a girl on our fair campus that can't tell the diff in a kitchen and a bowling alley? Whatta woman! Where did she hail from? I wonder.

Have you all seen these spunklers that some girls have newly acquired? The size of them would quite astonish you, as they are about the size of a dot over an I. But as I've heard before, it's the thought, pardon me, sentiment, that counts and not the size of the gift. Oh well, another good man gone wrong—

And to what, may I ask, were all those circles under eyes due to after the Christmas holidays? College will tell on you since anybody can tell when you aren't used to dissipating.

In the opinion of Professor Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, there are not very many college professors in the country who know the meaning of money. Perhaps its because they never have had enough to try to understand the meaning of it. Well, some people are simply; I really need Amy in "Little Women" here to supply the word, but here it is: One of the students here said, "That girl rolls her eyes like Mae West." One of the new students said with an innocent air, "Is Mae West a member of the faculty?" I just wonder which one she thought resembled Miss West—and whether in looks or action. Personally, I think she didn't know her Mae West, but don't quote me.

One music teacher said that teaching a child the "Star Spangled Banner" ruined their voice. I know Miss Kuykendall has realized that a good many of her students have been taught the "Star Spangled Banner." Really, when some of them start singing do, re, me, you would almost think their voice was changing. They often start with a squeak and end on a squawk—You can hear it any day—but don't quote me.

I have never looked to see which of my plays has made the most money. It is trouble enough to make money without having to count it afterwards—George Bernard Shaw.

MUSINGS

I have seen large and small families; I have seen twins and triplets; I have heard of quadruplets and Siamese twins, all of which are astonishing feats of nature, but there is one feat of nature which I consider greater than any of these.

Mother Nature has a sister, Artificial Nature, who has outdone her to a certain extent down here in Eastern North Carolina. She has brought into existence a very unusual family, which is unusual not only from the standpoint of size, but from the standpoint of variety as well.

The father, or head of the family, is Dr. Robt. H. Wright, and he, together with his professional relatives, reside in Greenville the better part of each year. There must have been some trouble between him and some of our other brothers and sisters sometime in the past because he either moved across the street from his professional family, or sent it across the street to live!

One of the most unusual things about the family is the fact that such a majority of the kids are of one sex. Simply take the greatest word in the English language, MALE and prefix it with a "FEE" of all you ever expect to earn and you have the answer FEMALE, the most expensive word in all language! And those people who say that the minority always rules, are, so far as I'm concerned, numbskulls, while those who believe that the majority rules in some instances are geniuses, for the girls run everything here except touchdowns, and they hollered so loud while it was being made that they attracted more attention than did the successful player!

I am positive about what I have just said, but the next is second hand dope, therefore treat it as such. Someone told me that during a meeting of the "tutors" hired by Mr. Wright for the purpose of shaping correctly the minds of his family, Dr. Slay, the "elephant" representative of the minority party, gruffly made a motion, and hurriedly, fearfully, and definitely withdrew it when Miss Turner, the "Humming bird" of the majority, weakly opposed it!

Everything functions smoothly in our household most of the time, in fact, almost as smooth as the daily routine of the fish in the pool by the library, but even a fish's life is not always a bed of roses, especially when he is continuously being soaked to the skin by a perpetual showerer which has been constructed over his home and over which he has no control.

Every family has its little minor troubles, and true to form, we have ours. At times, some thoughtless child grumbles about the beef being too tough, or coming too often, or the soup being too thin, or about the lights going out too early or about the shows being a little stale, and I have even heard one person grumble about the sales tax we pay in the "Y" store! What a thoughtless child! I wonder if she ever thought about the fact that sales tax pennies are about all that the head of the family relies upon for the purpose of keeping us together! (By the way, that "Y" is the first letter in "Young Woman's!")

And—But wait! To best stop, for some kid brother or sister might accuse me of making public some of our family secrets in such a way as to cause outsiders to learn them, and that would never do! I guess it's all right for you to have read this, but I must ask that you keep it in the family!

FROM THE CAMPUS FLAG POLE

Well, I'm back again! It's getting cold up here, and if I wasn't so interested in telling you the things I see, I'd be coming down.

But, who is that little black-haired co-ed that has returned to school this term? To be seen and said that he's a crack basketball player. Guess well be seeing two more love birds around the hall now. Oh, dear!

And speaking on that subject: What was that play we had not so long ago? Strange as it may seem the hero is concentrating his affections on one certain fair maid. You just watch—you see them quite often strolling about together.

I hear the whole student body went to see "Little Women." And from this flag pole seat, I could see untold numbers going up town. I wonder how many of these girls aspire for a hero like Laurie or Professor Blaine? All the remarks I've heard have been complimentary. As for me—but it's not for me to say what I would do—I'm merely a flag pole sifter.

You know sometimes I have a little time for reading and I saw in one paper that the President of Southern California says that a college student uses "Swed" to describe 4972 situations. If he would come to E. C. T. C., and hear what I hear he could probably add several more to his list. Why only yesterday I heard somebody say, "He is a swell looking guy."

'Tis rumored that a co-ed who was out of school last term on account of illness and has returned is quite in his seventh heaven because the maker of his choice is back in school, having been absent for the past week.

And what has happened to the young prospective preacher and to the girl who is so vitally interested in "Y" work? From my perch I seldom see them, but before Christmas, they were always in view. Something must have happened over the holidays. I'll cast a critical eye every time I see either approach and maybe I'll be able to give you more information next time. Hero worship is created anew with the beginning of the basketball season. Speaking of movie fans, well—the basketball team has fans too. Or at least that's what I'd think if I were asked to judge. Why the yell, I hear coming from the direction of the campus building on nights when they have games are enough to deafen me.

And I was asked if I knew who that girl was who had optical illusions concerning a Christmas present from a certain sailor lad. I don't know, but I'm sure I feel sorry for her. It's awful to be disappointed, even though the season has past. I hope that she hears from him.

And have you noticed the co-eds that have been made conspicuous by their absences this term. And on the other hand, have you noticed the girls who have visibly mourned their departure. Poor girls, maybe they'll come back Spring term.

By the looks of things from my view of our campus it is being all too built anew. Those granite gateways surely do look pretty from here. Well, I'll be seeing you. Come up to see me sometime.

MRS JETER'S HOBBY

Mrs. Jeter's hobby has changed materially through the years, but her "love of the beautiful has remained constant.

As a child it was her joy to wander through the fields and drink in nature and her greatest pleasure to gather locust shells that clung to the trees.

The beauty in sewing was perceived by her at an early age. At nine she could ply her needle sufficiently well to make her own clothes. Perhaps, she said she would have made bed quills then but she heard the old saying that if a girl makes bed bed quilts she becomes a confirmed old maid. Therefore, she waited until after she was suitably married. In the last two years she has made four bed quilts. The most recent one is the "Gorge Washington Flower Garden."

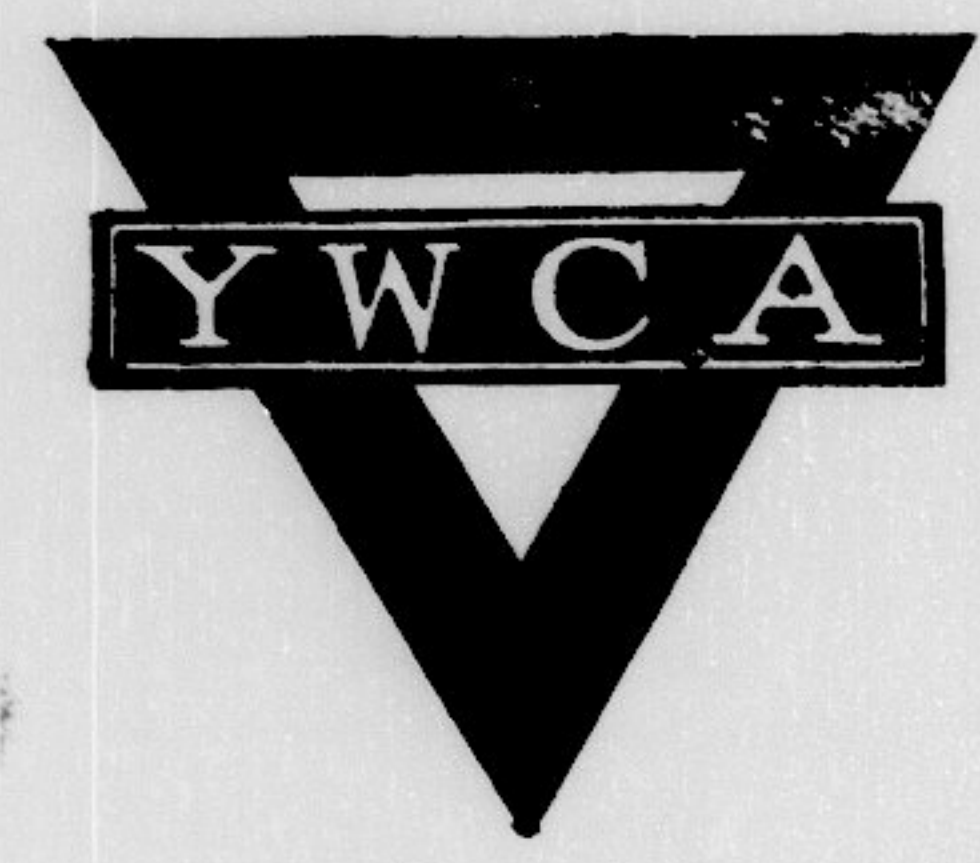

In the field of the natural she does gardening in her home in Lynchburg. The most outstanding manifestation we note of this hobby is the flower of worn in her hair.

What Other People Say

In looking over the exchanges we find something that should be quite interesting to the students. It comes from a column entitled "Seen On Other Campuses" in the Hy-Po, the High Point College newspaper.

"Now for Greenville and E. C. T. C.—Here we are—Classes are just over; look at all the girls! There are 850 girls and 30 boys here—the boys have plenty of company, anyway." "They have eleven buildings here, not counting the power house—The C. W. A. works in a work beautifying the campus."

"The Campus Building where the games are played, is the most attractive. A fish pond with a fountain in the center, stands directly in front of this building, and a lake is close by—the lake proved to be the most popular spot on the campus." "We're lucky twice—This does not matter—There's a dance after the Saturday night's game—Everybody's having a swell time." "Coach Yow is getting rused, and it's not the bum's rush either. (Maybe the girls like the big masculine type) "Pinky" Williams isn't doing so bad for himself either—G. I. Humphries, Jr., isn't sitting around twiddling his thumbs either—"Red" Boothe renders a selection which is well received by the girls.

"Time for fond farewells—"Chin" Diamond has turned out collector—He is proudly exhibiting the 17 pictures of girls he has secured. (No one knows where he got them)—Manager Sherrill seems popular in the line, too. (He got only seven however)—"Bob" Roncyer and Debro Peeler don't want to leave so Coach is going to leave them—Coach changed his mind however, and is going back to get them."

"Well, that's three in a row—Everybody's happy—Here's High Point—Now to work." "We should have a cracker-jack baseball team this spring. (All the boys are going out, just to make the trip to E. C. T. C."

A lovely woman is the epitome of luxury. But you can't have a lovely woman in democracy—Joseph Hergesheimer.
