FACULTY CHANGES ANNOUNCED

Dr. Cooke Gives Talk At U. N. C.

"Teachers are Human" was the subject of an address delivered at Chapel Hill Thursday before a state meeting of Phi Delta Kappa national honorary scholastic fraternity, by Dr. Dennis H. Cooke.

Citing examples of teacher relationships in the administrative functions of the schools, Dr. Cooke called attention to blue laws that "long have been outmoded by educational progressiveness, and which have proved to be a handicap in the betterment of school and community associations."

Dr. Cooke said that a North Carolina teacher 100 years ago had to sign a contract promising "not to fall in love or become secretly engaged or married; sleep eight hours each night and keep myself in the best of health and spirits so that I may be better able to serve the school board, superintendent, and townspeople who employ me; not to go out with any young men except that it be for the purpose of stimulating Sunday School work." He added that much Sunday School work was going on during that time.

He urged the group to take advantage of every opportunity to modify such blue laws when they exist and declared that "under no conditions should such silly rules and contracts be written for grown men and women into whose hands the very lives of our children are placed."

Dr. Cooke warned that "teachers should at all times act like the human, animate creatures that they are supposed to be," but that "people in all walks of life should understand that we are human with the same desires, impulses, and outlooks on life that other people have generally."

Miss Wineberry Selected For Club Scholarship

After Miss Willie Wineberry, ambitious student who was presented to the Kiwanis Club at its supper meeting several nights ago, President Ed Rawl said: "Miss Wineberry, since the Kiwanis Club has selected you for one of its college scholarships you now have 77 extra daddies and 77 extra mothers—the Kiwanians and their wives. We will follow you through and see that you get that college education you so richly deserve." She was given a rousing reception.

Judge J. W. H. Roberts, chairman of the Underprivileged Child Committee, introduced Miss Wineberry, said some nice things about her and added that numerous leading citizens, men and women, had congratulated the Kiwanians on selecting her for a scholarship at East Carolina Teachers College. She will enter school in September.

The Kiwanis Club, from proceeds of its minstrel shows, recently provided a permanent trust fund at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company for scholarships for boys and girls. Plans are now being made to award a scholarship to a worthy young man.

Leon R. Meadows, Jr.

Leon Meadows, Jr. To Teach Math At State College

Leon Meadows, Jr. has accepted a teaching position in the Mathematics Department of North Carolina State College. His work will begin on September 16th when he reports for several faculty conferences and other preliminary work before the opening of the fall quarter. He is to start teaching algebra and plane geometry. Leon, who is well known about the campus, is a graduate of Greenville High School and in 1941 received his A. B. in Mathematics and Science from ECTC. Following this he taught for one year in Tarboro. From there he continued his studies by entering Columbia University and in 1944 received his M. A. in mathematics from this institution.

Leon was back on campus this summer when the tennis season rolled around. Coinciding with his exceptional ability at playing the game, he has given plenty of helpful instructions to those of us who are trying to learn.

Finding a place to stay in Raleigh, so Leon says, is his biggest problem now.

Deep River Singers Enjoyed Very Much

A record crowd for the summer attended the concert of the original Deep River Singers on Wednesday evening, July 31. This was the concluding program of the summer entertainment series.

Although the students were expecting a highly entertaining program, the singing of this negro quartet surpassed all expectations. Their songs covered a number of phases of the musical world and they were equally adept in singing all. The attentiveness of the audience placed the Deep River Singers as the number one entertainers of the summer series. A return engagement would be most welcome.

Dr. Posey Honored

Dr. Meredith Neill Posey of the Department of English has been named to the editorial board of the North Carolina Education Association for 1946-47 by C. W. Phillips, president.

Here Is That Dance We've Been Waiting For

On Thursday evening, August 15, the second dance of the summer quarter will be presented, sponsored by the members of the Entertainment Committee. Dancing will begin at 8:30 and last until 12:00.

The first dance of the summer was a great success and plans are underway to make this one bigger and better. Everyone who attended school during the first semester and those enrolled at the present time are invited with their dates.

Orchestral arrangements are being made, but no announcement as to the band acquired has been made.

Home Economics Conference Here

Seventy home economics directors and teachers from twenty-four Eastern North Carolina counties have opened a four-day vocational home economics conference at East Carolina Teachers College under the direction of Catherine T. Dennis, State Supervisor of Home Economics Education of the State Department of Public Instruction. The conference will be concluded August 2.

R. Ainsley, principal of Moyock School in Currituck County; S. F. Peterson, agricultural teacher, Ayden High School; Mrs. Clarendia A. Britt, home economics department, Goldsboro High School; Mrs. Reid Ellis, homemaker, Winterville; and three high school students, Betty Ann Young and Jane Tyson, Greenville, and Hilda Loftin, Winterville.

Group leaders for the conference were Emily Burt Person, Tarboro, curriculum; Myrtle Parnell, Lafayette School, Harnet County, adult program; Pinear Mae Windley, Brogden School, Wayne County; and Alice Strawn, Greenville High School, Future Homemakers of America; and Louise Lowe, field teacher trainer, Woman's College, Greensboro, equipment for homemaking department.

Mabel Lacy, field teacher trainer in home economics education at East Carolina Teachers College, assisted the state supervisor in directing the conference, one of a series of similar conferences, one of a series of similar

Fall Registration To Hit Peak

Advance registration for the fall quarter opening in September have caused all dormitory space to be taken and indications are that the fall enrollment will be one of the heaviest in years.

Freshman registration will be held September 24-25, and upperclassmen will register on September 26. Class work will begin on Friday, September 27, and registration for the fall term will close on October 10.

Just A Thought

"Anger is as a stone cast into a wasp's nest".—Malabar Proverb
Do you know how to control yourself when you get "Hot under the collar". If you do not, you had better attempt some revision of your natural self to prevent "Flying off the handle." How many acts have you committed that you would not have done if you had not suddenly become angry. No doubt, there are times when you may be justified in becoming angry, but the fact remains that he who keeps cool under provocation comes closer to being master of himself. Confucius said, "When anger arises, think of the consequences." We would all do well to remember this along with the statement of Henry Ward Beecher, "A man that does not know how to be angry does not know how to be good...."

The Value of Thinking

Is it true education for a student to merely accept facts without seeing the two sides of a question? Will we as teachers give our pupils one view of an issue and try to force him to accept that as the final truth without exposing to them the contrary group of facts, and then allowing him to reach his own conclusion?

There has been a time in history when teachers were supposed to indoctrinate. Personal beliefs, prejudices, and opinions were supposedly authentic. The professor effervesced knowledge from his ample supply into the receiving mind of the young. There was really no chance of reflection. A person who had different views on the subject of education was marked as radical and was ostracized by educational leaders of that day.

The modern teacher is now interested in what the pupil thinks. The teacher's own opinion is no longer advertised and neither are his pet convictions. As a result he has done some definite thinking along this, and does not have to believe a proposition when he finds no grounds whatsoever for supposing it is true.

As prospective teachers it is necessary to realize the value of thinking. This will grow out of the presentation of contrary doctrines when issues whether of great or little importance are introduced.

Are You A Supporter Of Christianity?

Every Sunday the number of persons who stay away from Church is greater than the number who attend. This may be attributed to at least two causes. There are elements that tend to keep people from Church, or their interests in Christianity is dwindling. Quite often the first cause may be accepted reservations, but the second should be looked upon with much concern. In this so-called civilized world there are men created by God who tell the people under their jurisdiction, "There is no God. I am your master!" They have cast the Church and religious beliefs in the background and endeavor to rule their people by force. And in the United States there are people who frown upon worship and ignore the possibilities of religious freedom that human beings across the Atlantic are denied. You don't have to go to Church to offer your humble petitions. God will hear and answer the fervent prayer of the farmer who kneels beside a stack of new-mown hay while the last rays of the setting sun sink in the pale Western skies just as quickly as those who worship in the most magnificent

"HELLO, CHIEF? I WANT A TRANSFER—THIS CLIMATE DOESN'T AGREE WITH ME!"

Cathedral. At East Carolina Teachers College there are students who follow pursuits other than those of a religious nature on Sunday; they munch the contents of bag lunches on Sunday evening and outbursts of their hilarity drown the strains of hymns sung at Vespers. In the not-so-distant past, mothers of most students enrolled here worked diligently each Sunday morning to see that their children got dressed properly and attended Church. Today you are on your own. You wash behind your own ears and select your own clothing. Whether you continue your spiritual life is left to your discretion. Another Sunday is approaching. Many will go to Church and many will stay away. For many students the hand that rocked the cradle is submerged in six feet of earth. Were she living today it is likely she would want her son or daughter to attend Church. And there are mothers still alive who seek to give impetus to the undertakings of their children through prayer. Are you a supporter of Christianity? Think it over! —R. B.

Thru-Tha Knothole

by Garlan Bailey

Austin Auditorium was not filled and it was raining outside to keep several of those who would like to have heard the concert at home, but those that braved the rain to attend the concert of the Deep River Singers enjoyed one of the better entertainments of the year. The small number present gave the singers thundering applause after every rendition sung. The five colored singers gave to us a program of good harmony and sang songs that everyone understood. Especially good were the selections sung from the stage play of "Porgy and Bess". We would do well to bring more of this type of entertainment to our campus. By the way, girls, this is one program that the boys of ECTC certainly outshined the girls in attendance. I believe at least eighty-five percent of the boys in school were present.

I went down to the "Add" building the other day and had a nice long talk with Mr. Duncan about the new Soda Shop appearing on our campus. It seems that at this time a little matter of a plaster shortage is holding the works up a little. Other than that, progress is going along about as fast as scheduled. The cement base out in the patio for the brick terrace has been poured and when the brick is laid the terrace will be well on its way toward completion. The rest of the territory in the patio will be plowed up and planted in grass.

Present plans are to have diamond design metal material placed on the wall back of the fountain covering about four feet of space from the top. This should add to the beauty of the soda shop.

I think that we will be able to have some type of music in the place if there are enough students who want music. I have heard no comments contrary to that thought, but if there should be objectors, now is the time to talk because most of us want music and we will try to have it placed in the shop.

Every effort is being put forth to secure a new fountain before the opening and there should be one here by the time the shop opens. The college hopes to have all drawbacks ironed out so that it can open up with the Fall Quarter this year.

If any of you have wondered what that little room at the end is to be used for, here is a pretty good answer. It is just a storage room. Also the question has come up about new booths for the shop. Right now an effort is being made to find some but it seems that it will be an impossibility right at this time. We may have to do with a little less than new right at this time.

While we are on the subject of the Soda Shop, what will we call it. The "Y" Store certainly isn't and appropriate name. We must have a new name even if it is just The College Soda Shoppe.

Spotlight

This week we introduce to you Fred H. Martin, a husky mountaineer hailing from Asheville, N. C. Fred entered school at the beginning of the spring quarter and since that time has been outstanding on the campus in a number of student activities. He has made numerous friends and is well liked by everyone who knows him.

After graduating from high school in Asheville, Fred attended Brevard Junior College, and graduated from there in 1942. He received his greetings shortly thereafter and entered the army on October 12, 1942. The army assigned him to the Signal Corp, and he received his training at Camp Pinedale, California. From there he went overseas to the Pacific Theatre and saw service on New Guinea and the Philippines. His was the first signal corp outfit to enter the Philippines. Fred's most important assignment was liaison work for air force units. This included landing on the island of Leyte and the Philippines shortly after D-Day to locate suitable areas and supply dumps for the air force to use. A Technician 4th Grade, Fred also worked as telephone-carrier, repeaterman, lineman, trouble-shooters, and in his spare time operated the special service for his outfit. He received his discharge on January 1, 1946 at 11:45 A. M.

Fred was elected vice-president of the Veterans' Club during the spring quarter. He was elected president of Wilson Hall for the summer. He has now risen to the height of presidency of the student body for the remainder of summer school and is doing an excellent job in that position.

Fred had no comments to make on his love life. When asked about ECTC, he said, "ECTC is alright, but there's worlds of room for improvements." He is most interested in seeing that the students have their rights.

We of the Teco Echo are glad that you are with us, Fred, and wish to compliment you on your numerous achievements during the short time that you have been here.

NIGHT

Oh Night, so profoundly dark, peaceful and still,
Entwined about all the sleeping earth,
Leaving dormant the bustle, the noise, and the mirth
Of the day that so constantly insists to live.

What can't be the secret of thy power possessed
To give repose, slumber, and peace of mind and soul?
In thy unseen hand doth our weariness unfold
And imparts a feeling of being pressed
Close to thy security. Out of thy solitude,
Oh Night, Arise mysteries
As deep as thy self alone.
Wilt thou from out the bonds of thy security
Release these mysteries?
Or, is it best that they remain unknown.

Scumming

By The Keyhole Korrespondent

Well, dear friends, here is another issue of the campus dirt sheet. If you get as much fun out of reading this as we do writing it—Oh, brother!

It looks like C. T. Fleming is really on the ball around Cotten Dormitory these days. Moe poweh to you, Sue!!!!

Every time we see Henry Harris he is with a different girl I wonder who the good looking brunette was the other night.

It looks like Mary Grace Taylor has all the men after her just like dogs.

Dr. Bob Wheeler, the noted psychiatrist, has Mary M. hypnotized. What a waste of time!!!

Our "Campus Beauty," Gib, is now a "Faithful Pup" that lives on a diet of "enriched" cokes!!!

What's this we hear about Charlie Bill and Tom being mad at Doug??? "Cleopatra" Mobley must be letting her poisonous little snake, Doug, bite other people, however, she doesn't seem to care until Carolyn appears on the scene!!!!

Anne Dail and "Pot" are seen together quite often.

I wonder where Joe Williams got his name of Gigalo Joe—never can tell, it might have a history...

There is still a rumor going around that Marilyn Maxwell just loves the Da-Da Girls. True how true. What are you laughing about, Sophie?

The boys of Wilson address Mr. Willie Warner as Willie, the Joy Boy.

Wonder why Joe Tew has taken such a great interest in the swimming pool???

Is it true that Della Perry had to have a date furnished for the beauty parade the other week. We'll stake our dollar that there were no girls at Wilson in the state contest that were cuter than our own ECTC girls.

Clark and Jolly seem to be operating smoothly, these days. Clark, the girls really missed you when you took your leave last week.

Jimmy has settled down now but I suppose it is about time since he is to be married next month.

Wonder why "Champ" Hudson shudders everytime he hears the song "Sweet Elouise?"

Joe Tew is doing alright for himself with that town girl, but I hear her true love is coming back this month!!!!

Mary G., how was that man last week-end? It won't be long now!!

Nell Perry, it's just too bad about your hero getting married on you. Some get it and some don't!!!

Why is Harry J. such a woman hater???

Hazel Kirby's O.A.O. is here!!! You'd better watch these female Wolves around campus!

It was nice seeing "Judge" Hall, Jordan, and some more old timers back on campus recently.

Frances B. and Paul have rekindled the fires of love again.

Evelyn Mills is our latest man slayer. They come and go rather quickly at ECTC!!!!

Sara A., we all know you're ga-ga about Bob Miller, so please slow down a little bit, you're wearing us out!!!!

The strangest things happen around here. Now, Margaret Carr and Musselwhite are going together!!!

Those cute twins, Ilmar and Wilmar, are still as popular as ever.

Why is it that all the men are after Dot Powell? She's a mighty cute girl!!!!

This is all for now. Some people raised such a stink after the last issue that anything can happen, so if you hear of a funeral, don't worry—it's ours!!!!

Rookies Down Supermen, 20-14

The Rookies proved to be the super men last week as they slugged out a 20 to 14 win over the Supermen. The Supermen started out at a very fast pace and at the end of the third inning held a lead of 12 to 6 over the Rookies. Charlton, Rookie pitcher tightened down and the team made fewer errors to hold Cox and his cohorts to two runs in the last four innings. At the same time, Lamm, Ridenhour, Powell, and Richard Bailey starting hitting the ole pill for extra base hits driving in run after run. Powell drove a pitch over the right fielders head for the only homerun of the game. Lamm collected four hits for five trips to the plate; Powell, three for four; Ridenhour, four for six; Richard Bailey, three for four, one being a long hard hit tripple over the center fielders head.

Cox lead the losers in hitting with three hits for four trips to the plate.

Softball League Moves Into Finals Casanovas Lead

The softball teams are getting hot as the conference goes into its fourth week. Thus far the Casanovas have held the ballance of power, but the Supermen and Rookies aren't teams that let a couple game lead scare them so anything can happen (and probably will) during the final week of scheduled games.

On Monday, August 12, the Supermen will take on the league leading Casanovas with Cox of the Supermen and Purucker of the Casanovas probably pitchers. Tuesday, August 13, the Rookies, behind the pitching of Charlton, will meet the Supermen. The final game of the conference will be played Thursday when the Casanovas and the Rookies play.

There will be a league playoff the following week with all teams participating. The two bottom team will play and the winner of this game will meet the conference leaders. Until that last ball is pitched no one can say just who the champions will be.

All games will be played at 4:00 in the afternoon on their respective dates.

ed in the fifth inning to load the bases on walks and after walking one man home, a couple clean cut hits over the end field cleared the bases. For the winners, Cox and Lochridge were the hard hitters, for the losers, Zuras had a perfect day at bat with two for three. The half game lead of the Supermen came as a result of a 6 to 6 tie that the two teams played in their first meeting a few weeks back.

Sutton Wins Tennis Tourney

Frances Sutton, popular tennis participant here on the campus for the past two years added new laruals to her tennis ability when she marched through the Kinston City Tennis Tournament to take the women's singles championship of that city last week. From the beginning of the tournament, she showed her superiority on the courts by trouncing her first opponent by the score of 6-1, 6-1. Playing in the semi-finals, Frances did not slow up and went on to defeat her second rival 6-1, 6-0. The Championship game was played last Saturday on a very wet court. She Proved very effective with her base shots and took the match and championship to the tune of 6-2, 6-2.

Casanovas Lose Must Have Had An Off Day

The Rookies seem to be hitting a winning stride as they lamblasted the Casanovas in there second meeting by the score of 11 to 7. Both of the teams played good ball thru-out the game but the Casanovas weakened in the fourth inning when th eRookies scored 7 of their 11 runs. The Casanovas rectived 3 runs in the second and 3 runs in the seventh for six of their seven runs. John Charlton pitched for the winners winning his second straight game after taking two defeats. Slade Phillips was throwing them over for the losers and proved to be very effective with his fast spinner. Jessie Lamn, Bax Ridenhour,

Casanovas Win Behind Pitching Of Jack Davis

The Casanovas behind the effective pitching of Jack Davis made the Rookies live up to their name as they defeated the Rookies by the score of 12 to 6. Davis was never threatened since his team gave him five runs to start the game off with, and played almost errorless ball thru-out the ball game. Everett Hudson and Joe Williams pulled a double play in the six inning for one of the few doubles that have been maded this year. The heavy hitting of Zuras, Stoddard, and Hudson lead the Casanovas hitting spree; Zuras connecting for a round tripper. Costly errors and timely hitting cost the Rookies a chance to break into the win cloumn. Jessie Lamm connected for a long drive over the left fielders head to hit the longest hit of the day and accounted for one of the runs. A short rally of the Rookies in the fifth inning failed to yield enough runs to catch up with the running Casanovas. Council and Mosley umpired the game.

Next to a coward, the most dangerous man to attempt leadership is one who is ignorant or lazy.

and Richard Bailey were the big sticks again for the Rookies, each getting about three hits apiece. Brown and Phillips were the long distance hitters for the Casanovas.

I never say hell, I never say heck.
I never ksis, I never neck.
I'm always good, I'm always nice.
I play no poker, I shake no dice.
I never drink, I never flirt.
I never gossip, or spread the dirt.
I have no line or funny tricks.
But what the hell—I'm only six.

The attempt is all the wedge that splits its knotty way betwixt the impossible and the possible.

Interesting Facts Concerning Vets Attending Schools

Although veterans are already giving universities and colleges record enrollments, the march of ex-GI's on higher education will increase until the peak is reached in the spring of 1947; veterans are definitely favoring the larger schools in spite of the almost impossible housing and faculty shortage, and the largest number of veterans are entering engineering and allied fields.

This information was emphasized in a report by Dean Fred C. Smith of the University of Tennessee at a recent meeting of the Southern University Conference held in this city. Dean Smith is chairman of the Conference Committee on Veterans' Education.

With the large number of veterans next year and with high school graduates, total enrollment in higher education by next fall will be at least 25 percent above the previous peak enrollment in 1939-40, the report showed. Estimates of the American Council on Education show that the Number of veterans desiring higher education has far exceeded all of the early estimates.

Revealing that veterans prefer the larger schools, about half of the veteran students in this state are enrolled at the University of Tennessee. These veterans now at the University represent the highest type of college material, mature in experience, abundantly capable of hard work,

Mrs. Scruggs Accepts Position

Mrs. Geraldine Albritton Scruggs of Snow Hill has accepted a position as secretary to Dr. R. J. Slay, dean of the College.

She holds the B. S. degree in commerce and physical education from East Carolina Teachers College. Charles Scruggs, her husband, a discharged veteran, is doing undergraduate work at the institution.

ambitious and eager to get on the way to their life work, said Dean Smith.

"The veterans do not want to be set apart as special cases. They long for a normal life, to be members of the larger group without prejudice."

Business administration ranks second to engineering in the professional fields, attracting veterans, the report showed. This is followed closely by liberal arts, and agriculture comes fourth in the list.

According to a survey made by the federal government regarding the desires of veterans to return to school, it found that approximately one-third know exactly what they want when they re-enter an educational program, another third is uncertain as to vocation or educational objectives, and other veterans have no idea regarding their vocational objective.

"This shows the need for careful guidance and counseling for the returning veteran in order that he might make the most of his opportunity, and that the government money might be used to the best advantage in its rehabilitation program," Dean Smith's report said.
