Students To Decide Fate Of E. C. T. C. Sports

by James Whitfield The future of a well-rounded athletic program at East Carolina Teachers College hinges on the vote of the student body at the next schedule mass meeting at which the student body will be given the opportunity to decide whether one dollar of the present six-dollar student activity fee will be spent for developing athletic programs.

At present the student activity fee is pro-rated among campus organizations and the entertainment committee. Fosters of a better athletic program for the college have pointed out that the proposal to spend part of the student activity fee for ahletics is not designed to take away financial support from any campus organization or to reduce the quality of the entertainments.

Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, acting president of the college, already has sanctioned such action if it meets the approval of the student body.

A move to procure one dollar of the student activity fee is under the sponsorship of The Veteran's Club, with leaders of various campus organizations lending support. The present appropriation is not regarded as adequate enough to take care of the fin-

I ask the question again, Why can't we be put on our honor and get rid of those students who cheat? Everyone knows it is going on but instead of punishing the of-

It may take time to put the system to work, but why not let each student pledge himself to be on his honor? This would help to get things started in the right direction. I know there are "bad eggs" in this school. Often there is money stolen and there are fountain pens, watches and the like that disappear from students' rooms. The "eggs" should be weeded out and crushed. Many students will cheat in schoolwork yet wouldn't steal material things from classmates. They wouldn't cheat if they only stopped to think.

Margaret is majoring in home economics and science. At the present, she is doing her practice teaching down at the high school. She says that her favorite pastime this quarter is living down at the high school, but really, just living for March 15 to hurry and come. When asked what her favorite past time was before she started practice teaching she told us that she just loved basketball, bowling, swimming and dancing. The song, "Til the End of Time", holds top place with her.

When asked about her love life, Margaret told us that she likes them all, but as yet, the one and only hasn't been discovered She may not have discovered the one and only, but we hear that she has several "Jims" and "Scotties" on the string, and too, it is sort of a mystery to us why she blushes every time anyone mentions Abel Warren's she has been treasurer of student cooperative council, vice-president of Poe Society, assist. ant adviser of Y. W. C. This year she was one of the sixteen students chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Margaret also got the senior ancial demands that a well-rounded athletic program entails.

James "Jim" Johnston of Raleigh, an alumni of the college, has been employed as full-time coach and will begin his coaching duties in the fall. Advocates of a better athletic program are eager to "get a fund set up now so the new coach will not be burdened with financial difficulties in the outset."

It was explained that better financial support for athletics will invite more boys to enter school here.

Honor System Greatly Needed At E. C. T. C.

The time has come when all good students should come to the aid of themselves. Why can the teachers of this college not return term papers and other materials compiled by students that may aid them in their work after graduation? The fact is that the teachers have learned the students. They can't return papers for the simple reason that they know they or some other teacher will receive the same papers again. This second use of papers is what is commonly called cheating and is frowned upon by modern society. There are many ways in which these papers could be used by the student

Explanation Of Food Problem

In the last issue of the paper there was an editorial (based on facts) about the food situation in the dining hall. The article was not meant to create any disturbance but literally it started "fireworks".

The editors and president of the student body were called to confer with Dr. Mc-Ginnis, Mr. Duncan and Mrs. Reeves. After a two hour conference the matter was still not fully understood. Prices of food, shortages, etc. were brought before the students which was not the idea of the article. What was really asked for by the editors was a written explanation to be published for the food served. The shortage and prices of food were known before the conference, that was stated in the editorial.

It has been asked by the editors for a written statement to the students, which has recognized that the payment of such a bonus would probably dislocate our economy and that they themselves would eventually suffer, as citizens, from this dislocation. AVC does not want veterans to become a class spart, vying with the rest of the nation for whatever crumbs of favoritism can be wheedled from charitable adminstrators and legislators. AVC wants its members, and all veterans, to achieve prosperity as citizens of a prosperuos nation.

To The Editor

To the editor:

This is my second attempt to write a ietter for the ECTC paper. One written two weeks ago was never received.

My purpose is to remind the students of a meeting held by the Greenville Alumni Chapter last November in which the chapter passed a resolution asking the Board of Trustees to restore freedom of speech, freedom of press and student government in fact to the students. The resolution also asked a fair hearing for the three discharged faculty members-M. L. Wright, Dr. E. L. Henderson and Dr. Herbert Rebarker.

This action was taken by the alumni, several members of whom were recent students, because they knew the situation on the campus nad the opinions of the student toward it. One of the principal requests in

Red Cross Still Needs Your Support, Do Your Part Now

Your Red Cross must carry on in peace as in war, because . . .

Servicemen and women still in uniform -those overseas with the armies of occupation, those yet to be discharged-continue to need Red Cross clubs, snack bars, and recreation centers, and the friendly assistance of understanding Red Cross workers.

Hospitalized servicemen and veterans need help to face the tedious hours of convalescence.

Disaster victims, the homeless of warravaged lands, and others in distress, need Red Cross help.

A sailor, convalescing form burns that seared his legs and arms as he elaped from his shattered, flame-licked ship, summed up the Red Cross appeal.

"The Red Cross has never let us down," he said. "In the hospital they said it was plasma that kept me alive. It was a Red Gross woman who wrote the folks about it and ty. told them not to worry. It was a Red Cross worker who helped my wife when the allot-

Wouldn't now be a good time for the students to back the Greenville chapter in this move for freedom among the students? Student elections are scheduled for February. Iy the dance gives or the thought of being Shouldn't the students demand right now the right to elect their own officers AND THEIR OWN FACULTY ADVISERS-a privilege granted even during Dr. Meadows' administration?

Wouldn't now be a good time for the students to demand that they be restored the right to gather in peaceful assembly in mass meetings without faculty permission and faculty supervision? Governor Broughton assured the students of the right to do this and to express opinions freely; I'm sure Governor Cherry would uphold this view.

With the return of a number of men to the campus with the reinstatement of several strong organizations such as the Varsity Club, Veterans Club and Athletic Association perhaps now is the moment for the students to demand STUDENT government and the return of freedom of press and speech.

I'm sure those students who have received letters telling them to correct their "attitude" and asking some of them not to leturn to the college would agree with me. So would those others who fear to be outspoken because they know they must have courses under certain members of the facul-

AVC Helps Make Veterans' Dreams Become Realities

Almost every day a few more of our servicemen come home, and many of them have expressed a desire to join a veterans' organization-not only to have a good time, but to make sure that some of the hopes they fought for become realities. This strikes us to what veterans have to say these days, and ex-servicemen can have an effective in-
