

Dr. R. J. Slay Appointed As Dean Of The College

Dr. R. J. Slay, who has been head of the science department for the past three years, now holds the position of dean of the college. The office of dean is added to the administrative staff by action of the board of trustees, and this is the first time that there has been an official dean in the history of the college.

The duties of the dean are mainly to coordinate the work of the various departments and to relieve him of any duties that the president needs to delegate to another. He is, also, to look after the curriculum and educational standards. Dr. J. L. Oppelt is now director of practice teaching and the assistant dean. Dr. Slay is taking over the duties of registrar, also, until a new registrar has been elected. Miss E. C. B. continues as assistant registrar.

After Dr. Slay accepted the position as dean of the college, his services as head of the science department were taken over by Dr. Charles Killebrew.

Miss Annie L. Morton is still dean of women and is in charge of the women's life. There is no dean of men. W. W. Smiley, librarian, is in charge of men.

Miss Ruth White, who has been associated with the dean of women for eight years as counselor in the Living Hall, has been placed in the position of dean. Mrs. Elizabeth Slay resigned as assistant dean of women at the end of the summer when she joined her husband who has been in the armed forces.

Of the other new administrative staff, Miss Mary Vincent is bookkeeper who has charge of all records and janitors for the dormitories and the classroom buildings. She takes the place of Miss Arley Moore who left last fall after having charge of this work for more than 20 years. She was replaced last year by Miss Katherine Davis for one quarter.

Miss Doris Lewis, a graduate of last year's class, is now secretary to the treasurer.

Miss Ruby Braxton has taken Miss Tommie Lou Corbett's place as secretary to the registrar and is assisted by several students. Miss Corbett is now teaching in the commerce department.

Messrs. Boswell and Brewer returned during the summer in order to take over the management of a laundry and cleaning business which they have purchased. They were replaced by G. S. Whitehurst and L. W. Tracy.

Killebrew Heads Veterans' Club

On October 11, the veterans of World War II who are now attending E. C. T. C. met for the first time to elect officers for the Veterans Club. Garland Bailey presided and proved to be a very good leader to start this new club.

Nobles L. Killebrew a product of Greensboro, N.C., was elected overwhelmingly the first President. He was in the Army Air Corps during his time in the U. S. Army.

The Veterans Club is very glad to have Dr. Charles Reynolds for adviser and is confident he will aid in the promotion of a smooth running organization which will be beneficial to the men who have returned from the burdens of our most modern and fierce war.

Other officers elected during the first meeting are: Vice-President, Joe Williams; Secretary, Mary Alice Averette; Treasurer, Henry Harris; Historian and Reporter, Ola Forrest.

Freshman Orientation Proved Very Successful

The seventeenth annual Orientation Program was presented for the new students under the sole leadership of Dr. R. J. Slay. The program began Tuesday, September 25, in Wright auditorium with group singing led by Dr. Karl Gilbert. During the course of the day President Howard J. McGinnis, Miss Annie L. Morton, Mr. F. D. Duncan, Dr. R. J. Slay, Mary Cameron Dixon, and Sarah McKenzie talked to the freshmen and transfer students on different phases of college life. After lunch the students reassembled in the Wright auditorium for more group singing led by Dr. Gilbert. After some announcements by Dr. Slay, the students were divided into departmental groups for conferences with their various advisers who suggested courses for the fall quarter and answered any questions rising in the minds of the group. After dinner there was another general assembly at which Mary Cameron Dixon introduced the major student officers and dormitory officers. An "Open House", sponsored by the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. organizations followed these introductions.

Registration for the freshmen transfers was held on Wednesday morning. Upper classmen aided the students in filling out cards and schedules. Students entering from other colleges were met and counseled in the auditorium of the new classroom building by Miss Ola Ross and Miss Louise Williams. After lunch the students were given information on the laundry service. In the evening the customs and routines of the various organizations were presented.

Sarah McKenzie spoke for the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Morton spoke on college customs; Mary C. Dixon explained college rules and regulations; Chief Marshal Elizabeth Temple spoke on conduct at entertainments; and Dr. H. C. Haynes in the use of the college post office.

After a meeting with Dr. F. P. Brooks in Austin auditorium Thursday morning, the students attended a complimentary motion picture at the Pitt Theatre. In the afternoon the students were instructed on the use of the library. At 7:30 p. m. a free movie was given in Austin auditorium.

After enjoying such a thorough program for orientating the new students to their new home at ECTC, they are bound to be prepared for the happy years ahead of them here.

Two sailors, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, a crack duo piano team, play four-handed arrangements of the classics. They have appeared in hundreds of Navy variety shows and have been heard over the radio in many programs.

The American Troubadours sing all kinds of popular music from folk tunes to boogie-woogie. Four top-flight singers and a guitarist-pianist give a program "as American as a barbershop quartet or a fiddler's breakdown."

The National Classic Theatre will present on the campus at a date to be announced later either "Romeo and Juliet" or "Twelfth Night." A sixth number is yet to be added to the series of programs.

Dr. E. R. Browning Teaching in England

Dr. Elmer R. Browning, is teaching accounting in Shrivensham American University England, to the men in service who are waiting to be sent home. He left for Shrivensham, England of July 6, and has a leave of absence until March 1946 from his position here as head of the Commerce department.

The Entertainment Committee of the college has announced a series of programs for 1945-1946. The numbers are as follows:

Marina Svetlova, Metropolitan Opera prima ballerina, and a group of dancers, October 27

Zino Francescatti, violinist, November 30

Whittemore And Lowe, duo-pianists, March 1

American Troubadours, singing American music, spring

National Classic Theatre, in a Shakespearean play, date to be arranged

A Sixth Number, to be announced later

This series including everything from Shakespearean and classic music to bogie-wogie should please the large group of students and patrons of the college who are expected to attend.

Marina Svetlova, prima ballerina of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is the star of the first performance here in the Wright Auditorium on October 27 at 8:00 p. m. Now in her early twenties, she has already danced with such organizations as the Ballet Russe de Paris and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. A widely traveled artist, she has appeared in Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam, Milan, London, Melbourne, and in many cities of the United States.

She might have been an aviatrix, had she observed the wishes of her father, a famous Russian ace of World War I. Instead she chose the ballet and has become one of the most celebrated dancers of her time.

Her partner Alexis Dolinoff, leading male dancer of the Metropolitan, has been almost everything in his day — a farmer, a lumberjack, a racing car driver, a motor cycle photographer with the Associated Press, a movie actor, and solo dancer with the late great Anna Pavlova. Russian born, he has made appearances in Europe, Africa, Australia, and Asia with famous dance groups, and has had a distinguished career in this country.

Elena Imaz, who will appear on the same program as Svetlova and Dolinoff, is a native of Argentina, and both a ballet dancer and an interpreter of Spanish dances. It is in the latter that she will appear here.

Theodor Haig, widely known through his broadcast recitals from the New York World's Fair in 1940, is the fourth member of the group. He will give a number of piano solos during the evening.

The second number of the program is a concert by Zino Francescatti, famous violinist, who has appeared with every major orchestra in this country.

Two sailors, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, a crack duo piano team, play four-handed arrangements of the classics. They have appeared in hundreds of Navy variety shows and have been heard over the radio in many programs.

The American Troubadours sing all kinds of popular music from folk tunes to boogie-woogie. Four top-flight singers and a guitarist-pianist give a program "as American as a barbershop quartet or a fiddler's breakdown."

TECO ECHO Policies Of The

The policy of the Teco Echo has and will be progressiveness. Looking back, except to profit by others' mistakes, often proves fatal and fatality is ruination.

It is said that unfavorable publicity in the past has harmed E. C. T. C. It is the opinion of the staff of this paper that true publicity never harms society.

News will be printed as is the fact and all students are urged to express their desires and opinions to the staff.

Student Ideals Aired In Assembly

You students who attended assembly last Tuesday heard a good many fine ideas set forth. No doubt you recognized the merit and intrinsic truth in each plea from some of the seasoned students whose experience has taught them what they tried to pass along to the rest of us.

Attending Chapel: scholarship—that good feeling of work well done—all were worth much thought. But let's take that third element, school spirit, and think about that a while.

E. C. T. C. is an institution doing a noble work in sending forth teachers and trainers of our rising citizens. Everybody and everything connected with it should help work for that objective.

Freshmen Are Welcome At Our School

ATTENTION FRESHMEN! East Carolina Teachers College welcomes you to our campus, for we are glad to have as a member of our student body.

College is a great change for most of you and you will encounter new things and make many new friends during your college career.

Watch your competition for it will be keen. Take advantage of opportunities at hand and profit by them. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose through diligent work and the right attitudes toward your classmates and advisers.

Eager Elmer

By Elaine Welch

Now that "Aggie" has left this column, and above all, left it to me with the impression it is an etiquette column, and my knowing so little on etiquette (and I'm not majoring in the stuff), I hardly know how to begin writing.

Seems 't me that 'most all of us know not to ask for invitations for ourselves under any circumstances for if you're wanted, you'll be asked.

Really, I seem to be telling you things that you already must know, but it is fun to sit here and peck out a few things on this typewriter to kill time, since it's been ages since I last touched the beloved keys.

Maybe next time I'll know a little more to tell you. Hope so, don't you?

Scumming

By The Keyhole Korrespondent

The Keyhole Korrespondent has been peering thro' quite a few keyholes since spring and has a lot of territory to cover, so lets get in the groove and hear a little gossip.

Looks good to see all the boys coming back to ole E. C. T. C. after being away for so long. We hope they'll be here for quite a while, too.

All the girls have their eyes and ears open to see who Dave Owens will start dating. Watch it Dave . . . remember "Dave and Babe" is quite a combination.

Doug Jones seems to be latest sensation on campus . . . just watch the girls swoon when he walks by, especially Helen V.

Helen (Sykes), can't you keep your men straight? Two in one week-end is quite a deal . . . cute girl!

Now that Troy is back, we wonder when the big day will be for he and Fish . . . (Sigh!)

Speaking about the big day . . . we know Frances Moore is glad "Slim" is out of the service. What do you say, Frances? It seems that the president of the Senior class goes for "Rabbits"—how 'bout it, Katie?

Suzie, have you gone in for platinum blondes as well as "Crew-cuts"? Wonder which one will take the place of Beverly? . . . by the way, where is he now?

Dixie, can't you and your good looking Lt. find a place the faculty members can't? Or maybe you all have the same taste . . . (?) Iris, that sparkler is 'bout to put our eyes out, and your Lt. is 'bout to take our hearts away . . . what will we do for eyes and hearts? . . . good luck!

Seems good to see Kat and Billie, and Margaret and Mitchell all together again. Must be the real thing. . . . By the way, Skinner and Margie aren't losing any time.

Also, John and Irma, and Bob and Mary G. are still together. Mary G., your last birthday was awfully lucky in the way of sparklers . . . 'sho is pretty!

Nickie Alston doesn't waste much time at the campus building when it comes to sailors, especially red heads.

Nora Lee and Allan make a cute couple, but why not give the rest of us a break, Allan?

Garland, you're giving all the girls a fit . . . can't you make up your mind or does the Wilmington girl still rate tops.

Jeanne, it seems you go for the name "Charles". Wonder which one will be the lucky one? And by the way, where is

Student Spotlight

By Bobbie Parrish

The first spotlight of a new school year shines its beam on a popular senior from Snow Hill. She is Jerry Albritton, a brown-eyed blonde who graces Cotten Hall when not engaged in various campus activities.

As an ECTC freshman Jerry served on the student council and WAA cabinet, while in her sophomore year she was in charge of bicycles for the WAA. Jerry explains that if the WAA seems to predominate in her conversation, it may be because she likes all sports—especially basketball—and has physical education for her minor.

Mention food and Jerry's eyes light up. Mention "dill pickles, fried chicken or anything chocolate"—and they really light up. Say Glenn Miller, and they fairly kindle.

BUT mention Charlie and THEY SHOOT, SPARKS! And speaking of sparks, have you noticed any on Jerry's third finger, left hand?

"That's no accident," she insists. "It's the (Charlie again) McCoy. Incidentally, adding one more is my real ambition. College, especially dear ole ECTC, is a fine institution. But marriage . . . well you know the rest!"

Bits o' Fashion

By Mary Sue Moore

School bells . . . school bells! Yes, the campus cavalcade begins again, a cavalcade of smart school fashions . . .

There's a softer, more rounded look to the fashion picture for Fall '45. It's very becoming; have you noticed? For instance . . . the new Winged Sleeves seen in McCall 6266. Our happy model accents those deep-cut sleeves by the use of fabric contrast—the new cherry red for the sleeves and rolled collar, and grey flannel for the dress.

The Campus Crowd spends a daily dozen on good-looks. Gone are the days of the Sloppy Joe. Instead, campus queen tucks her sweaters into her pleated skirt, adds a belt of natural leather with p'rhaps a big gold dangle disk and wears neat loafers.

A school girl carries out the Neat look with her hair-do. For classes and sports she tucks her hair into braids and fastens them a-top her head. There's drama to such a hair-style when she twines bright ribbons through the braids, or dates she brushes her shining tresses into a smooth page-boy.

There's more emphasis on the MIX than the MATCH, these days, so every campus wardrobe must have extra jackets . . . a cardigan blazer in white wool, and skirts . . . a dirndl of gray shepherd checks. And don't forget a boy's shirt to wear with skirts and slacks.

Yes . . . it's school time again, the cavalcade of fashions will ring merry school belies for smart deb's who can create their own school fashions. McCall School Service

Charles W.?

Jessie Howard is back in Greenville and seems to like Cotten Hall pretty well. How 'bout it Beth?

Violet and Myree, looks like Wesley can't make up his mind.

It must be the thing with James and Margaret. After all summer apart they're still going strong.

Raymond, it seems that other girls on campus think you're cute besides Alta Earl.

Kat Lawyer seems to be the new jettibug (?) queen of the campus building. How 'bout it, boys?

Could that be Grigg's ring that Dot H. is wearing? Looks like the real thing to us.

Cora, which is it . . . Larry or Shortie? Jerry, why haven't you been able to study lately? It couldn't be because Charlie is coming could it?

Elna and Woody make quite a cute couple on campus. Wish there were more like him!

By the way, Edna Van, you'd better keep an eye on Joe . . . he seems to be on the loose.

Mary Young, that watch that Nick sent you is quite the thing . . . we all wish we had birthdays like that, and we do hope that when Nicks comes back he won't get June and Mary Young mixed up—they look so much alike . . . cute girls.

Suzie, you can invite your brother up any time you wish. He 'sho is cute!

Mary George, why do you treat civilian red-heads so bad? It couldn't be because of the Navy could it?

Wonder why all the girls have taken Math 154 under Brown. Couldn't be because of the uniform could it?

Buddie Dixon can't seem to make up his mind between Trudy and Mimi. Anyway, we wish him good luck in the army!

Lucile, why the gloom? "Client" won't be gone forever.

"Chief" Adams takes to the name Frances. We wonder which one it will be. Abbey can't make up his mind between Bobbie and Dot. We're waiting to see what becomes of it.

Seems awfully good to Claude, Hayward, and Donnie back. Wish they could come more often. What about it Polly, Colleen, and Hennie? By the way, Colleen, where is Sammy now?

Helen Cameron seems to have quite a string, but we hear that Charles from Snow Hill is tops.

Nobles and Esther seem to be hitting it off pretty good these days.

There's plenty of competition this year for upper-classmen with all these cute freshmen . . . namely . . . Helen Sykes and Cameron, Eula, "Shag", Freddie, "Shortie", Nancy, June, Sophia, and oodles of others.

Guess the Wilson Hall 'girls are lone-some now that there aren't any Marine Lts. around.

Little Nancy Wilson seems to be getting off to a good start, especially with Leon.

We hear through the leaves that Mary Humphrey is keeping an eye on Baine Moyer.

Ann D., you'd better hang on to that man of yours, we think he's mighty cute.

Sue Pitt, we hear there's a certain one in Wilson, N. C. that you're quite interested in; think his name is Toby. Cute girl, boys.

There are a lot of cute freshmen boys that the girls are just dying to date . . . such as . . . Ray Hardy, John Heath, Bobbie Smith, "Rabbit", and Ray Harrison. Boys, why don't you see what can be done about this?

Freda, could the dentist you went to see last week-end be Dr. Clyde Lloyd.

Well, there's oodles more gossip and love affairs that could be mentioned, but we'll leave that 'till next week.

The Womens Athletic Association held its first cabinet meeting on Monday, October 8, in Miss Stalling's office in the Wright building. Plans were made to keep the equipment room open every afternoon from 4:00 until 5:30 o'clock so that members may get equipment for sports in which they wish to participate. Plans were also made to start intramural tournaments. At the present, soccer lead-up games are being played to get in practice for the soccer tournaments to take place soon. Volley ball and tennis tournaments will begin in a few weeks. These tournaments are to be played between members of the four dormitories. Come out to practice and help your dormitory win!

Tennis Courts Set Again

After much grass pulling, dragging and rolling, we have finally lined off six tennis courts below the training school. Those who are brave enough to battle the sand spurs enroute, are invited to come down and enjoy a few sets before cold weather.

Former Tennis Star Will Return to Campus

Doug Jones, number one man of E. C. T. C.'s 1942 tennis team has indicated that he will reenroll in school after Christmas. Doug, recently released from the Army Air Corps, has been out on the local courts for the past few days proving that he has the ole touch left as Lion and the Parker boys will heartily agree. It is hood to that some high class sports are returned to the campus and should you care to witness some expert tennis take a gander of these boys in action.

Rambling In Sports

Herschel Gregg, freshman, played football for Thomasville High—also wrestled and boxed for Tottle and Burlington High back when these schools were big time in these events. The spotlight of his activities focused on the N. C. Inter-schoolastic Wrestling Tournament held at Chapel Hill where he came out third in the 135 pound class. Joe Williams back from the Pacific War was among our best football backs in '40, '41, '42. He figures to be in top shape for the 1946 football team which we hope to have. Keith Hudson, member of our 1942 tennis team was on campus last week and intends to return to school upon his release as a B-29 Pilot.

Everett Hudson, former football center hopes to be in school by Winter Quarter, said he was flying C-46's double time "Over the Humps" to finish up his required number of flying hours in the A. T. C. Bill Green and Jerome Butler, football end and tackle respectively, ran a few plays of their own when they ran into each other off the coast of China. Greshman Mann of Mantco had an uncle who figured in sports here a couple years back.

E. C. T. C. To Reenter Inter-collegiate Sports
From all indications and with the full backing of the college officials, it appears that with the basketball season we will again hit the hardwood against some of our former rivals. I understand that E. C. T. C. has already been approached for a few games. As yet a coach has not been acquired, but don't be surprised if one of our sports loving faculty members turns up as the helmsman. With the Parker boys, Moye, Charlton and several new members as likely prospects, E. C. T. C. should start a good climb back toward an excellent college sport program.

No Coach Yet

It seems that we will not have a coach for sometime yet even though the school is in a diligent search for a man who will fit the college's need. However, there are a few ones in the fire which could turn into a reality. Prospects which seem pretty good are: a coach now located at V. P. I. in Virginia. A coach from West Virginia who coached the north squad in the 1944 North-South High school championship football game, plus several men in North Carolina who might handle the job. May I agree with those who are responsible in choosing a coach. It is better to suffer without one for a little while than suffer with a poor one for a long time.

FRESHMAN REGISTRATION SCENE

"Mama! I want my Mama," wailed the freshman on registration day as she wandered aimlessly about holding a brown envelope full of various and sundry cards. Everything is so strange. Where could that other girl from home be? Why in the world doesn't one see me? Who are all these girls who look like they are as puzzled as I am? These are some of the questions that flashed through her mind.

"Oh! There is a girl sitting under a sign which says 'Information'. Maybe she can tell me what to do, she thought. Shyly she advanced, but 'Miss Information' was talking to some one about extra hours. 'What are they?'"

At this point she was about to burst into tears when a voice from behind said, "May I help you?"

"Please," the little girl said weakly, but excitedly, and as she turned she stared up at a boy who was wearing an ECTC ribbon. "Are you an upper-classman?" she asked.

"A senior," was the reply. "What do you want to major in?"

Upon finding that the freshman wanted to be an English-Commerce major, it was easy for the Senior-English major to help her make out her schedule. After having filled out all of the cards and gotten the signatures of her advisers and teachers, she suddenly looked around and realized that the boy had a blue card! Her heart missed a beat as she thought of having to do it all over again. She found out that boys had blue cards and then, everything was all right.

"What do I do now?" she asked as she turned to look for her upper-classman, but he was gone. She wandered around aimlessly for a few minutes and finally saw him sitting at the table where she had gotten her cards. After asking him many questions she finished registering and was on her way back to her room clutching the brown envelope and her class schedule in her hand. She would always remember those teachers who sat behind long tables, peering over horn rimmed spectacles, especially the one who had taken her cards to be filed, and the man with the little mustache, who had sneered at her when he saw that she had left the date off one of the cards.

When she reached her room and sat down on the bed and began to read what was written on the envelope she held in her hand. "Jimmie!" she exclaimed. "If I had read this I would have known just what to do all the time!"

That night she knelt beside her little bed to say her prayers, and in addition to what she had been taught at home, said, "Thank you, God, for upperclassmen — they know everything!"

Methodists Hold Annual Retreat At Mimosa Shores

The annual Fall retreat of the Wesley Foundation was held September 21-23, at the Jordan cottage "Mimosa Shores" near Washington, North Carolina. This retreat gave the Council of the Wesley Foundation, one of the liveliest organizations on the campus, a good start toward a successful year.

The highlight of the organization was a "Big Party" given for all Methodist students — freshmen as honored guests — on Thursday night, October 4, at the Jarvis Memorial Church, from 8:00-10:00, by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The party was planned by the Recreation Commission, Caroline Andrews, Chairman. Games were led by Rosa Alice Lancaster, Evelyn Grant, Helen Rouse, and Dorothy Lewis, students who served on Youth Caravans last summer. Their recreational leadership showed results of proper training.

Wesley Foundation Treats Freshmen

Whew! What a week! That's what the Freshmen were saying. Freshmen Orientation is always a "hurry-scurry" time and this one was no exception. They hurried from one meeting to another and didn't have time to ask help from the upper classmen—except of course to locate different buildings, until registration day.

On this day the Wesley Foundation Council members were on hand and after they had helped Freshmen register, they invited them to the Student Center. There they were introduced to their Counsellor, Mamie Chandler, were served punch, and had a glimpse of real Wesley Foundation fellowship.

Initiations Make Pledges Do Crazy Stunts On ECTC Campus

The campus was swarming with all sorts of odd looking creatures dressed in ridiculous costumes. These were the new members who were being initiated into the Poe, Emerson, and Laniers Societies. During their two-day initiation a lot of excitement and amusement was created.

Preliminary meetings of the three Societies were held to introduce the new members and give them their instructions for initiation. Although these instructions differed among each Society, these were similarities.

One outstanding feature of the initiation was the wearing of the traditional colors to distinguish one Society from another. Red and white symbolized the Poes; blue and white the Emersons; and yellow and green stood for the Laniers.

Some of the Societies had certain little practices that have been handed down from year to year until they have become an accepted procedure. For instance, little Poes wearing a white cat were required to kneel every time they met an old Poe with a black cat on and repeat these lines: "Oh worthy Poe I am but a meek and lowly worm."

One big advantage that the old members had over the new ones was their power to give commands which had to be obeyed. Although this rule was unpopular to new members, it sometimes led to amusing and strange consequences.

Because of the old members' authority, many curious and comical Army personnel at Cambridge, England.

Fleming served as a volunteer lecturer for World Federation during 1940-41. He lectured to British units in East Africa, England and on "Brain Trusts" in England in collaboration with Major Hancox, British educator, during 1943-44.

From 1943-45, Fleming served as a French-English translator interpreter with the Intelligence Branch of Office of the Chief of Transportation, U. S. Army.

In addition to frequent trips in the Eastern states, and ocean voyages from New York to Louisiana and from New York to California via the Panama Canal, he crossed the Atlantic several times visiting the European countries. He has spent approximately one year in England and seven in France.

events occurred. In that manner many boys received proposals, kisses, and love letters from girls they had never seen before. It was nothing unusual to see girls cleaning rooms, polishing shoes, and running errands for old members.

If these ideas seem a little bit far-fetched, perhaps we should compare them with initiations of other years. We don't have to dig back into history but a few years to find girls climbing light poles on the campus.

Besides being practically under the dictatorship of the old members, new ones were required to dress in peculiar costumes, ribbons, signs on back, no make-up, and fantastic hairdos characterized most new members. In fact, some girls looked very freakish with their clothes wrong, side out and elaborate jewelry dangling about them. In such a disguise, they might have been mistaken for girls who had just stepped out of the side show of a country fair.

Most girls were compelled to take around pictures of their boy friends. Even at the dinner table, it was hard to find room for the food because the large 8 by 10 pictures of Tom, Dick, and Harry took up all the space.

Initiations were climaxed with a dance at the Campus building Saturday night with all members attending. It was hard for new members to conceal their delight when they could once more dress decently again.
