EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE

GREENVILLE, N. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1939

Chicago University Fellowship Awarded To Robert Sugg Fleming

ECTC Alumnus To Leave Faculty Post
At Greenville High

Mr. Robert Sugg Fleming, graduate of this college and at present a member of the Greenville High School faculty, was recently awarded a fellowship at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Fleming was an outstanding student while in college here, and received his A. B. in mathematics and science. He received the degree of Master of Science from Peabody. For the past two and one-half years he has been science instructor in Greenville High School.

For four months Mr. Fleming will work with Dr. Ralph Tyler in the field of science evaluation. Dr. Tyler is dean of the school of education of the University of Chicago and is an eminent authority on evaluation.

This summer Mr. Fleming will work on the science staff of the Southern Workshop.

Mr. Fleming expressed his pleasure at the opportunity of continuing his study in a field in which he is particularly interested. Although regretful of the fact that his relationships with the students and faculty of Greenville High School would be terminated by his acceptance of the award, Mr. Fleming stated that he could not let such an opportunity pass by without taking steps to make the most of it.

Many were the expressions of regret from members of the faculty and student body when the announcement of Mr. Fleming's resignation was made.

As yet no appointment has been made public concerning a successor to the resigning science teacher.

"Tobacco Road" To Be Presented In Greenville

"Tobacco Road," the play by Jack Kirkland, based on Erskine Caldwell's novel of the same name, will be presented here in the Wright Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday nights, February 27 and 28, with a matinee on Tuesday. James Barton, noted stage and vaudeville star, heads the cast of distinguished Broadway actors.

Portraying the lives of people neglected by the government and by civilization for centuries, living in poverty, and dreaming of the day when prosperity will return to their farm land, this play is regarded by reviewers as "the epic American play," and as one of the outstanding contributions to dramatic literature of the century. It is the story of a family of sharecroppers.

"Tobacco Road" is one of the two plays ever to have reached two thousand performances on Broadway, where it has run there for six years.

Mark Comelly, author of "Green Pastures," has said of the play, "Tobacco Road," "It is not only an honest and deeply moving play—it is alive with the tragic reality of that corner of America it chronicles."

This play, which is the most discussed play in the country, will be presented here on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Mulholland Uses "Hobbies" as Topic

"Hobbies," was the subject of discussion at the recent meeting of the Lanier Society. Mr. V. M. Mulholland, principal and English teacher at Greenville High School, was guest speaker of the society, and spoke on the subject under discussion.

A committee chosen to select two or three hobbies reported that the most likely ones are the collection of epitaphs, collection of college seals, and the keeping of a scrapbook on Sidney Lanier. The members of the society were told that they would be given their choice as to which hobby they wished to follow, and could sign up for work on either group.

Students Favor Sex Education

Austin, Texas, February 16.—Sex education should no longer be a matter to be whispered about, a large majority of American college students believe. In fact, almost 62 per cent of them favor making courses on the principles of sex compulsory, a nation-wide study by the Student Opinion Surveys of America shows.

In summary, comments from collegians everywhere sounded like this: "We have been prudish about this matter too long. Authoritative information has either been hidden or prohibited from young people."

Time has begun to change this attitude, it would appear, for many colleges are now offering marriage courses. Students regard this an important part of their education when they say they believe such instruction should even be made obligatory. Interviewers have asked this question to a scientifically-defined cross-section from coast to coast: "Should sex education courses in colleges be made compulsory?"

YES, say.....61.9 per cent
NO, say.....38.1 per cent
Of the schools where the survey was held, only about 10 per cent had required courses. Perhaps of some significance is the fact that the poll shows women in the South and West less in favor of the idea than women elsewhere in the nation. Men agree pretty well everywhere.

Speaking for the majority, a North Dakota State Teachers College junior said, "Sex education should have begun back in high school—during adolescence." Some believe upperclassmen only should receive instruction. A Baylor University medical student would include personal hygiene and causes and results of venereal disease. However, there are many who believe all sex matters should be covered.

Negro Spiritual Program Given

In the Wright Building last night, the Men's Glee Club, and its affiliate the A Capella Choir, of A and T College, gave a concert of Negro spirituals.

This group has earned an enviable reputation and represents one of the highest achievements in ensemble work among college groups in America. Their repertoire is representative of the whole range of choral art from the masters of the sixteenth century to the present.

Since organizing, the Men's Glee Club and A Capella Choir have made over ninety-five appearances before audiences in Tennessee, Maryland, Delaware, North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia.

Warner Lawson, Director of these groups, is head of the music department at A and T College, and is a well known concert pianist as well as an able director. The excellence of the groups under his direction are due, in a large measure, to his sensitive musical ability and desire to attain perfection.

Student Meeting Sends Requests To Authorities; Meadows Replies

President Makes Statement Regarding Dance Privileges and Food Preparation

At the regular mass meeting of the student body of East Carolina Teachers College held February 9, the students voted to adopt two resolutions. The first of these requested the restoration of the privilege of dancing in the Wright Building six nights a week. The other asked for an investigation of the preparation of the food in the college kitchen.

In replying to the requests of the students, Dr. Meadows made the following statements in a letter to Miss Lillian Parrish and Lester Ridenhour, presidents of the Women's and Men's student governments respectively:
Miss Lillian Parrish,
Mr. Lester Ridenhour,
Dear Miss Parrish and Mr. Ridenhour—

I have your requests of February 9, and take pleasure in stating that I have asked Mr. Dumeau, a member of our staff, to make a thorough investigation of the food situation, to take meals in the dining room often, and to report to me on the menus, the amount of food prepared, and the preparation of the food. I regret very much that you have found the food unsatisfactory, as students are entitled to the best food that can be secured. We have the reputation of furnishing the best food of any institution in the state, and we hope to continue to live up to that reputation.

I have conferred with Mr. Tabor, chairman of the music department, and Mr. Alexander, chairman of the physical education department, and have the assurance from them that beginning with Tuesday, February 21, that the students will be given the privilege of dancing in the Wright Building regularly on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights. During the week of February 13, there will be a basketball tournament held at the college, hence Mr. Alexander feels that he will need the building these nights during that week. I regret (Please turn to page four)

Dressed Up

Making their first appearance since the new uniforms arrived, the members of the ECTC band motored to Wilson Monday, February 13, to play at the basketball game between ECTC and ACC.

On Tuesday, February 14, the wearers of the purple and gold made their second appearance at the regular chapel period.

The motorcade of fourteen cars, containing members of the band, was escorted to Wilson Monday night by officers of the North Carolina Highway Patrol. They descended upon the ACCians in a flurry and gave moral, if not physical, support to the Pirates.

Engel Lund Offers Folksong Recital Monday

Wright Building
To Be Scene
Of Program

Bringing from Europe a type of recital that is refreshing in its novelty, Engel Lund, who is now on her first American tour, will present a recital of folk songs in the Wright Building on Monday evening.

Engel Lund has assembled a vast collection of folk songs from many lands. These have been collected in various ways—some have been found in quaint old shops, some through research in libraries. Often people who attend her recitals later send or bring to her old books of songs, or words jotted down on scraps of paper giving the gist of songs their grandmothers used to sing.

Speaking of the significance of folk songs, the artist says, "Wherever we go people sing to us the songs of their countries. In this way we get to know much about the people themselves—their lives, their habits, and their ideas." In bringing to her audiences, through her singing, her own ideas of the countries from which her songs come she affords those who hear her the illusion of an illustrated story-book of many lands.

On the days before she is to give a recital in the evening, Engel (Please turn to Page Three)

ECTC Receives Accredited Rating From Teachers College Association

National Accrediting
Agency Endorses
Local School

East Carolina Teachers College was included on the accredited list of the American Association of Teachers Colleges for 1938.

Only three other teachers colleges in North Carolina are on the list. Included besides ECTC are Asheville State Normal Teachers College, and West Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee.

Those colleges that are listed must measure up to certain standards of the association.

Requirements specify that applicants for admission to the colleges must have at least fifteen units from a secondary school approved by the State Department of Public Instruction of the state, in which the college is included.

Not more than one-fourth of any curriculum leading to a degree shall be taken in extension classes or correspondence courses. Quantitative requirements for graduation shall be the completion of at least (Please turn to page four)

Deputation Team Presents 'Loyalty' As Program Topic

"Loyalty" was the theme of a program presented by a deputation team composed of members from the cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association on a visit to the YMCA at State College, Thursday, February 2. Two talks, "Loyalty to your community" and "Loyalty to yourself and God" were given by Misses Sarah Ann Maxwell and Susan Evans.

Miss Maxwell told of the need of the loyalty in every person's life; the need of loyalty to those things which have made his life more comfortable and more meaningful: his home, his school, his church, and his country. She illustrated her talk with instances of people who found they could not live happily without loyalty. Sarah Ann Maxwell concluded her talk with a quotation from Elbert Hubbard, warning young men to not only have book instruction, but to be loyal to a trust.

Miss Evans began by asking the group if they were loyal to themselves. She brought out the importance of being loyal to one's self and to the high ideal which he has selected for his life. Then a person must be loyal to God. "God does not promise to give strength and power and help to any except those (Please turn to page four)

Orchestra Makes First Appearance

Under the direction of Mr. Dittmer, the recently organized classical orchestra made its initial appearance Saturday evening, February 11, as a prelude to the presentation of "Children of the Moon." The orchestra is composed of twenty-eight pieces at present with plans underway for increasing that number as soon as it is practicable.

The first performance by the college orchestra was enthusiastically applauded by the audience, and several selections were rendered as faulty lights delayed the opening of the play.

Assembly period on February 28 has been set aside for another concert by the college musical group.

As an activity closely affiliated with the orchestra proper, Mr. Dittmer has started a string quartet and a violin ensemble in a class of beginners in music. These groups will probably give a recital in the near future.

Musical plans for the spring quarter include the organization of a Junior Orchestra. Membership of this orchestra will be restricted to beginning students in the music department.

Social Committee
And Laniers Act
As Sponsors

Sponsored jointly by the Social Committee and the Lanier Society, the winter dance will be held on Saturday, February 25, with Dick Jones and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Dick Jones and his orchestra originated at the University of Tennessee in 1936. Since that time the band has steadily gained recognition. It is the only band in the South today that is featuring the new and distinctive Bell Tone Music.

While most of their engagements have been in Tennessee and Kentucky during the past year, all reports from recent North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia engagements have been very complimentary. Besides openings in October at Davidson College, Dick Jones was featured at the Thanksgiving dances given at the University of Virginia and Woodberry Forest School.

During the summer of 1937 Dick Jones and His Orchestra was engaged by the Cunard White Star Lines for some of the leading ships to Europe followed by an engagement at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, and Sea Island beach, Brunswick, Georgia.

During the fall of 1937 and spring of 1938 the band attended the University of Tennessee and played during the summer of 1938 in the Carolinas, Virginias, and Tennessee on one-nighters and various lake resorts. In August they (Please turn to page two)

Local Physician Addresses ACE

Dr. F. B. Haar was guest speaker of the Association for Childhood Education at its regular meeting, February 14, 1939. Dr. Haar, a child specialist from Greenville, was presented by Miss Texie Sowers, leader of the Child Care Group, which sponsored the program. Some of the points brought out had to do with prevention of communicable diseases by vaccination. There are vaccinations for typhoid, diphtheria, and smallpox already in use and a vaccination for whooping cough has been developed that is partially successful.

The fact was brought out by Dr. Haar that teachers have a great part in preventing communicable diseases. The teacher is able to notice any symptoms such as fever, cough, or breaking out. Such things as fever should be immediately attended to as they usually are indicative of something rather serious. It is up to the teacher to either send the child home or segregate him.

Julia Van Landingham reviewed the activities of the Reading Aloud Group. The group has been sponsoring a story hour at the Training School during this quarter for children who have to wait for the bus, and any others who care to attend. The hour has been well attended and enjoyed by the children.

Sociology Group Goes Visiting

Under the direction of Mr. M. L. Wright, a class in Sociology last week went to Raleigh and Durham to visit places of interest.

While in Raleigh the group visiting the penitentiary, Dix Hill, the State Museum, the School for the Blind, WPTF Broadcasting Station, and the State Capitol.

After spending the night in Raleigh, the class went on to Durham the next day. There, they visited the Chesterfield Cigarette Plant and Duke University. At Duke the group was allowed to visit some of the classroom buildings, and was shown around the grounds and the hospital by a guide.

This class in sociology is making a survey of state and community resources and economic conditions.

Rapid Progress Being Made On Classroom Building; Foundations For Structure Nearing Completion

Foundations for the new classroom building now under construction at East Carolina Teachers College are expected to be completed by the end of next week if the weather permits. Since its beginning several weeks ago, work has progressed rapidly on the new building in spite of unfavorable weather at times. Excavations for the basement were begun early in January, and at the present time the concrete piles have been poured, and most of the wall foundations are finished.

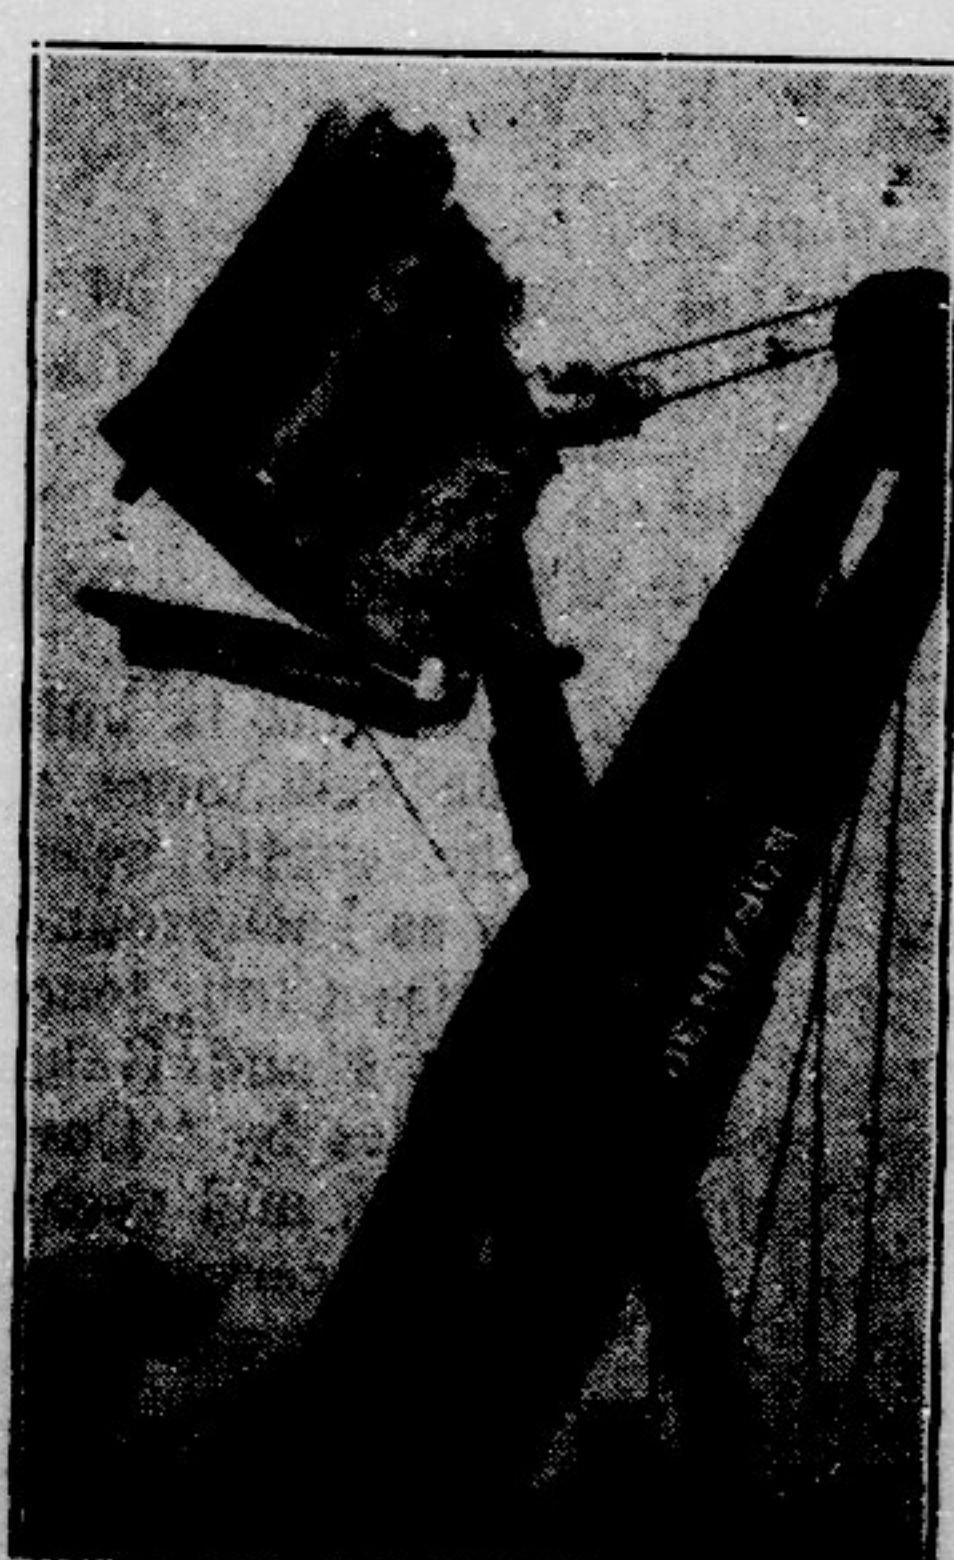

The building is being constructed by the Gregory Construction Company of Raleigh. According to the foreman, the steel work is planned to be started next week, weather permitting. It was hoped that the building would be completed by the late summer in order that it could be occupied at the beginning of the fall quarter. The building, however, will not be completed, due to lack of funds. The main floor will be incomplete in that there will be no wall partitions on that floor. It is hoped that enough additional funds may be secured to finish the building in the near future, however.

Vernon Tyson, staff photographer, is keeping a pictorial record of construction of the new building. This series will present the building in all stages of construction from the laying of the boundaries to the completion and occupation. The three pictures below illustrate the preliminary stages through which the construction on the $300,000 PWA project has already undergone.

The pictures below show, left to right, the "brains," a surveyor laying out boundaries preliminary to beginning excavations; "manual labor," a Negro worker driving a stake marking the boundaries; and "machine labor," a steam shovel making excavations for the basement. These three photographs show the elements necessary in the preliminary steps of the construction of a large building.

NEW CONSTITUTION IN THE MAKING

Authorized by the vote of the student body assembled in mass meeting, a committee is now working to prepare a new constitution for the approval of that group. This new constitution has as its objective the more efficient and satisfactory government of the women and men students on this campus. The purpose of any changes made will be towards a smoother cooperation between the Women's and Men's Student Governments, and the ironing out of rough spots in the present set-up.

This proposed constitution will not abandon the old forms of student government, but will simply make the frame-work more suitable for use by the entire student body of East Carolina Teachers College.

It will probably be some time before this committee presents its report, as the matter of constitutional changes is not one which can be handled hastily or carelessly. However, that committee has an important function to perform for the student body. Its work must be pushed forward in a vigorous manner.

ABILITY . . . HARD WORK . . . COOPERATION

The consensus of opinion regarding the Senior Play is that the production was the last word in dramatic success. The presentation of a tragedy is always a difficult task; but director, cast, and the senior class surmounted all obstacles to bring to this campus one of the most worthwhile performances ever given here.

To Director Britton, the members of the cast, the technicians, and to the members of the Senior class who gave their aid is due a vote of highest commendation for the success of the production. It reveals the results of the happy combination of ability, hard work, and cooperation.

POSTERITY ASHAMED OF US?

"Some day the electric chair and the gas chamber will be set up in the State Museum as symbols of an age of horror and ignorance," stated Paul Green, North Carolina noted playwright, to a group of state legislators. The statement was made to a committee of the North Carolina state legislature which had voted down a proposed bill abolishing capital punishment.

By the use of capital punishment, the state of North Carolina places itself in the paradoxical situation wherein it commits the same crime in punishing the offender that the offender committed to merit the punishment. Murder is murder, and the cloak of legality does not give society the right to pursue that type of inhuman activity. The philosophy of "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth" is one that has been supplanted by the humanitarian doctrines of the Carpenter of Galilee. This left-over element of a barbaric age—capital punishment—should have no place in a civilized society.

Viewed through the eyes of a student, the problem is one to which he can contribute some measure of a solution. The "citizens of tomorrow" can use their influence in setting up for this state a prison system that metes out justice to all law-breakers, but at the same time removes this blot on the record of North Carolina.

PROOF OF SCHOOL SPIRIT

At least we have definite, concrete, positive proof that there is in existence around this college a school spirit—and no one needed a microscope to find it last Saturday night. When the lights failed to function and the production of the Senior play was forced to cease for a short while, the audience, composed of students and town people, showed considerable good sportsmanship and courtesy in the spirit with which they awaited the resumption of the performance.

PRO AND CON

In a search for both sides of the Cafeteria question, in order to discover the advantages and disadvantages a member of the staff went directly to headquarters and interviewed the president, stewardess, and the dietitian.

A few points were gained on both sides of the question. Each would supply many concrete advantages and disadvantages which would be more obvious later.

Many of the disadvantages would be realized later when we think of the many things that would be lost in abolishing the present method. Many of these are in terms of intangibles which are difficult to list in concrete form.

Some of the arguments against a change were that the meal hour with its social contact at the table would be missed, especially those qualities which would count so much in later life such as good table manners, and acceptable conversation at the table. Many students would not go to meals when they should, nor would they choose well balanced meals. The health of the student would probably be ruined if these things prevailed.

There are certain advantages in the preparation and cooking of food in smaller amounts which would be brought about by changing to the cafeteria method. Students would have more of a variety of foods from which to choose. Hours for meals would be spread over a period of time instead of having meals at a definite time. In the cafeteria there would be no call downs made at any time.

"Y" Store Has Fatal Fascination For College Lads and Lassies

By LARUE MOORING

Dawg-gone, here I am in the "Y" store again!

This "Y" store is like a piece of lodestone (short for magnet). I leave Dr. Frank's class to go home to study. Where do I find myself? Why in the "Y" store, of course.

I look for somewhere to sit; there isn't anywhere to sit. I can't even see a table, much less a vacant seat. Well, I'll just stand in the middle of the floor (trying to appear nonchalant) and take a listen. These industrious loafers busily lounging in their seats!

"Got your uniform?" somebody yells. "Let's go get ours. The girls' pants are going to have lace on the bottom of theirs so folks can tell 'em from the boys'."

"Say, girls, you just want one doughnut between you?"

"No-o-o, I've gotta grow, haven't I?"

"Oh look, the Buccancer. I just love to read it. Do you mind if I look on?" and this nice little girl pulls it to her end of the table.

What does it matter to the crowded little girl at the other end of the seat? The magazine only belongs to her, nothing more.

"Sweet Pea, I'll cut Pse. next period if you will. I'll tell you what let's do. Let's flip a coin. Heads we go, tails we stay. D—, it's heads."

Well, what's the diff? We don't have to go, anyway."

Ah-h, there comes Ferdinand. Ferdinand with the delicate ego. There's also a Flea, a magnificent Flea. Here's hoping she doesn't get out of hand!

What's this I hear on my left? Ralph, a cook! Somebody catch me. He can cook egg omelette! Why this guy is versed in all the fine arts with music and cooking. Pardon me, Home Ec'ers. I believe you say cooking is a useful art. Tell me your recipe, Ralph. You just mix butter and cheese with your eggs? Oh no, I won't forget the salt and pepper. What was that you said to do when it's done? Squeeze lemon juice over it? Gosh, that makes me hungry.

"Oh, that's a butter lemon omelette," puts in Alton Johnson.

"See, see, See-merita?" chants K. P.

Spit, sputter. "Let me get some water. This smoke is bad on the respiratory system."

Rap-tap, rap-tap! Did I jump? Well, if it isn't a couple getting "hip" trying to out-jitter the jitters at a jam session.

"Hamp," Louise says, "If you are going to the library to help me read about bananas, let's go."

Oh, oh! There's the bell. That was the shortest hour I ever spent. Why do I have to leave? — ECTC at its best!

Twenty-two Girls And Two Males— Well, Most Anything Might Happen

By MARGARET G. OVERMAN

"Building up to an awful let-down" may be just a phrase to most people, but it certainly came into its own in significance to a group of ECTC girls recently. As you may be sure, there was a man connected with the case — two men in fact — the guide and an interne at Duke Hospital.

Now, two good-looking young men among a group of twenty-odd women are apt to cause a minor calamity under any circumstances. But when the twenty-odd girls, with a poultice exceeding the three-thousand-pound capacity, are trapped in an elevator between the second and third floors of a hospital, the result is nothing short of a major catastrophe.

But, after all, the poor girls were not wholly to blame — Mr. Wright and Mr. Ricks add a little weight to the occasion.

After a groaning attempt to lift the heavy load with which it was encumbered, the elevator gave up in despair and settled down, halfway between the second and third floors. Had it not been for the presence of mind possessed by the brave girls who refused, by sheer strength of will, to be daunted by such a mishap, the episode might have ended disastrously.

Those people who think girls lose their heads easily and get excited would have been properly shocked at the superb exhibition of calmness and matter-of-factness with which the girls faced a trying situation.

(Author's note: The names and situations used in this story are purely realistic. Any resemblance to fictitious persons, of any type, sort, or description, is coincidental.)

Home economics is to help girls become homemakers, she further added. It is to help improve home life in the community and to give the girls a feeling for home life.

"Girls, I challenge you to be homemakers and to be proud of it," she declared in closing. "Men are still not willing to place the responsibility of the world's economic conditions on the shoulders of women. They still think that a woman's place is in the home."

To the Editor of THE TECO ECHO: May I impose upon you to the extent of asking you to publish the following: On behalf of the music faculty and the band members, I wish to express our sincere and deep appreciation for the gesture made by the student body in donating the funds to purchase band uniforms. We shall attempt to live up to the spirit shown by the student body in their most gracious gift. With sincere thanks, I am, Yours very truly,

The style of the band is built around the melodic bell tones of the brass, and the subtle sweet swing of the saxes as background. Features include Glee Club, tenor voices of Eddie Davis and Galen Gunn, vocal specialties by "Cowboy" Conover, comedy, and vocals by their master of ceremonies, Frank "Red" Watson, who also plays both trumpet and trombone. Instrumentation consists of four brass, four saxes, three rhythm, and director.

Catherine Dennis Makes Talk To Home Ec Club

"What a teacher's place in the community should be" was the subject of Miss Catherine Dennis' talk to the Home Economics Club members recently.

Miss Dennis opened her talk with a series of questions concerning the teacher's relationship with the community. "How much can you find in your community to make life happy," she asked? Pass on good to the community in which you teach.

As answers to the questions, Miss Dennis suggested that the teacher take an active part in the organization of the community. She should immediately participate in the club work of the school and town.

Take into your community a high regard for your Alma Mater. Encourage your associates to let you help them solve their problems. Be conscious of your neighbor's right. Make all efforts to adapt yourself to your surroundings. Cultivate in your school children the practice of gracious living. Be natural and unaffected and avoid calling attention to the flaws in your surroundings.

Home economics is to help girls become homemakers, she further added. It is to help improve home life in the community and to give the girls a feeling for home life.

"Girls, I challenge you to be homemakers and to be proud of it," she declared in closing. "Men are still not willing to place the responsibility of the world's economic conditions on the shoulders of women. They still think that a woman's place is in the home."

CAMPUS BREVITIES

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Deal entertained the senior French majors at their home, Thursday evening, February 7.

During the evening, many games were played. Miss Juanita Davis won a heart-shaped box of candy for high score.

Maude Melvin, accompanied by Juanita Simpson, sang several selections. Later in the evening, Miss Simpson also sang.

Delicious ice cream, cake, and peanuts were served.

Mr. Rufus Johnson underwent a tonsil operation in Pitt Community Hospital last week. Mr. Johnson has recuperated and is back at work.

Is it true that 66 cents of every dollar spent in North Carolina is spent in the interest of education?

So stated the governor in answer to the teachers last week. If he's speaking of the general fund, I wonder if he is taking the highway money into consideration!

WHAT TYPE OF ARTICLE DO YOU PREFER IN THE TECO ECHO?

Agnes Watson, Sophomore (Home Economics and Science): I prefer the letters to the editor by the students, because this gives the students an opportunity to express their opinion in the paper.

Earl Smith, Senior (History and Physical Ed.): I like the sport section because I'm more interested in that field.

Stanley Scarborough, Senior (Math and Science): I like sports news because it creates an interest in the sporting activities that occur on our campus and those away, besides the school spirit it promotes on our campus and among the students.

Robert Musselwhite, Freshman (Science and Social Sciences): I prefer straight news because news in general interests me more.

Elizabeth Moody, Sophomore (Grammar): I like the section "Just Glancing Blows" because it tells one what is happening here on our college campus in an amusing and entertaining way.

Anita Doughtridge, Junior (English and History): I enjoy the feature "Just Glancing Blows" because it is so original and amusing.

Pope Pius XI has passed on. His death has been tolled throughout the Christian World. Yes, he has passed on, passed beyond the scope and buffer of a Mussolini or a Hitler to a place where neither totalitarian nor imperial states can challenge his attention.

Born of humble parents, he was to gain the attention of the world as the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church. Of a braver, upstanding or more courageous man I know few. When near his death many times he fought his way back to carry on his duties as head of the Catholic Church. Of a more enlightened man I know not. The growth and improvement of the Vatican City has almost become a legend under his direction. He installed the latest equipment, including such things as: Service stations, automobiles, scientific research, laboratories, etc. Besides this he had his own stores, markets, etc., for the convenience of those few people living with him.

It was estimated that in two days over 1,000,000 people passed by his bier from all parts of the world to pay him homage in his last act.

As a defender of Catholicism as well as of the oppressed Jews, he was constantly flaying the dictators at every turn.

The Cardinals will meet in a week or so to select a new pope, and may they select one who is as severe with the dictators as was Pope Pius XI.

Simile: As much chance as a Jew in Germany.

FRENCH FASHION ADS

By BARBARA KEUZENKAMP

Paris says, "Stop and look!" Have you seen the new spring colors? You smart young college girls will want to look for them this spring, when you start planning and choosing your spring wardrobe. And don't wait too long before you start. Keep your eyes open in search of "oyster white" or "natural" for your linen costumes. The nice thing about these two colors, is that with them you can wear any color for accessories that you like.

On the color "palette," you'll find: yellows, both golden and copper; Vert Vitriol, which is a bright blue green; coral pink; lilac; Grand Grenat, which is a distinctive garnet red; a midnight blue called Corbeau blue; and a reddish yellow Mahogany. Have you noticed how many of the colors are yellowish? That is because yellow is your new color this spring. It fits so perfectly into the mood of sunlight, southern street scenes, and beaches.

If you don't look well in yellow, wear blue. Your choice can range from the ever popular cornflower blues, to one with a greenish tinge called Persian blue.

For evening, black and white is always fetching. Misty, soft mauves and pinks are echoes of the Victorian age, while silver lame and gold are dramatic and compelling. Or if you wish to be unusual, wear delicate pink over gold, or perhaps you would prefer a black net over brilliant deep blue.

So, Mademoiselle, start thinking of your colors!

LAST AND LEAST
Altho' I be four days behind,
Will all of you be my Valentine.

NEXT TO LAST AND LEAST
EST: The Senior play was a pipper even though Nancy and Bruce had the romancing scenes looking a little bit too natural.

A FEEBLE FABLE: He was naturally shy and timid for he was terrifiedly homely. He was so back-toothed that his mother must have been scared by a piano keyboard. Anyway, as he approached to tell her he became so embarrassed that he blushed right out loud. For several minutes he stood there generating courage but he just turned her eyes into his. He just naturally blew a fuse. He started generating again and this time he managed to whisper in her ear, "Your left stocking is twisted a little." He gulped as she thanked him and went back out on the dance floor to little apple some more with Alton Payne. Moral: A word to the wise is worth two in the bush.

WHY OH WHY? And Dr. Reynolds just asked Joseph Louis Wilkerson (no relation to the famed pugilist) that if he wasn't supposed to write on both sides of the paper why did he think they made the stuff with two sides.

LET THE TECO ECHO be the first to nominate Herr Gobbels (pronounced gobble for the sake of this item) as the first Dictator of Turkey.

"JUST A FEW MINUTES": While waiting two hours for the Senior play to resume after the lights failed, Charles Harris became a little tired of sitting and pinched himself to see if he was awake—it wasn't.

CONTRARY TO THE POPULAR opinion, alone in the moonlight is more fun if you aren't.

ALONG THE SIDELINES With Jack Daniels

The Bo-Huuk Trophy

Because of this corner's policy to promote school spirit at our "dear ole Alma," we have taken into our own hands a very important question which may influence the "school-nerve" of the future generations who might attend this fair, yea fair, "instichooohun." . . . Yowzah! Your sp. ed. (short for sports editor) has indulged in a little (very little) mental over-exertion with our fine and very, (oh very) worthy colleague, John Yavroski, "sp. ed." of ACC's Collegiate. We managed to produce an intellectual caliber of mentality, which changed to a bolt of neutral lightning and howled us on our respective posteriors. When the smoke cleared away we had . . . guess what . . . yep . . . an idea! It was so good (we thought . . . unfortunately) that we are going to be pioneers and take the rap for tolerating it. Here it is!

The Two Echo and the Collegiate will put up a beautiful, gorgeous, granddaddy, splendid, colossal (in fact it's pretty) trophy to be respectfully presented to the school (either ACC or ECTC) who wins any athletic contest between the two schools in a school year. This fine (?) piece of crockery (oops! . . . we mean valuable trophy . . .) will be kept in the guarded possession of the college who most recently has won in an athletic contest between the two colleges. The school holding the trophy (if) at the end of the spring quarter will treasure it during the following summer and attempt to hold the darn thing (oops again . . . we mean the valuable treasure) during the following school year.

We decided to name this trophy in accordance with all it stands for, and so we hereby christen the worthy object our affection, the BO-HUUK TROPHY! Long may it live! (in our possession).

The Boy With the Million Dollar Legs

The other night a brain storm prompted the sport staff of this dusty sheet to dig up something different. We are tired of continually praising feminine pulchritude in all sorts of contests, elections, raffles, punchboards and what-not, and we decided to be very different! We, our dear patient readers, are turning our talents to the exploitation and glorification of the ECTC athlete! We wanted to know which basketball man, in the feminine viewpoint, of course, had the most pulchritudinous lower extremities (legs to you).

And so with this in mind, capering thither and yon, we conducted a poll in the parlors last Sunday P.M. In our straw vote of 66 ballots were cast, (at us). (In fact, one guy . . . name o' Clark . . . wanted to throw us out of Wilson.) Of all the votes cast, a big, brawny, blond gained 33 of the ladies' favors, Parrish, Brock, and Shelton tied for second honors. Who was the blond?! Aw girls, you know it couldn't be any one else but FLOYD HINTON, "the boy with the million dollar legs!"

Still in the Dark

There's been a lotta talk going around the campus about a tennis team. We know that we are supposed to know something about such things, but darn it, we can't find out anything definite either! There were plans made a few weeks back to start some intramurals and pick a team from this . . . Time marches on . . . Still no definite plans . . . something about money . . . for balls and stuff. . . We also heard ramblin' rumors that the tennis team would make a spring holiday trip to Florida, several college matches . . . more time marches on . . . Still nothing definite . . . something about a car. . . So we confess, we know nothing about tennis . . . but if the boys can arrange to carry out their expounded plans . . . we're for 'em . . . and wish 'em lotsa luck!

Benediction

We close with this one: . . . The hefty young athlete sauntered up to the ten-cent-store clerk. . . "I want something to wear around my dormitory." Sweet young thing: . . . "How big is your dormitory?"

Corsairs Defeat William and Mary

East Carolina's Corsairs nosed out a 35-24 win over the Norfolk Division of William and Mary basketball team in an exciting contest game played on the local floor last Tuesday night. In a previous encounter of the two teams the Pirates took a 35-24 victory in a game played in Norfolk.

After a slow start the visitors forged into a 6-2 lead on baskets by Wood and Edmonds after five minutes of play. The battle seemed all the first quarter with the teams deadlocked at 11-11 as the second period got underway.

Both quints exhibited good defensive play and the scoring resulted largely on very fancy shots. The Braves put on a scoring spurt just before halftime and held a 21-18 margin at intermission.

The second half was a different story with play being much more spirited and furious than in the first half. Bill Shelton and "Parrish" Parrish hit the mark one minute after play resumed and ECTC pushed ahead, 22-21. Popkin scored from action for the invaders, but Donald Brock and Shelton rallied and put the Corsairs into a lead that was never overcome by the Braves.

The Bucs held a 35-29 lead with only five minutes left when the William and Mary quint rallied and offered a breath-taking finish to the affair. The Braves slipped in two consecutive two-pointers to pull up a 35-33 score with two minutes of play remaining. Spectators held their breath as Cohn batted the ball around the hoop thirty seconds from the end, but the sphere wouldn't drop for a counter, and the game ended with the Pirates holding their slim margin.

Leading the winner's attack were mainstays Bill Shelton and Donald Brock with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Tom Parrish, who entered the game late in the second half, whipped the cords thrice for six points. Lex Ridenhour shone on the defense for the Pirates.

Sidney Popkin took scoring honors for the Braves with eight tallies. Edmonds, Cohn, and Wood ranked

Lynchburg Bows To Gilbert's Squad

Gordon Gilbert's boys clashed with Lynchburg College for a second time last Saturday night and settled the visitors in decisive fashion. When the final gun sounded, the score read: ECTC 49; Lynchburg College 32. This victory avenged the two-point defeat handed to the Pirates by the Hornets in Lynchburg a short time ago. Paced by a clicking Brock-Shelton combination, the Bucs rolled along in easy fashion. Together they piled up 38 points. Defensively, the Pirates did a good job of silencing Cipolat and Meyers, usual big guns among the Hornets. Cipolat, second high scorer in Virginia intercollegiate competition, was unable to pierce Lex Ridenhour's guarding movements until eight minutes before the closing gun.

The Rover's margin at half time was 26-13.

Summary: Lynchburg: Forwards, Cipolat 10, Proctor, Myers, 8; Center, Saunders 7; Guards, Thomas 1, Burnett 4, Rosenberger 2.

Amazons Defeat Blackstone Girls By 25 to 15 Score

East Carolina's Amazons squelched Blackstone's court sextet 25 - 15 on the local court, February 3, to gain their second victory for the year over the mountaineers. The home team took the show in the first quarter by staging a beautiful exhibition of both defensive and offensive tactics, to lead the visitors 8-2 at the end of the quarter. Coach Norton ran in her second team who held the invaders' second stanza rally to a 12-9 score at the end of the half.

In the opening minutes of third period Blackstone pushed the Lady Bucs reserves to a 12-12 tie. Kim Tomlinson broke the tie with field goal, which Blackstone answered with another field tally, tying the score again. At this crisis, the Pirate skipper put in the first string, who, led by their scoring ace Prue Newby, battered the enemy goal for repeated tallies. While the Bucs forwards Tomlinson and Hopkins aided and abetted Newby in adding 11 points to their record, the East Carolinians' guards Parker, Stevenson, and McMillan worked a perfect defense and so efficiently jammed the Blackstone guns that the mountain forwards were held scoreless for the remainder of the game.

The Lady Bucs' scoring was led by Newby with 9 points, who was trailed closely by Hopkins with 8 tallies. Kim Tomlinson tossed in two field goals and free shot to score five points. Seize and Inga sparked the losers with five points each.

The lineup: Blackstone: Forwards—Seize (5), Batts (2), Parham, Inga (5), Wingo (3). Guards—Winn, Vanderdeve, McCutcheon.

ECTC: Forwards—Butler, E. Tomlinson (2), Newby (5), Hopkins (4), Griggs (1), K. Tomlinson (5). Guards—Parker, Stevenson, McMillan, Wood, Edwards, Hollowell. Referee—Wiley. Umpire—F. Farley. Timer—Boyd. Scorer—Austin.

ECTC and Louisville Fight 4 to 4 Draw

Pugilistic teams of East Carolina Teachers College and Louisville College met, battled, and ended up with a score tied at four points all in an intercollegiate boxing card presented in the local gymnasium. Each team won three bouts and each gained another full point by virtue of two draw decisions.

"Jolting" Joe Williams provided the best display of fireworks for the evening's entertainment as he viciously battered Louisville's Aquilino to the floor to win by a technical knockout in the third round. The Pirate pugilist had previously floored Aquilino in the second round and continued his damaging onslaught in the final canto to again drop his opponent. Aquilino was apparently unable to rise from the floor and it appeared evident that Williams would win by the straight knockout route. However, Referee Harry Jackson stopped the fight with Aquilino on the floor to remove all possibility of serious injury to the game leather-slinger.

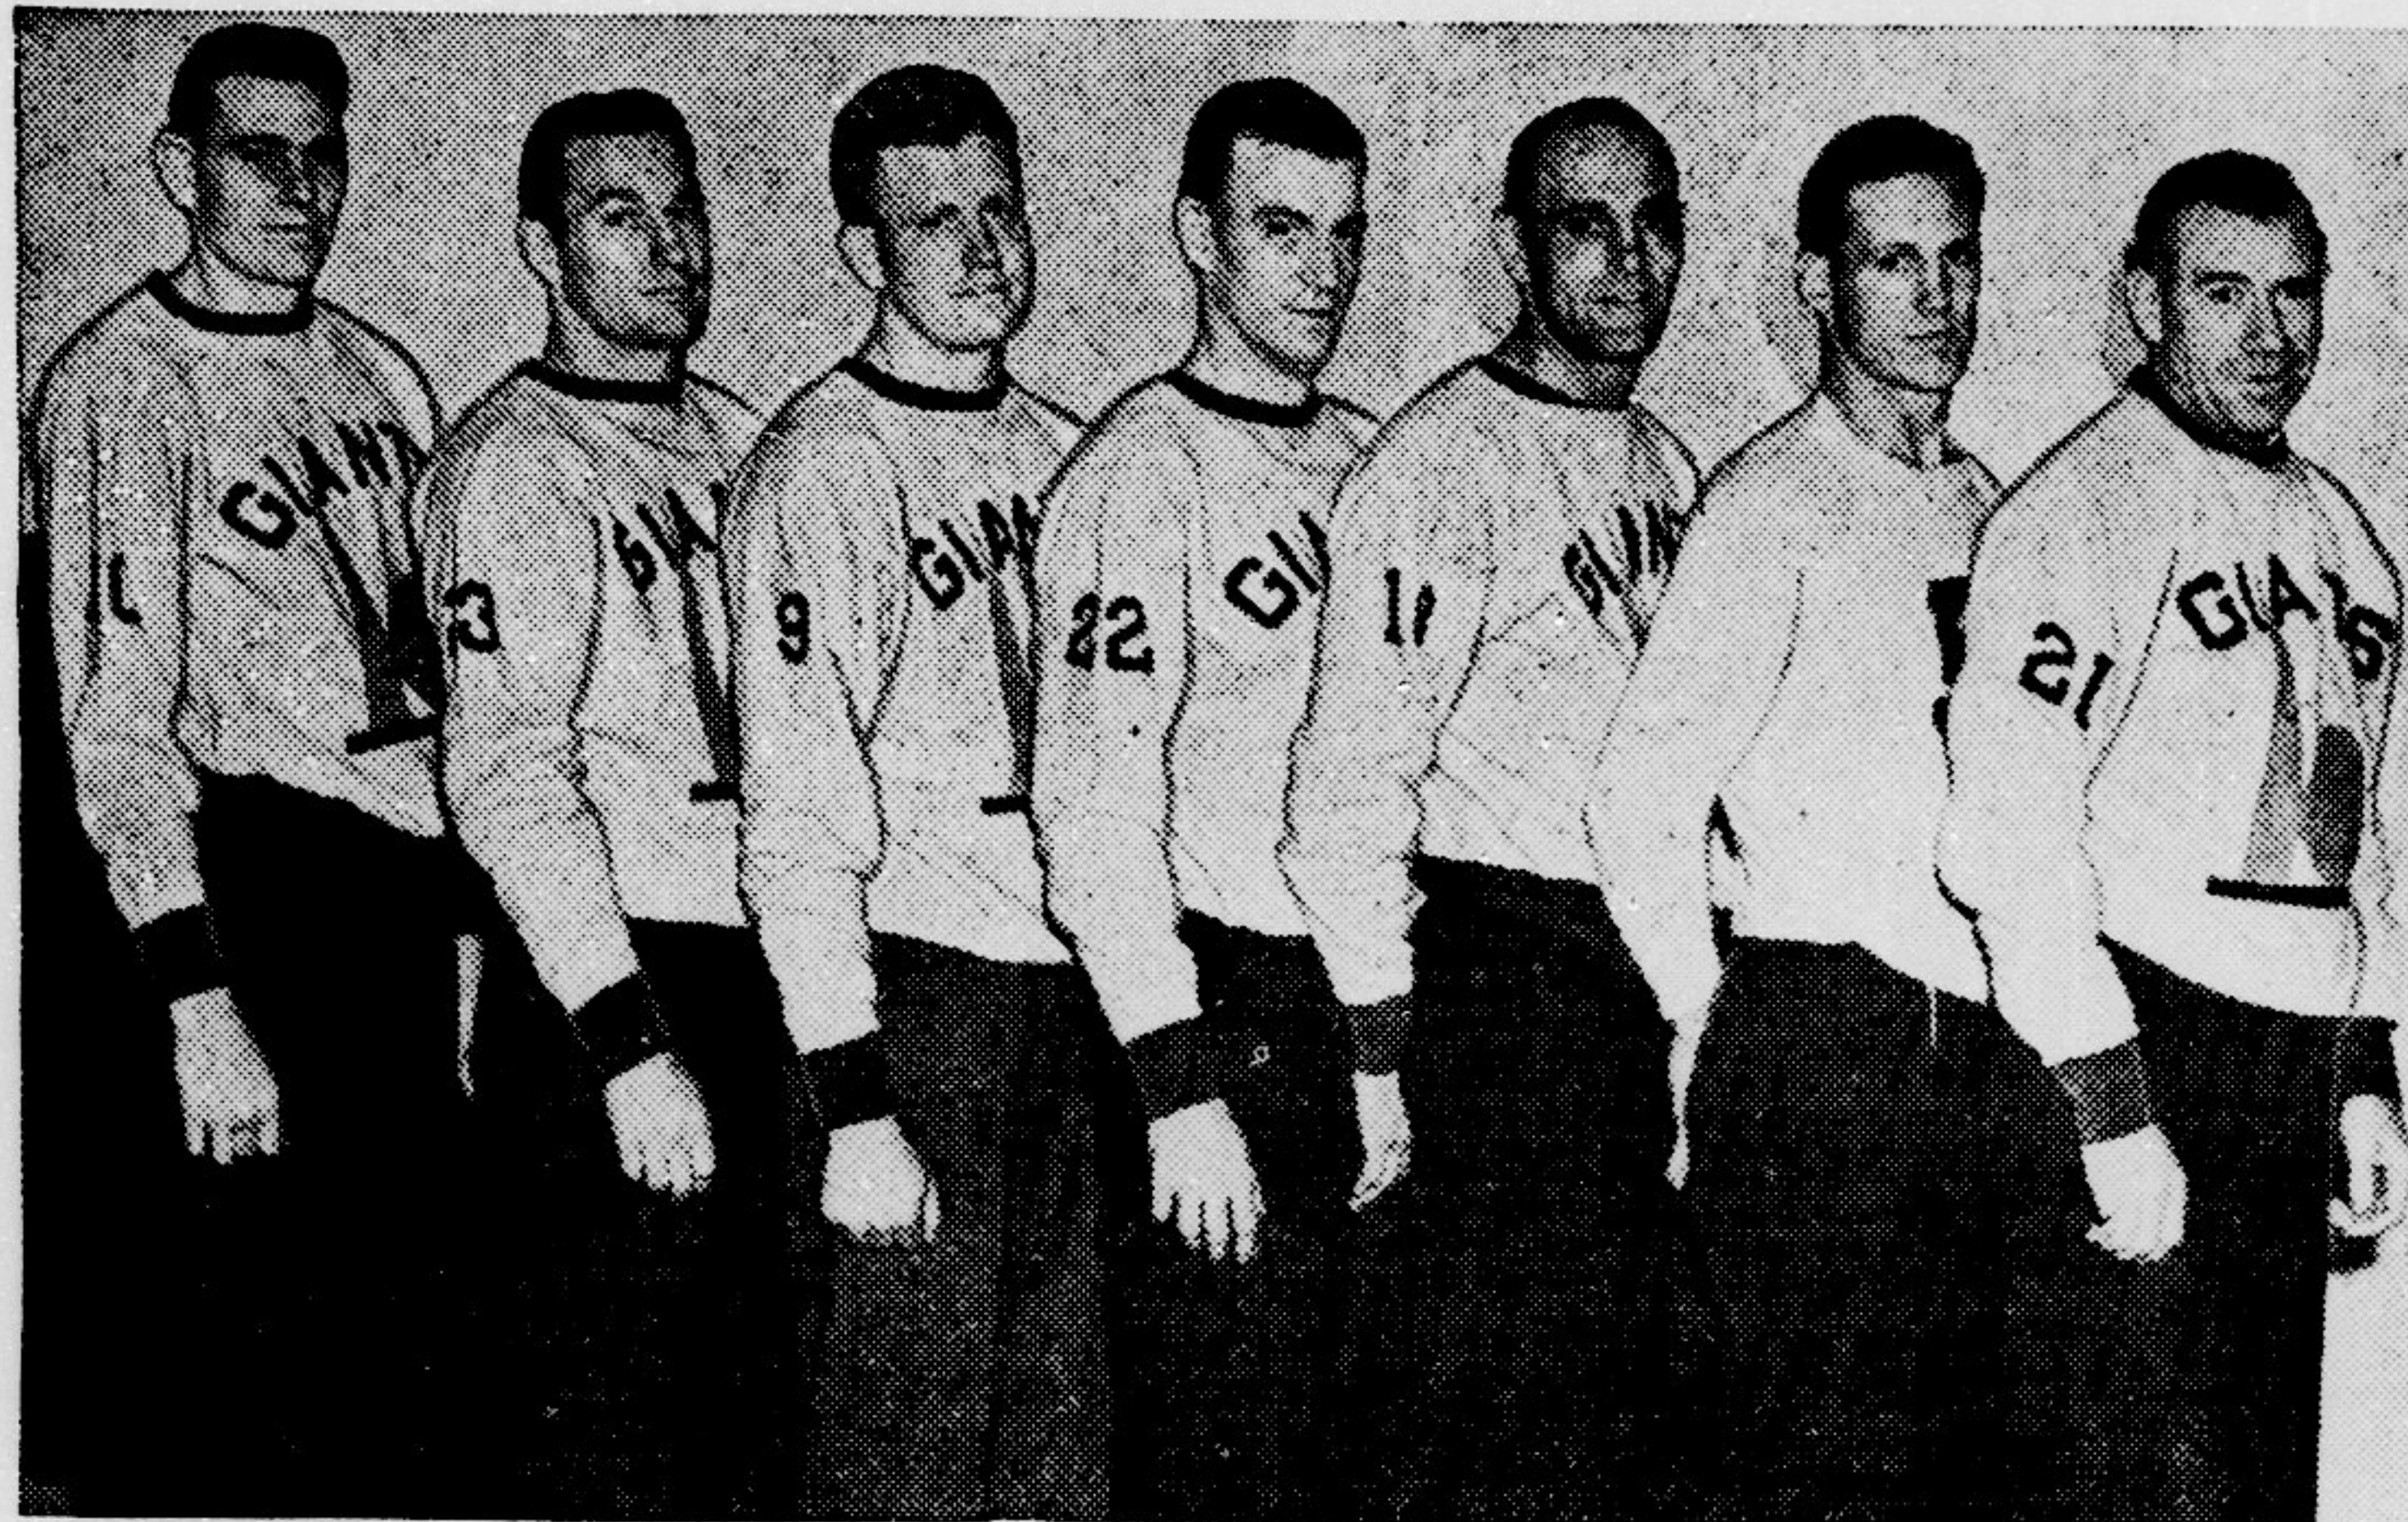

ECTC secured its other points as Wilkerson and Breece hammered out clear decisions and Roberts and Fleming received draws.

The summary: Fleming, ECTC, 116 lbs., fought a draw with Wallace Gray, 119 lbs., of Louisville. Wilkerson, ECTC, 126 lbs., decided Cotten, 129 lbs. Carroll, Louisville, 138 lbs., decided Braddy, 138 lbs. Roberts, Louisville, 146 lbs., decided Zelen, 144 lbs. Breece, ECTC, 147 lbs., decided Ward, 149 lbs. Roberts, ECTC, 158 lbs., fought a draw with Ginn, 153 lbs. Williams, ECTC, 164 lbs., won by a technical knockout over Aquilino, 162 lbs., after 1:32 of the third round. Norvell, Louisville, 172 lbs., decided Dennis, 167 lbs.

Ray Sparrow of ECTC fought Auger of Louisville in a non-decision exhibition bout.

ECTC: Forwards, Shelton 18, Smith, Simpson; Center, Brock 20; Hinton; Guards, Parrish 3, Ridenhour 8, Glass. Officials: Atkinson and Farley.

Auto Wreck Prevents Appearance

Pictured above are members of the New York Giants professional basketball team which was scheduled to perform here Tuesday night. An auto accident near Parks, Missouri, resulted in serious injury to two of the players, and four others received cuts and bruises. This accident will prevent the Giants' appearance here, Coach J. D. Alexander was notified by long distance telephone early Thursday morning. All games on the Giants' 1939 schedule have been cancelled.

Pirate Boxers Pound Out Decision Over Frosh Team of Duke University

Alexander's Proteges Win Meet By 6 To 3 Score

Coach "Swede" Alexander's Pirate pugs, avenged a last year's defeat by battering the Duke Frosh team to a 6-3 defeat. The Teachers took two of their tallies on forfeits to Captain Joe Williams in the 165 pound class and Norman Fleming in the 120 division.

Harvey Braddy, 135, came through after two previous TKO's and took his fight against Martin with a decision. Twice-defeated Charles Brinn, in the 145 class, battered Duke's Newsham goggy in the second round and was able to draw an easy decision.

David (Lightnin') Breece, with his tricky and speedy onslaught, smashed and pounded Senhauser goggy for three rounds to lose by a referee's decision. The official stated that Breece was "holding and hitting."

Summary: Braddy (ECTC) 137, decisioned Martin, 133.

Brinn (ECTC) 140 decisioned Newsham 138.

Breece 148 (ECTC) lost on foul to Senhauser 154.

Wilkerson 120 (ECTC) decisioned Gardiner 127.

Maultsby 130 (Duke) decisioned M. Smith 126.

West 175 (Duke) decisioned Dennis 169.

Long (ECTC) 198 decisioned Johnson 209.

Referee: Harry Jackson. Timers: Morton and Swain.

Bucs Lose One; Elon Is Victor

Facing the mighty Elon eagles for the first time on home ground the Pirate basket contingent slipped to defeat by a 38 to 31 score. The smaller locals played bang-up ball throughout, but seemed unable to overcome the disadvantage offered by the Christians' lankiness.

After seven minutes of the battle the tallying was tied at eight all, until Hobson pushed the Elonites out in front with a field goal. The visitors stayed ahead for the rest of the first half leaving the score at the whistle, 23-15.

During the second period the Pirates started cutting down the Elon lead and with three minutes to play the affair was again tied, this time at 29-29. Holding the locals to two more counts by Ridenhour, from the foul line, the Christians advanced their margin to seven points before the end of the fracas.

"Wee Willie" Shelton carried the heaviest offensive load for the Pirates by amassing 18 points while "Donald Duck" Brock made five and carried on a good passing game. Lex Ridenhour, the versatile Buccaneer guard, played a fine floor game along with Parrish, who left by the foul route in the last quarter.

The visitors were paced by Gardiner with 15 points and Pierce with 6 counts.

Lineup: ECTC, forwards, Shelton (19), Smith (4); centers, Brock (5), Simpson; guards, Ridenhour (2), Parrish (1), Hinton. Elon, forwards, Gardiner (15), Moss (5), Flythe; centers, Fesmire (5); guards, Pierce (6), Zynith, Hobson (4).

Officials: Atkinson and Meek.

Basketball Court To Have Crowded Program Saturday

Tournament Finals And Varsity Games On Card

East Carolina's basketball court will see its busiest day of the year tomorrow, with activity starting at nine o'clock in the morning and closing somewhere near midnight. In addition to two college varsity games, the student body will see the semi-finals and finals of the Eastern North Carolina Invitational Tournament, which has brought boys' and girls' teams from forty-five high schools to the campus.

Six Tournament Games

The big day begins with the girls' semi-finals. One game will be played at nine o'clock; the other at ten. The boys' teams, of the high school semi-finalists, take the court at eleven o'clock and relinquish it after two games.

Evening hostilities begin at seven o'clock when the girls' finals will be run off. At eight o'clock the finalists of the boys meet. At the end of this game the four teams who go to the finals will each receive a beautiful trophy for their schools and each member will be awarded a small gold and silver basketball. Coach Alexander stated that in addition to promoting basketball in high schools, the tournament will allow the high school students to take a look at East Carolina Teachers College, and to witness college ball games.

Lady Bucs Entertain

At nine o'clock the visiting basketball team will be entertained. (Please turn to page four)

Sea Marauders Settle Score With ACC Five

Atlantic Christian College's Citadel fell before the terrific onslaught of East Carolina's Pirate band, 37-29, when the vengeful Sea Marauders settled several old scores last Monday night. The Buccaneers made their attack on the Wilson stronghold to demand reprobation for a previous court defeat and two ring losses, and when they embarked for home, the Jolly Roger was waving in the breeze over the vanquished Christians.

The Corsairs were the first to draw blood as Donald Duck Brock swished a long one followed closely by Shelton's long shot and Parrish's free throw. There followed a fiery scrap between the bitter rivals in which held the score to 8-1 at the ten minute mark. Broughton scored the first field tally for the Bulldogs which set off the fireworks of the A.C. attack and at the 15 minute mark the scoreboard read 13-10. Corsairs, Bulldog McCotter sank a long one, Brock tossed a crisp, McCotter crippled one and the tally board shouted "15-14." Shelton's foul shot and Brock's field goal and two free throws pulled the Bucs out of the danger zone when the half time whistle spiked the score at 20-14.

In the first few minutes of the second stanza, the East Carolinians met their crisis. After two minutes of a torrid defensive battle, McCotter whipped in a tally, Wiley a free shot, Broughton a long one, Holloman a gift point, and the tally chart screamed "20-20!" Then Burney McCotter dropped in a field goal, and the Corsairs' plight looked bad as the Bulldog fans went wild! The Bucs called time out, talked things over and went back in the game like a fresh team. "Smitty" Smith swished a goal, Shelton crippled one, Ridenhour dropped in a long one, Shelton sank a free shot and the crisis was over. The result showed "27-22, Corsairs."

The battle raged on but the Christians saw every one of their goals. (Please turn to page four)

Among the Alumnae

Congratulations to Mr. Robert Sugg Fleming on his most recent achievement—that of his new position in the Education Department of the University of Chicago. Mr. Fleming was an outstanding member of the class of 1935 of this college, majoring in mathematics and science. After receiving the degree of Master of Science from Peabody, Mr. Fleming came to Greenville High School and for the past two and a half years has been a science instructor in that system. He has recently handed in his resignation, to be effective February 24.

Mr. Fleming leaves Greenville High School to work with Dr. Ralph Tyler, dean of the school of education of the University of Chicago. For four months Mr. Fleming will work with Dr. Tyler in the field of science evaluation.

"I consider it a real privilege to be able to work with Dr. Tyler since he is an eminent authority on evaluation," declared Mr. Fleming. "This summer he will be a member of the science staff of the southern workshop study group in Chapel Hill.

While Mr. Fleming is at the University of Chicago he plans to work on his doctor's degree.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Vick, Jr., announce the birth of a son, George D. Vick, III, February 6, 1939, in Kinston, N. C. Mrs. Vick is the former Miss Eloise Gallup of the class of 1931.

Announcement has recently been made of the marriage of Miss Edna Earl Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiston Perry of Louisville, to Glen B. Wilder of Franklin, February 3, 1939, at Maple Springs, Louisiana. Mrs. Wilder was a member of the class of 1938, and has been teaching this year in the Gold Sand High School.

The marriage of Miss Hattie Ethel Bowen of Merry Hill, to Mr. John Wesley Wimbourn of Harrellsville, took place in Harrellsville January 28, 1939. Mrs. Wimbourn attended this college.

Gilbert played five Pirates the whole contest.

be left to the parents, and a North-western co-ed declares, "You should go to your doctor for that information." In some colleges students say there is not enough room in the courses offered. Others favor voluntary courses only.

In America the movement toward more sex education was begun in 1910 under the leadership of Dr. Prince A. Morrow. Sex education, in its largest sense, has been defined as that including scientific, social, ethical, and religious instruction, and influence that may in some way, directly or indirectly, help young people to solve the sex problems that will inevitably be encountered by every normal person.

Basketball Court To Have Crowded Program Saturday

ket-cubs will be entertained along with the student body and spectators, by the college girls team when they meet the College of Charleston lassies from South Carolina. This is the first occasion on which these two teams have met. The Pirate damsels have played two games this season, winning both, and the basketball fans are interested to see if they can stay in the win column. The college is wondering if the invaders from the south can stop the scoring spreed of Newby, Hopkins, and the Tomlinsons, and still pierce the formidable guard wall of Stevenson, Parker and McMillan.

Corsairs Close Curtain

The final show of the "biggest day in basketball" comes when the Pirate lads defend their court against Chowan College. The visitors come from up-state in an attempt to stop the powerful Buccaneer band who defeated Lynchburg, Atlantic Christian, and William and Mary (N.D.) in recent games.

Big things are expected from the strong Buccaneer quint who will strive to show the "boys from back home" just what basketball is all about and how it should be played.

that other forms of entertainment and other meetings have crowded out the three nights set aside for this purpose to a great extent during the past two or three weeks. Since it is necessary for the departments to use the building Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights we are very eager for the students to be able to use it the other evenings.

"I am glad you have made your wants known to me and am always delighted to work in any way that I can for your interests. I shall be pleased if both of you will drop into my office some time during the next few weeks and let me know if your wishes are being met.

Fussings, Fumings, Fits, Fights— But The Teco Echo Goes To Press

"Hey! where's that story that goes here on the front page? Doesn't anyone ever get anything in on time around here? How can I make up a paper if all my copy isn't in?" This from the Honorable Editor, who is, figuratively, standing on his head.

Trying to relieve the situation with a bit of humor, associate Editor Bridgers rejoins with, "Billy, you're as fussy as any girl about your make-up."

Wichard, also Associate Editor, and official cold-water thrower of the staff, remarks dryly, "That stinks."

Somebody stop those guys! In three seconds they will be at each others' throats. No, they never—really come to blows—but they had us scared for a minute.

Oh! Here comes Business Manager, Lucille Johnson. "Are all the ads in?" she asks. Helen Flanagan, who knows that they're not, just smiles and thinks nothing of it.

Just at this crucial moment in walks Ethel Padgett of the Business Staff. "Here are the ads and let me tell you what just happened."

The rest of Ethel's remark is drowned out by Jack Daniels, who is inquiring who won the ball game. Which ball game? After all, why should Jack be bothered about ball games—he's only sports editor.

Dorothy Hollar, who has just resigned (again) is about to exit hastily when she bumps into Ina Mae Pearce, just coming in. "Has the class and club news come in yet?" Ina Mae wants to know. Of course it hasn't. It wasn't due until yesterday.

Realizing that she will not get her work in on time unless she hands it in yesterday, Margaret Guy Overman suddenly has an idea and begins working. Oh, horrors! another of those awful features. Why doesn't she stick to the writing of plain old news.

To cap the climax, just as the whole staff begins working industriously in comes the loafers of the campus who have nothing better to do than hang around watching other people work.

If this paper goes off tomorrow morning it will be nothing short of a miracle. But—miracles still happen.

Pirates Take Vengeance On Bulldog Quintet

matched by a Pirate tally.

The feature of conflict was the outstanding feud between "Duck" Brock and "Red" Broughton of the Bulldogs. Their attempts to block the other's scoring tactics gave birth to one of the most heated exhibitions of man-for-man defense ever seen on the A.C. court. Brock held the Bulldog scoring ace to a ten-point total, fouling once. Broughton viciously fouled "Duck" three times but failed to prevent his scoring 18 points. The match between Shelton and McCotter proved just about equal. McCotter rang the goal for nine points; Shelton eight. Coach Herring used eight Bulldogs in the game. Gordon
