

Pirates Meet Campbell Here Tonight, First Home Game

Pirates First Game Taken By Kinston Marines

The ECTC Pirates traveled to Kinston December 5 to open their 1945-46 basketball schedule. The game proved to be quite an exciting affair and only in the last second of a five minute overtime period was Kinston able to clinch a victory over the local boys.

The floor was as slick as ice and all of the players had difficulty in staying on their feet. The Marines began to show their prowess in a field goal game. The Buccaneers played very steadily but could not lead during the first half. Jones seemed to be the only one who could get started and he dropped a few shots and a foul shot for one point. The second half was a different story however; the ECTC boys began to show that they were superior to the Marines. They tied the count when only a few minutes had passed at 33 all. From here on out the game was an exciting thing to watch. One team would forge in the lead one minute, only to have the other take the lead away from them. As the final whistle blew, the score was 41 to 41. It was decided that there would be a five minute extra period. This is when the Marines battled it out. Each team gained the lead and in the final minute of play, Lupton tied the count at 47 up. As the crowd went wild, the Marines took the ball down the floor with only 30 seconds to go. Three shots failed to bring a score. Then in the last few seconds of play, Big Moyer of the Marines spins and drops one thru the basket. As the ball hit the net, the final whistle was blown.

Whitlock of the Marines proved to be the answer by dropping in 23 of his team's 41 points. Our own James Parker was second high with 18 points. Jess Parker and Doug Jones had 9 points apiece. Little Blaine Moyer was the defensive star of the game and repeatedly gained possession of the ball for the Pirates.

Parkers Elected As Co-Captains

James and Jesse Parker, the boys you will see plenty of, on the basketball floor this year have been elected to act as co-captains of the 1946 basketball team.

The Parkers hail from George, North Carolina and are known for their basketball ability. They are transfers from Guilford College, Guilford, N. C. and played ball for that school before coming to ECTC. The two boys played for the independent ball team that originated on the campus in 1945. They are the only two senior members of the squad, and it has been decided that they will alternate as acting captains.

1945-46 Cage Schedule No Crip For ECTC Pirates

If you can go by early season scores, you can rest assured that East Carolina Teachers College did not make a crip schedule for this year. Many of the Pirates' opponents have already racked up some very impressive wins for the season.

- The Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs trounced the Richlands town basketball team, 47-21. Their star J. D. Thorne led the Bulldogs in scoring. They also have a win over the strong Rocky Mount YMCA Club. Following is the ACC post-Christmas basketball schedule.

The Eton Cagers won their first game by defeating the Flying Safety Club of Winston-Salem by a 35-31 score. Eton has a center from Burlington who stands at 6 feet five inches.

Greensboro ORD could very easily prove to be our stiffest competition if their game with Wake Forest shows their strength. They came out on top of Wake Forest 70-23. They later lost to Camp Lejeune 55-44. Lejeune is also one of our opponents and has stars from Ride and Notre Dame on their team. Poja and Taylor of the Greensboro ORD hail from Marquette and Ohio State respectively.

Lenoir Rhyne split 50-50 in their two games series with the Hanes Hosiery team of Winston-Salem. They lost the first game in Winston-Salem but beat the Hanes' team on their home ground.

The High Point College team also broke even in their first two games. They handed the Flying Safety team of Winston-Salem a defeat and a few nights later, they suffered a defeat from the strong McCray team of Asheboro.

Guilford College lost their first game of the 1945 season, also to the McCray outfit. The score being 76-40.

The Kinston Marines, after enjoying wins over her first two opponents, including ECTC lost a thrilling 32-41 game to the Camp Mackall Paratroopers last week. Big Whitlock was their scoring ace with 9 points. The ECTC Pirates play the Marines January 4. The game will be in the Wright Building.

Question Box

by Kenneth Frazille

There has been a considerable amount of argument throughout the year on the subject of compulsory physical education. The question, "Should participation in some form of physical education be compulsory to all able bodied students?" has been asked of several students as well as members of the faculty. There are always two sides to a question and here are some pretty good points from both.

Ruffin Manning: "Of course not I do think that a person needs some exercise each day, but he should be his own judge as to the amount and kind. If a student participates in some form of Physical Education that requires him to be away from his studies such as basketball it is very likely to cause him to miss out on preparing his assignments. I may be a little one sided in my opinion but I don't think physical education should be compulsory."

Garlan Bailey: "Sure, every one who is physically able should be compelled to take some activity course if they won't take it without it being forced upon them. It has been proven time and time again in the last few years that a person must have a certain amount of exercises if they expect to get the best work from their mind and body."

Gene Boston: "No, I don't think sports should be compulsory. Sports are great and to get the enjoyment and pleasure out of them, they shouldn't be enforced. If a person doesn't want to take part in sports but is made to, he often takes the enjoyment out of the game for others. Every opportunity to take part in sports is offered on campus without making them compulsory."

Helen Owens: "No, I don't think Physical Education should be compulsory because everyone is required to take 16 quarter hours and I do think the one quarter hour should be deleted to what you would like to take. Either a physical education course or a one hour English course. Another reason is that some people just cannot play some certain sports."

Herman Eckhoff: "Yes I think every boy and girl eligible to take part in our physical education program should do so. By taking part this insures our minimum exercise which is so valuable to our health. Not only for the asset from the health standpoint but also for the pleasure one acquires in many games and activities. Another important reason that Physical Education should be compulsory is the fact that indulging in physical education activities will take the mind off your studies temporarily and will give you the recreation that will enable you to persevere."

Jarvis Defeats Cotten Hall In Volley Ball

Jarvis Hall defeated a stubborn volley ball team from Cotten Hall last week 37 to 34. Cotten turned out in mass and had 13 players to help their cause. The first half was a little slow, but in the last stanza, things started happening. Cotten, behind 15 to 22 started an upward climb and finally tied the count. The lead saw-sawed for a few minutes before Jarvis again pulled out in front. The Cotten players made a gallant try to win but the sure shot blows of Jean Roundtree proved too much for the losers. Roundtree ended up as high scorer with 13 points to her credit. Beacham and Stallings were also offensive stars for Jarvis with 7 and 6 points respectively. Doris Stevens, Ulma Smith, Rose Hardison, and Frances Peele accounted for many of the Cotten points. Half time score Cotten 15; Jarvis 22.

Cotten—34—U. Smith, 4; D. Smith, 3; Albritten, 3; Stevens, 5; Robinson, 0; Hardison, 6; Edwards, 1; Douglas, 0; Sutton, 0; Peele, 4; Sawyer, 1; Bazemore, 3; Atkinson, 3.

Jarvis—37—Beacham, 7; Little, 3; Roundtree, 13; Stallings, 6; Herring, 2; Warren, 2; Bass, 4; Modlin, 0.

your studies with your mind well refreshed. Our physical education courses aid so directly that they do not over-tire the participants by exceeding their abilities. I am strictly on the affirmative side."

Miss Stallings: "The through values of Physical Education are rather hard to spot, unless one considers the streamlined figure trimmed down by physical activity. Values from physical education range from increased organic power to relief of nervous tension and finally to the joy of "playing the game." Unfortunately passive recreation (movies, radio), and such require less effort and in return give less to the individuals but such recreation predominates on campus. Through required Physical Education maybe the habit of participating in physical education activities will become a part of the daily schedule of each student."

Mr. Hankner: "Our answer of course is obvious. One hour every day of some type of physical exercise is considered a minimum for the average normal adult to maintain buoyant health. In order to meet his biological, physiological, psychological and sociological needs, every normal person should learn several physical recreational skills, at least one for each season of the year. Swimming, golf, tennis, badminton, bowling, volley ball, dancing, softball, hiking, fishing and hunting are a few examples of the ones that would be more worthwhile from the standpoint of carry-over activities for adult-hood."

Dinkel Sports Research Service Recognizes ECTC

Dinkel Sports Research Service is to carry ECTC's basketball schedule and the Pirates will be rated along with all the other colleges and universities whose scores are carried by A. P. and U. P. The basketball floor over at Kinston could have been used for ice hockey as well as basketball; the players of both teams were on the floor about as much as off it. Only by careful playing, did they prevent some serious injury. Never do I expect to see a more exciting basketball game than was played at the Kinston A. B. ECTC had a basketball game with the Jamesville All stars last Tuesday night but it was canceled because of the flu epidemic. The game with Campbell College which is to be played in the Wright Building tonight liked to have been played in Buies Creek for the same reason. Another Moyer will be added to our basketball squad after Christmas. There will be two veteran athletes from Lexington, N. C. enrolled here next quarter. A few of our Freshman boys are sweating out the roll call of the United States. We have a freshman boy on campus who has taken tennis lessons from one of the best professionals in the country.

Bill Shelton Big ECTC Star To Marry

Major Bill Shelton, one of the greatest athletes that ECTC has ever produced will be married in Greenville, December 22.

Shelton, while a student here in 1937-38-39 played and starred in the three major sports being played. He starred as tailback of the Pirate football team. In 1938 he topped our Coach Smitty by outscoring him in basketball. Baseball was no exception and he starred in the field and at the bat.

Major Shelton entered the Army Air Forces early in the war as a pilot and he has seen service in near-

Champion Marines Here January 4

The ECTC Pirates will be out to avenge the early season defeat from the Marine Tigercats as they collide here January 4 in the Wright building. The Marines will bring a host of experienced champions to Greenville. The five first stringers of the Air Base team are veterans of many years of basketball warfare.

Center D'Acouta of Utica, N. Y., was a member of the all city champions while he was with New York University. Forward Ralph Curran was a member of New York State High School all star team for two years and scored a total of 236 points during his senior year. Forward Paul Grover of West Middlesex, Pa., was named tenth in Penn. all District Championship selection and scored 219 points during his last year in school. Evan, a guard, did his playing with a Marine Service team in Casablanca, Africa. The Marines star who proved to be the down fall of ECTC is James Whitlock of Lexington, Ky. He has proved to be the Tigercats' most versatile player. He had three years of experience in top Kentucky play before joining the Marines.

December 22 will see in Greenville many of the former athletes from our school who will be here to take an active part in the wedding.

Following the end of the war and the end of gasoline rationing, the general interest in sports took an amazing up swing. Notre Dame's visit to New Orleans to play Tulane set a new Southern regular season mark of 65000. Duke ranked second to Tulane in average attendance per game.

The ECTC Buccaneers will open their home basketball schedule tonight against a strong Campbell quint. Little has been heard about the Campbell lads, but we can look for a good stiff game, because ECTC has always had trouble with the boys from Buies Creek.

The Pirates are pointing for a win for many personal reasons in this game. This will be their second start for the year and they will be striving for their first win of the season, having been defeated with a heart breaker last week. Coach "Smitty" wants the boys to take this one because this will be his first crack at the college where he started his college education. There are also many transfers at ECTC this year who claim Campbell as their former Alma Mater.

This is going to be a good game; so come out and give the Pirates your help by cheering them on. See Captains James and Jesse Parker throw their unbelievable hook shots through the basket. It is odd to see a ball hit the goal so often on such throws, but our boys know how it is done, and they make it pay off. Watch Scrappy Moyer steal the ball from the Campbell boys. This he did against the Kinston Marines and Kinston was comprised of a group of all stars. Joe Lupton has a knack of throwing the ball back over his head and finding the basket while doing it. Joe was the one who saw to it that ECTC stayed in the Kinston game during the extra time period. Big John Charlton does a wonderful job of carrying his size 13 shoes around and also does a good job of preventing our opponents from making accurate shots. The Buccaneers plays a good game of ball and every minute is interesting. Give them your support.

Starting Lineup for ECTC—
Moyer, Forward; Jesse Parker, forward; James Parker, Center; Lupton, Guard; Charlton, Guard.

CHAPTER REPORT Raleigh

The Raleigh Chapter of the East Carolina Teachers College Alumni Association met Tuesday evening, December 4, in a private dining room at the S & W Cafeteria. Miss Lessie Cogdell, president, presided. Dr. R. J. Slay, dean of the college, spoke on the college. He paid a tribute to the new faculty and discussed the changes in curriculum and the plans for a building program.

Mrs. Richard Coke (Inez Winfield) and Mrs. J. Y. Lassiter (Leola Pleasant) were in charge of the decorations for the dinner.

Mrs. J. C. Holland (Alla May Jordan) gave the invocation after which a three-course dinner was served.

Misses Peggy Parker, soloist, and Christine Kornegay, pianist, both students of Meredith College, rendered two musical selections.

A. B. Andrews, of Raleigh, member of the Board of Trustees of the college, discussed improvements which have been made at the school during recent years.

The meeting closed with group singing of the college song.

Greenville Alumni Dinner

The Greenville Chapter of the E. C. T. C. Alumni Association held its December meeting in the Parish House, Wednesday night, December 12th. After a welcome by Mrs. Edna Moore Loftin, president of the Chapter, a delicious three course turkey dinner was served.

The Christmas motif prevailed in the table decorations. The supper was served in candlelight and the table was decorated in red berries, ivy and red candles. Attractive place cards marked each place.

Mr. Sam Strickland was holder of the Lucky Number and received the surprise Christmas gift.

Mrs. Burt Greene pleased the audience with a solo, "Oh, Holy Night". An excerpt from "The Bird's Christmas Carol" and a modern version of "The Night Before Christmas" were read by Miss Ruth Modlin.

There was much gaiety with the playing of "Happy Caps", a game which was conducted by Mrs. Thornton Meeks. "Capsules" containing funny stories and sayings were distributed among the guest with the request that they "take" these capsules by reading each aloud.

"White Christmas" was sung by the group as a final number. Around 50 guest attended.

Three on the 22nd

It's quite a coincidence that three of our alumnae have chosen, Saturday, December 22 as their wedding day. Miss Cleon Brendle of Booneville will marry Mr. Gerald L. Waltrip in the Baptist Church of her home town. Miss Brendle has been teaching in Greensboro for the past few years.

On the same day, Miss Tommie Lou Corbett and Mr. Julian Lee Wright will be united in the Gatesville Baptist Church. Miss Corbett, who received her M. A. degree in August 1945, has been a member of the Business faculty of the College during the fall quarter. She will resume her work after the Christmas vacation.

Miss Lillian Cobb Abec and Major William M. Shelton, both alumni of the College, will be married in the Memorial Baptist Church in Greenville. Miss Abec has been teaching in Warrenton for the last two years. Major Shelton was an instructor of physical education in Wilson before entering the army. He is the recipient of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, and Four Oak Leaf Clusters.

Jarvis Forensic Discusses Plans For Radio Program

The Jarvis Forensic Club held its regular meeting December 6. All members of the club participated in the discussion of a radio program, and the debating question for 1946.

Following the discussion there was a short program presented by members of the club. Miss Elizabeth Thomas read "I Hear America Singing" by Walt Whitman. Miss Judy Bray read "The Beauty of the World" by William Brightly Rands, and Miss Christine Yarborough gave an interpretation of "The Art of Blowing Out a Candle".

Wesley Foundation Center Is Moved

How many of you have moved your home from one house to another? Everyone who has knows what we mean when we say it is a job and a big one. Before every thing is settled in its new surroundings, you will have the headache, backache, legache and every other possible ache. In spite of a patient of influenza and other intervening difficulties, Miss Chandler, with the help of a few students has moved the Methodist Student Center from 409 Holly Street to 500 East 5th Street.

Things are beginning to look like home once more. Those of you who haven't visited the new Center, save your steps and stop at the corner in time of turning it.

of 166 members from many American colleges and universities offers 358 courses. Physical training is compulsory for all; otherwise the soldier-student may choose as he wishes, provided he has an adequate educational background. This freedom, according to Dr. Browning, is "both a surprise and joy to the boys."

Equipment at Shrivenham American University is good. The laboratories rival the best in this country. Dr. Browning wrote home, however, for rulers, paper clips, crasers, and pencils. The school has its own newspaper and radio station.

What are soldiers like as students? Dr. Browning says that he lacks adjectives to convey his enthusiasm. "Soldiers," he states, "are well-disciplined workers and do not lack the qualities of dependability, courtesy, patience, and determination. The boys are mature in years and, therefore, serious-minded in their purposes. They are straightforward in their expression of likes and dislikes and have made up their minds about many things that elude younger college students. Their range of ability above average since in many instances the army experience has helped them discover unknown traits and abilities."

Social life at Shrivenham seems only slightly different from that on any of our college campuses. Dr. Browning has been entertained at the homes of English friends, and tea at the vicar's seems to be part of the visiting professor's schedule. There are dances and a post theatre. A reception given at Oxford to faculty members of Shrivenham is a memorable experience, states Dr. Browning.

England has much to offer the visiting professor. "A good company," Dr. Browning says, "playing a series of eight of Shakespeare's plays at the Memorial Theatre (in Stratford-on-Avon) is good entertainment, even for a commerce teacher." Trips to Scotland and to such interesting places in England as Stoke Poges, scene of Gray's famous "Elegy," Windsor Castle, the Tower of London, Salgrave Manor, Salisbury Cathedral, and the Houses of Parliament make up part of Dr. Browning's interesting months abroad.

Soon Dr. Browning will go to France, where he will do work similar to that in England. He hopes to return to East Carolina Teachers College in time to take up his work in the commerce department here during the spring quarter.

Delegates Report From Methodist Racial Conference

On Friday, November 30 vesper was held over in the "Y" hut. The devotional was led by Doris King. The program which followed was talks given by the delegates who went to Duke of the Inter-racial Conference on Applied Christianity. The delegates to this conference were Rena Lowery, Alma Harrington, and Doris King.

The theme of the conference was "The Time Is Now." This means that we should do something about all the problems which face us today.

The aim of the conference was to apply the principles of Christianity to all problems of human relations. We believe that within the Christian ethic lies the answer to our problems and that students more than any other group have the freedom and power to make this application.

The conference has sent the following resolutions as passed. We recommend that you take individual

Leon R. Meadows became president. Mr. Wright also wrote feature stories for the News and Observer and several other state papers.

Mr. Wright was one of the first teachers in the College to introduce visual aids in teaching. He also introduced the idea of taking his classes to different institutions where the work was of interest, and pertained to that particular class.

Shortly before Christmas 1944, Mr. Wright opened an antique shop The Pickwick Shop on Fifth Street.

Mr. Wright was loved and greatly admired by the students of the College for his "get up and go" attitude

After the final session adjourned, the delegates were honored by a tea given at the Governor's Mansion.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—(I.P.)—Robert F. Edgar, on leave of absence from the University of Pittsburgh, has been named head of the faculty of engineering at the Shrivenham American University, England.

Under him are more than 50 teachers and some 500 American soldiers. They are taking eight-week courses in the following engineering fields: aeronautical, civil, mechanical, and sanitary.

He is one of four Pitt professors and 125 other civilian educators lent by American universities to the Army's Information and Education Division. "The university at Shrivenham, while an army project, attempts to be as much like a civilian university as possible," according to a release from headquarters.
