COOKE TAKES OVER THURSDAY

Welcome! Dr. Cooke

Dear Dr. Cooke:

On behalf of myself and the student body, I wish to extend to you a hearty welcome to our campus.

We of the student body are especially grateful that you have come to ECTC and are anxious to cooperate with you in any manner for the betterment of the name of our school. We hope for your sincere interest and cooperation concerning matters of student government.

Sincerely,

Fred H. Martin, President,
Student Cooperative Association

Dear Dr. Cooke:

For the members of the staff of the Teco Echo and on my own behalf, I wish to extend a most cordial welcome to you. We have looked forward to your coming to ECTC and are happy to greet you.

Our sincere hope is that through mutual cooperation and understanding we may work with you for the betterment of our college. We are ready, through the medium of the press, to back any such enterprise that might be undertaken.

Sincerely,

Joe Tew, Editor,
The Teco Echo

Fred Martin To Head Student Cooperative Govt.

Fred Martin of Asheville has been elected president of the Student Cooperative Council of the summer student body at ECTC to fill the unexpired term of Mary Buckmaster of Swansboro, who did not enroll for the second summer term.

Sophie Fishel of Vaughan was elected secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mary S. Wooten of Kinston. Elected to fill vacancies of members at large of the council were Donald Perry, Washington, N. C.; Clarke Stokes, Hertford, and Willie Warner, Thomasville.

Jones To Be New ECTC Postmaster

Doug Jones, a long time member of the ECTC set will assume the duties of postmaster for the college at the beginning of the fall quarter. John Charlton who has served us in that capacity for the past year is getting his BS degree at the end of the summer school and will resume his studies at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. In the new postmaster we have a person who is well known about campus and one who knows the students good enough to perform his duties with ease. Jones is now assisting Charlton in putting up the mail for the rest of the summer.

Unique Combination

Husband and wife combinations are not unusual in colleges and universities of the nation. But East Carolina Teachers College boasts a unique combination in its summer student body—mother and daughter.

Mrs. R. J. Flowers, of the class of 1920, is doing graduate work, and Pattie, her daughter and roommate, is a sophomore. Mrs. Flowers is a member of the Ghent elementary schools faculty in New Bern. Her husband is a construction inspector in New Bern.

ECTC Belle Chosen "Miss Greenville"

ECTC boasts a Queen. Miss Della Frances Perry, a day student who entered school during the current summer session, has been chosen Miss Greenville in the annual beauty contest sponsored by the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Della Frances, eighteen years old, height 5 ft. 8 in., weight 123, and with all accessories properly placed, was chosen from a number of contestants by a group of five judges.

"Miss Greenville" was honored with a beautiful bouquet of flowers and a lovely gold identification bracelet. To top everything, she is to spend a week at Carolina Beach with all expenses paid. She has received several calls at home requesting her sizes in wearing apparel so at the present time she is expectant of some things to come.

Della Frances will represent the Greenville at the state wide beauty contest to be held in Wilson, sometime in the near future. She is very excited and a little scared about the whole thing.

Best of luck, Della.

Press Association Convention Here

O. O. Phillips of Smithfield, secretary of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association, has announced that a two-day convention of the association would be held here in November. The exact date has not been set.

Sixty members of the association are expected to attend the convention. Facilities of the college will be made available to the visitors.

David J. Whichard, Jr., publisher of the Daily Reflector, Greenville, and Miss Mary Greene, director of the college news bureau during the academic year, are in charge of local arrangements.

Marriage has given woman her position of honor and respect. To preserve that position is essential. Like music, woman either exalts man or degrades him.

Kiwanis Club Provides Fund For Pitt Students

A trust fund to provide four years of training for two Pitt County high school graduates has been established by the Greenville Kiwanis Club, E. E. Rawl, Kiwanis president, has announced.

J. W. H. Roberts, Greenville attorney and judge of city recorder's court, who serves the Underprivileged Childrens Committee as chairman, said that the fund, not to exceed $1600 for each of the students, is county-wide and that applications may be submitted to the committee chairman, the club president, or to D. H. Conley, Superintendent of the Pitt County Schools.

D. C. Moore, Jr., secretary of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, said that $800 is available as the nucleus for another educational trust fund for the college. W. H. Woolard, president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, and Howard Moye, Greenville, have been designated as trust officers.

Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, acting president of East Carolina Teachers College, stated: "I am much pleased that the Kiwanis Club has established this fund for needy students to attend the college. I know of no other enterprise more worthy than this."

Proceeds from the trust fund have been obtained through the minstrel sponsored for several years by the Kiwanis Club. Part of the proceeds from the minstrel are used to help needy families at Christmas. The Kiwanis Club also has offered financial aid to public welfare cases during the year.

Whitfield Accepts Post in Raleigh

James Whitfield, who is director of the College News Bureau for the summer quarter, has accepted the position of editor of the state desk with the Raleigh "News and Observer." He will take over this new work upon his graduation in August.

This work of re-writing, editing, and head writing will be nothing new to James. He has done extensive work in the journalistic field for a number of years including the editorship of the Teco Echo, news editor of the Greenville News Leader, correspondent for the Raleigh News and Observer, the United Press, and papers in Norfolk, Virginia.

His new work will include the handling of news from all over North Carolina, and any news from elsewhere that pertains to North Carolina.

Jarvis Assumes Duties In Fall

Harry Jarvis will take over the duties as room clerk in Wilson Hall during the year of 1946-47. The job was held by John Charlton when the men's hall was in Ragsdale and during our summer stay at Wilson Hall.

Dr. McGinnis Will Serve As Registrar Of ECTC

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke

Dr. Dennis Hargrove Cooke, who has been associated with George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee, for the past 16 years, will assume his duties as president on August 1. Dr. Cooke said that no immediate changes in the administrative organization of the college will be forthcoming.

Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, who has served the institution as acting president since May 1, 1944, will resume former duties as registrar temporarily. This position has been filled by Dr. R. J. Slay, dean of the college. Dr. Slay will continue his duties as dean of the college a position created by the State Legislature at its 1945 session.

In a report to the Board of Trustees, Dr. McGinnis thanked the body for "the confidence manifested in asking me to assume these duties temporarily, and for the excellent support you have given me in their performance." He also complimented the faculty and staff for "their loyalty to me and for the sincere, intelligent efforts they have made to bring the college through a trying period."

Dr. Cooke's first official public appearance as president of the college will be on August 23 when he delivers the commencement address to the graduating class of the summer student body.

The new president is prominent in educational circles of the nation and has gained recognition through his life work as an educator and author. Books under his authorship include "Psychology of Arithmetic," "The Teaching Personnel," and "General School Administration."

Dr. Cooke is a member of the National Education Association, Psychology Association, Education Research Association, Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology, the Tennessee Education Association and the North Carolina Education Association. His fraternity membership includes Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa.

When he became president-elect, Dr. Cooke was chairman of the Department of Education Administration at Peabody College. He joined the faculty at Peabody College as an associate professor of education after receiving his doctorate from the institution in 1930. Later he became associated with the school of administration.

Dr. Cooke received the B. S. degree from Duke University in 1925, and the M. A. degree from the institution in 1928. He was a teacher fellow at Duke University in 1928-29, and a teaching fellow at Peabody College in 1929-30.

He was born in Maiden, North Carolina, on February 23, 1904, and served the elementary school in his community as principal in 1922-23. He was principal of the high school at Aberdeen, 1925-26, and held a principalship at Masonic High School, Oxford Orphanage, 1926-28.

Dr. and Mrs. Cooke will make their home on East Fifth Street in Greenville. They have two sons, Dennis H. Cooke, Jr., 17, and Murray, 15.

Deep River Boys Here Wednesday

The summer entertainment series will conclude its programs on Wednesday, July 31, at 8:00 P. M., in Austin Auditorium, with the presentation of the original Deep River Singers. America's foremost male quartet, on tour under the direction of the Music Corporation of America, have begun their nineteenth year of concert work in a program that includes everything for which Negro entertainers and singers are noted. Through the medium of music, their effort has been to create inter-racial goodwill and understanding.

Their program includes music that is entertaining, gripping, humorous, and musically different.

Students And People Of Greenville Need Mutual Cooperation

It has been increasingly noticeable in the past few years that many of the people in Greenville have not appreciated the presence of East Carolina Teachers College in their city. Queer as it may seem, some of those who ignore the college most are those that derive most benefit from the school, mainly a few of the merchants. If you have been around on the streets of Greenville while the students have left on vacation or intermission of school, you could quickly tell the difference in the atmosphere of the city. The streets seem to have much less life, something is missing that our students had added to the place. It is not hard to understand that many of the merchants miss the business that comes from the students because the spending coming from the students thru-out the year runs well into the higher money brackets. What should be done about a situation like this? That is fairly simple in my mind. Since the college is an intricate part of Greenville, the people of Greenville should sit up and take notice; they should take pride in co-operating with the students in every way that is possible. The college helps Greenville and Greenville should feel that the college is a part of them as well as the high school and other city institutions. This paper strongly advocates that our students take notice of those business houses that feel that the students are a part of them and do most of their shopping with such firms. On the other hand, we feel that those places that do not cooperate with the students in any way except to take what business they can get out of the students should be left out when you go into the stores shopping. We wish to thank those business houses in Greenville who do feel that we are part of Greenville. Spending four years in a city makes that city feel like home if you like to live there, yet you can live thirty years in a place that treats you as a foreigner and you will still feel quite the same way at the end as you did in the beginning.

Women's Hats In Church Are Proving Quite A Nuisance

I think that everyone should go to church every Sunday that it is possible for them to attend, but I have a pet peeve which irritates me to no end. Women have to put on a fashion parade to go to the Sunday services and this is all right. No one loves to see a dressed up lady anymore than I, but why can't they leave those umbrella hats at home. The congregation in church likes to see the preacher as well as the audience in a movie likes to see the picture. This is not a peeve restricted to myself, no one likes to look at a big hat for an hour anywhere. If the wearer had to look at it as much as the others, she would tire of it pretty quickly also. You college girls, please think of those poor men that go to church for the object of the sermon, the next time that you start dressing for church.

Students Can Boast Most Outstanding Lack Of Cooperation

A mass meeting was called several days ago to elect a president and student council representatives for the current summer session. The attendance for that meeting was a disgrace to our student body. To call it a mass meeting would be a joke if one took time to properly define the word "mass". Of the five hundred students enrolled at the present time, approximately five per cent attended the meeting. It is hard to imagine any college with the absence of school spirit so outstanding as it is here at East Carolina Teachers College. Due to pressing needs, it was necessary for the minority of students who were present to elect a president and council members. The persons elected, even though perfectly capable of handling the student government, were not elected by the majority when the opportunity was offered. Consequently, although it is your privilege, nothing could be more ironical than to hear the ones of you, who were not present at the mass meeting, voice complaints over the policies of the present council.

However, your lack of respect for the present system can be fully appreciated by all whose interest lies in the students behalf. Most of us are ready to agree that our present constitution is not worth the paper that it is written on. It never will be so long as the attitude of the majority remains as it is now. Only through the cooperation and backing of every student can there be hope of establishing a democratic system for the students.

Come to the mass meetings. Elect your officers. Give them your whole hearted support. Then, and only then, we can look forward to organizing a student government that is a student government.

Thru-Tha Knothole

by Garland Bailey

Wilson Hall is full, even more space could be used to house boys who wish to attend college here. We probably will have as many living out in private homes as we have had in the past. This is one of the best things that has happened to ECTC in a long time. At long last, people will have to realize that we have a coed school and not just a girls college. I have had no official statement on the matter but I believe that the enrollment for the fall will just about reach the peak of the pre-war number. With all these boys coming in and the college again entering into a full scale athletic program, we should be thinking in terms of a place to play our intercollegiate athletic events. That is, we need a football stadium and a baseball field in which we can receive our teams and fans. At present we have a field and it is just a field. There are no stands that will accommodate any size of a crowd and with the first game in football this fall, one of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed an event here is expected. This will be the first game with Atlantic Christian College of Wilson. Let us think in terms of a nice stadium that will do our athletes justice as they go into battle for COLLEGE AND EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA.

The question has been for the past couple years; how can we raise the scholarship of East Carolina Teachers College? That might be a good question, but as far as I can see no answer has been obtained. Many people have expressed their personal feelings on the subject so I may as well hop out onto the limb with mine. Now, if some professor came up to me and made the statement that I was going to have to put out a little more work so as to help the standing of the school, I would probably forget what he said before he was out of my sight. Some people might even take offence and drop the course. On the other hand, if that same professor would come up to me and tell me that if I improved my standard of work a little I would be rewarded in some way pleasing to myself, I believe I would work just a little harder in order to obtain the reward. How could this be accomplished? There is a practice in this school to give to the Juniors and Seniors who are above the 2 average four cuts, unexcused, per class. I can not see where a junior or senior should have a privilege such as that over the Fresh. and Sophs. If we would give the student something to work for right on the start, we might start a good habit that would be hard to get away from. Give to those students that keep the good work up over a number of years an additional reward. I am not sure that the level of reward should be a two average however because often, the student with a high three average are among the better students and our aim is to help those who come below the standards of the school; the rest are able to take care of themselves.

When I came to the campus for the first time in several years last fall, the campus was in great need of a good trimming, grass and shrubs. One of the members of the party made the statement that ECTC might be a pretty place if she was fixed up a little. Well, all is well that ends well because Mr. Russell put the ground men to work and has done a good job of keeping things around here shipshape. With all the rain in the past few weeks, it was very hard to keep up with the grass because it seemed to grow faster than the mowers would run, but the boys have just caught up with themselves again so we should have a trim campus to greet our new president when he arrives.

Week before last the boys at Wilson Hall finished a very interesting and successful schedule of softball with the Professors team coming out on top of the league. Some of the boys on the other teams feel that the Profs took unfair advantage of the situation in not playing the Jitterbugs another game to determine whether they would have a chance of taking a tie for top place and a chance of a playoff with the Profs for the leadership. I do not know if it was an agreement or not that there would be a playoff as some of the boys thought, but since the two games that the Professors won from the Jitterbugs were of a questionable type; I should think that the teachers would have liked to have cleared every thing up by one more game, proving that they had what it took to beat the Bugs or to prove that they could be good winners. For those who did not know about the two games played between the two teams, the first was played under protest and the second was decided by the flip of a coin after an argument presented itself over a play in home. Everybody played the ball in their spare time, but they also played to win. When softball again opens up next week, may we select someone to umpire the games that will call the plays as he sees them and to call them with an iron hand. These plays called by players on the ball clubs do not give very well with the teams which are on the receiving end of a bad decision.

Spotlight

We honor this week a freshman who came to our school only last spring but who in only that short time has proven himself with his classmates to the extent that the Veterans Club has elected him as their bonded treasurer; and he who will guide the money of the Athletic Scholarships created by the Veterans Club. Richard J. Bailey goes by any of several names, either Richard, Jr., Dunk, Dick will be received by a pleasant response.

Richard finished high school in Thomasville where he was outstanding in the field of sports. Upon leaving high school he managed the Buttkist Shoppe in that city before entering the Navy in 1942. While in the Navy he advanced rapidly and when he was discharged he held the rank of first class petty officer in charge of supplies on the aircraft carrier Yorktown. He was given his release from the Navy after serving almost four years in the service; 36 of these months being in actual combat. He once missed death by only a few inches when a bomb dropped by a Jab bomber missed his head and eradicated two of his mates who were standing at their gun placements. He was chosen a member of the special task force of the admiral in the landing on the Jap mainland and in the signing of the peace treaty on the USS Missouri. He served on the committee which selected the girl "Miss Fighting Lady" whose story was run in the Life Magazine during the past winter.

We are glad that Richard has decided to further his education at ECTC. He says that he will give football another try this fall, this being one of his great loves—it seems that he has another now by the name of Dot. Again, we are happy to have him with us here on the campus and we wish him four good years in Greenville.

Scumming

By The Keyhole Korrespondent

Summer school has begun again, and things are rather quiet; however, we managed to find a little gossip, so here goes—

Have you heard Sophie Fischel's new name "Pajama Girl"?

Has anyone noticed how Garland has worn out the road between E. C. T. C. and Kinston???

Rena Averette seems to be doing O. K. these days. We've seen that handsome man!!!!

The Perry sisters seem to be keeping "the corner" quiet these days!!!

Audrey F. and Ham are the latest twosome on campus.

Congratulations to Gerry and Charlie! We wish them all the happiness in the world.

"Casanova" Wooten's love life seems to be giving him a little trouble anymore. It could be the girls he dates!!!!

We hear that Hazel Kirby's good looking man is coming to E. C. T. C. soon!!!!

It seems that Fish's new job is interfering with her social life, so Troy why don't you give poor Olivia a chance.

We sure are glad to see all these new men on campus. What this school needs is more men and fewer women! (Editor's Note—"Phooey")

Wonder why everyone is calling Marilyn Maxwell "C.C."???

When Jordan comes to town, Otis certainly tames down for a while!!!

Joe Williams could be anyone's man these days, so girls, put your best foot forward.

The Campus Beauty, Gib, tries to make a big impression on all the men, but she doesn't seem to have the right technique!!!

It seems that every time we turn around we run into Raymond and Sue.

Have you heard the latest? John Charlton is engaged! Imagine that! Another heart breaker, sob, sob!!!

Is Harry Jarvis interested in studying in the library or the people who go there???

Doug, why don't you stop dragging Dee Gee behind all those bushes???

If you want to know how a little moron types just ask Mary G.

Stella M. and Charlie Little seem to be hitting it off fine these days.

Mimi Tripp hasn't lost any time with the men on campus since she came back this term!!!

Wonder why Francis Banks is looking so blue anymore???

Ruth Muriel your show is slipping!

Dott H. how does your new job and your "social life" work out???

School wouldn't be school without Tom and Polly looking lovely-dovey all over the place!

Charlie Bill is all smiles again now that Jeanne is here.

Margaret, Leo looks awfully lonesome last week-end. You'd better hurry and come back!

Richard, why don't you give the rest of the female wolves a chance??

Joe Tew seems to have a special attraction for his history class. Could it be the teacher???

Fred, we know you miss Sally Margaret, but it won't be long now.

Mary Grace, do you ever file a date slip???

You'd better hang on to that man of yours, Myra. They don't come along just everyday.

We're tired, and anyway, this is enough trash for one time. Just remember our motto—it's a great life if you don't weaken, but who wants to be strong!!!

I had sworn to be a bachelor
 She had sworn to be a bride
 But I guess you know the answer
 (She had nature on her side).

Around The Tennis Courts

Things have been pretty slow around the upper courts this past week, rain has kept several of our players in doors. Several of the old standbys have gotten in their few hours each day however. Has any one besides me noticed how much Joe Tew has improved since his beginning in the spring. He can pretty well handle himself with any of our players now. It is good to see David Watson back on the courts after several years in the Navy. Watson was one of ECTC's better players abek in them thar days when we had a tennis team. They tell me that Doug had a visitor over from Goldsboro that really gave him a fit the other week. Little Charlie is finally getting so he can hit the ball now, but he still hasn't found out that he is holding the racket in the wrong hand. Other wrong hand players are D. Watson, G. Purucker, and Bill C. No one seemed to know that Gill even played tennis until the other afternoon, but he gave some of the boys some real competition. He is becoming a regular out on the courts now. Henry Harris came out the other afternoon to knock his balls over the fence. Charlie Bill took four games off Doug in a set this week. We will give Charlie credit for improving because we do not think Doug is slipping. Now Clark claims that he turned his ankle playing tennis, anyway, he was walking around on crutches until he found out that it was easier for Joe to carry him about. He tried playing a game of softball and it, the ankle, puffed up like a baseball. I wonder if Jimmy Lochridge is letting his approaching marriage keep him off the tennis courts. Tom Cox is spending a little less time with tennis since he has been pitching softball. We certainly do miss Dr. Haynes since he has left for Georgia. Dr. Posey and Oppelt doesn't seem to be playing very much either. Speaking of missing people, we sho do wish some of you girls were back and those of you that are here would take up tennis.

NO!

A girl can sing,
A girl can dance
A girl can play croquet;
But she can't strike a match
On the seat of her pants
'Cause she ain't built that way.

Softball League Reorganized For Last Six Weeks

The softball enthusiasts started out early this quarter and already the games are in full swing. A drop in the number of male students enrolled has made it necessary to organize only three teams. The teams this quarter have chosen new names and are operating under new management. They are the Supermen under the management of Tom Cox, the Rookies, manager Garlan Bailey, and the Casanovas, manager Gil Purucker.

Playing for the Supermen are: battery—Tom Cox, pitcher, Jimmy Lochridge, catcher; players—Doug Jones, Clarke Stokes, Bill Council, Dave Watson, T. V. Mosley, Ray Wootten, Raymon Uzzel, and Rogers. For the Rookies: battery—John Charlton, pitcher, Garlan Bailey, catcher; players—Baxter Ridenhour, Otis Powell, Charlie Bracken, Joe Tew, Jesse Lamm, Richard Bailey, Milan Hamilton, Frank Coiner and Toth.

For the Casanovas: battery—Gil Purucker, pitcher, Charlie Brown, catcher; players—Everette Hudson, Nick Zuras, Harry Jarvis, Bob Hunter, Joe Acree, Bill Connaughton, Phillips, Stoddard, Davis, and Bob Wheeler.

Enthusiastic fans always make a good ball game better, pick your team and come out to cheer it to victory.

Supermen Educate Rookies In Softball

The Supermen forged into an early lead Tuesday night as they swept the Rookies under in the first meeting of the two teams in league play for the second six week term. The score for the seven innings of play was 13 to 10. The game had to be stopped twice during the process of play because of rain and was finally ended up with the pitcher and the batter standing in puddles of water.

The game proved to be a very interesting affair as both teams were

Remainder Of Games Should Be Interesting

Nine games remain on the schedule for the intra-mural softball conference during the current summer session. The teams are out for blood, it seems, and win or lose it's always a good show. Games are played in the afternoon or evening, some at 4:00 and some at 6:00. Announcement of the games will be posted on the bulletin board in the post office.

Supermen And Casanovas Tie, 6-6

In a game that ran well into darkness, the Supermen and the Casanovas battled to a 6 to 6 tie Monday night. The Supermen started off fast getting several straight hits off of Capt. Purucker, but the Casanovas came back in the mighty sixth inning to tie the score, the game was called at that time because neither team could see the ball. Tom Cox went the route for the Supermen weakening in only one inning, Purucker went the route for the Casanovas. It has not been decided as yet but the game probably will be played off at an early date. Garlan Bailey acted as umpire.

in hitting moods and the base hits came fast and furious. Cox pitched for the winners and Charlton was in the box for the losers. Martin with a round tripper for the Supermen was their leader at bat and Richard Bailey with his two hits was one of the mighty caseys of the Rookies. Shotgun Brown umpired the game.

MAA Receives Croquet Set For Evening Play

The Men's Athletic Association has received the long awaited for croquet set. The president of the MAA went to great trouble to secure a set for the men and if anyone feels a desire for a game out on our beautiful lawn, he needs only to see Everett Hudson for a loan of the equipment. The boys will be happy to lend the set to girls wishing to play if it is not in use at the time. It would be better if those borrowing the set would not take it too far away from Wilson lawn however.

Complete Plans For Pre-Eng.

Plans are complete for the inauguration of a pre-engineering course when the fall quarter opens in September, according to Dr. R. J. Slay, dean of the college.

Dr. Slay stated that Paul E. Powell of Bowling Green, Ohio, would teach mechanical drawing, thus completing the curriculum needed for establishing the course of study in pre-engineering.

The new instructor received the B. S. degree from Ohio State University, and the M. S. degree in industrial education from Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin. For the past three years he has taught mechanical and machine drawing in the United States Navy.

Students completing the pre-engineering course would be eligible to transfer as sophomores to any other state institution offering engineering.

Home Economics Meet At ECTC July 30-August 2

Home economics directors and teachers in twenty-four Eastern North Carolina counties have been extended the invitation to attend the vocational home economics conference to be held in the Science Building July 30-August 2.

A series of similar summer conferences has been announced by Catherine T. Dennis, State Supervisor of Home Economics Education of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The first conference opened in Thompson Hall, State College, July 23 and will continue through July 26. The Raleigh conference includes delegates from the following counties: Rockingham, Guilford, Randolph, Caswell, Alamance, Person, Orange, Granville, Vance, Warren, Franklin, Wake and Durham.

Mabel Lacy, field teacher trainer in home economics education at East Carolina Teachers College, said that plans for the vocational home economics conferences this summer include a round-table discussion on "Overall Planning for the Homemaking Program."

Counties expected to be represented at the conference here include Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Tyrell, Hyde, Washington, Beaufort, Carteret, Onslow, Duplin, Lenoir, Wayne, Craven, Pitt, Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe, Halifax, Northampton, Martin, Bertie, Hertford and Gates.

The Wonder Of Our Wonder Drugs

Some of those new wonder drugs we hear about are effecting marvelous cures, but so far we don't know anything that will top this one. A college which has a policy of checking up on students absences called up a student at his rooming house to find out why he hadn't come in that day. A landlady answered the phone, went upstairs to summon the student and came back to announce that he was in bed with pneumonia.

Following routine, the girl on the other end of the phone asked, "When does he think he'll be able to get back to school?" Again the landlady went upstairs, to come back a few minutes later with the answer. "He says," was the reply, "that he'll be back tomorrow."

Enrollment Up From Last Year

Enrollment for the second summer term is 318 as compared with 221 for the second term last summer, according to Dr. R. J. Slay, dean of the college.

Ninety-six men are enrolled for the second term, seventy-two of whom are attending under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Twenty-one students are enrolled for the first time. This number includes twelve transfers and nine freshmen. Thirty-five graduate students are enrolled for the second summer term.

Dr. Oppelt Honored

Dr. J. L. Oppelt, head of the Department of Administration was honored at a chicken and barbecue dinner in the Y-Hut of the college last term.

Patsy Montague With Columbia U.

Patsy Montague of Oxford, who was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College in 1940, has been named assistant to Dr. Roma Gans in the teaching of curriculum and teacher-training courses at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York. Dr. Gans is one of the nation's leaders in the training of teachers and in the teaching of childhood education.

Miss Montague was a recent visitor to the campus and made several talks to students and teachers in the field of childhood education, explaining observations that she has made in her own teaching experiences and those gained from prominent leaders in teacher training.

Before joining the teaching staff at Columbia University, from where she received the Master's degree, Miss Montague taught in the Horace Mann School and in Barnard School for Girls, New York. For two years she taught in a private school in Erie, Pa. In North Carolina she has held teaching positions in the Elm City, Oxford and Colerain schools. She was recently named student council representative from the Early Childhood Education Club at Columbia.

Fleming Honored

Mr. James L. Fleming, head of the Foreign Language Department was guest of honor last term at a dinner given by members of his French Class at the Olde Towne Inn.

Gladiolas Received

Myrtle Paul of Pantego recently sent fourteen dozen gladiolas to friends among the faculty. Miss Paul is a member of the student body during the regular school year.
