GRADY ADDRESSES VESPER SERVICES

"The Dynamic Aspiration" is Subject of Speaker

Mr. Robert C. Grady, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, was speaker at the vesper services of the Young Woman's Christian Association Sunday night, January 9.

He used as his topic for discussion "The Dynamic Aspiration," quoted from the Scripture the words "I press on," and illustrated them by telling of Paul, who was not satisfied with what he already knew but kept going forth.

The speaker said, we cannot be babes in Christ, we must be mature in our intelligence—think like adults pressing on toward the goal of manhood. In continuing he said, "I cannot think of a greater need than that dynamic aspiration of living a full Christian life."

Then Mr. Grady gave four characteristics by which he thought we might live up to this aspiration—singleness of mind, a sense of divine discontent, realistic-mindedness, and a need of an attitude of confidence expectancy.

In concluding Mr. Grady quoted the words "we shall build on" as an apt inspiration as we press on till we can stand with Him in the commonwealth of love, justice, and good will toward men.

SODEMAN SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY HOUR

Uses One of Stevenson's Stories to Illustrate Subject

"Fog" was the topic used by the Reverend L. F. Sodeман, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church here, in chapel, Tuesday, January 11.

Picturing the climbing of Mount Mitchell through the fog and coming to the top where all is clear, he stated that some people today think it's mighty foggy, financially and other ways, and some think it will get foggy. "The good thing though," he said, "is that it's clear above the fog."

He used an illustration from Stevenson's story about a ship at sea, saying that below, the passengers were afraid while above deck the pilot smiled as he steered the ship into clear water.

Assuring the students that in life there is a pilot and a wheel, he continued that in spite of all of the contradictions of life, the things we can't understand, it is clear above.

"Have you seen the Pilot? Is He guiding your ship? Have you seen His smile?" he asked.

In conclusion he said, "Let us keep in touch with the Pilot."

You'll soon be able to tell a Grinnell College man by the way he forks his spinach, if the college "orientation" course is a success. The course embracing among other things proper table manners—is given to freshmen.

Times Have Changed But Human Nature Same As Ever, States Nightwatchman

Mr. J. E. Williams, popularly known as "Chief," and whose job it is to patrol the campus at night in the capacity of watchman, has arrived at the conclusion that although times, customs, and practices change, human nature, nevertheless, remains constant. The "Chief" is now beginning his twenty-first year of continuous service in his position of night-watchman, and no one is better qualified than he to give interesting sidelights on the lives and customs of that eccentric type of animal life known as the "college student."

Mr. Williams has a large store of interesting experiences in his unique contact with students. These experiences have given him a wise, broad-minded, and friendly attitude toward life in general and college life in particular. "I've seen 'em come, and I've seen 'em go," stated the Chief. "Some were splendid examples of youth, others were not so good, but I guess it takes all kinds to make a school just like it takes all kinds to make a world."

When asked how the modern students of ECTC compared with students of the past, Mr. Williams replied that there wasn't much difference fundamentally in their religious and moral conception of life. "Of course, modes of dress and be-

Dissertation on "Early Rhode Island Pronunciation, 1630-1700, as Reflected in Published Town Records"

Microfilm Will Be Preserved By the American Documental Institution in Washington

The doctoral dissertation of Dr. Claude M. Simpson, a former member of the English faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, has just recently made "history," according to the statement in a recent article in the New York Times Book Review. The dissertation appears in microfilm and is the first such dissertation ever to be issued in the field of the humanities.

Dr. Simpson's treatise, "Early Rhode Island Pronunciation, 1630-1700, as Reflected in Published Town Records," is considered to be one of the most valuable contributions to its field.

The manuscript was photographed page by page on a roll of film and reached the reviewer in a tiny can about the size of an advertiser's sample of a patent salve. The reviewer had to take it to the reading machine of a New York library which enlarged the print to normal size and threw the magnified image of the

Mr. Stephan, a member of the geography department here last year and whose place has been filled by Dr. Brown, is now in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

Having completed his survey and mapping of the Everglades of Florida for his dissertation, he has just returned from that state.

Mr. Stephan has recently been appointed to the Geography faculty of Kent State University, Ohio, which has an enrollment of about two thousand students.

He will begin his work about February the first.

WHITE RESIGNS HIGH POSITION

Judson White, of Mt. Carmel, Illinois, and a former student of this institution recently announced his resignation as president of the North Carolina Federation of Students. White, while enrolled here, was outstanding in campus activities, being secretary of Phi Sigma Pi, national honorary teachers' fraternity, and member of the Men's Student Council, the Science Club, and the English Club. He was a member of the Social Committee, and the Entertainment Committee.

Miss Alma Hall, of New Bern, will succeed White as president. She is a student at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, and formerly served as vice president of the organization.

It behooves all students here to take an active part in this campaign. Please watch the bulletin board and the Teco Echo for further announcements concerning the council.

Professor Wright Declares Girls Lack Artistry In Make-Up

"If I were a girl I'd certainly learn to use make-up with the hand of an artist," declared Professor M. L. Wright in a lecture to his sociology class a short time ago. "Instead of using cosmetics skillfully in an intelligent attempt to aid Mother Nature's work, girls daub their faces with various kinds of paints, powders, and lotions in such a manner that the effect is grotesque rather than beautiful."

The subject came up during a discussion of the ways in which primitive peoples adorned their bodies, and was used as an illustration of the

The list of sub-projects is widespread in its scope and includes items from making tables for the dining hall to furnishing lockers for the physical education classes. Practically all of the improvements and equipment will be of a permanent nature, and it is the intent of the authorities to give to ECTC a project of lasting benefit.

Alexander, athletic director, has submitted complete plans for his department's share of the appropriation. According to the treatise, London and Southeastern England furnished most of the early settlers of Rhode Island. This conclusion resulted from a careful study of the Rhode Island speech of that period and the speech of London of the same day, which showed a remarkable similarity.

Dr. Simpson's microfilm roll will be preserved by the American Documental Institution in Washington, D. C., so that libraries or individuals interested in this work may obtain enlargements at a reasonable price.

Dr. Simpson was at East Carolina Teachers College two years ago in 1935-1936 in the English Department. He is now a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin.

The comparatively new practice of having men students increases his worries as a night-watchman, but Mr. Williams is quite willing to make that sacrifice to encourage the idea. "I think a lot of my boys," the jovial policeman said, "and I wish we had at least five hundred."

Professor Wright Declares Girls Lack Artistry in Make-up

Mr. Wright advocated that colleges should teach modern girls the "art of make-up" and this course should be required of every young woman when she entered the Freshman class. This type of training is as necessary as any other branch of the curriculum, according to Mr. Wright.

"Of course," said Mr. Wright, "you women may not think that I have the right to make such a criticism, but, I have to look at you, don't I?"

Christmas... Echoes...

The Woman's Chorus of the College presented their annual Christmas Carol Service Tuesday evening, December 14, in the Austin Auditorium.

The chorus of forty girls was under the direction of Miss Gussie Kuykendall.

A number of selections were rendered by the chorus which were enjoyed by the appreciative audience.

The Christmas spirit was carried out by a beautifully lighted tree on west campus. The one hundred colored lights burned from December 10 through December 25.

The Girl's Student Council sponsored a tea in Fleming Hall Parlor on Sunday afternoon, December 12, from 4:00 to 5:30 o'clock with Rebecca Watson, Thornton Stovall, Miss Annie L. Morton and others receiving.

The students and faculty enjoyed a formal dinner in the College dining halls Tuesday evening, December 14. The Junior Class of which Susan Evans is president, sponsored the dinner.

The Garden Club was delightfully entertained at the Home Economics House of the High School December 10, with Misses Schnopp and Rogers as hostesses, assisted by six Home Economics students from East Carolina Teachers College; Misses Doris Mewborn, Ruby Lee Lynch, Janie May Robinson, Annie Lee Jeffords, Irene Kennedy, and McKenzie Ross.

Miss Mewborn talked about Christmas decorations, both outdoor and indoor. Miss Jeffords showed a table full of Christmas confections; Miss Kennedy talked on attractive ways of wrapping Christmas gifts.

HISTORY CLUB HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

The newly organized history club held its first meeting on Monday night, January 17 with an attendance of approximately sixty, all of whom are history majors at least sophomore standing.

The constitutional committee composed of Nelda Cooper, M. Satterwhite, and Charlie W. had charge of the meeting. The members were very nice, and during the time and consideration the minutes had given the history of the constitution. The members were read section by section, and commented upon by members of the committee. On the second reading they were unanimously approved. Three nominations for the presidency were submitted to be on by secret ballot before the meeting. The three nominees, Edith Modlin, Elizabeth Gilliam, and Sam Dees.

This club was organized at the request of the history majors, A. D. Frank, director, and the members of the history department were greatly in favor of the organization.

Miss Laura Rose, who has been an instructor of history here about ten years, was selected as sponsor for the club.

Requirements for membership are as follows:

- 1. Sophomore standing or above.
 - 2. Three hours history requisite.
 - 3. Must have an average of three.
- Although this is the first time a club to be organized at the college, it promises to be one of the major clubs of the campus in the future.
