STUDENTS VOTE 'YES' FOR ATHLETIC FEE

Junior Class To Present "Sunshine" November 18

Britton Directs. Harris and Mason Play Leading Roles

Under the capable direction of Clifton Britton with Geraldine Harris and Yates Mason in the leading roles, a three act play, "Sunshine," will be presented by the Junior Class in the Austin Auditorium on Friday evening, November 18, at 8:30. "Sunshine" is a clever combination of pathos, suspense, melodrama, and light comedy. The play offers excellent opportunities for good acting in the character part of a popular baseball hero who succeeds in making a "home run" in more ways than one to the parts of Mary and Major Kellipot, which sustain the tense, dramatic and emotional elements of the play; and in the roles of Mr. Buttrick, a hypochondriac who finds his medicine most pleasing, and Miss Tessie Mitford, the mental case, one of the most original comedy characters ever invented.

The director, Clifton Britton, three president of his class, has had a great deal of work in the field of dramatics and has directed, among others, the plays "Smilin' Through," "Ferdinand," "The Patsy," and "The Arrival of Kitty" since he has been on our campus. He has the distinction of being the only student at ECTC who has ever directed a play, assuming the full responsibility of its production.

Heading the cast of the play are Geraldine Harris as Mary "Sunshine" Ellis, and Yates Mason as Buddy Brady. Geraldine is a graduate of GHS and has played leading roles in two major productions since her enrollment at ECTC. Y. Z., a newcomer to our campus this year, appeared in several dramatic productions while in high school.

"All Student" Program Huge Success

Talent of great or near-great proportions was displayed on Friday morning, November 3, when a number of students selected by the student chapel committee revealed the fact that the quality and quantity of talent on our campus has not diminished.

Master of ceremonies, Fodie Hodges, introduced as an initial feature Bo Carr singing "Sophisticated Lady" to the accompaniment of Juanita Simpson. Called back by the loud applause of his audience, he then sang "So Help Me." He needed no help, however, to make his singing go over with his audience. Following this was a piano solo "Manhattan Serenade," rendered by Yvonne Alderman. Maude Melvin then sang "Morning," accompanied at the piano by Wilder Royal; and followed this up with the chorus of "Will You Remember?"

Variety was offered in the form of a recitation, "Little Arthur," effectively given by Florence Woodbury.

With Wilder Royal again at the piano, the song "Sympathy" was rendered by Irene Mitcheam.

Lucille Bedford, singing "You Go To My Head," and "Basin Street Blues" was accompanied by Yvonne Alderman. "Blues" is the word for the singing of those songs as Lucille sings them.

As a fitting ending to a program of music and talent, Loomis MacGlohorn, introduced as the "red-head," piano playingest swinger on the campus of ECTC played "Twilight In Turkey" and "Change Partners."

Leading roles in "Sunshine" will be played by Geraldine Harris and Yates Mason, pictured above.

Fourteen Chosen For "Who's Who"

Intercollegiate Yearbook Takes Outstanding College Students

Fourteen students from East Carolina Teachers College have been selected for the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1938. They are Ina Mae Pierce, Lucille Lewis, Lillian Parrish, Lex Ridenhour, Nell Breedlove, Clifton Britton, Margaret Guy Overman, Emily Brendle, Marie Dawson, Hattie Laura Britt, Irene Uzzell, Hilda Gray Batten, Helen McGinis, and Pete Hill.

Each year a number of students are chosen from American Colleges according to a per cent of the enrollment of the college. The students are chosen on a basis of scholarship character, participation in extra-curricular activities, leadership, and personality.

The yearbook, which is published with the cooperation of the National Federation of America and various important collegiate organizations, serves as a reference for business houses and will be of great importance to the selected students in securing employment. Many business firms consider the Who's Who the best reference which a college graduate can have, when applying for a position.

Attempts on the part of the staff to ascertain those on the committee which selected ECTC students have been unsuccessful.

Frat Issues Bids

Phi Sigma Pi, national collegiate educational fraternity, under the leadership of Fodie Hodges met last Friday afternoon and issued bids to ten new pledges. Those receiving bids were: Lex Ridenhour, Earl Smith, John David Bridges, Bo Farley, Louis Wilkerson, Emmet Sawyer, Alton Payne, Clifton Britton, Billy Daniels, and Lindsey Whichard. Initiation was held Monday night, November 8, in the Wright Building. Several alumni and Honorary Members attended.

Homecoming Program Announced

Football Game, Assembly, Barbecue, and Tea Feature Program

With the football game against Appalachian State Teachers College as a feature of the program, final plans have been announced for ECTC's annual Homecoming Day on Saturday, November 19.

Visitors will arrive any time between 10 and 11:30 o'clock in the morning and faculty members have been requested to be in the halls in Austin Building as an informal reception committee.

The program in Austin auditorium is to last from 11:30 until 12:30. During this time President Meadows will give greetings, the alumni will be given an opportunity to return greetings, and the music department will render several musical numbers.

Barbecue luncheon will be served on back campus and will be in charge of Mrs. Rives, dietitian. Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton, of the Home Economics departments, and Mr. E. L. Henderson, of the Education Department. Dining room girls will serve.

Others to whom credit is due for the preparations being made are as follows: Dr. Carl Adams, of the Psychology Department; Dr. R. J. Slay, of the Science Department; Miss Mariah D. Graham, of the (Please turn to page eight)

Local Students Ten Per Cent Of Student Body

Greenville High School graduates constitute approximately ten per cent of the East Carolina Teachers College's yearly enrollment and ten per cent of the yearly graduates.

Seven hundred and sixty-one Greenville High School graduates have enrolled in East Carolina Teachers College since 1931. The year 1932-33 leads with one hundred and fifteen students enrolled, closely followed by one hundred and six students for the year 1938-39.

At the present there are one hundred and six students enrolled for the Fall term. This is an increase of eleven over the average annual enrollment of ninety-five.

Of the total enrolled for the past few years four hundred and fifty Greenville High School graduates have graduated from this institution with either an A.B. Degree or a two year certificate.

"Practice Teaching Is No Cinch"—If One Believes This Tale of Woe

By Margaret Guy Overman

So! You think practice teaching is a cinch? Well, let me straighten you out on that score—it's quite a strenuous job (in more ways than two.)

The typical practice teacher's day begins about 7:15 when she gets up, sloshes cold water in her eyes to wash the sleep out, jumps into her clothes, runs a comb through her curls, and runs to the dining hall at full speed to get there before the door closes at 7:35.

Arriving at her table just in time to save someone else the trouble of eating her breakfast, she falls into a chair. Over her morning toast she outlines her day's work for the benefit of her fellow diners (who don't consider it a benefit at all.)

Then comes the trip to the post-office. What! No mail! Oh, dear! How can she be expected to teach when she hasn't heard from her

PRESIDENT MEADOWS

Meadows Stresses Cooperation

College President Sends Message To People of Greenville

Dr. Leon R. Meadows, president of East Carolina Teachers College, stresses the fine spirit of cooperation existent between the town of Greenville and the College in a message to be conveyed to the people of Greenville through this, the "Goodwill Edition" of THE TECO ECHO. This edition of the collegiate publication has been circulated widely in Greenville and Pitt County.

The college president's message follows:

"Since our institution was first established there has been the finest spirit of cooperation between the town of Greenville and the College. In fact, the city furnished $50,000 to secure the College, and since that time the interest in the growth and welfare of the institution has never waned on the part of the Greenville citizens. Probably, no city in the United States has shown a finer spirit of cooperation with College authorities than has Greenville. From the first, the city has adopted the College as its own and has boosted it and has worked for it unflinchingly. On the other hand, the College has been glad to cooperate with the city of Greenville in the latter's effort to go forward. A recent survey revealed the fact that ninety-three per cent of the College faculty take an active part in Church and religious organizations in Greenville. Faculty members have been members of practically all local clubs and organizations which have for their purpose the upbuilding of the community. Faculty members have answered (Please turn to Page Three)

World Famous Violinist Will Appear At College

Violinist Ossy Renardy, who though only seventeen years old, has already won international acclaim as a genius of rare quality will appear in a concert here on Monday evening, November 14 at 8:30.

Renardy made his American debut last year when he toured the southern and middle western states, climaxing the season with a New York recital was that he "took town hall by storm."

Having made his first appearance in Merano in 1933, he has since that time played throughout Europe, United States, and parts of Canada. So great is the popularity of this young artist that he has been held over by public demand in major cities for three recitals where only one was scheduled.

The technique and agility of the boy genius is easily understood when the fact is known that he has not missed a practice period since he began studying, thirteen years ago. He still studies from two to six hours daily, depending on whether or not there is a concert planned for him in the evening. His genius asserts itself in his ability to render the Paganini and Tschelikowsky concertos and the Schubert and Corelli sonatas.

Born Oscar Reiss, the boy got his present name not from his parents but by his prodigious talent. He was kept from the eye of the public until he was thirteen years old, at which time Theodore Pashkus, who had been his tutor for eight years, sought an engagement for him with the purpose in mind of developing the artist's sensitivity to an audience.

Getting an engagement for him was a hard job. The managers would say, "Come back with a name and we will be glad to have you."

Finally he was given a chance with a weekly variety show at the Civic (Please turn to page eight)

Junior-Frosh Frolic Success

Becoming a veritable "haunted" place on Saturday night, October 29, the Wright Building housed a number of queerly costumed Juniors and freshmen who attended the masquerade ball given by the Junior Class in honor of the Freshmen.

Decorations for the occasion were in accordance with the spirit of Halloween. A scarecrow grinned down upon the dancers from the stage. Crepe paper was entwined around the columns along the sidelines of the dance floor, and multi- (Please turn to page eight)

One Thousand Teachers Meet Here

Northeastern District of NCEA Now Holding Sessions on ECTC Campus

Beginning on Friday afternoon, November 11, and lasting through noon, Saturday, November 12, the Northeastern District of the North Carolina Education Association, with a representation of from one thousand to fifteen hundred, will meet at ECTC, with D. H. Conley presiding.

The first general session begins at 3:30 Friday afternoon in Austin Auditorium. Music by the choruses of Winterville, Ayden, and Snow Hill high schools will be directed by Mr. Sidney Bullock and will precede the business meeting, which will be held for the purpose of nominating district officers and appointing committees. This will be followed by a welcome from Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the college; greetings from Superintendent Benn Smith, president of the N.C.E.A., Greensboro, N. C.; and an address by Earl Douglas, of the University of North Carolina.

Friday night at 8:00 another general session will be held in the Wright Building. The music for this will be directed by Dr. Dean Tabor of ECTC and will be followed by an address by Dr. D. W. Daniels, head of the English Department of Clemson College, Clemson, S. C. Following this session there will be a reception and dance at Greenville High School for the teachers.

Departmental meetings begin at 9:00 Saturday morning, except the dramatics art department, which meeting is held Friday afternoon at 4:00.

Another general session, beginning at 11:00 Saturday morning, will hear (Please turn to page eight)

Joe Hart Plays For College Dance

The Robert H. Wright Building was transformed into a picturesque autumn scene as a setting for the college dance on Saturday night, November 5.

Music for the dancers was furnished by Little Joe Hart and his thirteen-piece orchestra. Joe was featured for eight years with the nationally-known Ace Brigade, and is now heading his own dance organization. This orchestra was accompanied by two vocalists, and besides these two vocalists other members of the band entertained with singing. (Please turn to page three)

Authorities Requested To Increase Student Fees

Support For Entire Sport Program Asked

Culminating a movement that for some time has been gaining favor on the campus with a brace of mass meetings last week, the student body voted overwhelmingly to request the administration to place into effect an Athletic Fee of $1.50 per student per quarter. According to the resolution passed in the student meeting, the funds derived from these fees will go towards the broadening of the entire sports program at ECTC.

The recently organized college band numbering sixty pieces will be uniformed with an appropriation of $1,200 from this new fund. In addition to this, $800 of the proposed Athletic Fund will go to the Women's Athletic Association for the support of their intercollegiate and intra-mural sports program, and the remaining portion of the fund, approximately $1,000 will be used for men's athletics.

From their part of the fund, the Women's Athletic Association will furnish complete outfits for a corps of ten cheer-leaders to add color and pep to the college's athletic events.

The resolution which was finally passed by the student body was the result of a proposal made in the last issue of THE TECO ECHO, which was amended in several particulars to meet the various needs of the whole athletic program. The students met in mass meeting for two successive nights for discussion and debate. The resolution finally passed by the body is as follows:

"Be it resolved: That, We, the Student Body of East Carolina Teachers College in mass meeting assembled, do respectfully request (Please turn to page four)

Nursery School New Project Of Home Ec. Dept.

The newest phase of the Home Economics Department will be a Nursery School to be begun in the winter quarter, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Rogers. Children of three and four years of age will be eligible for registration. This school will be conducted in the rear apartment of the Home Management House, and will accommodate eight children. The children will be expected to arrive at nine o'clock and remain until two. Their daily schedule will consist in a health examination, indoor and outdoor play, mid-morning lunch, directed activities, lunch and sleep. College Home Economics Seniors under the direction of Miss Rogers will assist in supervision, in planning and preparing meals and other work connected with the school. A fee of ten dollars per quarter will be charged for each child. Application blanks may be secured from the Registrar's office of East Carolina Teachers College.

Speaking Choir Organized

English Club Sponsors New Phase of Campus Activity

The verse-speaking choir sponsored by the English Club has begun its work for the year. During the past week two meetings were held, at which members were assigned their places and practice on selections was begun. Miss Sarah Ann Maxwell was chosen chairman of the group.

The verse-speaking choir is made up entirely of volunteer members. Last spring, when the group was first organized, there were in it about twenty-five students. The work was found to be so helpful and enjoyable that at present there are almost fifty members. Meetings are to be held regularly on Wednesday afternoon of each week. The plans for the year include programs in chapel and before the English Club.

The art of choric speech is an old one. It was familiar to the Ancient Hebrews, many passages in the Old Testament being examples of group recitation. The chorus of Greek tragedy is another instance. Folk poetry, such as ballads, also, show evidence of group work. The art was revived in England some years ago, and recently many speech choirs, as they are now usually called, have been organized in America, especially in the colleges. Aside from the pleasure gained from sharing in an artistic interpretation of poetry, students who belong to choirs may expect to improve their speech habits, to memorize easily a large number of poems, to gain a better understanding of the forms and rhythms of poetry, and to develop ability to read aloud well.

The group at the college is now working on selections by Tennyson, Longfellow, Yachel Lindsay, Walt Whitman, Shakespeare, and others.

Miss Mary H. Green of the English Department is advisor to the group. Members include: Emily Brendle, Edith Barrett, Mary Elizabeth Darden, Juanita Etheridge, Edith Martin, Georgia Sugg, Iris Davis, Cassie Hudson, Mabry Hodges, Lucy Ann Barrow, Lillian Price, Katherine Johnson, Mattie Lee Jackson, Frances Nance, Madeline Byrum, Elizabeth Wilder, Ethel Gaston, Helen Gray Gilliam, Christine Harris, Rebecca Ross, Irene Mitcham, Ruth Taylor, Texie

Group Attends Inter-racial Conference

Students Meet at New Bern, Discuss Race Problem

ECTC students attended a regional conference conducted at New Bern, Thursday, October 20, by the N. C. Commission on Inter-racial Cooperation. The conference was under the direction of Mr. L. R. Reynolds of Raleigh.

The main purpose of this conference was to interpret the need of and to create public sentiment for: (a) A separate state institution for the care and training of feeble-minded Negro children; (b) Adequate support of an institution of delinquent Negro girls, comparable to the one for white girls at Samaritana; (c) Removing the differential in educational opportunity for Negro youth; (d) Further elimination of T.B. and social diseases; (e) Helping the Negro to help himself survive economically; (f) Mutual good will and cooperation through better understanding.

These topics were discussed and left for further consideration.

Those attending the conference were Mr. M. L. Wright, Dr. P. A. Toll, Isabel Parker, Magdalene Powell, Hulda Hester, Virginia Wood, Marguerite Averett, Marguerite Curran, Bill Holland, Charles Harris, Howard Draper, Emmett Sawyer, and Sidney Mason.

Gift For School Discussed By Senior Class

Payment of Class Dues Urged

Leaving a gift to the school was the first topic discussed by the Seniors in their class meeting Thursday night. The president, Lucille Lewis, urged that the Seniors begin thinking about an appropriate gift, and appointed a committee to bring in suggestions.

The class then discussed the possibilities of an orchestra for the Senior-Sophomore winter dance quarter. Members were urged to pay their class dues so that the orchestra could be booked as early as possible. Committees to work on this dance were also appointed.

Baptists Lead In Religious Affiliation

Soph Class Makes Plans For Dance

Rudy Walters and Band to Furnish Music

The Sophomore class met Thursday, October 27, at 6:30 p.m. in Room 111, Jimmy Ward, presiding.

The purpose of the meeting was to make plans for the Sophomore-Senior dance. It was decided that the dance would be given December 10. Rudy Walters and his college orchestra were selected to furnish music for the affair. The following chairmen of committees were elected: Sarah Evans, decorating committee, Lib Moody, refreshment committee, Wista Covington, refreshment committee. The meeting adjourned at 7:30.

Presbyterians, 92; Episcopalians, 59; Catholic, 9; Christian Scientists, 463. The second largest group is the Methodists with 379. Next in order come the Christians with 99; and 61 of no preference.

Britt, McGinnis Teach Course In Dramatics

High School Group Presents One-Act Plays

The first and third period dramatic classes at Greenville High School have been studying one-act plays under the direction of Hattie Laura Britt and Helen McGinnis. In Friday's chapel program, two comedies were presented—"Curses! What a Night!" and "Something in Butlers!" "Curses! What a Night!" is a satirical comedy on melodrama by Sidney Steele. The leading characters were Animosity, the proud heroine, Sarah Moore; Arsenic Ardy, the villainous villain, Norman Wilkerson; Donnat Hudwuddle, the mere band, Herbert Lee; the sheriff, a relentless sleuth, Albert Whitehurst; Gondalena, the woman of mystery, Julia Ann Bland; Helen McGinnis directed this play.

"Something in Butlers," a farce by Evelyn Diller, was directed by Hattie Laura Britt. Charles, a medical student, was played by Edgar Gibson; Meadows, the butler, George Tyndall; Mrs. Barton, a wealthy society matron, Rosalie Brown; Ellen, her daughter, Dorothy Weaver; Mary, the maid, Jane Hines; an applicant, Benny Thompson.

Admission was charged for the twelve pieces including Rudy Walters as the "leader-man" and Juanita Simpson, versatile torch-singer.

For the remainder of the semester one-act plays will be reviewed.

Mayor Blount Expresses Views On Relation Of Town, C

As part of its effort to acquaint its readers of the relationship that exists between the city of Greenville and the State Teachers College, Mayor Blount expressed his views on the relation of the college to the city of Greenville in a speech given at the Greenville Chamber of Commerce on November 10.

"The City of Greenville is one of its most valuable assets. The location of this city of education, which offers great advantages to our community, is a fortunate one. An educated citizenry is a good Government asset, and leads to a higher spiritual and moral life of the community. The presence of this higher education is a particular effort to improve the atmosphere in Greenville.

"The responsibility of the town, good Government, is to demand a degree for the protection of the environment for the town that attend the College. Always existed a cooperation on the part of the City of Greenville in the friendly relations among the citizens and students. No future program of planning or fully made without the consideration for the times to recognize the advantages of this College. We realize it is a State Institution, is here in Greenville, the thousands of students returning for a visit to Mater have likewise made among our citizens were students there."

Mayor Blount Expresses Views On Relationship Of Town, College

As part of its effort to further acquaint its readers of the close relationship that exists between the city of Greenville and East Carolina Teachers College, the Teco Echo approached M. K. Blount, mayor of Greenville, and asked him to present his views on this relationship which is so vital if the city and the college are to progress. The text of Mayor Blount's message is as follows:

The City of Greenville has as one of its most valuable assets the East Carolina Teachers College. The location of this institution in Greenville has raised the standard of education which gives to us a great advantage over cities and communities not so fortunately endowed. An educated citizenship demands that government, appreciates progress and lends its influence to the spiritual and moral development of the community. The public is conscious of its duty in promoting higher education and to this end particular effort is made by our citizens to provide student workers for the development of a spiritual atmosphere in Greenville.

The responsibility of a clean, well-governed Government and law enforcement is demanded, in a large degree, for the protection of and good environment for the boys and girls that attend the College. There has always existed a cooperative spirit on the part of the City which is reflected in the friendly relation existing among the citizens, faculty, and students. No future long range program of planning can be successfully made without the cooperation and consideration for this institution. It is the desire of the City at all times to recognize the full appreciation of the advantages and needs of this College. We realize that while the State Institution, yet its home is in Greenville, with us, and the thousands of students annually returning for a visit to their Alma Mater have likewise a friendly feeling for Greenville and the friends made among our citizens while they are students there.

M. K. Blount, Mayor.

(Continued from page one) Gifts from various organizations to make addresses for the inauguration of better government and a better citizenship for Greenville and the surrounding community. Through the fine cooperation of the College and the city of Greenville both the institution and Greenville have grown rapidly—this has not been a mushroom growth on the part of either, but the growth has been very substantial.

Greenville has shown her confidence in the College by furnishing students and facilities to the College for practice teaching and the College has reciprocated by furnishing the best teachers that could be secured to supervise the work.

In every way there has been the finest spirit of cooperation between the College authorities on the one hand, and on the other hand the Board of Aldermen of the city of Greenville, the Board of Education, and all others who are in any way connected with the government of the city. The College is indeed glad that it was located in Greenville, and the Greenville citizens have shown by their actions that they are glad to have the College in their midst.

Home Ec. Club Has Record Enrollment

With 110 freshmen enrolling in the organization, Home Economics Club is rapidly taking its place as one of the most important clubs on the campus.

Unusual interest has been shown in the Plans for Programs to be given at Greensboro Conference.

A progressive club must have functioning committees to keep progressive. Committees and chairmen for each were appointed as follows:
Revise Constitution: Ida Roberts.
Program Committee: Camille Clark.

Finance: Emmie Wilson.
Publicity: Mary Blanche Strickland.
Scrap Book: Helen Lee.
Membership: Sue Lawrence.
Decoration: Mary Craven.
Social and Recreation: Marguerite Currin.

The club resolved to become an outstanding Organization on our campus.

HELLO, GREENVILLE!

The people of Greenville have always shown a splendid spirit of cooperation and interest in East Carolina Teachers College. Over three thousand copies of this issue of THE TECO ECHO have been distributed to the residents of Greenville. Our purpose in doing so is an attempt to show a cross section of our activities here on the college campus.

Greenville becomes the "home-town" of each student of our college for four very important years of his life. We appreciate the friendliness with which you make our stay here a pleasant one. Your churches make every effort to make us feel a part of your community; you have invited us to your homes with true "southern hospitality"; your school system is offered to us as a training ground for our life's work; we are made to feel that we, as students, are citizens of your—and our—town.

The organizations of the college have given their help in a material way in making this issue of our student publication possible. This is not an effort solely on the part of our newspaper staff, but represents the splendid cooperation of all the organizations on our campus.

We offer our sincere appreciation to the business firms and other organizations of Greenville who have made this publication possible. The business life of "our town" is interested in seeing it successful in every phase of its many activities.

So, it's "Hello, Greenville!"—we do feel that we are a part of you, and if you don't mind being "adopted," we'd like to call you "our home-town."

"LOYAL EVER WE WILL BE"

The recent action by the students of this college in requesting that they be allowed to contribute in a financial way to the support of the athletic program is worthy of the highest commendation. This action was not the result of "high-pressure" methods or mob hysteria. The problem was presented several days previous to the mass meetings through the columns of THE TECO ECHO. The suggestions contained therein were discussed and debated in open meeting. Two mass meetings were held and a final resolution was carefully worked out to meet the needs of all phases of the athletic program. The vote in favor of the proposal was so overwhelming that no question as to the desires of the student body could arise.

This student body has shown again its love and loyalty to East Carolina Teachers College. It takes pride in every phase of collegiate and intercollegiate activity. The students of this college are willing and eager to support an athletic program of which they can be proud.

WELCOME, HOMECOMERS

Your college extends a cordial invitation to you to come back and pay us a visit. A program has been arranged which should prove enjoyable. The faculty and students of ECTC are anxious to see you. Just mark a little circle around "November 19" in your date book and come home on Home-coming!

ECHOES FROM OBERLIN

Every now and then we run across something really good in our exchange newspapers and Associated Collegiate Press bulletins. Here's a situation that is causing some furor on the Oberlin College campus. We quote from the Associated Collegiate Press:

"With those who are thoroughly home-coming, we can't resist telling you about a most serious condition on the Oberlin College campus. It seems there are not adequate bathing facilities in the freshmen rooming houses. Says the student newspaper about the situation: We declare dogmatically that one bathtub is not enough for thirteen men. "And we declare just as dogmatically, one bathtub is not enough for two men!"

To which sentiment THE TECO ECHO adds its echo.

NEWS BRIEFS

Volleyball practices, sponsored by the W.A.A., have recently gotten underway for the year. Each Thursday and Tuesday afternoon will be held from 3:30 to 4:30 under the direction of Miss Norton. A minimum of six practices is required for team participation in scheduled games. All girls are eligible.

Four guest dinners have been given by the Home Economics students this year. These dinners were given in the Home Economics practice house.

Hostesses were Mildred Boyce, Iheria Roach, Mary Louise Saunders, and Minnie Morton on October 17, 24, 27, and November 3 respectively. Guests on these occasions were: October 17, Misses Mary Green, Katherine Holtzclaw, Mrs. Holtzclaw, and Mrs. Rose Harrell; October 24, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Frank and Miss Mary Cheatham; October 27, Miss Ruby Sholtz and Mr. W. H. McHenry; and November 3, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fullenwider.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Frank entertained a group of faculty members at a gumbo supper, Sunday night, November 6. Those who enjoyed the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, Dr. and Mrs. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hollar, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Alexander, and Miss Laura Rose.

In accordance with the drive for extending interest in athletics at East Carolina Teachers College, the following persons were chosen, by means of tryouts, to lead the cheers at the athletic activities this year: Lois Hughes, Leon Gardener, Ophelia Hearne, Eunice Griggs,

Frat President

Fodie Hodges, President of the Sigma Pi, Honorary Educational Fraternity.

Heads Actors

Rapid Growth Of Local College Shown In History

On March 8, 1907, the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina passed an act authorizing the establishment of East Carolina Teachers Training School in the city of Greenville. The ground for the first building was broken July 2, 1908, and the college opened its doors for the first term on October 5, 1909. The first student body was made up of 174 students of whom 19 were men. When the college was founded it was known as East Carolina Teachers Training School, but in 1921, after it was given the right to give a four-year course and grant degrees, the name was changed to East Carolina Teachers College.

The site of East Carolina Teachers College is well high ideal. At first it was located on a 47 1/2 acre tract. Now the grounds contain 100 acres of land, the majority of which are covered with native trees. The school was situated on a sloping hill which makes an attractive front campus.

Since ECTC opened its doors in 1909 there have been 1,192 A.B. graduates, 2,866 two-year graduates and four graduates have received M.A. The sum of the annual enrollments since the first year is 28,951.

East Carolina operates a training school on its campus in connection with the Greenville City Schools in which all primary and Grammar grade majors receive their teaching experience. High School Majors receive their teaching experience.

that the administration of this institution place into effect, beginning with the Winter Quarter of 1938-39, and thereafter, an Athletic Fee of $1.50 per student per quarter, this fee to be collected by the Student Budget Office and be used for the support of athletics and allied phases of campus activity.

"Be it further resolved: That the funds derived from these fees be appropriated as follows for the year 1938-39: Band Uniforms, $1,200; Women's Athletics, $800; and all the remaining funds be appropriated to the Men's Athletic Association for the support of intercollegiate and intra-mural athletics."

The resolution has the status of a request from the students to the administration, and must be approved by the administration and the Board of Trustees before it becomes effective.

Eileen Tomlinson, Roule Mozingo, Morrison Smith, Esther Koonce, Norene Johnson, and Marguerite Averette.

Farmers of Pitt County met Monday, November 7, in the Austin Auditorium. Mr. M. A. Morgan from the AAA office in Raleigh led the discussion on the proposed farm program for 1939.

Mr. E. C. Hollar and Bobbie Hollar were members of a party attending a fish fry near Grimesland, Thursday evening, October 27.

PERSONALS

Bertram Bateman, Joe Braxton, Primrose Carpenter, Chauncey Calfee and Thornton Stovall, graduates of '37, spent the week-end on the campus.

Josephine and Lillian Ambrose, Belhaven, N. C., Mrs. William Babcock, Juanita Hoell, Cynthia Etheridge, Harvey Hinton and Esther Austin attended the college dance held Saturday evening, November 5.

Hyatt Forrest, '36, Ruth Styron, "Pokey" Johnson, and Alva Page also visited the campus over the week-end.

ALAS: Let Rick O'Shay be the first to wish you all a very merry Christmas.

I SEE BY the Papers

C. RAY PRUETTE

H. G. Wells' novel seems to have created quite an uproar as well as terror a few Sunday's ago. It seems that the people of this country are emotionally unstable as well as optimistic. Those of you who were listening to Charlie McCarthy's comedy were no doubt pleased when no interruption came over the program, saying that people from Mars were attacking this country, however, people who were listening to the program became hysterical, frantic, and even committed physical violence. Some went to the country, others to the sea shore, and still others to places of safe retreat. For two or three days the newspapers showed pictures of violence, disorder, and chaos brought on by this radio skit.

The result was the investigation of the program and all other programs by the Federal Communications Committee headed by Frank Mc-Ninch, a North Carolinian.

The emotional excitement was probably due to the war scare that has been going on in Europe for some time. If the American people would stop and think for a minute the whole thing would be fantastic as well as paradoxical. In the meantime the radio prodigy who put on the skit has become famous—for what? For working on the emotions to such an extent that he can cause hysteria, and chaos.

In conclusion the European nations are probably laughing at the American people, and they have reason to do so.

Hitler has recently compared Germany to a porcupine. He says that the porcupine is a harmless animal until aroused, but when aroused, he takes advantage of nature's way of protecting himself, and fights.

Thus Hitler compared the porcupine to Germany. As long as Germany is let alone, well and good, but when aroused she will fight as the porcupine.

I must say, however, that Mr. Hitler is probably moralizing on Joel Chandler Harris' Uncle Remus Stories.

Talking of Germany, it seems that Mr. Hitler wants his war colonies back. England who holds most of these colonies has not said much, if any, concerning the situation; but my guess is that they will come to a show down soon. How the diplomats of England will work out this problem is purely guess work, but I'm sure it will cause many headaches. To England I say, keep your colonies at all cost.

Professors Become 'Deerslayers'

There comes a time in every man's life when disappointment and failure seem to prevail. Napoleon was banned from France, Hitler didn't get quite all of Europe, Roosevelt's purge turned into a headache, ECTC jitterbugs couldn't do the "L-I Apple" at the fall dance, and last and possibly least, three of the faculty went deer hunting and came back with nothing left but their Ph.D.'s and M.A.'s.

The alleged hunting party was composed of Dr. McGinnis, Mr. Picklesimer, and other members of the faculty. Even though the trip didn't end up with a goodly supply of venison, the said group did seem to enjoy it. Instead of raising one, they merely raised coons. They raised banions (and probably blisters) when they chased a live young buck five whole miles just to find out in the end that he could run faster than they could.

Traveling back from Iowa, where the attempt took place, the sportsmen decided to keep the deer results a deep, dark secret, but the news leaked out as it has a habit of doing around here, and was confronted by press curbs that the less gentlemen confessed.

Needless to say, the college, ashamed of such "unsubtle" detail, but the "sons of fate" do have the sympathy of THE TECO ECHO staff.

Pirates Play Appalachian In Homecoming Tilt

ALONG THE SIDELINES With JACK DANIELS

WAMPUM
For a while last week, the future of athletics, sports page, and this column looked mighty gloomy to your weary, weary commentator. The manager of the budget committee had taken and "dear ole Etey" was facing the threat of an attack on his future. But in true Gold and Purple fashion, the faithful manager have responded to the call of duty and have chosen to bail the manager honor out the mess it was in. Now if the administration does anything, athletics will again be in the rays of its restored splendor.

HOSPITALITY
Went to High Point a couple weeks ago. The folks up there sure had you nice. Nice fellows, all of them. Good cuts. But, dawg one 'em, they have the coldest stadium and the roughest ball team. . . they just can't be consistent in their hospitality.

CASUALTIES
The Bucs' dressing room is beginning to look like an infirmary. Gridiron is out of play because of recent injuries are: Kelly Martin, broken nose; Zelen, sprained wrist; Glass, injured leg. Joe Williams hurt his ankle again at Hi-Pr. He fell off the back.

HATS OFF
Our hats come off in recognition of valor. There is a man on the Pirates squad who has been playing head-on ball for the past three weeks under great difficulty. He doesn't miss practices and plays in every game. He goes out on the field stripped from stem to stern. Why? He has two cracked ribs! Yes, our hats come off to you, Lex Ridenhour, you've got guts.

WARRIORS
We thought for a while that Coach Alexander wasn't going to be able to fill the end posts vacated by the injured Smitty and Hasten, but he has really come through with three fine looking ends. Floyd Hinton and Milton Glass proved their colors in the Hi-Pr. game by playing a couple marvelous games at end post. Hi-Pr. made very few gains around the end. These boys also put a plenty piece of pass work. Hubert Roberts didn't show much steam in the game that night, but when he took the place of the injured Glass in the Guilford affray last Saturday, he really showed the spectators that he knew his football and was made of scrappy material. To say the least the Coach is well pleased with his proteges.

MUD
The recent battle with Guilford almost turned out to be a mud pie making contest. The boys of both teams were willing after the first quarter to call off the game and make it a swimming meet. Rock Ventors was the only man who found it fun. Rock's hefty bulk just pushed him down into the mud far enough to get his feet on firm ground, and he didn't hesitate in taking advantage of it. With his power and the extra speed he had it all over the rest of them, and tore heck out of a lot of plays sent his way. Coach Alexander stated that this was Ventor's best game. May we suggest a theme song, Rock, "If It Rains Who Cares."

GAME TIME
At two o'clock tomorrow afternoon the Buccaneers will be lined up for the kickoff with Norfolk Division in Norfolk. This should be a good game. The way things have stacked up it looks like we are going to be a little on the short end as far as advantage is concerned. Norfolk won over us, 18-6, in Norfolk last year in a game that could have been a Pirate victory, but due to tough breaks, lack of timing in plays (and our failure to get as many points as they did), we lost. The Pirates, however, gained more ground than the Williams and the Marys, and really played a better calibre of ball. Of course comparative scores mean very little but here they are. High Point beat W&M 7-0 three weeks ago. High Point defeated the Bucs 22-6 two weeks ago. But High Point fought Guilford to a 6-6 tie, and the Bucs tied Guilford 7-7. The fact looms up that it can be anybody's ball game tomorrow, and personally, your commentator is counting on the Pirates' newly acquired aerial attack.

APPALACHIAN
When the Buccaneers clash on homecoming day with "Kidd" Brewer's "reckless mountain boys" there's going to be plenty of excitement. (Please turn to page six)

Teachers Tie Quakers 7 To 7

Teams End Up Even In Muddy Contest

Guilford College and East Carolina fought last Saturday to a 7-7 tie at Guilford in one of the wettest and muddiest football games in the history of the two schools. The gridiron was a slick bowl of mire, and the two teams slipped and slithered over each other in a homecoming classic.

The Quakers opened the battle by kicking off to the Easterners who fumbled and lost the ball on their 11 yard line. The Quakers pounded at the Buccaneer line for four downs and gained no yardage. Bill Shelton, Pirate star for the day, kicked off of this hole and sent the ball up to the Bucs' 40 yard line. Aceo, Quaker back, received the punt, and as he caught it, Ventors, of the Bucs, sneared him with a tackle that sent the pigskin soaring into the air and 30 yards back to the Guilford 20 yard line. The Guilfordians recovered the pigskin and began a 70 yard march down the field. Through a succession of pretty end runs and line thrusts they moved the center of play to the Buccaneers' 10 yard marker. Lenz shot a pass to Grieco in the end zone, scoring the first touchdown of the game. On the conversion, Lenz nudged the kick which hit the ground behind his line of scrimmage, and Aceo recovered it and ran it across for the hard earned extra point.

In the third quarter ETC got possession of the ball when Shelton ran Lenz's punt back to the Pirate 37 yard line. The Bucs opened their bag of tricks and brought forth a passing attack that the Quakers found impossible to stop. With a series of short forwards, quick laterals, double and triple laterals, the Pirates completed six out of eight tries, and advanced to the Guilford 8 yard line. At this point the Bucs proved grid-deepiveness. Ridenhour had been making all line thrusts and Shelton all pass work. The Pirates put Ridenhour back, seemingly intending to hit the Quaker line. The ball was snuffed. Ridenhour flipped a short pass to Shelton in the flat zone, and Shelton skirted five yards to the end zone. Ridenhour bucked the line to make good the extra point, tying the score. (Please turn to page six)

High Pointers Spank Corsairs

Pirates Defeated 21 to 6 By Panthers

With howling winds and blinding rain, old man weather set the stage for the Buccaneers' downfall in High Point's new Albion Mills Stadium the night of October 28. The powerful Panthers took advantage of the prevailing winds and quickly scored two touchdowns in the first five minutes of the ball game. Holding their 13 point lead, they matched the East Carolinians' single touchdown with another six point tally and added a safety, hanging up a final score of 21-6.

Old Lady Luck double-crossed the Teachers in the first minute of the contest, when she stirred up a howling gale behind the Panthers which carried Secret's kickoff ten yards beyond the Pirates' goal line. Shelton scooped up the triant pigskin and ran it back to his own 10 yard marker. Shelton smashed at Cats' line in two unsuccessful thrusts, and then sent one of his powerful punts soaring into the teeth of the gale. Dame Nature blew his punt out of bounds on the Bucs' own 48. Secret and Cochrane alternately advanced the play for a first down, but after meeting with two losses at the line of scrimmage, the Cats punted to the Bucs' 8. The Corsairs tried hopelessly to pass into the wind netting two incompletes. Then Shelton's mighty shoe smashed another punt into the air, and Dame Nature promptly slapped it out-side on the Pirates' 26. The Panthers snapped into their single wing-back formation, and with plenty of drive and speed, smashed through the Bucs' weak guard posts for re-

Sport Trophies To Be Given For Improvement

It has been announced that Mr. M. F. Fox, of Greenville, will give two trophies to gridmen at the close of football season, the last week in November. These trophies are in the form of beautiful loving cups. They are on display down town in Brody's window on Evans Street.

One of the cups will go to a Greenville High athlete; the other, to an ETCC football man. The awards are to be made to the gridmen who have shown the most improvement in the fine old sport of football since the beginning of the season. This allows the inexperienced men just as much chance to win the trophy as the experienced.

The selection of the recipients of these awards will be made by the crowd attending the Naval Base Game here on November 26. Ballots will be given to each person at the game, and he will write his choice on the ballot and return it to one of downtown shops during the following week.

Mr. Fox, the donor, hails from Raleigh. He came to Greenville two years ago to take a position with the Tadlock Mutual Insurance Company. Mr. Fox is an enthusiastic sport fan and supporter, having played quite a bit of football in his college career. He sponsored and organized a soft-ball city league the first year he was in Greenville, and has presided over the league for the two years of its existence. He is vitally interested in young people in sports and has shown his interest actively since his arrival in Greenville.

Locals Prepared For Hard Game With Westerners

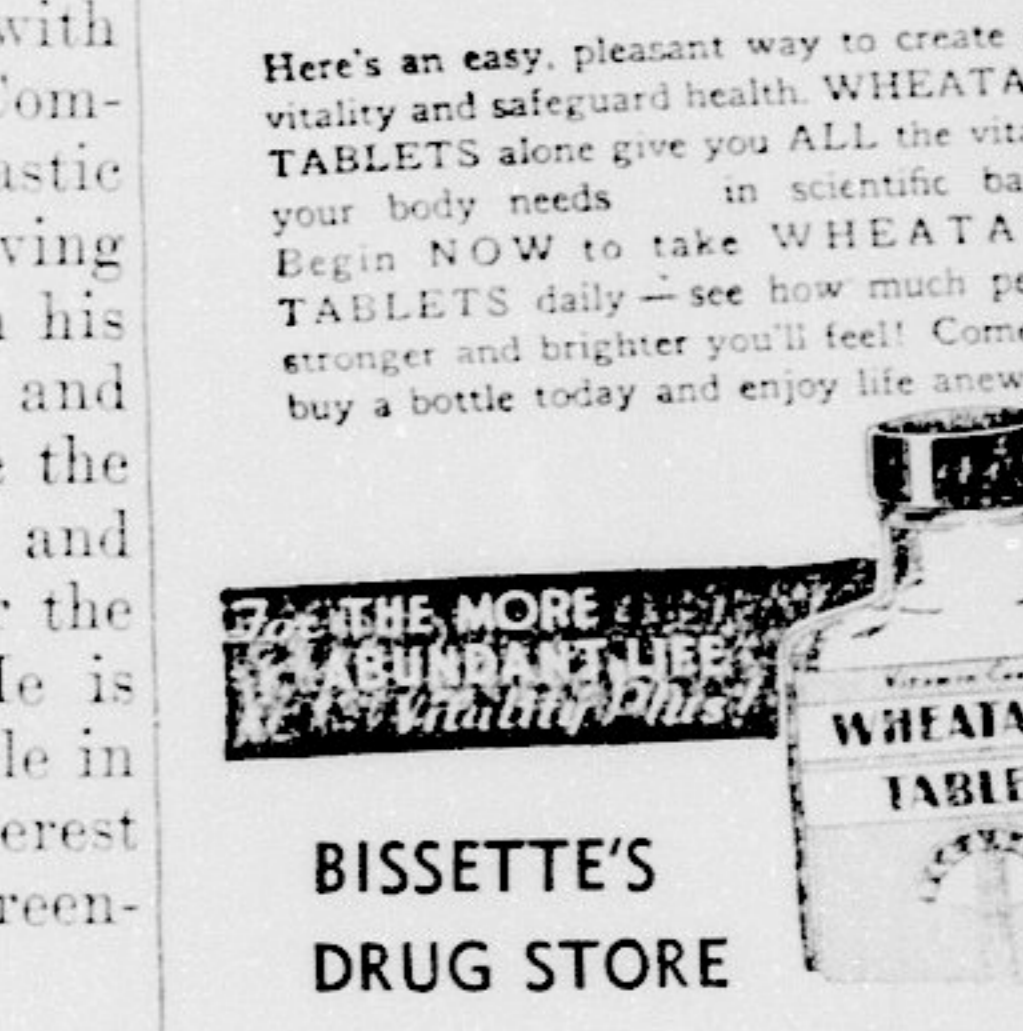

The East Carolina Buccaneers will meet Appalachian State Teachers College in a grid battle at Greenville on homecoming day November 19. Appalachian is considered by coaches and sports writers as one of the strongest small college teams in the South. "Kidd" Brewer Appalachian Mentor, is bringing three full teams down for the game. Reports are that his first team's weight is an average of 185 pounds per man, and the second and third teams average 195 pounds. Brewer uses

Pirate Fighters Prepare For Intercollegiate Meets

Workouts started last week for the Buccaneers boxing squad with six lettermen returning. The Pirates lost only two veterans last year and expect to offer a greatly improved team for intercollegiate competition. The returning lettermen are Joe Williams, David Broeze, Herbert Wilkerson, "Pete" Perkins, Vernon Tyson, and Jack Daniels. Last year was the first year of intercollegiate boxing for ECTC. The Pirate battlers rushed into a tough schedule of four fights with only two weeks training behind them. But this season they are starting their drilling early and don't intend to be caught unprepared.

Captain Alexander stated, "If the administration approves the athletic assessment voted in by the students last week, we intend to buy more equipment for the coming season. Boxing shoes were much needed last year, but lack of funds prohibited them. We intend to get a supply of shoes and robes. Additional funds will be necessary to make trips in meeting our schedule."

The Bucs made a good showing last year when they put up an inexperienced team against their opponents and came out with a record of two wins, one loss, and a tie. The Coach says that the coming year looks promising.

Joe Williams, local boy who made good on the pugilistic squad last year, will be back in the arena this season.

a system that is hard to beat. He plays a team in the game for about ten minutes and then substitutes a whole new team, fresh and just as good as the first. This continual changing of teams finally wears down the toughest of foes, and in due time Appalachian's score soars.

Among the squad Brewer is hauling to Greenville, he has included three men who are destined to put on a fine show of "gridiron." Wilson, the "App's" 200 pound backfielder is a vet of "small-college" reknown. Last year he was selected in a nation-wide choice of "Little All-American," an honorary team selected from small colleges. Reitzle, center, will also bear watching. His record as bone crushing line-buster contains many crushing gains through enemy territory.

Quarterback Angel and Fullback Hudson compose a powerful and speedy ball totting combination, weighing 212 and 192 respectively.

Appalachian's record so far for the grid season includes four wins and only one loss, which was dropped to Elon 7-6. They defeated Newberry 6-0, High Point 41-0, WCTC 25-0, and Tusculum, last Saturday, 67-0.

This approaching homecoming battle is beginning to line up as one of the most interesting contests of the season. The Bucs know they are facing a tough battle and are determined to make a good showing before the Alumni. The "Apps" will well earn every point they make. It looks like a great show.

Along The Side Lines

ment for all concerned. From the information on hand we realize that the Appalachian club is a tough customer to handle, but this ball game may not be as one-sided as it may seem. Coach Alexander's Corsairs have that incomprehensible ability of staging incredible resistance in the face of their toughest adversaries; in fact they appear to play a much better brand of ball. Alexander feels confident that the Pirates' brand new aerial attack can do some real damage to the Mountaineers if it clicks as it did in the Guilford game. But, if the Bucs' passing attack is not absolutely airtight, they leave themselves wide open for a slaughter. Appalachian gained most of their ten touchdowns against Tusculum by the interception route.

delegation of students met them and pointed out Archdale Hall, saying, "That's where you guys sleep tonight. Make yourselves at home." The boys ambled over to their new home. As they approached the lawn, the Bucs were staggered by a gruesome sight. The playful little Quakers had erected a miniature cemetery, with a cute little grave bearing name plate for each man on the team.

PREPARED

It has been rumored that two NYA students will be on hand at the Appalachian Game with buckets. They are to cover the gridiron after the game and pick up the eyeballs.

He who abuses others must not be particular about the answer he gets.

"Greenville High School Sports Program Expanded"

Golf, Track, And Tennis To Be Added

"With plans for immediate introduction of tennis into the program, a greater number of high school students will be able to participate in interschool sports," declared Junius H. Rose in an interview last week. "Grading has already been completed for a track course, which is a part of the stadium grounds. In addition, it will be completed during the winter months, which begins March time workouts at school and interschool meets have been held in the initial season."

Arrangements for private courts on the school grounds are at the Third Street fairgrounds. The school is directed by Mr. Rose, coach of last year's baseball team.

Golf, the final athletic set-up, will be completed by Mr. Bob Bailey, Greenville Country Club. The school has been given to high school golf course for practice. "This year's program is a remarkable one in Greenville. These three sports are more interesting than any other," concluded Mr. Rose.

"Green Lights" Wins Again In Publications Contest

Second Victory For Local School

Allen Taylor Places First in Current Events Contest

Green Lights, tri-weekly newspaper of Greenville High School, for the second consecutive year won the cup in the Class C division of the publications contest, sponsored by the Southern Interscholastic Press Association. This group, which met November 4 and 5, is sponsored by Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia.

Allen Taylor, editor of the high school publication, placed first in the current events contest, an annual feature of the convention. In 1937 Taylor ranked second in this news test.

In addition to Editor Taylor those who attended the gathering from the local high school were William Miller Burks, Jane Hardee, (Please turn to page eight)

High School To Present Avon Players

Appearing again in another of Shakespeare's plays, the Avon Players, under the direction of Joseph Selmon, will present "The Taming of the Shrew" in the Greenville High School auditorium on Wednesday night, December 16.

These players have presented "The Merchant of Venice" and "Hamlet," respectively, for the past two years in the high school auditorium, and have met with much success in pleasing their audience.

Authorities in charge of bringing the players here stated that the company presents comedies even better than it presents tragedies. In accordance with the success which met the two previously presented tragedies, it is to be expected that "The Taming of the Shrew" will meet with even greater success.

"Interplanetary Aggression" Subject of Lecture By Bridgerslouch

Dr. Johnskowski Davidulovich Bridgerslouch, noted author, lecturer, journalist, educator, philanthropist, globe-trotter, and little-appler, appeared before the Society for the Provision of Fur Coats for Dogless Fleas at its annual convention held recently, and startled his listeners (both of them) with a unique explanation of the causes and effects of interplanetary aggression. The text of Dr. Bridgerslouch's speech to the learned society follows:

"After Buck Rogers and 'Flash' Gordon have traveled over our fair universe for a half-decade or more, trying to spread good will among the members of this fair solar system; it seems that their efforts have failed and our neighbor Mars is ready to pick up light rays and fight at the drop of a glove or a rocket ship.

"The first serious trouble came two Sundays ago when a hunk of Mars fell in New Jersey. However, the said hunk of planet was not a planet at all, but some form of space ship, built like a tin can. It seems that there's not room, any more, for the earth and Mars under the same sun; so this can (the space ship) came barging in on New Jersey. Out of the poststratospheric apparatus there crawled a slew of monsters that looked like a cross between an elephant, an octopus, and 'Popye'. These Martians then proceeded to spread mustard gas, light rays, B.O., and Nazi propoganda all over the place. This resulted in havoc, and seven hundred souls (and a few heels) were caught in the rush. (Do Your Christmas Shopping Early!)"

Now, the significant feature behind this tale is that the panic spread as far South as our own campus. The inmates of Cotten Hall contracted hysteria when they heard events similar to those above over the radio. In terror they fled to the arms of Dean Morton, and she consoled their frazzled nerves by placing the story in a class with a 'lotta' bull. In-

High School Sports Program Expanded

Golf, Track, And Tennis To Be Added

"With plans completed for the immediate introduction of golf, track and tennis into the new sports program, a greater number of Greenville high school students than ever before will be able to participate in some form of interscholastic athletics this year," declared Superintendent James H. Rose in a Green Lights interview last week.

Grading has already begun on the track course, which is being built as a part of the stadium project at the old fairgrounds. Developing rapidly, it will be completed and ready for use during the track season, which begins March 1. Until that time workouts will be held in the school ravine under the supervision of Coach Herman Fulkerson. Three meets have been scheduled for the initial season.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. Rose for the tennis team to use private courts on Eleventh Street while courts are being constructed at the Third Street School and the fairgrounds. The netters will be directed by Mr. Herman Dally, coach of last year's football and baseball teams.

Golf, the final addition to the new athletic set-up, will be coached by Mr. Bob Bailey, professional at the Greenville Country Club. Permission has been given by club officials to high school golfers to use the local course for practice and competition.

"This year promises to be a memorable one in Greenville high school; these three sports will certainly create more interest and wider activity," concluded Mr. Rose.

Practice Teaching Is No Cinch

"Miss Jones, do we get out early today because of the ball game?"

"Ah! Here's one she can answer. 'Why yes, Johnny, it's time for the bell now.'"

On the heels of this remark the bell rings, as if to verify Miss Jones' statement.

Emerging from the room which has been quickly vacated, the practice teacher meets with another grand mix-up in the hall as students scramble to their next class. It really is remarkable how they manage to remain all in one piece until they reach another class to charge another teacher with another firing of questions—(foolish and otherwise.)

The practice teacher heads for home sweet home (ECTC to you). She has really enjoyed the class, and will tell you if you ask her that the children are little dears. But, my! It must seem peaceful to come back to a dormitory with nothing to break the stillness but the blare of radios, the screams and yells of girls, and the tramping of heavy feet.

Among the Alumnae

A cordial invitation is being issued to all Alumni of this college to return to the campus on Saturday, November 19, for home-coming day. The committee has arranged an interesting program, which includes a meeting in Austin Auditorium at which time they will be welcomed by President Meadows at which time they will be welcomed by President Meadows, a barbecue lunch and a football game.

There will be time also for real "get-togethers" when old acquaintances can be renewed and friends can learn what every one has been doing.

The invitation is for everyone—not only those who have actually graduated, but all those who have ever been to school here at any time. The college is planning to entertain a record-breaking crowd, and hope that all former students will come back for the best home-coming we have ever had.

The Alumnae Secretary urges that all alumnae chapters send her news of their meetings and other activities regularly. She wishes to keep up with the individual chapters as well as inform others in the state of their activities. This is an impossibility without the cooperation of the groups themselves. Any other interesting news concerning alumni of this college will be welcomed both for this column, and for the files in the alumni office. The secretary desires to link between the college and those who have gone out from it, and wherever service at any time to those who might need it.

Theater in Merano, Italy. His audience, however, was to be Italian and the boy's name was not Italian, so he was forced by circumstances to change his name. After thumbing through the pages of the telephone book, he picked the name he has made famous—Ossy Renardy.

Ossy Renardy made his first public appearance that night in a theatre in Merano. Next day newspaper gave him the laurel. And the great virtuoso has risen steadily since that time.

He has a penchant for practical jokes, and greatly enjoys playing pranks on his accompanist, Herr Trautman, whose lack of English makes him rich game for pranks. In dining halls and restaurants the prankster will order a poached egg for his accompanist and lead him to believe that he is going to receive a scotch steak.

Renardy is a modest, unassuming boy with all the enthusiasms and high spirits of his age. He is an admirable swimmer and an avid cyclist, but of necessity confines his love of most major sports to grandstand cheering because of possible injury to his hands were he to take an active part in these sports. He has an enviable collection of stamps and postcards which he has collected as he travelled.

The East Carolina Teachers College Club held its first monthly meeting of the year on Tuesday, September 27, 1938, at the home of Mrs. George Taylor with Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. W. A. China, Misses Virginia Blount, Elizabeth Smith and Christine Nelson as joint hostesses.

A delightful picnic supper was served on the lawn.

Misses Julia Foley, Olive Gilbert, Kathleen Perry, Nancy Spurling and Mary Anna Clifton were welcomed as new members. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Miss Martha Whitelurst; Vice President, Miss Margaret Eakes; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Katherine Reid; Reporter, Miss Julia Farrior.

The following members were present: Misses Ruth Dean, Martha Whitelurst, Katherine Reid, Amanda Tillman, Mary Lowder, Elizabeth Overton, Rosina Pittman, Carrie L. Smith, Evelyn Tillman, Hazel Whitelurst, Julia Farrior, Frances Newsom, Margaret Eakes, Mesdames L. W. Clements, Thomas Martin, Ralph Knight and Thelma Daugherty.

Two members of this group—Miss Rosina Pittman of the Class of 1928, and Miss Josephine Garty of the Class of '32—completed the work for the Masters degree in Primary education at Columbia University last summer.

The faculty was well represented at the dance, and the two classes also had a representation which was fairly large, though largely inconspicuous.

According to members of both the classes which was doing the entertaining and the class which was being entertained, the dance was "a huge success."

Posters owned by the National Association of Childhood Education were recently shown here in the Education Department. These posters have traveled all over the United States. They were designed by art students at Teachers College (Columbia) under the direction of Miss Patty Hill and Dr. Winifred Bain for the celebration of the Kindergarten Centennial last year. In fifteen pictures the development of the kindergarten by Froebel and its later influence on early childhood education was portrayed in a most descriptive manner. The first poster was made by Miss Guy, a member of the Art Department last year.

M.E. Students And Y.W.C.A. In Joint Vesper

Mrs. John Glenn Borden, returned missionary from the Belgian Congo in Africa, gave a most interesting background for her work and showed many fascinating native products to a combined group of the Methodist Student Association and the YWCA Vesper group on Friday evening, October 28, in the Austin Auditorium.

Mrs. Borden first went to the field with Mr. Borden in 1930. Her station, 40 degrees south of the equator, was the Methodist Mission "just about as near the heart of Africa as possible." The people with whom she worked were the Bantu people consisting of about two hundred tribes and a population of ten million. She did not teach English but spoke French, in the schools especially. "The work in the schools," she said, "progresses very slowly. There are no college students, but there are several young people who are training for teachers."

Mrs. Borden, with the assistance of Mr. Borden, showed her audience many interesting articles, clothing, and objects used in daily life by her Bantu people. Among them were native dresses, hunting knives, musical instruments, and much needle and basket work.

In closing, she compared an African's life when enriched by Christian religion to a beautiful piece of ivory carved from a rough hippopotamus tooth. "Those of us who are in the high school of God's kingdom should help those who are in the kindergarten and the Africans are, their
