Miss Noblett, graduate of the College, Jackson, Miss., was elected President of NSFA for the year beginning January 1st, after a hotly contested battle with Charles C. of the University of West.

Miss Taylor of the University of Arizona and president of the National Association of Teachers, was unanimously elected vice-president. Miss D. Osborne of Bus. University, Congress Chairman, made treasurer unanimously.

Northwood, Jr., of the University was appointed delegate at large to the Executive Committee until June 30.

The newly elected officers of the Executive Committee being July 1 will include Mrs. J. H. Troy, of Pembroke College, as president; Mrs. Harper Barnes, University of North Carolina; George Date, of the University of Alabama; Virginia Selter, University of Ohio State; and Mrs. J. H. Troy, University of Colorado.

The discussion groups were held on December 29. The four held in the morning were held to problems concerning the education of women's educational schools and women's educational schools. Each of the groups considered student government set-ups, duties, policies, relation to faculty. The afternoon session was devoted to ethics and publications.

The discussion on the Honor system showed that generally students favored it. It is true that other schools are abolishing honor systems. Social functions at the College consisted of an informal one on the first night of the convention and a banquet and a dance on December 31.

Senior Class Presents Successful Melodrama

Mary Dirnberger Directs the Gala Revival of Drama of The Nineteenth Century.

PRESENTED FEBRUARY 13 AND 14.

Scene is laid in New York in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany, newly rich people who imagine themselves fashionable.

"Fashion", the nineteenth century melodrama given by the Senior Class of the College February 13 and 14 in the Austin Auditorium was highly enjoyed by the large audience that attended on both nights of its presentation. The play was successfully given as a portion of the FEBA drama project under the direction of Mary Dirnberger. This is the third production directed by Miss Dirnberger, and all three of them have been most successful.

The play was a brilliant society drama in five acts that was most popular when it was written in 1845 by Mrs. Anne Cora Mowatt, who was herself a lady of Fashion.

All of the acts were laid in the Tiffany home in New York City. Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford took the part of Mrs. Tiffany excellently, and portrayed the supposedly fashionable lady with all the artifice of her kind. The part of Mr. Tiffany, her husband, was played by Godfrey Oakley, who was the typical New York merchant, completely dominated by his wife. Their daughter, Scraphina Tiffany, was played by Sue Elizabeth Smith, who played the part of the silly young girl in her teen age that was interested in all men.

Martha Hart Peole, had the part of Gertrude, the governess of Scraphina. She was the real heroine of the play, and the play was true to the likes of the audience who saw it after it was first written. She portrayed virtue, an actress, Colonel Howard, an officer in the United States army, was played by Billy Tolson, who did a creditable piece of acting.

Paul Fitzgerald, a Count Jolimatin, a fake count, by his suave manner gave an excellent interpretation of Villiany.

Perry King was outstanding in a double role. He took the part of T. Tenyson Twinkle, a modern poet, who wrote love verses to Scraphina and the part of Scobson, the confidential clerk of Mr. Tiffany. He played both roles with alacrity.

Betty Carswell, a maiden lady of a certain age, who was the sister of Mrs. Tiffany, was outstanding. She added much to the humor of the play by the phrase that she always spoke, "I told you so."

Jack Humphrey, the up-state New York farmer, was quite good. He was the grandfather of Gertrude, and in the end she became his heiress.

Katherine Crowe, the impudent French maid, was very clever in her role. She laughed at Mrs. Tiffany behind her back, but was an indispensable help in telling Mrs. Tiffany of French customs, and styles.

Zeko, the colored servant, was played by C. O. Armstrong. He was one of the outstanding characters of the play, and to him goes a lot of the credit for the humor.

Clifton Crawford, in the role of Augustus Fogg, did his part well.

New scenery, footlights and pictorial embellishment, executed under the supervision of Miss Dirnberger, assisted by Mae Heame, Phoebe Barnes and Helene Lassiter, were especially built for this production.

Etzel Callis served as stage manager.

Carolina Glee Club Is Well Received

University of North Carolina Glee Club Appeared in the Campus Building On February 11, in a Program of Songs.

DIRECTED BY H. GRADY MILLER.

Senior Class Entertains Members of Glee Club After the Concert.

The Glee Club of the University of North Carolina appeared in the Campus building in a varied program of songs Monday night, February 11. The entire program was well received by the large number of people that attended.

The program consisted of five groups of songs. The first group was composed of three sacred songs, "Grant Us To Do With Zeal" by Bach, "Hymn of the Pilgrims" by McDowell, "All Praise To God" by Wagner.

The next number was a baritone solo "The Open Road" sung by James P. Dees. Dees is a Greenville boy, and he is remembered as having sung at the college many times before.

The group of Russian songs proved to be very enjoyable. "Fire Flies," a Russian Folk Song "Sun and Moon" from Greichannov, and the "Song of the Cudgie" made up the group that the Glee Club sang with all the zest of the Russians.

Probably the group of songs that were enjoyed by Greenville was a group of Southern songs, including "Grandma Grunts," arranged by Bartholomew. "This Ole Hammer," arranged by Work, "Toll De Bell Angel," arranged by Weaver, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Oh, Mary Don't You Weep," and "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray."

The guest tenor, Paul K. Gyles sang "Hills" from La Forge and gave two clever interpretations, one of an Irishman, and one of an Italian.

The group of Sea Chanties all of them arranged by Bartholomew completed the program. In this group were "Eight Bells," "Away to Rio," "Old Man Noah" and "What Shall We Do With a Drunken Sailor."

This is the second time that the Glee Club has appeared here recently. Their program of songs are always well attended and are highly appreciated.

The Glee Club is under the direction of H. Grady Miller. Helen Glenn Powell served as the accompanist in the concert given here.

John Barney is President of the organization, Ezra Griffin is Vice-President, Harold Gavin is Secretary, Claude H. Ballard is Treasurer, and Sam Lane serves as Publicity manager.

After the concert the Glee Club and the men students of the school were the guests of the Senior Class.

EMORY DEBATE TEAM REPRESENT NSFA AT ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES

Emory University, Ga. (NSFA)—A two-man team from Emory University will represent the National Student Federation in a five-week debate tour of leading English universities this spring.

Sailing during the second week in April, the Emory orators will spend three weeks abroad.

Last season the University of West Virginia supplied the talent which made its mark against England's prominent student debaters. Due to the success of the southern accent during that tour, it is expected that the Emory team will be well received on the British Isle this year.

News writers should take the losing side. There are too many on the winning side, too many influences. On the unpopular side one can be himself.—Ben Hecht.

SPELLING TEST

A spelling test will be given on Friday of this week, February 22, at the seventh period, 3:30 o'clock in Room 109.

This is arranged especially for Seniors and D's who, because of conflicts with practice teaching, could not take the test given earlier in the term.

Another opportunity will be offered early in the Spring term, but all those who have not yet passed in Spelling and expect to get degrees or diplomas this year, are advised to take this test.

Dr. Heck Speaks To Science Club

Dr. C. M. Heck Of State College Talks To Science Club On "Old Man Weather."

Dr. C. M. Heck, professor of Physics at State College, and C. M. Bartlett, graduate student in Physics there, addressed the Science Club last night. Dr. Heck spoke on the subject, "Our Friend, the Weather." He insisted that the weather was the closest friend that we have, and proved it by itemizing the several aids that the weather provided us with. First of all, a normal temperature. The earth would be unbearably cold were it not for the protecting covering around it. Second this same blanket serves as a sheath of armor around the earth to protect it from falling meteors, for even though they are no larger than a pin head they fall from such a distance and with such rapidity that they would do much damage if something did not intercept their passage.

The air also serves to purify the atmosphere. Were it not for the purifying effects of the air the earth would be so murky that breathing fresh air would be impossible, stated Dr. Heck. He further said that the air was very beneficial in bringing water to the country, for it would take a great many horses working constantly to take the place of the air in bringing water.

"Though it seems commonplace to us," Dr. Heck said, "the air brings us day and night, summer and winter, and this is one of the most startling phenomena of the whole universe."

Dr. Heck closed his talk by saying that the weather brings the most concentrated form of beauty known to mankind, snow flukes. He also brought out that the statement "Good Morning" really could mean "good morning" and urged the members of the Science Club to feel "good morning."

Mr. Bartlett gave a short talk bringing out the points of ancient scientific societies. He completed his talk by saying that a teacher is simply a more intense student.

Harper Barnes, a student at the University of North Carolina and Chairman of the Southeast Division of the National Student Federation of America gave a short talk on youth movement.

"The Youth movement is prevalent in America, not a movement of revolting student as there existed in Cuba and in Germany, but there is a group of young people in America intelligently interested and intelligently alert to the world outside," said Barnes, in his opening sentence. "The National Student Federation represents the students of America; it is a capable organ, working efficiently," he further stated.

Barnes told of a plan on foot by John Lang, President of the National Student Federation to install a plan of Federal Youth Service. This plan has received enthusiasm, and the endorsement of national leaders. Barnes urged that the student body of this college authorize the student body President to get in touch with the Senators and Represent-

Student Leaders Visit Campus

Harper Barnes And Kenneth Goodson Address Student Body In Mass Meeting.

HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Barnes Is Chairman of South East Division N. S. F. A.; Goodson, President of The North Carolina Student Federation.

Harper Barnes and Kenneth Goodson, two student leaders of North Carolina were on the campus Monday night and addressed the student body at a mass meeting.

Goodson, who is a student at Duke University and who is also President of the North Carolina Student Federation addressed the group first. He gave a short history of the Student Federation of North Carolina saying that it was founded by John Lang in 1927 then a student at the University of North Carolina. The alliance was first made between the University and Duke. A year or so later, Wake Forest, Davidson and State were asked to join the Union. It was then known as the "Big Five Friendship Council." Since that time it has added many other North Carolina Colleges until its total membership now is 36.

"The aims of the group are two-fold," stated Goodson. "First to instill in the heart of every collegiate a spirit of cooperation, and second, to bring all those problems that the colleges of North Carolina have in common to a point where there is a focal point and some solutions can be offered for these problems?"

The North Carolina Student Federation would be a futile organization were there nothing back of the organization except a little sentiment, further stated young Goodson. Instead there is a deeper meaning to its organization. There is room for the student league to do something. North Carolina is degenerate in her educative processes. She is fifth from the bottom in the forty-eight states, and still the students of North Carolina seem to do nothing about it.

"On the subject of War and Peace the college students of America should be vitally concerned. The question of deciding war is left to the diplomats. If diplomacy fails then the war goes on. And who does the fighting? Not the diplomats, but the college students. They should be the ones to oppose war also, and not leave it entirely to the diplomats. The Student Federation wishes to make itself known along these lines."

Mr. Goodson closed by saying "It is imperative that a united feeling be created and that the students stand together on all issues—not for a religious order, but one of peace."

Harper Barnes, a student at the University of North Carolina and Chairman of the Southeast Division of the National Student Federation of America gave a short talk on youth movement.

"The Youth movement is prevalent in America, not a movement of revolting student as there existed in Cuba and in Germany, but there is a group of young people in America intelligently interested and intelligently alert to the world outside," said Barnes, in his opening sentence. "The National Student Federation represents the students of America; it is a capable organ, working efficiently," he further stated.

First Public Recital of Year Is To Be Given Thursday

Carolina Minstrel Proves Enjoyable

Eighteenth Century Costumes Featured In Pirate Minstrel. Miss Lorraine Hunter Coaches Production Held February Eighth.

Mr. R. C. Deal In Full Regalia Serves As Interlocutor.

The Varsity Club of East Carolina Teachers College presented their second annual Carolina minstrel on Friday night, February 8. The entertainment was highly successful, financially and provided much entertainment for the audience.

The costumes worn by the men and girls of the chorus were of the eighteenth century in style. Satin trousers, silk stockings, much lace, and powdered wigs characterized the costumes of the men, as the hoop skirts, and varied colored velvet made up the dress of the girls.

Mr. R. C. Deal wearing the full red regalia of a pirate captain served as interlocutor. He proved to be especially clever in tying together the jokes cracked by the end men.

Somewhat the same stage setting was used that was used in the Carolina Minstrel given last year. The chorus boys and girls were seated at tables during the entire show, except during the last few numbers. They took part in singing of the choruses composed of such popular numbers as "June in January," "Rain," "Love in Bloom," "Mandy," "Pop Goes Your Heart," "Object of my Affection," "Happiness Ahead," and "Looking for a Needle in a Haystack," in addition to about thirty others.

Among the special attractions was a waltz done by Elizabeth Ferguson and Primrose Carpenter. Miss Ferguson wore a dress that was owned by her grandmother and they danced with all the gracefulness of the gay nineties. Carolyn Hamric did two specialty numbers, including a pirate tap dance and the Mazurka. Miss Hamric, who teaches dancing in Greenville and in neighboring towns, did these numbers very creditably. Jackie Strickland and C. O. Armstrong dressed as two negroes danced the Cake Walk, the popular negro clog.

Louise Briley and Lucy Barrow danced the stately minuet. Just before the end of the show, the entire chorus joined in the Virginia Reel.

Clara Mac Martin assisted by Primrose Carpenter executed the intricate steps of the modern dance.

Dan Wright had charge of the orchestra, composed of Troy Burnette, Withers Harvey, Jimmie Carr, Joe Walker, Melvin Willard, and Katie Lee Johnson.

The end men were John Clark, Gus Forbes, James Ray Pittman, Jimmie Johnson, W. O. Jolly, Theo Eason, Runt Bostic, Jerry Davis, Jack Humphrey, and George Willard. Willard, Forbes, Clark and Pittman did the outstanding solo work and assisted a great deal in the choruses. The boys in the chorus were Frank Ferabee, Durwood Stowe, Howard Perkins, Geraldine James, Nathan Epstein, Lefty Dunn, Perry King, Jack Barrett, Charles McClees, and Primrose Carpenter. The girls in the chorus were Virginia Akers, Rebecca Pridgen, Olivia McDaniels, Helen Sawyer, Flora Teague, Eloise Boone, Margaret Bostic, Hazel Waddell, Catherine Crowe, Della Grace Wilson, and Jean Thomas.

NSFA PRESIDENT LANG TO ATTEND VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE CONFERENCE

Atlantic City, N. J.—(NSFA)—To present the student point of view, John A. Lang, President of the National Student Federation, has been invited to participate in the 20th annual conference of the National Vocational Guidance Association to be held in Atlantic City, N. J., February 21 through 24.

Mr. Lang will take part in a panel discussion on the "Problem of Unemployed Youth" on February 22nd, describing the work of NSFA in this field and suggesting experimental remedies which he has advocated for some time in Washington. He will emphasize the limitations of the assistance and guidance youth is getting at present and point out practical methods to extend and improve activities to solve the social and economic problems facing young people today.

On February 24th, Mr. Lang has been invited by Director Geo. F. WE ASK FOR BETTER SALARIES

The fact that a former graduate of East Carolina Teachers College has made North Carolina more conscious than ever of the very low rate of teachers salaries in the State, brings to mind that we are just a part of the North Carolina public, and realize the meager salaries that teachers receive.

At the present rate of teachers' salaries many of the best prepared teachers in the profession are leaving it to go into some other kind of work because they receive a higher salary.

The teachers in the state have no organized business league to which they belong, and take the cuts offered them apparently without a murmur.

The salary of the teachers in the schools of North Carolina ranks very low in accordance with the schools of the other forty-eight states in the union.

What we rise to ask, are the teachers to do? If the salary remains the same all the best in the profession will be gone—all those who can find something else to do will have jobs elsewhere.

What we rise to ask, are the teachers to do? If the salary remains the same all the best in the profession will be gone—all those who can find something else to do will have jobs elsewhere.

COMMUNITY DRAMA

As the project in Community Drama progresses it is more apparent of the worth-whileness of it. The last production, the annual Senior Class play, is only a sample of the splendid work that has been done this year, and such an example surely stands for something.

American drama has progressed a long way since the play recently produced was written, and it is understood that amateur actors and actresses are more accustomed to taking part in plays constructed on modern lines, but in the past production they showed that they were capable of aiding in the production of a play of a by-gone era also.

Students who take an active part in the production of these plays either back stage or before the footlights will go to their respective communities with added experience of how to produce a play.

These plays that have been given in the college this year is surely proof that the Community Drama project has, thus far, been highly successful.

WE ADMIRE THEM

The strike recently made at Appalachian State Teachers College for more social privileges was surely justifiable. The college officials were put in a rather embarrassing position, and showed their wisdom by trying to settle matters as soon as possible.

If college students are not trusted to mingle with each other in a normal adult fashion while they are in college, then should they be allowed to go into communities and teach the youth of the state?

The spirit of the Appalachian students surely deserves sincere admiration. There cannot be a college student in the State who does not sympathize with them, and are glad that they had grit enough to throw off that foolish rule, no matter if they did have to use drastic measures to accomplish their ends.

Again, the fact arises, that if normal adult college seniors cannot be trusted to mingle with members of the opposite sex then are they capable of teaching the youth of the state next year?

WHAT ABOUT TENNIS

Intercollegiate athletics are one of the greatest advances, we feel, that has been made in student activity during the past several years. Certainly the greatest advance made during the residence of the present student body.

The tennis courts we understand, are under the supervision of students doing FERA work. We also realize that these students have taken part this year extensively in the organized form of athletics on the campus.

Trouble saver: Co-eds at Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.) have formed the Cloister Club, composed of girls whose boy friends are not on the campus.

A women's rooming house at the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis) received a new roommate. Within an hour, so the story goes, some of the other girls frantically called the head of the school in which the new inmate was a student, to learn if homework was necessary in her courses.

At least 12 university presidents are feeling good at the moment—in varying degrees. 12 colleges were listed by Edwin Embree, of the Julius Rosenwald fund, as the best in the nation.

Now it turns out that a sports writer on the Indiana University (Bloomington) Daily Student did not pick Red Grange for his mythical eleven after Red's Sophomore year, explaining that all Grange could do was run.

CRYPTOGRAPHS

You may or may not know anything about deserts or anything connected with them, but we believe that you should have no trouble in working this Cryptograph. As a clue, we'll tell you that it is concerned with a beautiful maiden, a lieutenant, and that the scene of the romance, if it can be called such, is in the biggest desert in the world.

Every new instrument that civilization has devised—property, currency, credit, the machine—has widened the breach between individuals and heaped up inequalities and misery.—Dr. Reinold Neibuhr.

Standing pat is negative retrogression.—Prof. E. G. Spauling.

Contrary to the aims of collegiate schools of business administration, recent surveys and computations show that only one or two out of every five college students can become successful business men.

The old story of the boy who is "working his way through college" takes on a new angle at the University of Vermont (Burlington), where one lad, now a senior, has financed his education by building and construction work—building everything from dog houses to residences.

Another unique type of job came to light on the same campus. One girl makes a profession of preparing her sister students for proms and fraternity dances. She takes care of their fingernails and coiffures.

Now, says a columnist at the University of Oklahoma (Norman), is apparent the meaning of the phrase, "Dear, you'll be the death of me!"

The College columnist defines a nudist: One who goes coatless and vestless, and wears trousers to match.

THE ULTIMA RATIO

The Seniors are still talking about it—I mean the Glee Club from the University. It seems as if everyone had a perfectly marvelous time, entertaining the boys afterwards. We hope that they enjoyed it as much as the girls seemed to.

We hear that we're to have a college dance this year. E. C. T. C. surely is getting along swell. But may we say that we approve of it most heartily.

We don't know anything on G. R. Gammon, Jr., this week except that he rented a second-hand mandolin and tried to serenade Helen Boomer in Jarvis Hall.

Eighty-one editors and class officers and social committee chairmen are independents, while 434 are Greeks.

Which looks fine for the fraternities. But the eye-opener is that of the 27 colleges which reported scholastic averages, over half stated that independents had better academic grades than the Greeks.

A Columbia University (New York City) correspondent reports that the statisticians claim nine out of ten women are knock-kneed—and then he falls to wondering how in the world statisticians find out such things.

Whatever practicing newsmen may say about professors of journalism, they can't say professors don't recognize a great story when they see one.

A bright lad at the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis), turning of the monotony of his news editing lab course, tore off a piece of the yellow tele-type machine paper on which press association news is received.

lives in Jonesboro won't tell me anything one—

And little Hinky Pritchard, too! We don't believe that she could be so—well I guess we'll have to call it dumb—Nevertheless she did fill a date, dated about two years in advance—she hasn't given a reason for it yet.

And what about those three girls that were mentioned quite a while ago that were so kind in helping Jere Davis with his campus course?

And speaking of Jere, we want to know why he found the Senior play so extremely uninteresting? He suddenly decided right in the middle of one of the acts to leave—we can't help wondering why—

"Red" Flanagan seems to have gotten over that stage of embarrassment. He surely has been running around a lot lately.

Ed Parker was down checking up on his girl this past week-end. But as luck would have it, she went home to spend the week-end. Maybe he'll find a substitute.

Speaking of Ed, it reminds us that we were glad to see Alva Van Nortwick, Wardell Mills and George Wilkerson this past week-end. It seemed like old times to have them around again.

We want to know what has happened to Lefty Dunn and the blonde Venus. We haven't seen them together in three or four days. "Tis talked about campus that she did like a little Greenville boy that has black hair too, until Lefty came along. So we wonder what has happened to Lefty now.

Mary Love says she doesn't see much of "Red" Smith at the library now. She says he used to come around, and help her, etc. but he doesn't come around any longer. It seems as if all the boys are back sliding.

We retract all our statements concerning Boomer and G. R. Jr. We can stand for anything but G. R.'s infidelity. It seems as if Boomer is losing out rapidly to Catherine Woodall, too.

We wonder how Louise Taylor felt going three days without talking to a boy.

In a game featured by the closest guarding this season, Coach Frank's sextet effectively averaged the team's only lead the season. Play throughout first half was as close as the margin at the turn in.

However, in the second period, Askev, Bunn, and Fulton showed the superiority of championship forwards, and scored a total of nineteen points. Askev and Fulton led their team's scoring in the second half.

Bunn turned in excellent around play. Bunn netted free throws in four tries.

RECIPES FUND SOLD FOR ALUMNAE FUND AT BARNARD RE

New York.—(NSFA)—Professors and well-known cooks have contributed many tasty recipes to make up Barnard's Own Recipe Book listed in pamphlet form for the benefit of the Alumnae fund.

In introducing the book at the annual Alumnae Dinner, Dean Virginia C. sleeve said, "It is fashionably domestic. Barnard is tough times. Hence, Barnard's Own domestic."

Lives in Jonesboro won't tell not thing one— And little Hinky Pritchard, too! We don't believe that she could be so well I guess we'll have to call it dumb—Nevertheless she did fill a date, dated about two years in advance—she hasn't given a reason for it yet! And what about those three girls that were mentioned quite a while ago that were so kind in helping Jere Davis with his campus course?

And speaking of Jere, we want to know why he found the Senior play so extremely uninteresting? He suddenly decided right in the middle of one of the acts to leave—we can't help wondering why—"There is a reason—"

And the Senior Play caused backward Stowe, quite a bit of bother—It seems as if Stowe was a ticket, and ready cash—but he did go. We want to know how he got in? Suppose you tell us Durward.

"Red" Flanagan seems to have gotten over that stage of embarrassment. He surely has been running around a lot lately.

Seems as if Mary Holtzclaw and Allan Moore are very interested in English every afternoon. I'm sure Miss Greene appreciates their sudden interest. And a couple of comments on the side line—we are sorry that Francis Sinclair can't take the same interest in that English course.

Ed Parker was down checking up on his girl this past week-end. But his luck would have it, she went some to spend the week-end. Maybe he'll find a substitute.

Speaking of Ed, it reminds us that we were glad to see Alva Van Nortwick, Wardell Mills and George Wilkerson this past week end. It seemed like old times to have them around again.

We want to know what has happened to Lefty Dunn and the blonde Venus. We haven't seen them together in three or four days. They talked about campus that the dit like a little Greenville boy that has black hair too, until Lefty came along. So we wonder what has happened to Lefty now.

Mary Love says she doesn't see much of "Red" Smith at the library now. She says he used to come around, and help her, etc., but he doesn't come around any longer. It seems as if all the boys are back sliding.

We retract all our statements concerning Boomer and G. R. Jr. We can stand for anything, but G. R.'s infidelity. It seems as if Boomer is losing out rapidly to Catherine Woodall, too. Speaking of Catherine, it seems as if "Duke" Cobb is not doing so bad himself.

We wonder how Louise Taylor felt going three days without talking to a boy.

ASKEW IS HIGH SCORER RAMBLERS TAKE FOURTH VICTORY Briley, Martin, and Overton Turn In Fine Guarding.

After swamping Chowan College 35-7, earlier in the week, the E. C. T. C. Ramblers continued their winning streak on Friday night to defeat Wingate College 28 to 12.

In a game featured by the closest guarding this season, Coach Frank's sextet effectively avenged the team's only loss of the season. Play throughout the first half was as close as the 9-8 margin at the turn indicates. However, in the second period, Askew, Bunn, and Fulton showed the superiority of championship forwards, and scored a total of nineteen points. Askew and Fulton led their team's scoring in the second half while Bunn turned in excellent all-around play. Bunn netted four free throws in four tries.

Briley, Overton, and Martin played well in every period, and especially during the last half when they limited their opponents to two action goals.

Brooks, Wingate forward, was high scorer for her team, and turned in a wonderful game in her characteristic masculine manner.

The line-up: E. C. T. C.—Forwards, Sinclair (2), Bunn (8), Askew (12), Fulton (6), and Parker; Guards, Briley, Overton, Hearne, Martin, Robeson, and Wilson.

Wingate — Forwards; Brooks (6), Stewart (4), C. Gathings (2), P. Short. Guards; E. Gathings, Bass, V. Stewart, and Hogans.

RECIPE FUND SOLD FOR ALUMNAE FUND AT BARNARD REUNION

New York—(NSFA)—Popular professors and well-known graduates have contributed nineteen tasty recipes to make up "Barnard's Own Recipe Book" published in pamphlet form and sold for the benefit of the Alumnae fund.

In introducing the publication at the annual Alumnae Day luncheon, Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve said, "It is fashionable to be domestic. Barnard is not a cloister. It keeps in touch with the times. Hence, Barnard has gone domestic."

Miss Gildersleeve's contribution to the cook book is a recipe for roast squab served on toast.

N. J. STUDENTS OPPOSE PASSAGE OF TEACHERS' LOYALTY OATH BILL

Trenton, N. J.—(NSFA)—In a concerted effort to defeat the passage of a Teacher's Loyalty Oath Bill in New Jersey, students of NSFA member-colleges in that state led by Executive Committee member Arthur Northwood, Jr., of Princeton University are exerting pressure in the Capitol.

This message, No. 58, introduced by Assemblyman Shelton and supported chiefly by the Daughters of the American Revolution, is aimed to suppress the expression of minority opinions by teachers in New Jersey. If passed, it will be the fifteenth measure of this sort imposed on educators in as many States.

Since the proposal was reported favorably without a hearing by the Committee on Education, students throughout the State are urging that the Committee, headed by Senator Joseph G. Wolber, recall the bill so that those opposed may have an opportunity to express their opinions at a public hearing. A similar measure was defeated in the Legislature last year due to widespread public protest and unless the present attempt to railroad it through at this time is successful, it is expected that an even more vigorous protest of teachers, students and the general public will effect its defeat.

The passage of this measure will give so-called patriotic organizations additional power to interfere with and persecute teachers with minority beliefs, especially those opposed to war and the use of jingoistic propaganda in the schools. Freedom of thought and belief among educators, an essential of true democracy, will be made impossible.

FRENCH STUDENTS IN NATIONWIDE STRIKE TO BAR FOREIGNERS

Paris (NSFA)—Spreading from the University of Paris, a nationwide student strike has been called in an attempt to bar foreigners from the benefits of equal privileges in professional study groups. This evidence of growing Nationalism in French universities was particularly directed against foreign medical students who were prevented from attending classes by well organized pickets.

The chief demand of the student strikers is that foreign practitioners of the medical and allied professions should be prohibited from setting themselves up in France. The protesting Americans insist that they have no intention of practicing in France, but they demand their rights as students. "We refuse to be scapegoats of the French students' discontent," they declared.

The strikers hung a poster before the entrance to the medical laboratories which read: "Against the invasion of aliens." Among the restrictive reforms asked by the strikers is a legal requirement that foreign students become naturalized citizens before embarking on medical training in France. The existing laws already severe qualifications from foreign doctors who practice in France.

Greenville Stars Are Second Best Team In Tourney

Coach Mathis Is All-Tournament Guard Selection.

A field goal by Carney about a minute before the final whistle sounded gave Bethel a 37-36 win over Greenville in the championship game of a basketball tournament for all-star teams in Eastern North Carolina.

In the first game of the tourney the Greenville stars defeated a strong Belhaven team 35-28 in earning the opportunity to play in the semi-finals on Thursday night. Jack Barrett and Doc Mathis, director of men's athletics at E. C. T. C. led the attack for the locals with twelve and eleven points respectively. A fine defensive game was played by Charles King and Troy Burnette, former E. C. T. C. athletes. At the half Greenville was leading 21-11, but in the last period Belhaven, led by their star center, Selby Jones, opened an attack which the locals found hard to check.

On Thursday night the local team edged a 40-33 victory over Aurora while Bethel was winning from Williamston by an even closer margin. Barrett with 15 points, and Bostic with 13 points, led Greenville's scoring in the semi-finals battle.

In the finals Friday night, the battle was fast and furious. In the closing minutes the teams deadlocked at 33-all, and fought evenly until Bethel netted the final basket.

Following completion of the finals, first and second all-tournament teams were named. The first team: Forwards, Wallace and Stubbs; Center, Barnes. Guards, Latham and "Doc" Mathis. The second team: Forwards, Bostic and Barrett; Center, Selby Jones; Guards, Dunn and Carney. A championship trophy was presented to the victorious Bethel team. Silver basketball charms were presented to members of runner-up Greenville outfit.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS CHILD LABOR

Before the legislature of several of the states is an amendment to do away with child labor. To date twenty states have ratified it; sixteen more are necessary for ratification. This winter it comes before the legislature in twenty-four states.

It is unfinished business in more ways than one. Pertinently because the codes of the NRA have demonstrated that child labor can be done away with and successfully.

When the country felt it wanted a drink it repealed by amendment the Volstead Act, and in a startlingly record time. If it has any conscience at all about children working while their elders drink it should ratify the Child Labor Amendment.

Primarily, industry should exist for man and not man for industry.—Rabbi S. S. Wise.

CINEMA LEAGUE HEAD TO DESCRIBE POSSIBILITIES IN STUDENT FILMS

New York, (NSFA)—"The Cultural Possibilities in Student-Made Motion Pictures" is the subject to be discussed by Colonel Roy Winton, managing director of the Amateur Cinema League, on the regular NSFA program over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Wednesday, February 13, from 4:00 to 4:15 p. m., eastern standard time.

Colonel Winton will describe the progress which has been made in the technical perfection of amateur films and will suggest practical methods by which undergraduates can take advantage of this modern expression medium.

A further discussion of the subject will be found in The National Student Mirror for February along with contest announcement by which NSFA hopes to stimulate student interest in producing motion pictures. The educational and cultural possibilities offered by this medium have been investigated only superficially so far. "Lex" Ridenhour Plays Well In Three Games.

The E. C. T. C. boys basketball team added three more victories to their string during the past two weeks by defeating Campbell, 35-20; Louisburg, 36-20; and A. C. C. 37-36.

In the closest, hardest fought game of the season Coach Mathis' Pirate cagers nosed out the Atlantic Christian College quintet last Saturday night by a one-point margin. Stowe, E. C. T. C. forward, dropped in a field goal one minute before the end of regulation game to pull his team into a 34 all tie and make an extra period necessary. An action basket by Davis and a free throw by Johnson gave the Pirate team a 37-36 victory over A. C. C. in the overtime game.

In the three games Jimmie Johnson, and Jerry Davis were high scorers with totals of 41 and 32 points respectively. In the Louisburg game Johnson, E. C. T. C. guard, scored a total of 20 points. Davis netted 17 points against Campbell.

PROMINENT ALUMNI DISCUSS WORLD PEACE

New York, (NSFA)—International harmony was the topic of discussion at a Lincoln's Birthday Alumni luncheon held at Columbia University.

Chotiro Kuriyama, American correspondent of "The Osaka Mainichi," speaking of the naval problems of Japan and the United States, said that any future attempts to settle the question alone, detached from other political considerations will be futile.

"The task which demands our consideration in the immediate future is an international conversation to reaffirm the open-door policy, and reestablish the equality of psychological security in the China market.

IS YOUR MENTAL AGE OVER TEN YEARS

New York (IP)—Do you say "Okie-Dokie" instead of "all right" in affirming a request? If you do, your mental age is not more than 10, in the opinion of Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, one of the world's leading lexicographers.

It was only the other day that he would even believe that anyone would make such a remark.

When a reporter went to his office and asked him what he thought of the term used in a courtroom by a witness in answer to a question, he would not at first believe anyone had said such a thing. He turned to his stenographer.

"Have you ever heard 'Okie-Dokie'?" he asked. She blushed and said: "Yes, Prince Okie-Dokie is the fellow who is engaged to Betty Boop in the funny sheet."

After giving himself some time to recover, Dr. Vizetelly said: "I'd like to brain Prince Okie-Dokie."

A WHOLESALE CHANGE IN METHODS OF TEACHING

Boston, Mass.—A wholesale change in the methods of teaching social studies in schools and colleges, with greater stress on civic affairs to better prepare American youth for the part it must play in democratic politics, society, and industry, is urged by Prof. John J. Mahoney, of the Boston University school of education.

Classes in history, geography and the like should be taught with a definite objective in view, an objective which, compatible with the life of today, should include the development of better understanding of social relationships, he said. To provide a better democracy, Prof. Mahoney claims, the social studies should play a big part, and this calls for the revolutionizing of the entire teaching scheme.

WANT BIRTH CONTROL TAUGHT IN COLLEGES

Cincinnati, O.—(IP)—Teaching of birth control in every college was advocated tentatively by the Cincinnati Post, undergraduate newspaper of the University of Cincinnati.

The editorial asserted that colleges today are full of "dival taboos," and charged suppression of birth control information results in "the sum of the unfit and a decline in level of the race, is detrimental to the welfare of man and therefore is an anti-social measure."

It recited some of the techniques of the "safest and most effective" technique of contraception, then concluded:

"Information on this important subject is too little known. Every college should offer instruction to its young men and women instead of continuing the ancient medieval taboos."

NICKNAMES DO A LOT MORE HARM THAN GOOD

New York (IP)—Nicknames for children do a lot more harm than good, according to the results of a study reported by the American Orthopsychiatric Association.

The association watched the effect of nicknames on 235 and 75 girls living in co-plan institutions.

It found that more than 90 per cent of the nicknames only produced ill-feeling, resentment fighting.

Among the boys, 39 per cent of the nicknames were taken from physical defects, 32 per cent were the result of affection for the individual. Among the girls 32 per cent of the nicknames were the result of affection instead of defect.
