

VERNON WARD TELLS OF TRAVEL IN INDIA

Graduate Student Here and Assistant Director of College News Bureau

During the assembly hour last Friday morning, Vernon Ward, graduate student at this college, who has traveled rather extensively in many parts of the world, made an interesting and entertaining talk concerning the experiences that he and his traveling companion had in India last winter.

One of the most interesting points of the talk was a visit that Ward and his companion made in the home of Sir Seth Prem Sagar, a very wealthy Hindu merchant. Sagar Manor is considered the show place of Lahore, and Sir Prem is frequently host to high government officials, including even the Viceroy.

Ward, who received his A.B. degree from the University of North Carolina in 1935, says that he decided to attend East Carolina Teachers College because he feels that it will best equip him for the teaching profession.

"The Question Is, Can We Stay Out of War?" Says Rev. John Barclay

Rev. Barclay Delivers Second in Series of Speeches Sponsored By the Greenville Peace Council

THREE UNLIKE IDEAS OF GOVERNMENT CLASH TODAY

Miss Lois Grigsby Presents Rev. Barclay As One Who Has Had First-Hand Experience With The Horrors of War

Declaring communism and fascism alien to the American soil, Rev. John Barclay, pastor of the first Christian church of Wilson, delivered to the college assembly on October 30 the second in a series of speeches being sponsored in Greenville by the Emergency Peace Council.

Denouncing the armament race, Rev. Barclay remarked that according to the record of history the armed nation always gets into war. Speaking of the World War, Rev. Barclay said, "The United States went to war to make the world safe for democracy, and now, twenty years later, no democracy is safe."

"The question is, can we keep out?" Denouncing the armament race, Rev. Barclay remarked that according to the record of history the armed nation always gets into war.

Miss Lois Grigsby, a member of the faculty who is the A.A.U.W. representative of the Greenville Peace Council, welcomed Rev. Barclay to the college and introduced him.

Other members of the Council on the platform were the Rev. W. A. Ryan and Mrs. Hilton.

TAKE SCHOOL TO STUDENTS IN EDUCATION EXPERIMENT

U. S. Department of Education in Washington Cooperates With State Department

Instead of trying to send thousands of adults to school who did not have the advantages of schooling when they were younger, the State Department of Public Instruction, with the assistance of the U. S. Department of Education in Washington and the Works Progress Administration here in the state, is going to take a school to the people in seven counties extending from Wake County eastward.

This will be the first demonstration project of this sort in North Carolina and if successful, others will probably be established in other sections, it was intimated.

This adult education project, for which a total of $23,625 has been allotted by the State WPA, will be known as The Public Affairs Forum and will include the counties of Wake, Wilson, Johnston, Wayne, Pitt, Greene and Lenoir.

Campus Deserted

The campus at East Carolina Teachers College was nearly deserted the week-end of October 24 when 505 of the 825 women students living in dormitories here received permission to visit friends and relatives.

With 25 members of the football squad at Cullowhee for a homecoming game with the Western Teachers, and most of the other men away, only 9 students remained in the men's dormitory.

Only a scattering remainder of the normal student body attended meals in the College dining hall.

LARGE NUMBER OF FRESHMEN ATTEND FOOTBALL GAME

Upperclassmen Are Poorly Represented in Attendance at Home Games

Prompted by society initiations, the Freshman Class turned out in large numbers last Saturday to see the East Carolina Teachers College Pirates trounce William and Mary (Norfolk Division) by the score, 25-0.

Two hundred and eighty freshmen attended the game, which was slightly more than the entire representation by the upperclassmen.

Head cheer leaders Billy Tolson and "Pokey" Johnson were enthusiastic in their praise of the fine spirit shown by the new students, but they feel that the game attendance by upperclassmen should be substantially increased at future athletic contests.

Twenty-one faculty members, or approximately 28 per cent of the college faculty, were present at the kick-off.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. McGinnis returned Wednesday from a ten day vacation in Virginia and West Virginia, where they visited friends and relatives.

Dr. McGinnis said that they found the fall far more advanced in the mountains than here, and that the autumn colors were brilliant.

Dr. McGinnis usually remains on the job during the summer when the other faculty members are taking their vacation, and takes his holiday after the college is well under way in the fall.

Leaders of Literary Societies

MARGARET DAVIS MARGARET NORMAN EFFIE LEE WATSON

Pictured above are the three presidents of the Poe, Emerson, and Lanier Literary Societies. Margaret Davis, who is a junior here this year, conducted a lively campaign for new members, and as a result, 138 freshmen and transfers joined the Poe Society.

MR. E. C. HOLLAR ADDRESSES YWCA

"Let Your Gods Grow Up With You," is Subject of Message

"Let your Gods grow up with you" was the subject of Mr. E. C. Hollar's message at the YWCA vesper service on Sunday evening, October 25. Mr. Hollar said that he was using the plural form of God because he felt that each person's conception of God differed from that of another person.

Mr. Hollar spoke of the Old Testament prophets whose ideas concerning God were varying and different. "Elijah believed in a God of war, Moses, in a God of revenge; and Christ came to preach a God of love."

"When students are in high school, ideas concerning God are formed. As these same students go to college these ideas are challenged." Mr. Hollar urged the students to let their ideas of God change; that they let their God grow up with them.

MISS KATHLEEN PLUMB MAKES INTERESTING TALK TO COLLEGE YWCA

Enumerating the things, beginning with the letter C, that enter into college life, Miss Kathleen Plumb, the new critic teacher of the seventh grade in the training school, gave a most instructive and entertaining talk to the College YWCA at their meeting last Friday evening.

She arranged her list in groups, and brought out the part each plays in a student's college life. "Campus, crowds, comradeship, circle of friends, chapel, and even the clatter of dishes, suggests the round of daily campus life."

Associations with teachers was given by the words councilor, critic and children. Correspondence was associated with the postoffice and brought in the homes, as did the confusion of the holidays.

Miss Plumb's talk reached its climax in the words associated with the Christian or spiritual life of the students such as Challenge, Compromise, Character, Christianity, Communion and Christ.

"Rush Week" Ends With Colorful Initiations

100 Percent Right

An East Carolina Teachers College student did even better than Jock Southerland last week in predicting football scores. Durward Stowe, quarterback on the Pirate team last year who helped defeat William and Mary (Norfolk Division) by the score of 10-6, made one prediction and that was one hundred per cent correct.

POLICE OFFICERS MAKE STUDY OF ROAD ACCIDENTS

Six Are Picked From More Than Four Hundred Applicants

Evanston, Ill.—(ACP)—Six of the nation's outstanding police officers, picked by a series of scientific tests from more than 400 applicants, plunged into nine months of study at Northwestern University that is designed to make them leaders in the nation's war on highway casualties.

They are: Detective Richard O. Bennett, Lincoln, Nebraska; Sergeant Daniel G. Reynolds, Miami, Florida; Inspector Joseph L. Lingo, Georgetown, Delaware; Sergeant George M. Burns, Kansas City, Missouri; Patrolman Arthur J. Leahy, Syracuse, New York; and Patrolman Emmet S. Elliott, Atlanta, Georgia.

Holders of fellowships granted by the James S. Kemper foundation of the university, the six will study from now until next June under the direction of Northwestern's Traffic Safety Institute.

Classroom and field work will be combined in the curriculum of the six fellows in order to make more comprehensive their study of the problems of traffic control.

Celesta Balance Directs Program for Laniers

Under the direction of Celesta Balance, Margaret Davis, and Ruth Cagle, Society "Rush Week" was brought to a close here last Saturday afternoon after five days of colorful initiations, Baa-ing Laniers, meowing Poes, and barking Emersons ignored their pride and cooperated with their societies in making the week a big success.

Decision Day

Decision Day, held October 27, attracted a large number of new students, 138 of whom joined the Poe Society. Fifty new students adopted the Lanier colors, green and yellow, while thirty pledges joined the ranks of the Emersons.

The Lanier Society had the distinction of pledging the first freshman, Geraldine Glover.

Led by Margaret Davis, the Poes conducted the most lively campaign for pledges. The Lanier Society presented a well-planned initiation program. All societies cooperated with the head cheer leaders, Billy Tolson and "Pokey" Johnson, at the pep rallies and the William and Mary game played here last Saturday.

Emersons Entertain

On Saturday evening, from 8:30 until 10:30, the Emerson Society entertained its new members at a masquerade party. Marian Wood and Stanley Scarborough were given prizes for best costumes.

Officers

Following are the officers of the three societies: POE—Margaret Davis, president; Mildred Corbit, vice president; Louise Cates, secretary; and Evelyn Thompson, treasurer. LANIER—Effie Lee Watson, president; Margaret Guy Overman, vice president; Geraldine Tyson, secretary; Lillian Parrish, treasurer. EMERSON—Margaret Norman, president; Ruth Cagle, vice president.

The Yale Glee Club performed in six different foreign nations during its recent tour: France, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, and Sweden.

Lamar Stephens Is Now Employed in the Geography Department Here

Two new teachers have been secured by the College to relieve the congestion in two departments, Home Economics and Geography.

Miss Mary Berry Clark, well known in Greenville as she was formerly an instructor in Greenville High School, is the Home Economics teacher. She is a graduate of Peabody College, and since leaving here, has spent two years in graduate study at Columbia University and has been teaching in New York State.

STUDENT WRITERS HOLD FALL MEET

North Carolina Collegiate Press Association Convenes in Charlotte

Four delegates from East Carolina Teachers College attended the fall meeting of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, held in Charlotte, October 22-24, with Davidson College acting as host.

A general meeting and welcome was held on Friday morning, October 23, with group discussions filling out the business sessions. Luncheon was held in Chambers Building at Davidson College, and the afternoon was left free for the Davidson-Duke football game.

The main banquet was held Friday night in the Hotel Charlotte ballroom featuring Legette Blythe, member of the editorial staff of the Charlotte Observer, as the principal speaker. A dance followed at 9:30 o'clock with music being furnished by Tony Rinaldo's Orchestra.

The final business session was held Saturday morning, after which the group was invited to attend the Davidson-Citadel football game at Davidson.

E. C. T. C. representatives at the convention included: Maggie Crumpler, and Beatrice Hammond, editor and business manager of the Tecno; and Louise Martin, and George Willard, members of the Tecno Echo staff.

"Cotton in Relation to Negro Life of South," To Be 1937 "Tecno" Theme

Business Staff is Successful in Lining Up Advertisers

"Cotton in relation to the Negro life of the South" will be the theme of the 1937 Tecno, it was announced this morning by Maggie Crumpler, editor of the college yearbook.

Plans have been made for an improved snapshot section in the book, and already camera shutters are clicking and campus highlights are being recorded photographically. Dunbar and Daniel, photographers from Raleigh who have been given the task of taking the more formal pictures, presented proofs to 775 students and faculty members during the past week.

Contest

Beatrice Hammond, business manager of the yearbook, has not definitely decided whether or not the advertising contest will be sponsored this year, but already her staff has been very successful in lining up advertisers.

MEDICAL SCHOOLS TO ADOPT NEW SYSTEM

Motion Pictures Will Be Employed in Demonstrating Surgery

Rochester, N. Y.—(ACP)—Soon many medical schools will discard the present system of demonstrating surgical operations for a more colorful one.

In the laboratory classes, it is difficult for students far removed from the operating table to see the actual work from the viewpoint of the surgeon. Hereafter color motion pictures will be employed in some schools to show technique of the surgeon.

How can the process be filmed? Simple. Dr. R. Plate Schwartz, of the University of Rochester, explains that the photographer, by using color film sensitized to artificial light and by using a telephoto lens, can now take pictures over the surgeon's shoulder—pictures that will reproduce the operation in true color and, also essential, in the right size and perspective.

Dr. Schwartz anticipates universal use of this novel teaching method within a short time. One of the advantages he points out is that unusual surgical cases can be projected many times for instructing, lecture purposes, and case histories.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. CHARLES LAUGHINGHOUSE

Mrs. Carrie D. Laughinghouse, widow of the late Dr. Chas. O.H. Laughinghouse, who was college physician here when the school opened, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., at 414 Elizabeth Street, at 11:45 p.m., October 19, following an illness of several months.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the home of her daughter with whom she had lived for several years.

Pitt Theatre Announces Thirteen Contest Winners

With only a small number of students participating, the Pitt Theatre-Tecno Echo Cross Word Puzzle Contest was brought to a close last Thursday afternoon. The thirteen winners were announced this morning by Mr. T. Y. Walker, manager of both the local theatres.

Celesta Balance, Mary Lyon Shotwell, Fannie Brewer, Francis Sinclair, W. Chancey Calfee, Maude Evans Phelps, Miss Loraine Hunter, Mary Anna Clifton, Durward Stowe, and Marietta Martin.

According to the announcement, the first three prizes of $2.50, $1.50, and $1.00 will be awarded to Elizabeth Copeland, Sudie B. Williamson, and Wesley Bankston. The next ten winners, who will be guests of the Pitt Theatre at any matinee during the week of November 9, are:

Members of THE TECO ECHO staff have expressed the opinion that the twenty-four entries received before the closing date, October 29, do not truly indicate the whole interest shown in the contest by students and faculty members. A large number who solved a portion of the puzzle were excluded from the contest because they did not enter before the closing date.

"TIT FOR TAT"

Too often in the past the town of Greenville and the college have played the wrong kind of "tit for tat." The most recent exchange came last week when the Men's Student Government excluded members of the Town Club from college dances, just as last year the Town Club excluded college students from its dances.

When we consider how much the college means to Greenville and vice versa, it is strange to imagine that any tension exists between the two. In fact, it is a ridiculous situation, about as silly as a man being angry at his right hand, for the college is an integral part of the town.

Back in 1907, the town of Greenville waged a winning fight in the State Legislature to locate the college here. A short drive through East Greenville is enough to convince us that the town was fortunate in its victory. The merchants and business men of Greenville, who so warmly welcome the presence of the tobaccoists for a few months each year, might occasionally turn their eyes toward the college.

They might consider the 75 faculty members, their families, the staff members, and the dozens of college employees, all of whom are permanent residents of the city. They might consider the 1,100 students who live in Greenville for nine months each year, and the 600 students who live here each summer. They might consider the hundreds of families who come to Greenville to see their sons and daughters and to patronize the shops, banks, and theatres of the city.

By boosting the college, by working for its expansion, by increasing the number of its students, the merchants and business men of Greenville can promote their own prosperity. To be specific, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs should not stop working until a new men's dormitory is built on the campus, until the college athletic teams are among the best in the state, and until there are as many men as women on the E.C.T.C. campus. Here is a constructive work that the men's organizations of Greenville can do.

Hundreds of men students to clothe and a first class football game on these fall afternoons shouldn't be an unhappy prospect for the town's business men. We hardly need mention the influence that the citizens of Greenville can exercise in the coming legislature.

Already E.C.T.C. is the fifth largest college in North Carolina, fully accredited and widely reputed. Its faculty is distinguished and its 1,100 students come from all parts of the country. Greenville should esteem it highly. Boosting the college is boosting the town. Let's put our "tit for tat" on a more friendly basis. You help us and we'll help you.

DARKNESS UNDER RAGSDALE

Turning the lights off at eleven p.m. in the men's basement is one thing; but keeping the quarters under Ragsdale dark all day is quite another matter.

There are advantages in darkness after eleven, especially when students must be up soon after seven in order to eat breakfast at seven-thirty. Eight hours of sleep is about the right amount, and few college students still insist on sleeping with the lights on.

But darkness after seven is a more suitable condition for coal miners than for students.

The basement of Ragsdale Hall, besides having limited window area, is shaded by shrubbery. At no time during even the brightest day is there enough light for study. Early in the morning, late in the afternoon, and on cloudy days, reading or writing is out of the question.

Economies help students, and the low cost of study at this college is to be appreciated and safe-guarded. But an "economy" which confines study in Ragsdale Hall to a few hours in the evenings that are not filled by student or college activities and which damages the eyes and the temper of the true student, defeats its purpose.

It is hoped that the men's basement will soon become the "comfortable and well lighted quarters" described in the catalogue.

ST-U-D-E-N-T OPINION

To the Editor: If I may, I want to express an opinion which is in the minds of a large number of students on our campus.

During the past several years, Saturday night has meant a period of recreation for most of the students here. The college theater has consistently attracted students in large numbers, and after the picture, a large portion of the group has usually marched on over to the Wright Building to enjoy the social hour.

This year, it seems that certain campus organizations, whose memberships include a relatively small number of students, are determined to jeopardize the privilege by making the social hour exclusive. Now, I have no intention of being too critical, because perhaps I do not understand all the details. However, it seems to me that the societies and other organizations might pick some time for their parties other than Saturday night. There are still five other available days in the week, and every day still has its afternoon. So—would it be asking too much to meekly suggest that the Saturday night social hour be left open to the entire student body whenever possible?

A Student.

To the Editor: What could be more inappropriate than a dance orchestra and a concert audience?

I am one of the many students here who likes "swing music" played by a nationally known orchestra—but not sitting down. Dance orchestras should play for dances, and Jack Denny is no exception to the rule. Of course this is only my opinion.

A Senior.

To the Editor: Hooray for the Entertainment Committee! They surely know how to spend our money in bringing a remarkable program of entertainments to the college. The pictures are better than ever before, and if Jack Denny and his Orchestra are representative of the remaining programs, we surely have something in which to look forward. Here's hoping.

A Student.

COLLEGE MUSIC INSTRUCTORS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Miss Gussie Kuykendall, director of instruction in public school music, Miss Dora E. Mead, instructor of piano, and Miss Lois V. Gorell, instructor of piano and violin at East Carolina Teachers College attended the concert of Josef Hoffman at Duke University last Friday evening. Miss Eva Hodges, piano teacher in the Greenville high school was also a member of the party, which went to Greensboro on Saturday to attend the annual Conference of Music Teachers at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Memorial Baptist Church Entertains Baptist Students

The ladies of the Memorial Baptist church entertained the Baptist students of the College at a buffet supper at 6:30, October 26. At the door the students received "money" which was used to buy weiners, rolls, butter, coffee, and other cafeteria delights. Entertainments featured fortune telling and a hallooween hour.

NEWS In The Teco Echo Ten Years Ago

Strange as it may seem, ten years ago the college Literary Societies ranked, in so far as number of members is concerned, very much as they do today. On Society Day, 1926, 154 new members joined the Poe Society; 91 joined the Laniers; and 86, the Emersons. (A like situation exists today. However, no one of the societies is as active as it was a decade ago.)

Near initiation time, a girl's thoughts turn continually to learning the laundry list. A sophomore discovered one freshman sleeping with her list under her pillow. It is supposed that the freshman thought she could memorize it by the process of osmosis (that is, from less dense to more dense).

THE BEAUTY SCHOOL

by Helena Rubinstein

The Way to Beauty

I see so many girls today who put on make-up as the fashionable women of another era put on masks. Their rouge, powder and lipstick is not designed either to accentuate their own personality or to create a personality. It is simply a means to make them look exactly like everyone else. And again, their make-up is never varied to suit their clothes. Their faces are dressed in the morning for sweaters and skirts just as they are dressed in the evening for formal wear.

You wouldn't go to the Prom in a golfing outfit. It's equally incorrect to wear a golfing face. And it's certainly the worst possible taste to wear your Prom face to a 9:00 o'clock class.

During the daytime an eyelash cream and darkener will dress up your lashes and brows sufficiently and make them look longer and silkier. Into the bargain it will actually encourage your lashes to be long and help train your brows into that well-groomed, expressive curve you've always wanted. If you want an extra special touch for daytime eye beauty, try putting just a drop of herbal eye tissue oil on the lids. This protects the sensitive skin and gives your lids a positively enchanting gleam. And lustrous eyelids are a chic new vogue this year.

The evening is the time when you should be as glamorous as possible. Use colorful eyeshadow and mascara that will make your eyes deep pools of glowing darkness. Specks of gold or silver eyeshadow can be blended in to carry up to your face the richness and brilliance of the metallic threads in your evening gown.

As to color for your face. Give your artistic impulses free reign. Consider not only the color of your eyes but also your complexion and your clothes. Eye make-up should be planned to bring out the color and character of your eyes. It should give them added sparkle and intensify the color so that the feature people notice first remains hauntingly in the memory. Powder must blend with your natural coloring. Otherwise it will be harsh and artificial looking. It will stand out on your face making your skin appear sallow. Rouge and lipstick should harmonize with your costume.

I have prepared a little booklet on make-up for all types and all costume colors, with an intriguing three point make-up chart that will help you solve all your make-up problems. This chart is not only a logical and unflinching guide, but also a practical one. With it you will find it unnecessary to own dozens of powders and many boxes of eye make-up. You need only vary rouge and lipstick to suit the two or three basic colors of your wardrobe.

I am having a number of these make-up booklets printed for you and if you will write in to the Woman's Interest Syndicate for a copy for yourself, I shall be glad to send it to you.

If you have a personal beauty problem on which you need advice, write Woman's Interest Syndicate, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

STUDENT BODY ELECTS NEW CHEER LEADERS

At a mass meeting held Wednesday evening, October 28, cheer leaders were chosen for the current school year, 1936-37. There were three girls nominated: Jane Copeland, T. Louise Martin, and "Pokey" Johnson. "Pokey" Johnson and Billy Tolson, the only male nominee, were elected.

LOOKING OVER THE CAMPUS

with C. RAY PRUETTE

Talking about the card catalogue, a freshman asked me to tear the card from the files the other day for him! Poor fellow! Now is the time for all good people to join the Lanier Society. Dues at popular prices!

I wonder if the "Readers Digest" is something you eat?

There are two types of hair, Blond and Brunette. Ethel Lee Byrd says she has neither because she is the strawberry blonde type! "Pokey" Johnson wants some dancing lessons but she says the college doesn't give that course! Who said anything about the Town Club boys?

Oie Man Winter is here again, but it didn't catch Durward Stowe napping because Durward has a "brand new" overcoat.

What is eaten more in the Soda Shop than any other thing? Pecan buns, my brother!

Well, Children, the picture proofs are back and Foddie Hodges wonders why he's so good looking!

Catherine Albrinton would like to know the difference between Pilgrims and Puritans. She says they both mean the same thing to her.

"Whose that handsome man?" a freshman asked me. "Oh, that," I said, "is Thearington."

The Editor of this article needs a new pair of shoes, so please contribute freely! Oh, that's alright, Jackie Strickland said she would buy me three pairs.

Helen McGinnis wishes me to help her select a Christmas present for Herby. We compromised on handkerchiefs, (three to be exact).

What happened to the big sign in the postoffice? I wonder what other kinds of mammals eat paper besides the goats?

I have looked the campus over to find the girl with the most pep and energy. I have found her! She is, fellow students, Miss Mary Hooks.

I hate to remind, but it is only six weeks till examinations. Time travels on!

Pauline Johnston, from Bethel, says she is so bright her father calls her "sun."

Billy Tolson's pep meetings at night reminds me of the poem, "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere."

I heard some rumor some place about two freshmen who didn't sign out properly to go home. It is of no consequence, but thought I'd mention it.

N. C. METHODIST STUDENT CONFERENCE MEET IN DURHAM

Of interest not only to Methodist students but to all students will be the North Carolina State Conference for Methodist students that will meet in Trinity Church, Durham, N. C., November 6-8. Representatives from N. C. Colleges are expected in large numbers.

Dr. Wayt Smart of Emory University, Ga., will be the key-note speaker. "Christian Action on the Campus" is the conference theme. The discussion topics and leaders are: Men and Women Relation, Prof. H. E. Spence; Choice of Campus Leadership, Mr. Harry Comer; Christian Recreation, Dr. Raymond Smith; Campus Ethics, Dean Herbert Herring; Campus Prejudices, Mr. Merrimon Cuninggim; The Counselor and Campus Christian Action, Dr. Harvey C. Brown of Nashville, Tenn.

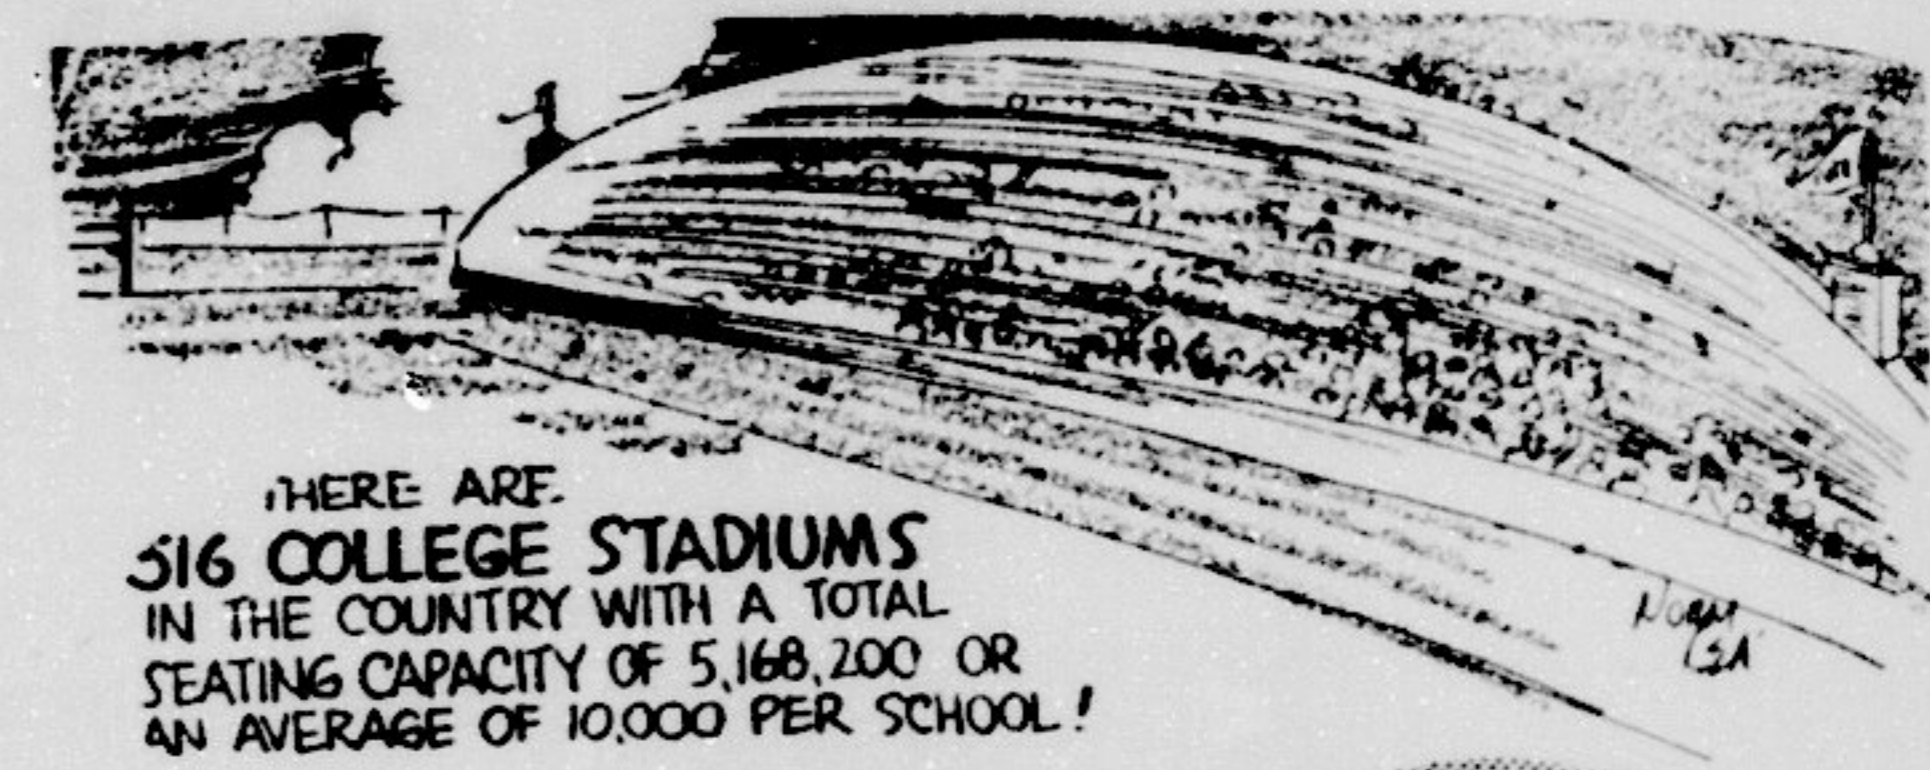

ENGLISH CLUB HOLDS FIRST FALL MEETING

More than sixty students and faculty members attended the first fall meeting of the college English Club Tuesday night, October 27. Naomi Newell gave a short talk, displaying to the students the new equipment of the club room, which included new books, a phonograph, and a slide projector which will also project ordinary photographs and post cards.

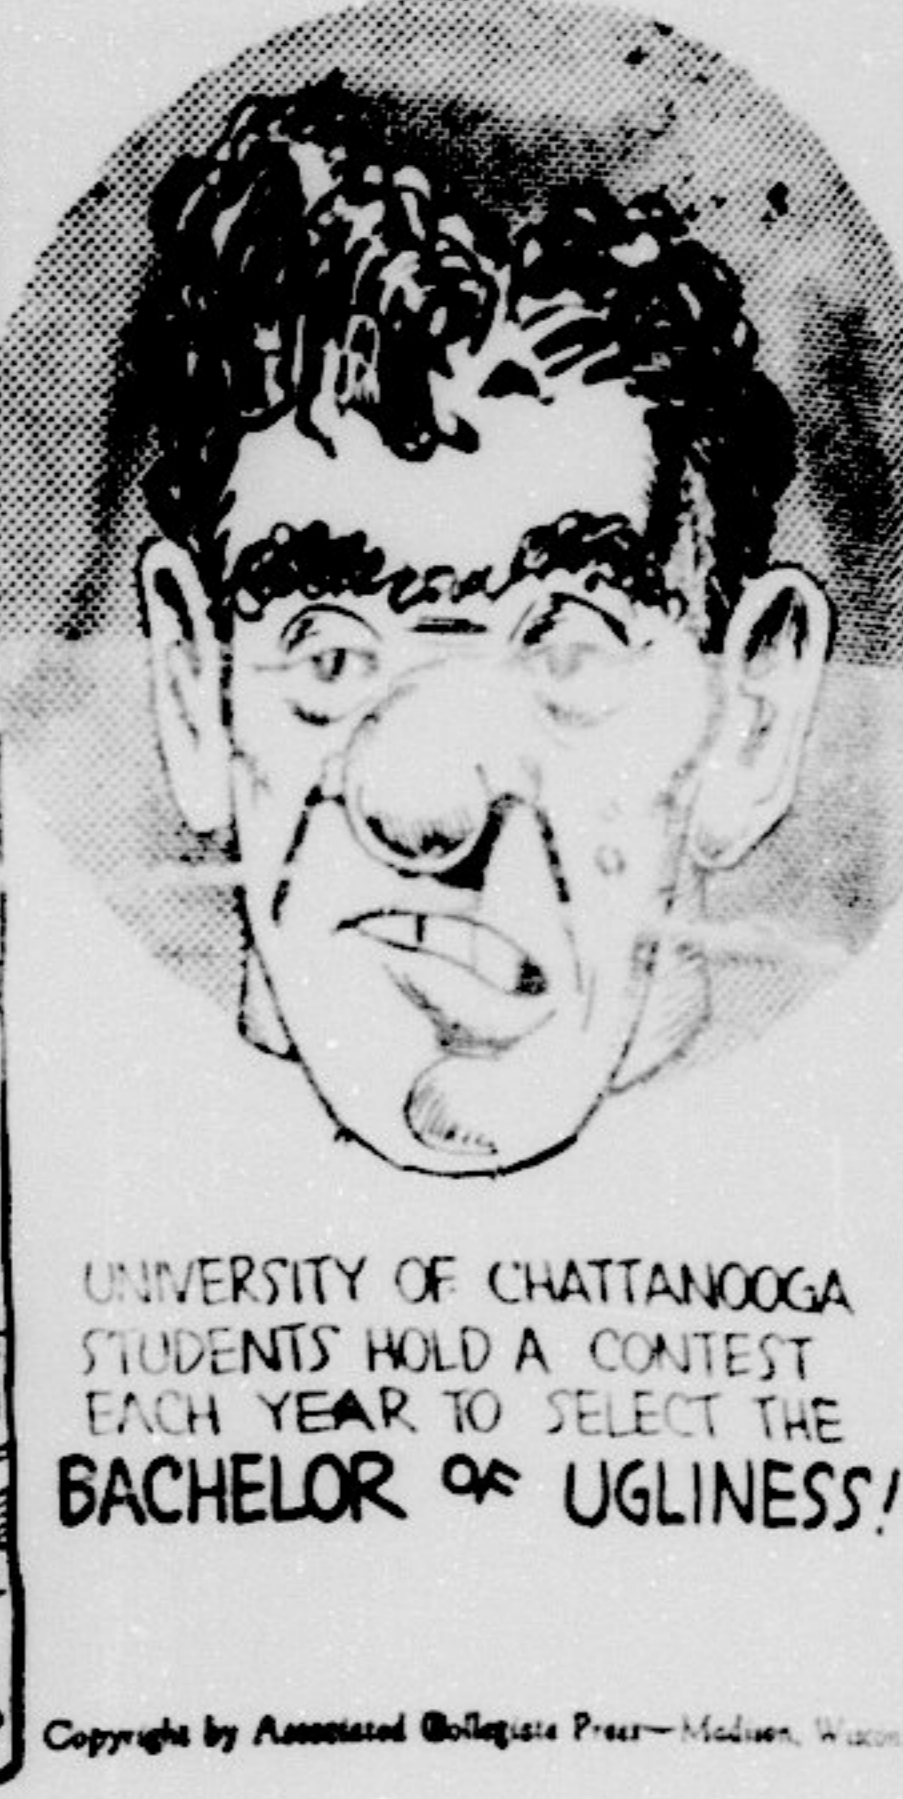

Frances Barnes, president of the club, led a discussion of plans for the year. The society divided itself into five study groups, each member electing his preference. The groups are for "work and play" in dramatics, reading of current literature, oral English, poetry, and creative writing.

Vernon Ward was elected publicity agent for the organization. Other officers, elected last spring, are Martha Seoville, vice president; Frances Currin, secretary; and Sam Dees, treasurer.

This Collegiate WORLD

It's fairly late to be giving advice to men who are about to experience a Leap Year date, but males at Washington University, knowing that such things will be going on until December 31, offer these suggestions to all collegians:

Be sure to keep your escort waiting at least 20 minutes.

Load your pockets with combs, powder puffs, and mirrors. She will be disappointed if she hasn't anything to carry.

Of course she'll provide you with cigarettes and gum. Under no circumstances light your own cigarette. It would make her feel bad.

During intermissions in dancing, order at least a double chocolate malted milk. She doesn't want you to think she's a miser.

Be subdued and meek at all times, but insist on your rights. Taxis are available at all hours.

Something strange has happened at Amherst College, alma mater of the late Calvin Coolidge. The Student, undergraduate paper, recently came out in support of President Roosevelt's reelection for this reason: it found "Governor Landon a colorless and unconvincing candidate." Henry Stuart Hughes, grandson of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, the G.O.P.'s 1916 Presidential nominee, is editor-in-chief.

Why waste "pin-money" on pin-ball machines? Students of Ohio State University, according to a survey conducted a short time ago, spend on an average $1,500 a month on these machines. Losers never seem to abandon the idea that they can beat the "pin-ball-pirates." Losing is only added stimulus to play again.

Miss Laura Rose who is State Chairman of the Department of International Relations of the A. A. U. W. and Dr. Lucille Turner, an ex-president of the Greenville branch, attended a meeting of the directors of the North Carolina A. A. U. W. held in Burlington last week. The officers, chairmen of the departments, and presidents, form the board of directors. Mrs. Ficklen Arthur, the president, and Mrs. J. E. Winslow, vice president, could not attend, so Dr. Turner represented the Greenville branch.

MR. JAMES GULLEDGE ATTENDS MEETING

The head librarian of E.C.T.C. Library, Mr. Gullledge, attended the meeting of the South Eastern Library Association at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, N. C., from October 25-30, 1936. Among the principal speakers were: Mr. Malcolm Wye, president of the American Library Association; Miss Helen Stalle, Librarian of Tampa Public Library; and Mr. Harold Brigham, Librarian of Louisville, Kentucky. Several hundred representatives from Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida were present.

In addition to the discussion of everyday library problems, Federal and State aid to library service was discussed.

Mr. Gullledge reported a most pleasant trip to the Great Smokies while at the conference.

Look at those laces, embroidery and frills! How do you think I can pay the bills? You won't get a bill, and the price was low. They're SILVER MOON undies from Penney's, you know.

Madison, Wis.—It has been three years since I was in this town. That is not a long time since but it has been sufficient for a number of changes to take place on the campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Of course, every alumnus going to his Alma Mater is apt to give a hasty glance at her. "The old girl certainly isn't she used to be!"

Whereas, quite often that would be much better explained. Alma Mater glanced at her young son, and having the speech, retorted, "Well, son, you're still your old svele so."

Put it that way then. We've changed. But even allowing that, I still see some marked changes between the University day and that of several years ago. For one thing, I think the of the student body has changed. And then thinking it over, not so sure. Wisconsin still to have the same percent of undergraduate Tories, more liberals, pinks and reds. I still see the Earnest of the Big Activity Man, The Brother in Whoopa, Doop, Pseudo-Intellectual, The Prom Queen, Lizzie-Stay Library, and The Girl With trigues Instructors.

WPA Federal Produce

75 NEW PLAYS HAVE BEEN RECOMMENDED FOR PRODU

Continuing its drive to make undergraduate playwrights in America, the WPA Federal Project announced this week 75 new plays, written by writers, have been recommended for production by its play bureau. Converse Tyler, supervising WPA Federal Theater play bureau, has prepared a complete production data on the plays which will be sent to the 150 WPA Theater drama units throughout the country.

The Federal Theater will $50 weekly royalty fee for production. Mr. Tyler explains the author retains full rights to the play.

When asked what type of plays he preferred, Mr. Tyler said he wanted plays that deal with contemporary life and pleasurable to the solution of modern problems.

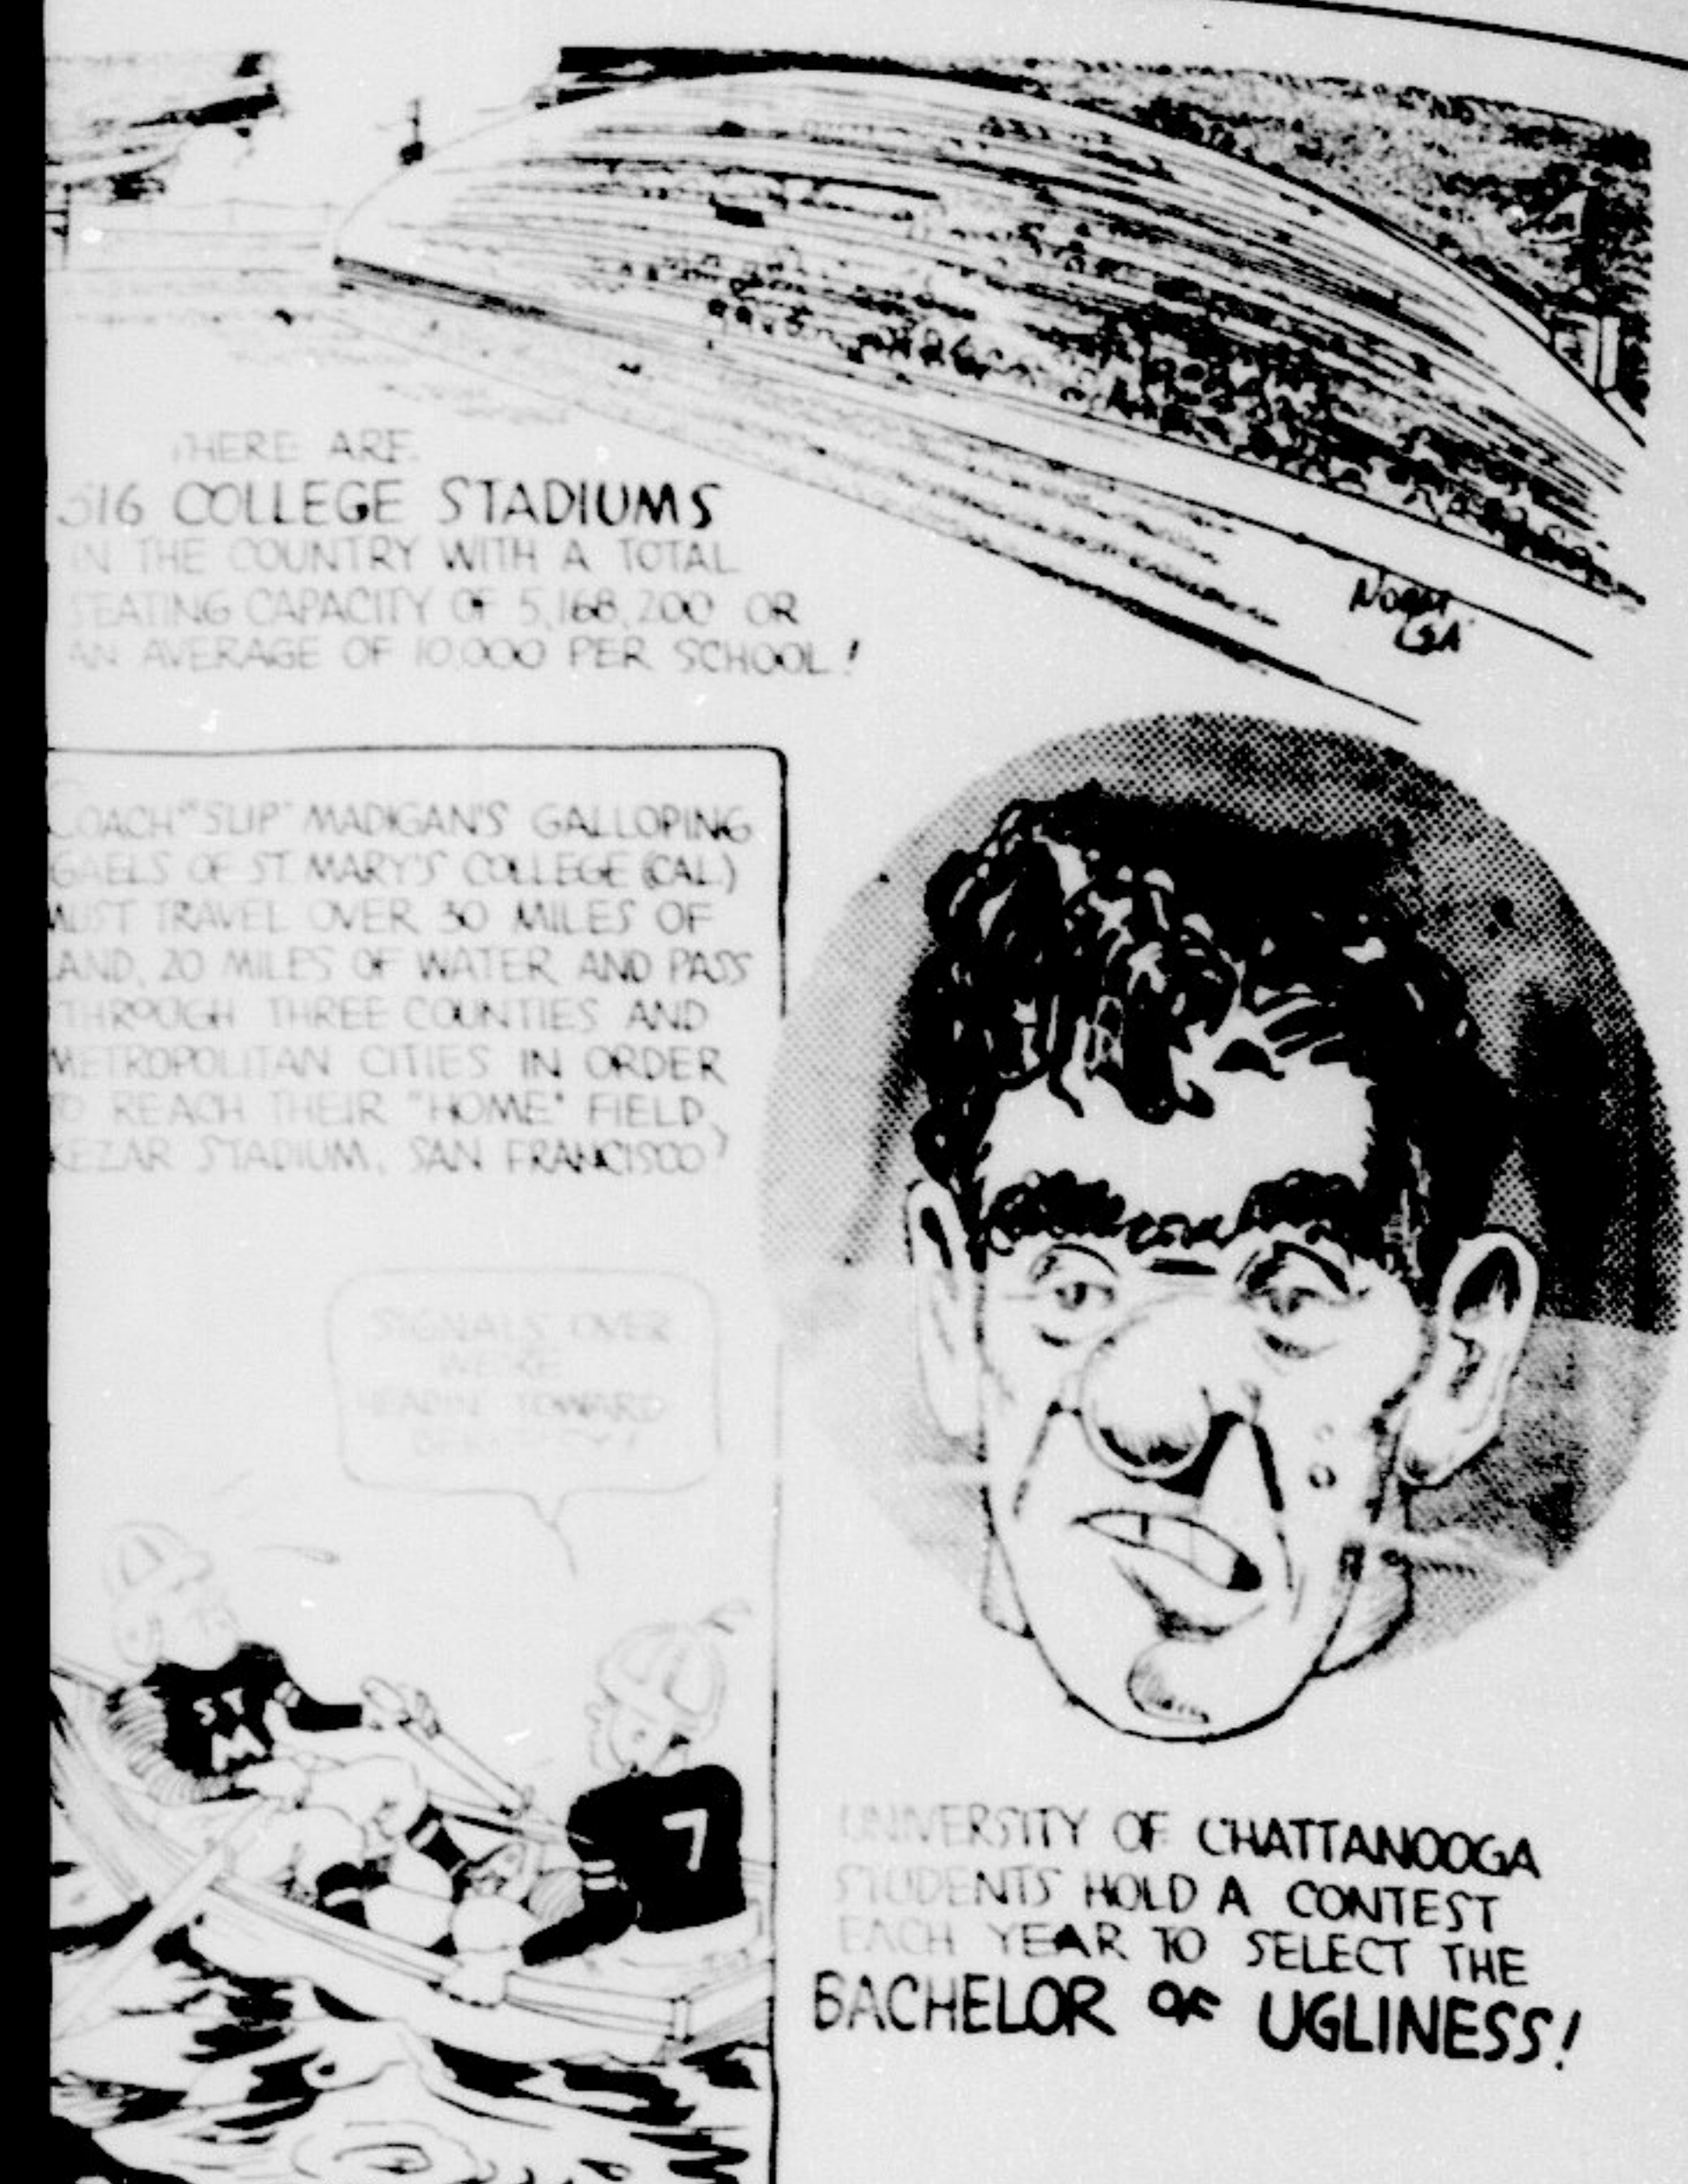

He pointed to the staff Francis Bosworth, Play Director, who issued a call for young playwrights to "do something to say."

Helping these writers their craft, and to continue plays alive to the production will build a new school of writing. There are no subject, form, or theme that a play shall be anything.

The 75 plays already selected into all possible categories to form and produce comedies, tragedies, far plays, labor, racial, children's plays. All, however, with the American scene, two-thirds with some aspect of social scene.

One of the plays, "Job" written by a young author B. Wells, based on the legend of the famous Negro folk already been produced by Angeles unit of the WPA Theater. Another, by John and Richard Oliver, "Potage," which deals with the Southern sharecropper being rehearsed by the WPA Play Bureau development preliminary production of for the purpose of giving the opportunity of seeing the problems of through concrete experie

AROUND WASHINGTON

By ARNOLD SERWER

(Associated Collegiate Press Correspondent)

This column is one in a series of articles written by Mr. Serwer, Washington correspondent of The Teco Echo and the Associated Collegiate Press...

Madison, Wis.—It has been about three years since I was last in this town. This is not a very long absence but it has been sufficiently long for a number of changes to take place on the campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Of course, every alumnus returning to his Alma Mater is apt, following a hasty glance at her, to say, "The old girl certainly isn't what she used to be!"

Whereas, quite often the truth would be much better expressed if Alma Mater glanced at her returning son, and having the power of speech, retorted, "Well, son, who says you're still your old svelte self?"

But somehow the different factions are less noisy than they used to be, the different types more variable within the type. I attribute the first to the fact that formerly these factions had a well spotlighted field on which to play their rough and often bruising games with each other.

Now, either the editors or the Deans are exerting a stultifying influence on The Cardinal, narrowing its scope, robbing it of its spirit, and lessening the power it once had of making student factions really articulate.

As for the types, the fact that they are less standardized is something I seem to see, but can't prove. What causes it I can't say. It may have something to do with changes in student habits caused by six years of depression.

The enormous increase in student enrollment, coupled with the great decrease in the number of instructors, has produced another great change here. Lectures are many and quiz sections are few.

E.C.T.C. LOSES CLOSE GAME TO W.C.T.C. ELEVEN

Final Score is 7-6 in Favor of Westerners

The Pirates lost a hard fought game to W. C. T. C., 7-6. E. C. T. C. outplayed, outgained, completed more passes, and gained more first downs than did the W. C. T. C. team.

During the first half, the Pirates gained considerable ground with passes and line bucks. Fran Ferrel went over the goal line first, but the referee brought it back and penalized E. C. T. C. five yards for being offside.

E. C. T. C. scored on three passes after receiving the kick-off at the beginning of the second half. The placement kick for extra point was blocked. E. C. T. C., 6, W. C. T. C., 0.

W. C. T. C. scored during the third quarter by blocking a punt behind the E. C. T. C. goal. They made the extra point on a pass play. The score: W. C. T. C., 7, E. C. T. C., 6.

The Pirates played a fine game with a few breaks could have won the game. It is to be remembered that this was the first game for E. C. T. C., and the sixth for W. C. T. C., which made a lot of difference.

SPORTS NOTES

By JOE BRAXTON

Well, the Pirates beat William and Mary, 25-0, and there was only about fifty per cent of the student body out there to see it well done. It looks as if the Pirates have a good team and it would be a great help if the students and faculty would turn out in a body and give them a little support.

Billy Tolson and his associate, "Pokey" Johnson and Hannah Martin are offering something new in cheerleading this year. Billy did some fine work out there Saturday and most of you upperclassmen went to the show or went riding while the boys were out there on the field fighting hard for your school.

I would like to know whether or not the freshman team that was looking for the line of scrimmage was successful in finding it!

PIRATES PLAY PRACTICE GAME WITH DUKE B'S

Scrimmage Ends in Scoreless Tie; Pirate Line Held When Goal Was Threatened

The Pirates played Duke "Subs" to a scoreless tie in a practice scrimmage at Durham on October 19.

The first half was dominated by the Pirates. They were twice in scoring position, but the Pirate line held them and punted out of danger.

During the second half E. C. T. C. played offensive football. Twice they marched within Duke's twenty yard line and lost the ball on a fumble and by having a pass intercepted.

In the third period the Pirates marched down the field for a scoreless tie.

This means 20 per cent more silk in every stocking—20 per cent more for your money when you buy Humming Birds. But it isn't simply a case of more silk for your money—this extra value brings you STURDIER stockings, MORE wear. Humming Bird stitches are closer together, yet the Humming Bird twist makes each thread compact so Humming Birds look as sheer as any stocking. The Humming Bird 20-per-cent-plus standard gives you BOTH wear and sheerness. That's one of the reasons why...

Miss Jacqueline Swindell, of Swan Quarter, an A.B. graduate (1933) of this college, has recently completed at Duke University Medical School the training as laboratory technician. Miss Swindell is at present employed as technician in one of the laboratories of the diagnostic clinic of Duke University Hospital.

Hyatt Forrest was here last week. He is now teaching at Fountain.

Misses Sara Lee Yates, Edna Darden, Margaret Banek, and Charlotte Lee were visitors on the campus last week-end.

Misses Minnie Malloy, Margaret Myers, and Lucille Gammon were here Sunday. Daniel Jordan was here also.

Miss Emma Avert Outterbridge, graduate of 1935, is now teaching at Pantego, N. C. She was here last week-end.

The wedding of Miss Louise Simmons to William Bowling Jones, October 31, at Wilson, has been announced.

Mrs. O. K. Joyner, president of the State Alumni Association, was a recent visitor on the campus.

DEATHS

Mrs. Clara Joyner Davis, mother of Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, died at her home in Toxaway the week before school reopened in the fall.

Miss May R. B. Muffly, member of the faculty here for fifteen years and a dynamic personality at past county and state educational meetings, died at her home in Baltimore on September 14, after a long period of invalidism.

Miss Jenkins was in Baltimore at the time of Miss Muffly's death, and represented the College at her funeral.

Supreme Court Expected To Settle Controversy

belief in informed circles here is that Judge Grady will make the injunction permanent, in which case the school principal is expected to appeal to the State Supreme Court so that it may decide definitely whether the School Commission has the authority to fix the school age dates for first grade children.

These two cases resulted from the ruling by the school commission that no children could enroll in the first grade for the public schools this year who were not already six years old by October 1 and who did not enroll in the first grade during the first month school was in session. This ruling automatically excluded from the public schools this year all children who might become six years old on or after October 2.

In the case in Pender County, the father of Mary Elizabeth Burnett, who did not become six years old until October 12, obtained the temporary restraining order against the principal of the Burgaw school, with the result that Mary Elizabeth is now in school in the first grade there. In Greenville, a similar order was obtained by the father of Joan Bloom, who was not six until October 26, so that she is also now in school.

The School Commission is expected to defend both of these cases.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB SPONSORS "THE DISTRICT SCHOOL"

Mr. R. C. Deal Serves as Schoolmaster

On Thursday night, October 22, the Home Economics Club sponsored an amusing entertainment, "The District School." The cast was composed of about 26 students and members of the faculty.

Mr. R. C. Deal was an ideal schoolmaster, his pupils being members of the student body and faculty. School opened with the ringing of a bell by the schoolmaster. The pupils marched in carrying their books in a childish way, and following them was the board of trustees, which consisted of Mr. E. C. Hollar, Dr. Beecher Flannigan, and Mrs. Adelaide E. Bloxton.

Members of the faculty acting roles of the pupils were Misses Greene, McGee, Norton, Holtzclaw, Sammon, and Willis.

The old fashioned spelling bee was one of the most interesting parts of the play, in which the entire cast took part.

After the play there was a free moving picture, "So Red the Rose," starring Randolph Scott and Margaret Sullivan.

Pep Rally and Bonfire Attract Many Students

Students Enjoy Prolonged Period of Dancing on Thursdays As Result of Social Committee Recommendation

A dress dinner, an hour and a half of after-dinner dancing, initiation ceremonies for the Poe society, and a pep rally in preparation for the William and Mary game last Saturday were the high spots of the student activity program here October 29.

After dinner the students assembled in the Robert H. Wright auditorium for the prolonged period of dancing which they now enjoy each Thursday evening.

Billy Tolson and Pokey Johnson, head cheer leaders, all but broke up the dance when they rushed into the auditorium with the initiates of the Poe society. Tolson and Johnson took the stage to lead the most rousing pep meeting in the history of the college. The students sang and cheered at the top of their voices and loudly applauded talks by Doctor Haynes and Mr. Deal. They gave each member of the football team a noisy send-off.

The students and faculty assembled last Friday night at 7:30 at the football field for a bonfire and a final pep rally for the William and Mary game. "Lex" Ridenhour, "Fran" Ferebee, and Primrose Carpenter, members of the Pirate football team, made talks urging the students to attend the game.

lected as administrator of the project at a meeting of the city and county superintendents from these seven counties here Tuesday, who will comprise the executive board directing the project. In the near future Administrator Armstrong and the board of directors will meet to select a director for the project. Present plans are to get the project actively under way by about the first of the year.

"The project is modeled somewhat after the old Chautauqua idea in that we intend to bring outstanding speakers of national and international note to these seven counties to discuss questions and matters of public interest," Administrator Armstrong said. "The main difference from the old Chautauqua plan is that the people who attended the Chautauqua programs often had to travel many miles to attend them, had to pay to hear the lectures and had to go to the expense and trouble of either boarding or camping at the Chautauqua meeting place for the week or as the Chautauqua programs were presented.

"Under this new plan, which is being called the Public Affairs Forum, we will bring outstanding speakers and thinkers into every community in every one of these seven counties. The plan is to have each of these speakers spend from a week to a month in these seven counties, speaking every night in one of the schools, to which all of the adults as well as older school children, will be invited. Indications are that at least a month will be required for each speaker to make the rounds of all the schools in the various communities in these seven counties. It may be decided to have two speakers but appearing in different counties."

The topics to be discussed have not yet been selected, but they will be topics of general interest in rural communities and may range from agriculture to religion, it was indicated. The speakers will not be school teachers or educators necessarily, but will be selected from many different walks of life in order to provide as much variety as possible, Supt. Armstrong said.

"For instance, we will probably have one speaker who is regarded as an authority, discuss the growth and development of the farm cooperative movement in the middle west, another who will discuss the latest thought with regard to taxation, another who will deal with the religion development of the country, and so forth," Supt. Armstrong said. "The object of the forum will be to bring to the people in the rural sections the latest and most authentic information on public affairs both in this country and over the entire world, and in such a way that they will both enjoy it and benefit from it, likewise learn many new facts which will be of help to them."

Last year ten of these projects were inaugurated on an experimental basis in ten different states, Supt. Armstrong said. These proved so successful and the people who participated in them showed so much interest, that this year the program is being considerably expanded and other states added to it, including North Carolina. The belief is that this new experiment in adult education, even though somewhat sugar coated, is going to prove very popular and effective in the counties included in it.

Miss Gorrell and Miss Mead delightfully entertained the piano and violin students in Ragdale Hall Wednesday evening, October 21, from 7:30 until 9:30.

A large number of students were present and all had an enjoyable time participating in numerous games and contests.

Refreshments consisted of ice cream, cake, mints, and peanuts—each plate being adorned with a musical favor.

In concluding the evening, Miss Gorrell and Miss Nulton played old favorites on their violins while the guests joined in singing.

NEW MATH MAJORS ENTERTAINED BY THE MATH CLUB

Large Number of Freshmen Join the Club for Year

The Mathematics Club entertained the new math majors at an informal party on Monday evening, October 26, at 6:30 o'clock, in the "Y" hut. Belle Kearney played the piano while Xylda Cooper, the club president, and Marguerite Averette, secretary and treasurer greeted the new students at the door. Both old and new students were introduced by way of a "got acquainted" game, and later they showed much enthusiasm in several contests. Margaret and Ida F. Davis were declared winners and each was given a prize. Refreshments consisted of vanilla ice cream with cherries and chocolate sauce.

In view of the large number of freshmen joining the Math Club this year, the club officers and advisers are confident that it will continue to be one of the most active student organizations on the campus. Present indications are that the programs for the fall quarter will be entertaining and highly educational.

Miss Maria D. Graham is the group's adviser.

SENIORS HOLD SECOND CLASS MEETING

The Seniors held their second class meeting last Thursday night, October 22, 1936, with Ruth Cagle, as president, presiding.

Activities in which the Senior Class is supposed to participate in this quarter were discussed. A committee was appointed to select the Senior Class play, which will be given before Christmas. The committee includes Marion Wood, Judson White, and Alva Page. A date for the presentation of the play was not definitely set.

The need of attention to the Senior Parlor was also discussed. A committee made up of Josephine Ranes, Opie Cochran, and Viola Smith was appointed to find out what needs to be done and should be done to improve the parlor.

How much class dues should be was discussed again, but the class did not come to a decision on the amount.

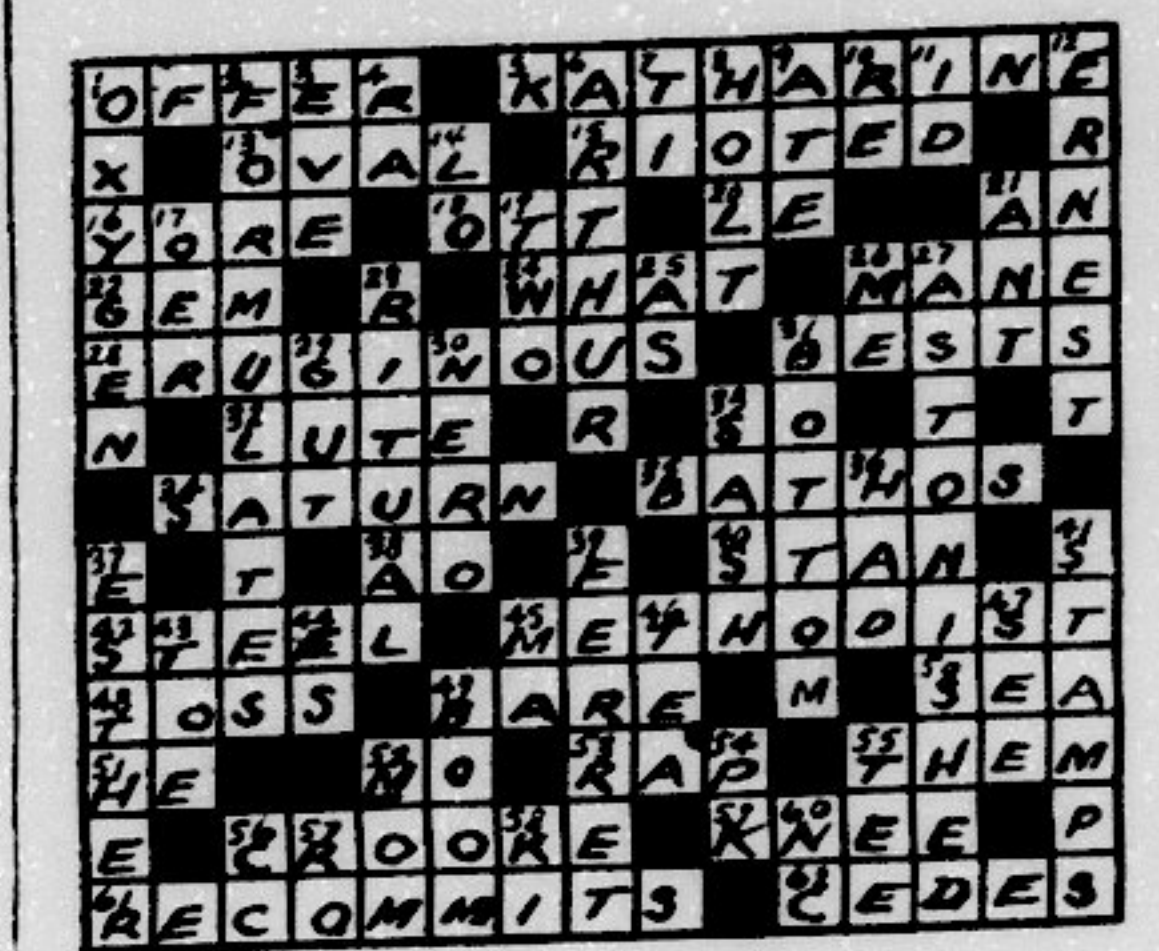

In the previous meeting Miss Morton was present and talked about senior privileges, how they should be used and what seniors should be granted the use of them.

Cross Word Puzzle SOLUTION

A Freshman's VIEWPOINT

The other morning as I proceeded down the hall to class, I happened to cast a glance into Ye Soda Shoppe and my eyes duly fastened on the largest object in sight—a Mr. Andrews (Samuel, I think), and upon his knee (a nice large one), sat a frightened freshman telling him, in forced tones, how cute he was. This called for investigation. Result: Initiation Week in progress. (I understand it was going on all over the campus.) Instinct warned—hie thee hither, freshman, no good can come of this. . . .

And then, as I walked down the back walk, I saw a comely freshman, all tied up in a red bow, strolling toward me. I wanted to be polite so I replied to her nod with a, "How're you?" Immediately she screwed her face into some horrible shape, emitted a loud meow, and fled. I was beginning to wonder about the gray cells under the hair of my classmates, when here came two more freshmen, and were they sick specimens? Their faces were as pale as ghosts and parched lips as if something they ate didn't agree with them. Explanation: deprived of all make-up by thoughtful upperclassmen.

MORAL: Stay away from those cute little booths in the lobby of Austin Hall. It just ain't healthy!

Durham, N. H.—(ACP)—"Old brick" may be an intimate term of address to some people but, as far as practical experimenters are concerned, it means nothing but poor building material.

Tests of 10,000 second hand bricks made by the University of New Hampshire's Engineering Experimental Station show that walls built of used brick will stand only half as long and half as safely as those built of new unused brick.

Mortar doesn't cling well to second-hand brick because the original pores of the building material have been partially or wholly clogged from the first cementing. If you want more perfect joints between bricks, use only new ones.

CALLIE CHARLTON AND ERNELLE BROOKS ATTEND B. S. U. CONVENTION

Sixteen Other Colleges Are Represented at Meeting

The Baptist Student Union was represented at the annual State Convention, which was held at Greensboro, October 23-25, by Callie Charlton and Ernelle Brooks. The convention convened at W. C. U. N. C.

There were seventeen colleges represented at the meeting. From these delegates, Woodrow Hill, of Boiling Springs College, was elected to succeed Al Martin of Wake Forest, as President of the State Baptist Student Union.

State and nationally known speakers included on the program were: Dr. Frank Leawell, State Secretary of Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, Tennessee; Mr. M. A. Huggins, also of Nashville; and Dr. Carl Yates from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky.

On Saturday, October 24, the delegates attended an International Banquet at which a missionary who recently returned from the Orient spoke. She was Miss Juliet Mather.

Next year the convention will be held at Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, North Carolina.

Club Begins Year's Work With Wiener Roast and Enjoyable Social Hour

The Science Club began its year's work Tuesday, October 29, with a wiener roast at Rock Springs, which about 100 students attended. Former presidents attending were Henry Oglesby, the first president; Robert Fleming, third president; and Jimmy Carr, fourth president. Nelson Hunsucker, the second president, was unable to attend the wiener roast.

A short business meeting was called to order by President Darnall Stowe, and later, games, contests, and singing were enjoyed.

The program for this year decided upon at the meeting is as follows:

- Full Quarter:
1. History of Chemistry.
2. How designs are put in tiles.
3. Romance of Radium.
Winter Quarter:
1. History of Physics.
2. Recent development in Moving Pictures.
3. Trip from the hot stars to the cool beaches.
Spring Quarter:
1. History of Biology.
2. Recent development in the control of diseases.
3. Superstitions.

E. L. HENDERSON ELECTED TO HEAD SCOUT COMMITTEE

Is Selected to Succeed Dr. G. Combs As Chairman of the District Committee of Boy Scouts

KENNETH LANE HENDERSON HOLDS HIGHEST AWARD

Dr. Henderson Has Been Active Member of the Committee Since It Was Organized Years Ago

Dr. E. L. Henderson, Director of Instruction in Administration, Supervision at this college, has been selected to succeed Dr. G. Combs as chairman of the Greenville district committee of Scouts.

Dr. Combs will leave the position to take up his charge in Greenville, after having served as pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church here for the past five years.

For the past two years the district has rendered an outstanding service as district chairman for Boy Scout committee. Associate declare he has been an inspiration and a guide to each man on the district committee, adding that of the time he has served as chairman Scouting has more than doubled the entire district through cooperation and functioning of the committee under an able leader.

Dr. Combs has commended member of the committee for work carried on and urged the committee members to continue cooperation with the council, "make available to more boys in Greenville, the character and citizenship training but Scouting has to offer."

Dr. Henderson, the new chairman, has been one of the most active members since the committee organized two years ago. He organized and sponsored several standing courses of training Scout leaders throughout the county.

Dr. Henderson has shown interest in the youth of the community for several years, by doing his work on the Scout committee, has been one of the most ardent champions of the cause, a persistent worker to make the advantages of Scouting available more boys, especially the underprivileged youths.

Kenneth Lane Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Henderson, honor student at the local school, was awarded the Eagle Merit Badge last July. This represents the highest honor may be conferred upon a Boy Scout.

Each Member of Senior C Chooses Freshman to Serve Her on General Cabinet

The beautiful and impressive annual installation service of Junior Cabinet of the YWCA held at the vesper hour 8:30 night, November 8. The light ceremony was used. The ident, Miss Catherine Wallace, langed them with a quotation of the scriptures, "Many are called few are chosen." Each member of the Senior cabinet had chosen some freshman to serve her on the general cabinet, the president of the college talk, she directed the seniors the girls in the audience who had chosen to serve.

There was a dramatic moment each senior went out into the ence, tapped the girls who had chosen, and presented to a candle. As each girl's name called by the secretary, she stepped on the stage and her candle was by the president.

The members of the Senior cabinet are as follows: Misses Catherine Wallace, president; M. (Please turn to page three)
