

Dr. Flanagan Elected President Phi Sigma Pi

by Bernice Jenkins

Dr. Beecher Flanagan, economics professor, faculty member and sponsor of Tau Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi educational fraternity, was elected national president of the fraternity at its biannual convention held in Washington, D. C., Saturday, November 23.

Dr. Flanagan was unanimously elected by the official chapter delegates following the final session and banquet of the convention Saturday night at the Annapolis hotel. He succeeds Dr. C. B. Wilson of California, Penna. sponsor of Kappa chapter as president. Dr. Wilson will serve for the coming two years as vice president.

Attending the convention as official delegate with voting powers from Tau Chapter was Robert Martin, senior from Rich Square who gave a chapter report at the dinner session. In addition to Dr. Flanagan, Martin was accompanied by local President Harry Jarvis, senior from Hopewell, Va.; Nick Zuras, graduate student and a native of Washington; and Bernice Jenkins, sophomore from Greenville.

The new national president, well known as a faculty leader on the East Carolina campus, has been a member of Phi Sigma Pi since 1926 when he joined as a charter member of Ipsilon chapter at George Peabody college at Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Flanagan had served as national historian since the last national convention which was held five years ago, the intervening ones being postponed because of the war emergency.

Other new officers who will serve for the coming two years are Dr. Lee Hornbake of Beltsville, Md., secretary; Dr. J. K. Stoner, sponsor of Eta chapter at Indiana, Penna., and past national secretary, national counselor; Dr. S. L. Reems, national historian; and Dr. Sanders P. McCormey, Millersville Penna., national treasurer.

At their morning session at the Annapolis the delegates, representing some 15 chapters from all over the nation including North Dakota, Washington, Missouri, Illinois, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia, heard reports of the national officers, chapter reports and an address by Dr. Ralph Scafford, psychologist for Franklin and Adams counties in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Scafford, an honorary member of Kappa chapter, stressed the acute shortage of teachers over the nation and recommended higher wages as an incentive to attracting more capable persons for the profession.

At the evening session Dr. Hornbake was the principal speaker, discussing methods and improvements in his own field of industrial arts. He recommended an expanded program of research for the field of education as a necessity for this nation.

Browne Speaks To Lecture Club

Dr. Walter A. Browne of the geography department spoke at a meeting of the Faculty Lecture Club on Monday evening, December 9, addressing the group on the subject "Geography and the Geographer's Sphere." Dr. Browne was the second speaker to appear before the club during the 1946-1947 term.

Explaining that changing emphasis in the field of geography and misunderstanding about the material included in the subject makes a clarification of the aims of the geographer desirable, Dr. Browne traced the history of geography for members of the club. He discussed location, environment, and anthropo-geo relations as they concern geography and stressed the usefulness of applied geography, which brings together "into working order the various phases of the geographic realm previously treated."

At the next meeting of the club, on January 27, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, president of the college, will be the principal speaker.

Chi Pi Players Give College Top Performance

The Chi Pi Players of East Carolina Teachers College presented on December 6 and 7 in the Austin Building two performances of Sir James M. Barrie's four act comedy, "The Admirable Crichton," a play about an English butler who, shipwrecked on a lonely island, proves a better man than his social superiors. Large audiences received the play appreciatively and many "play-goers" thought "The Admirable Crichton" to be one of the most polished performances ever to be presented by the Chi Pis.

The players seemed to be living their parts, using facial and hand expressions which helped the audience to understand the actor's or actress's feelings. The costumes, lighting, and scenery were well planned and carried the idea of the play.

Dr. Lucile Charles, who joined the English department this fall, directed the play. She came to East Carolina Teachers College from Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Virginia. Before that time Dr. Charles had experience in the theatre and served as coordinator of a drama series for Columbia Broadcasting system in New York and as director of dramatics in American People's College in Europe with headquarters at Oetz-in-Tirol, Austria.

The cast for "The Admirable Crichton" included 26 students and the production staff included 20 others. Many members of the cast gained valuable experience in theatrical work while in service; other actresses and actors have worked with the Chi Pi Players since they have been in college.

The cast headed by Robert Musselwhite of Greenville, as Crichton, and Maxie Henderson of Fayetteville as Lady Mary, included Hubert Bergeron of Spring Hope, A. E. Manning of Jamesville, Wanda Lamm, Ruth Krank, Jerold Dixon, Joseph Trotman, Cornelia Beems, John Robinson, Alton Finch, Aubrey Rogers, Eleanor Aston, Alma English, Catherine Dexter, John Koonce, James Jranek, Dorothy Maynard, Emily Greene, Lola Stephenson, Patsy Pridgen, Jack Everton, Jerome Worsley, William Whitely, Egbert Rouse, T. V. Mosely, and Johnnie Collins.

Margaret Shields of New Bern was student director; Lewton Smith of Washington, N. C., business manager; Hubert Bergeron of Spring Hope, technical director; and Charlotte Robertson of Greenville, stage manager.

Alumni Bulletin Mailed To Grads

Volume 1, Number 1, of the Alumni Bulletin has been mailed to graduates of the college, according to Mrs. Ruth Garner, secretary of the alumni association. The bulletin, the first to be issued, was a four-page printed booklet, 8 by 11 inches in size. To keep alumni in touch with the college and to provide graduates with news of chapters of the association and their work, the bulletin will be sent out as a quarterly publication during the year and numbers will be distributed in November, February, May, and August.

The first number included articles by Mrs. Garner; Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, college president; Henry Belk of Goldsboro, trustee and chairman of the Student Loan Fund Committee; Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, registrar; and Mrs. J. L. Marcom of Raleigh, president of the college alumni association. It was illustrated with pictures of Dr. Cooke, Mrs. Marcom, and Ella Outland of Burlington, an alumna and president of the North Carolina Home Economics Association.

Music Department Is Presenting Christmas Concert

The music department of ECTC, under the direction of Dr. Karl V. Gilbert, is presenting a Christmas Concert in the Austin Auditorium on Sunday evening, December 15, at 8 o'clock.

The Women's Chorus, directed by Mr. Dan E. Vornholt, along with the College Choir and the College Singers, make up the program. Featured also, are four solos: "Balkan Candle Carol," sung by Jean Roberson; "From Heaven High the Angels Came," by Alma Lee Whitely; "Jesus! Thou Dear Babe Divine," by Mimi Tripp; and "Every Valley," from the "Messiah," by Donald Perry.

Other outstanding features of the program include: "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte, and "Four Russian Carols," by Harvey Gaul. The program is concluded by The College Choir, The Women's Chorus, The College Singers, The Brass Quartet, together with the audience, singing "Silent Night". Accompanists are Elizabeth Drake, Dorothy Maynard, and Rupert Browning.

YWCA And YMCA Sponsor Drive

The World Student Service Fund drive beginning after the Christmas holidays and continuing through January 10, will be sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA. This fund provides direct relief for students and professors who were victims of the war. This drive is a united appeal for relief for students in the Far East, Europe, and student refugees in the United States.

Liberal contributions are requested as it is for a worthy cause. By mutual cooperation of all a higher goal is expected to be realized.

The WSSF is a world wide drive for relief. The money which is raised will go to buy books, study material, medical supplies, food, and clothing for students.

Christmas Theme Of Home Ec Meet

The Home Economics Club held its regular meeting in the Classroom Building on December 10. After a short business session, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Nellie Ruth Crawford.

The entire group present joined in the singing of Christmas carols and a solo, "O Holy Night," was sung by Marjorie Pollard. Following this a skit on the life of Mrs. Ellen H. Richard, founder of Home Economics, was presented by the following members, Beauford Williams, Lorraine Davis, Lou Ree Cantrell, Catherine Dexter, and Mary Elizabeth Nichols.

Hazel Kirby, chairman of the refreshment committee invited the members to the reception room. In the midst of attractive decorations, Christmas gifts were exchanged and refreshments served.

Weekly Radio Program Sponsored By College

The East Carolina Teachers College Radio Hour is a radio program originated, prepared, and conducted by East Carolina Teachers College as a public relations project under the direction of W. E. Marshall, Professor of Government at East Carolina and Chairman of the Radio Committee of the College and Master of Ceremonies of the broadcasts. The series of twenty-six weekly broadcasts has been made possible through the courtesy of the Tobacco Radio Network. The broadcasts originate from the stage of the Austin Auditorium located in the heart of the beautiful one hundred acre campus of East Carolina Teachers College each Thursday evening at 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock. All students, according to President Dennis H. Cooke are not only requested, but are urged, to attend the broadcasts in the Austin Auditorium.

The students, and others, attending the broadcasts are requested to be in their seats in the auditorium not later than 8:20 o'clock in order that absolute quiet may be assured for the broadcast.

The purposes of the East Carolina

Veterans Club Postpones Minstrel

The Veterans Club Minstrel, which was to have been presented on December 12 and 13, has been postponed until January 28 and 29.

According to Joe Williams, president of the Veterans Club, the postponement was made necessary by a number of unavoidable and unforeseen obstacles. For one thing it was decided that the date was too close to the week of final examinations.

The minstrel is being directed by Mr. Eli Bloom, Greenville businessman, who has directed and taken part in several similar minstrels given by the Greenville Kiwanis Club in recent years. These minstrels have enjoyed a huge success and it has been stated by many persons that a more capable and experienced director for a show of this type could not be found anywhere in North Carolina.

Under Mr. Bloom's direction rehearsals have been underway for several weeks. Included in the cast are many veterans and a number of girls on the campus. The cast, headed by Clark Stokes as interlocutor, will number approximately 50 or 60.

Emerson Society Gives Xmas Dance Saturday Night

The Emerson Society will sponsor the Christmas Dance on Saturday night, December 14, in the Wright Building. Scotty Gordon will furnish the music.

The sponsors of the dance are "Cooke" Morton of Carolina Beach with Virgil Clark, Martha Jefferson of Fountain with Dave Owens, Sophie Fischel of Vaughan with George King, Mary Lib Rouse of LaGrange with Reid Adams, and Frances Sutton of Kinston with Garland Bailey.

Ann Dail of Kenansville, president of the society, will lead the figure with Bill Craft. Others taking part are: Jewel Jones of Snow Hill, vice president, with Sila Brown; Rosalie Kearney of Camp Butler, secretary, with Jack Harris; Sarah Pickett, treasurer, with A. A. Bland; Anita Sutton of LaGrange, chairman of the decoration committee, with Jack Jones; Mary Humphrey of Kinston, chairman of the refreshment committee, with John D. Finch; Marilyn Maxwell of Greenville, chairman of the chaperone committee, with Mansfield Fischel; Frances Fischel of Vaughan, chairman of the light committee, with Norfleet Johnson; Jayne Griffin of Edenton, chairman of the invitation committee, with Stan Peele; and Nicky Alston of Louisburg, chairman of the orchestra committee, with Earl Butler.

Refreshment committee invited the members to the reception room. In the midst of attractive decorations, Christmas gifts were exchanged and refreshments served.

Student Legislature Passes ECTC Bill To Raise Teachers' Salaries

Winter Quarter Entertainments

Of course Christmas is our next big event for which we have plans, hopes, and high aspirations. Before we realize how everything has come and so suddenly faded, however, the Christmas season of 1946 will have passed, and we will have returned to ECTC. Yes, there is still something to which we can look forward.

January 13, Walter Cassel, a baritone, and Frances Yeend, a soprano, will present a joint recital at 8 p. m. in the Wright Auditorium. Mr. Cassel was so well received in a previous appearance at ECTC with the Metropolitan Opera Quartet that the program committee requested his return. Recently during one of his successful tours he took the lead in singing "The Desert Song" operetta. Frances Yeend is very young, but according to all articles and write-ups her future is a most promising one. Among the songs which Mr. Cassel and Miss Yeend will sing is "Wanting You" by Sigmund Romberg from "Blossom Time" operetta.

March 5, Grant Mouradoff will take the lead in the Fox-hole Ballet presentation. This was a favorite ballet with the G. I.'s overseas. The dances are performed in artistic costumes and are traditionally classic, gay, and picturesque. Mr. Mouradoff has been a leading dancer with the Metropolitan opera and has traveled under the auspices of U. S. O. camp shows. Each performance will be a memorable part of college life for students here.

17 Students Are Chosen For 'Who's Who'

Seventeen students in our midst have been chosen to be listed in the annual publication of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges". The students, all seniors, were chosen by their classmates and approved by a group of student leaders and college officials. This is an honor for the students and the college.

The Students chosen, twelve girls and five boys, are Garland Bailey, Everett Hudson, Harry Jarvis, Douglas Jones, Joseph Lassiter, June Branderberg, Mary Cameron Dixon, Margaret Hall, Elizabeth Hellen, Nora Lee Hinnant, Sallie Margaret Johnston, Mary Hales Lee, Mary Masengill, Omelia Monroe, Jean Roberson, Mary E. Wooten and Florence Davenport.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with one step.

Providing for a 30 percent increase retroactive to the beginning of the current school year, a bill to raise teachers' salaries presented by the ECTC delegation passed without a dissenting vote in both houses of the State student legislature in Raleigh last week-end. Twenty-four colleges were represented.

In the Senate, where the bill was presented by Bernice Jenkins and seconded by Margaret Hall, it passed in record time without discussion. In the house, where Georgia King presented the bill with Jack Currin, seconding, it passed after brief discussion in which it was indicated that perhaps the bill did not go far enough. An amendment to include all state supported colleges was tacked on the measure in the house.

In supporting the act the East Carolina delegates offered statements to prove that the low pay of teachers is a disgrace to the nation as a whole and to the State of North Carolina, one of the poorest paid, in particular. The teacher-pay bill was presented in both houses Saturday afternoon after an extension of the adjournment hour from 12 until 3 o'clock had been voted in each. On a request from that college it was presented also in the name of Elon.

East Carolina's other bill, one providing for qualifications for members of local county, city school boards and local school committees, also passed unanimously in both houses without discussion. This bill headed the agenda in the house after it convened at 3 o'clock on Friday. It was presented by Jack Currin. It was presented by Margaret Hall in the Senate Friday night.

The general trend of the student assembly, which meets each year in the State capitol building, was "liberal". A bill to outlaw closed shops in the State, presented by Catawba college, was soundly defeated in the Senate and tabled in the house. O. Max Gardner Jr., son of the new U. S. Ambassador to Britain and former governor, made the tabling motion in the house. ECTC representatives opposed this bill, as they did one to create a domestic relations department in the State, fostered by State college. The State bill was also defeated in the Senate and amended in the house.

A bill to create a four-year medical college in the State, presented by A. & T. college of Greensboro, one of the six Negro colleges represented this year, was passed unanimously in both houses after it had been amended to provide such a college for members of both races. It was pointed out that the bill as it stood, providing one school for both races, violated the State constitution.

Other progressive acts passed by the assembly included: State Help for Hospitals, presented by Guilford college; Compulsory Free Health Examinations, presented by State; Minimum Wage Law, setting the minimum at 65 cents an hour, presented by Shaw; Eighteen Year Old Vote, by Guilford; Funds for the Indigent Sick, by WCUNC; Medical School Scholarships, by Pfeiffer.

Representatives of six of the State's Negro colleges took an active part in the Student legislature in their first year of attendance. The proposal to offer invitations to Negroes provided a battle royal in the assembly last year, which was decided in the affirmative. Two Negro students served as president pro tem and reading clerk in the Senate. Another Negro was a clerk in the house.

The ECTC delegates were elected at a meeting of the Student council three weeks ago. The Council voted to pay their expenses.

Exchange Teacher Speaks To I. R. C.

Marjorie Kay of Kettering, Northamptonshire, England, who is teaching during the 1946-1947 term in the Raleigh schools, was guest speaker at the International Relations Club on Friday evening, December 6, according to an announcement by Mrs. Nell O. Barnhill of Greenville, student president. Miss Kay, an exchange teacher, discussed with members of the college organization aspects of the educational system in England and compared conditions and policies there with those in our country.

Miss Kay began work in the Raleigh schools in the fall of this year and is teaching there in the first grade. In England, she says, her work was with children from four to eight years of age, and was therefore somewhat similar to what she is doing in the public schools here.

Miss Kay was trained for teaching at Bishop Otter Memorial College at Chichester, Sussex. After finishing college, she began work at Kettering, her hometown, and taught there until she came to this country on the teacher exchange system.

The International Relations Club, before which she spoke, has about 100 members among students and faculty of all departments, and is one of the most active groups on the campus.

Dr. Anderson Assembly Speaker

Dr. Roy N. Anderson, director of the guidance program at State College, addressed the faculty and students on Thursday, December 12, in the Wright Auditorium. An audience of approximately 1300 was present for Dr. Anderson's talk, which was given at noon on the regularly scheduled bi-weekly assembly program, James L. Fleming of the college faculty, chairman of the committee for chapel and assembly, was in charge of arrangements.

Rendis Speaks For Greek Students

Theocharis Rendis, student of civil engineering in the Technical University in Athens, Greece, and a member of the World Student Relief Committee in Greece, talked at the Vesper Service presented by the YWCA and the YMCA at East Carolina Teachers College on Sunday evening, November 24. With Mr. Rendis' visit, the Y organizations on the campus here began their annual drive for the World Student Service Fund. Anne Beddard of Snow Hill, chairman of the World Fellowship Committee of the YWCA, is in charge of the drive.

Mr. Rendis has an unusual and interesting background, and from experience was able to present to students at the college here the needs of fellow students in European countries. During the war he was a member of the executive committee of the Greek underground student organization E. S. A. S. and was engaged both in printing and distributing underground papers and pamphlets and in fighting with guerrilla students. After he escaped from Greece in 1934, he worked in the ministry of Reconstruction in Egypt. Last summer he attended international conferences of students in England and Switzerland.

Annual Play Night January 10th

The annual YWCA and YMCA Play night will be held January 10, 1947 in the Wright Building.

At Play night each organization on campus is to sponsor a booth and try to make as much money as possible. Booths such as bingo, fishing, fortune-telling, penny throwing, and apple bobbing will be opened. The proceeds of this play night will go to the World Student Service Fund Drive. Play night will end the drive for the WSSF which will begin after the Christmas holidays and continue through January 10.

AH! ALONE AT LAST

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year to All Of You THE STAFF

JUST A THOUGHT

During the days of exams, your head is going around in a dizzy whirl, and the hours and the minutes are counted till that wonderful Christmas holiday comes about. It is all going to be one breathless round and that is just the way we love to live our lives. You have the hometown dance on your mind and those friends that you haven't seen for so long a time. There will be those afternoons chocked full of fun, too,—shopping, the sipping of cokes at the drugstore, the movie dates. At home there will be the towering Christmas tree all showered with the shiny tinsel, and there will be presents that you have been yearning for wrapped in that brightly colored paper beneath the tree.

Yes, there will be joyful and jubilant celebrating, but amid this happy Christmas season, do not forget the one for whom the holiday is reserved. Take time out from your whirl to thank God that you might once more have the privilege of celebrating a peaceful season at home with your friends and with your family—Thank God that you were born in the Good Ole United States of America where all men are given a fair chance to enjoy happiness.

TO THE STUDENTS:

This being my last issue of the Teco Echo as editor I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the staff, the student body, and others who have made it possible for me to put out a paper through this quarter. I appreciate the confidence that was shown me when I was elected last year but have found since that I am ill equipped in the field of journalism for handling the paper as editor. However, I am not quitting, only resigning as editor, and hope to be of service in any capacity to the person who is chosen to take over.

I wish to apologize to those who have felt that some articles published were unjustified, but hasten to say that to the best of my knowledge none were published with a malicious intent toward anyone or anything. Some things here, I thought, needed criticism, and there has been no hesitation on my part to do so.

Again, I say, thanks for the cooperation and confidence which you have given me.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you.

Sincerely,
Joe Tew.

Student Spotlight

by Bob Martin

"Two things I will always want are good food and a radio," says Harry Jarvis, current spotlight choice.

Allied with these tastes is a preference for English and Science in the field of education, as these are his majors. Upon graduating in June he plans to continue work in the educational field by attending George Peabody Teachers College for study towards a masters degree in English and educational administration.

Harry is a former G. I. who returned to East Carolina last summer from 24 months service in the Pacific. His home is Hopewell, Va. Numerous extra activities include service as president of Tau Chapter of Phi Sigma Pi fraternity, member of Veterans Club, member of Student Cooperative Council, and he is in charge of Wilson Hall room assignments. Recently, he received further honors by election to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Past years have also included varied activities by Harry such as cheerleader, business manager of Teco Echo and President of the Freshman class.

Special interest for him include photography, writing, sports and appreciation of music of all kinds. His favorite orchestras are Andre Kostelantz and David Rose and favorite "hill William" crooner, Roy Aycuff. As for interest in women he declares "I love them".

Summing up Harry's outlook on life is his statement, "I like people and like to be around people."

narrow down to their normal size of recent years. Charlie, as though he were talking to the nation's top music critic stated, that he felt sure that big bands were here to stay; and at any rate he wasn't going to lower his band personnel."

Charlie Barnett made history and set a new pattern for dance band bookings when he flew with his entire orchestra to Hawaii for a three night stand in Honolulu's Civic Auditorium. Barnett is reported to have received $13,500 for the three dates, which includes transportation costs.

The King Cole Trio has come up with another terrific record titled, "The Christmas Song." This is one of the prettiest Christmas numbers since "White Christmas" first came out. Nat Cole gives out with another exciting vocal, and the trio is backed up by strings.

HE MUST GO TO ECTC!

An Explanation!

Editors Note: Due to an unavoidable event, the publishing of the Teco Echo was held up until Saturday, December 14, 1946. For information as to why it was held-up until today ask anyone who attended the conference in Dr. Cooke's office from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. I don't think that you will find it difficult to find someone who was at the conference.

A Word Of Praise To The Chi Pi Players

The Chi Pi Plapers are to be congratulated for their most successful production of Sir James M. Barrie's humorous comedy, "The Admirable Crichton". For a college group it was a most masterful presentation, and beyond a doubt, everyone enjoyed it tremendously. The acting was extremely good and it was evident that many long hours of work and practice were spent before the perfection was obtained which the audience saw.

Much praise is due to Dr. Lucille Charles, who directed the play. She did a bang-up job, and more of her productions are eagerly awaited by ECTC play-goers.

Because of their success, the Chi Pi Players have proved that the time is certainly near for ECTC to have a dramatic department. Many students would receive this with joy. And it would be a great help to those who plan to be teachers. It is expected of many teachers to do dramatic work as part of their regular duties. Without the proper training they couldn't do so.

If a dramatic department was started, it would be met by a large following of the students.

Because of her varied experience, Dr. Charles would be a very likely candidate to head the department. Having had much experience in the theatre and served as coordinator of a drama series for Columbia Broadcasting system and as director of dramatics in American People's college in Europe, she would be the ideal person for the job.

Yes, the time is certainly near for East Carolina Teachers College to add a Dramatic department to its list of already excellent departments.

Musical Notes

by Stublen

Recently, when Charlie Spivak appeared here at the college, I had a chance to discuss a matter that music critics are debating today. I asked Charlie if he thought the large bands would continue to operate on a large scale in the future, or would they

by Crumming

It all started like this. I was seated under my favorite table at an establishment named Joe's partaking of a few nectars when some uncouth mortal stepped up, slapped me across the face with a bar towel and said in words I cannot print here, "Say, why don't you do something about the way this column Scumming is being written?"

I didn't mind the comment nor his manner of stating it, but I did mind the slap in the face. The bar towel was not my flavor. He had a right to his comment. This column is in somewhat of a rut. From its beginning it has been spreading gossip, making comments, and insulting people. So, if you dear readers, don't mind, we will keep this tradition alive.

Of course some of the comments don't make a lot of sense. You take this one for example. Someone told me to ask Peggy Honeycutt to bark like a dog. Strange? I see no significance in this request. You ask her. Maybe you will get by without being layed on the canvas for the count.

Since I have started, I may as well keep writing. That is what the editor expects. Is anyone interested in knowing why Radar Casey is called, Radar? No? Then I will tell you. It is said that Casey will pick up anything, anywhere and at anytime.

Most of the campus romances get passed around faster than a pair of dice at a fireman's convention but here are a few of the still standing affairs. Mary Moye and Everett Hudson; Ruby Hawkins and Pete Everett; and Evelyn Mills and John Young. Say, Evelyn, is going out with a football star the reason you acquired the broken arm?

Someone please take Edith Starling aside, and tell her the difference between a mule, a horse, and a jackass.

I thought the Zoot Suits Riots of a few years back had done away with the Zoot Suit—I was mistaken. George Kessler is featuring a powder blue pair of drapes and a wide brim hat that not even Al Capp could surpass.

Congratulations are in store for Edith Sutton and Dot Harris. Both started playing Mounted Police and ended up getting their man. Edith brought in Jake Smith, while Dot was hog-tying Richard Bailey. More people are getting married nowadays. I was supposed to get married once. My luck didn't let me down. Her Old Man was loaded but his gun wasn't.

Another item I would like cleared up is: do any of the faculty reside in Goldsboro?

I could keep this up for columns but my favorite table is beckoning. If you have any complaints, take them to the editor. I have my own worries.

Sportsview

by Bill Stubben

As autumn creeps out, we find football also stepping out of the picture. The Pirates, who ended up winning five, losing three, and tying one, was a strong hard-fighting team and no pushovers for anybody. Although this may not sound like a successful season to outsiders, we at the college know better.

The Teachers were sparked, in the backfield, by such men as Ellie "Mr. Expedite" Fearing, who is noted for his brilliant runbacks of punts and kickoffs; Phillips and Pittman, the two great line buckers; and Pete Everett, the slick handed quarterback. In the line, there is no doubt that Shotgun Brown, with his crashing tackles, was most outstanding. The rest of the line composed of Wyatt, Kessler, Pendleton, Sexton, Lee, Winsette, and Tatarski proved to be a promising forward wall; and next year, with the experience of working together behind them, they should be a menace to opposing teams.

The varsity will get plenty of competition next year from this year's replacements. One in particular is Ray Long, scrappy guard. Long has already proved himself by his numerous breakthroughs in Junior Varsity games and in scrimmages with the varsity. Why Coach Johnson didn't recognize this linesman is hard to say; but next year, he should get his chance.

During the Campbell College game, yours truly, the timekeeper, had quite a time stopping the game for substitute players to go in. There was also a conflict, between the two coaches and the officials, over a new ruling in the game. The rule book states that there will be an official intermission just before the last four minutes, the clock must be stopped every time the ball is dead. Coach Smith, of Campbell College, argued that two minutes before the final whistle the rule would go into effect. The rule book quickly settled the matter.

The ECTC cage team didn't show up too well in its opening game with Campbell Junior College, but in the last two games they looked like a promising ball club. Led by Jim Taylor, who hails from Detroit, Michigan, the Pirates came back to rout Louisville College. Monday night, Taylor and Moye were the big guns for ECTC in the last minute defeat by the Cherry Point Marines. It might be noted that the Pirates licked North Carolina State last week.

I'm willing to bet that ECTC has one of the hottest Intramural Basketball Leagues in the country. In one of the opening games, the Elizabeth City "Yellow Jackets" met the Rocky Mount "Lovers", and the game was inclined to be a little on the rough side. For a moment, the crowd didn't know whether to expect a snowbird or a fullback plunge. For real entertainment, you should attend one of these games.

Jean Lane, director of the art department, gave a lecture-demonstration before teachers of the Grifton school on Tuesday afternoon, December 10. In discussing several types of art work in public schools, Miss Lane illustrated her remarks with murals and drawings by students at the college.

Following the lecture, teachers pre-

Rose Leads Flyers To Victory Over Pirates, 48-42

Sparked by the beautiful ball handling and shots of Captain Bob Rose, three year all-southern for the University of North Carolina, the Cherry Point Marine Flyers downed a scrappy ECTC team, 48-42. Pirate five by a score of 48-42. Captain Rose personally accounted for 22 of the Flyers' points and was a standout in defense against the Pirates.

Even though defeated in points the Teachers accomplished a high moral victory, for they were considered a forty point underdog prior to starting time of the thrill packed game. After two minutes of the starting, the Marines realized that they were in for a scrap. Never once were the Flyers able to go above their six point game ending margin. Beautiful teamwork was administered by the Pirates throughout the game, as the individual points certify. Jim Taylor, flashy Pirate forward, paced the Teachers with 10 points, followed closely by Charlie Bill Moye and Larry James, each scoring 9 points. "Shorty" Everton, 6'7 1/2" Pirate center, showed continued improvement as he sank three field goals for six points and exhibited a stellar game of ball-hawking, as he continuously took rebounds out of the Flyers hands. Blaney Moye played his usual bang-up game of defense and ball handling, as he hit the hoop for six needed points.

This reporter is confident of a victory in the return game, for with the support of the entire student body, the Pirates will once again turn out a high scoring, hard fighting, and aggressive basketball team, as in years before. Our hats are off and our praises are high to the Flyers of Cherry Point for their showing of hospitality and sportsmanship.

Intramural Basketball Begins

The Boy's Intramural Basketball League got underway Thursday night, December 5, with six of the twelve teams participating in the hot, amusing cage tilts. The League under the direction of Coach Johnson consist of the Thomasville "Tommies", Rocky Mount "Lovers", Elizabeth City "Yellow Jackets", Stantonsburg "Mules", Greenville, Manteo "Redskins", Elizabethtown "Whiz Kids", Conway "Night Raiders", "Bobcats", and Northern "Yankees".

In the first game the "Mules" overtook the "Tommies" lead in the last few minutes of play and nosed the T'ville boys out by one point, 15-14. W. Exum was high scorer for the winners with 7 points, and Garlan Bailey was best for the losers with six points.

The second contest turned out to be a rough and tumble affair as a number of football players tried to convert themselves to the indoor game. The E-City "Yellow Jackets" won, 21 to 18, over the Rocky Mount "Lovers". C. O. Mullan proved himself as capable a basketball player as a football player and racked up eleven points on five field goals and a foul shot to lead the scoring for the winners. Glover was best for the losers with four foul shots and one field goal for a total of six points.

The last game of the night was a run away affair as the Manteo "Redskins" topped the Greenville Boys, 34 to 16. Wyley Brown collected 12 of his teams points to lead in the scoring for the night. Brother Joe E. Brown was good for eight points for the winners, while Plyler was able to connect for 3 field goals and six points for the losers.

On Tuesday night, December 10, three more teams met on the hardwood to continue the Intramural competition which will last for eleven weeks. The games are being played in a round robin with each team playing every other team in the league once only. At the end of regular play the top six teams will be put into brackets and a tournament will be held to determine the Intramural

Notice!

The Pirates will meet the long bearded House of David Basketball team in an exhibition game on January 6. This will be an extra game which will cost everyone a price of admission to the profits going to the Athletic Association.

Volley Ball Underway

Section S in volleyball has been holding tournaments with two teams made up of girls. The B team of boys had an advantage over the A team and walked off with a 3-0 victory. In the girls, the games were close and usually tied, but the A team got in the lead and won a 3-1 victory. The lineups for the winning teams were —(boys) Everton, Gray, Davis, Kimbrell, Jarvis, and Fulb; (girls) McGranahan, Partin, Keeter, Bostin, Lewis, Tucker, L. Boykin, M. Boykin, and Aycock.

Pirates Won Heated Contest Over Louisburg

Taking the lead early in the first period, ECTC Pirates in a heated contest won over the Louisburg College Wildcats, 51-31.

Showing superb teamwork the Pirates made goal after goal to lead at half time 16-10. The Wildcats got within 4 points of catching the Pirates but Jim Taylor got on the run by stealing balls from his opponents and brought the score up 12 points in the last half.

High scorers for the Pirates were Taylor with 19 points, and B. Moye with 11 points; for the Wildcats, Harrellson and Maxwell with 4 points each.

Tennis Matches Nearing Finals

For the last several weeks the tennis class of Physical Education 21 has been holding a tennis tournament. In the men's singles, Hugh Sutton came out in victory by winning over Mark Little.

In the women's singles, Mary Anne Happer played Jean Hamilton, with Happer winning the championship for the girls singles.

The finals for the doubles have not been played but it is between Sutton-Whitehurst and Little-Toler in the men's doubles; and Fischel-Davenport and Lawyer-Anderson in the women's doubles. May the best teams win.

ACE Holds Meeting

The Association for Childhood Education held its regular meeting Tuesday night, December 10, 1946 in the Education Building. The program was centered around the poem "Everywhere, Everywhere Christmas Tonight," by Phillips Brooks. A copy of this poem was given to each one as he entered. The program began with the reading of the First Christmas, after which the poem was read by Cornelia Mattocks. Christmas stories that have come to us from different parts of the world were told by Grace Johnson, Ada Gray Draughn, Frances Merritt, and Ann Sherian. Everyone enjoyed singing appropriate Christmas carols after each story. A Christmas Carol was sung while the members went to the social room which was decorated for the season, for refreshments.

Camels Defeat Pirates, 43-37

After getting off to what looked like a victory, the Pirates were overcome in the second half of their initial game of the 46-47 cage season by the Camels from Campbell College by a score of 43-37. Tom Cox drew first blood of the season with a long shot that stripped the basket and set the Pirates on their way to a half-time lead of 24-20.

The second half was a different story as the Baptist began hitting the hoop from all angles to take the lead shortly after the second tip off. Greason, tall Camel center, led the scoring for the night by racking up seven field goals and a free throw for a total of 15 points. Hester, fast, ball hawking forward, was second for the winners with nine points.

The scoring for the Pirates was led by Charlie Bill Moye, veteran forward from last years team, who scored nine points for the losers. Moye was also outstanding on defense. Terrell and Doug Jones were second high scorers for the Pirates with five points each.

The highlight of the evening was the spunk and fight of the third string team that was sent in in the last four minutes of the play. In spite of their being the third string, they showed a type of teamwork and spirit that was well needed, and would have probably pulled the game out of the fire had they had a few more minutes of time.

Lenoir-Rhine Takes Game From Teachers

Lenoir-Rhine defeated East Carolina Teachers 6-0 before a crowd of 3,000 in Hickory Friday night, November 22, capitalizing on one of three scoring chances resulting from fumbles by East Carolina.

Lenoir-Rhine had driven to hte ECTC 11 just before the first quarter ended and Shu Carlton at fullback made three more to the eight on the opening play of the second period, but three passes failed and ECTC kicked out. Quarterback Gene Miller, ran the ball back 20 yards to the East Carolina 15. Two plays netted four yards, but here again the ECTC line held. On the first play after taking the ball over on their own 11-yard line, ECTC fumbled. Lenoir-Rhine took the ball over in three plays for a touchdown, the ball being carried over by Ostwalt.

East Carolina had several scoring chances but lost them because of fumbles. One chance came when Henry Andrews intercepted a Lenoir-Rhine pass on the Lenoir-Rhine 21-yard line. ECTC lost the ball on the first play. Another chance came just after Lenoir-Rhine scored when they kicked off to ECTC and Ellie Fearing taking the ball on the ECTC 13-yard line and winning it back to the Lenoir-Rhine 25. ECTC fumbled on the first play and the ball was recovered by Bob Frye of Lenoir-Rhine.

Lenoir-Rhine's rushing attack was good for 159 yards, nine first downs, and no pass completions out of 13 tries. ECTC's rushing attack was good for 99 yards, 6 first downs, and one pass completion in four attempts.

The College gave the first of a series of 26 radio programs over Station WGTC of Greenville and other stations of the Tobacco Network on Thursday evening, November 21. Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, college president; W. E. Marshall, chairman of the college radio committee; and Elizabeth Drake and Dan E. Vornholt of the department of music, appeared on Thursday night's program this week in a series of talks, piano solos, and songs.

CHAPTER REPORTS

Kinston

Twenty-five enthusiastic alumnae met at the home of Mrs. Kirby C. Loftin (Edna Moore) for the purpose of organizing the chapter of the Alumni Association. Mrs. Charles R. Hayes (Lottie Moore) presented Mrs. Clem Garner (Ruth Blanchard), alumni secretary, who brought greetings from the College. She also outlined the goals of the Association and showed how the chapter could help accomplish these aims.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. A. F. Waller (Ruth King), Mrs. Francis A. Edwards (Annie Laurie Kennedy), and Miss Edith V. Harris was appointed and

Greene Speaks To English Teachers

The Greenville-Pitt County Council of English Teachers held the first meeting for the school year on Thursday evening, November 21, and heard Mary H. Greene of the department of English speak on the topic of "Creative Writing". The meeting was held in Greenville at the home of Dr. Meredith N. Posey, president of the council, and included the talk, a round-table discussion of questions related to the teaching composition, and a social hour during which members heard the first program of the East Carolina Teachers College radio series for 1946-1947 broadcast over the Tobacco Network.

Miss Greene discussed the qualifications of the teacher of creative writing and types of students who present problems in advanced courses in composition.

Museum Club Holds Regular Meeting

The Museum Club met for its regular meeting with its advisor, Dr. B. B. Brandt on Wednesday night, December 4, 1946, in the Classroom Building.

There was only a short business meeting on the discussion of sponsoring a booth at Play Night. The club decided to sponsor a booth and appointed a committee to decide on the type of booth to be used.

was asked to report at the next meeting.

The hostesses, Mrs. Loftin, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. J. L. Mills (Ruby Stocks) and Mrs. James Sanderson (Helen Davenport) were assisted in serving chicken salad, iced Coca-Cola and nuts by Mrs. Kirby Loftin, Sr.

Raleigh

The chapter officers: Mrs. Richard Coke (Inez Winfield), president; Miss Hannah Turnage, vice president; Mrs. I. M. Bailey, Jr. (Carolyn Richardson), secretary; Mrs. J. C. Holland (Alla May Jordan), treasurer; and Mrs. Elaine Tunnel Phelps, reporter—were hostesses at a bridge party held at the home of Mrs. Holland.

The house was decorated throughout with red berries and winter greenery.

Mrs. Coke presided at a brief business session.

High, second high and bingo prizes were awarded.

Russian tea, cokes, and nuts were served.

Winston-Salem

On November 14, the Winston-Salem alumni held their second meeting. A nominating committee was appointed to report at the next meeting.

Plans were made for contacting all former students in Winston-Salem and Forsyth County.

Christmas Parade Held December 6

The East Carolina Teachers College Band along with the Greenville High School Band led the Santa Claus parade from the Atlantic Coast Line Depot to the courthouse at 3:30 p. m. on Friday, December 6.

The parade was sponsored by the Merchants Association of Greenville.

The children were one of the features of the parade. They were leading pets, rolling carriages, riding ponies, and riding bicycles. The decorated saddle horses and horse drawn vehicles drew the attention of the crowd. Santa, the most outstanding feature to the children, arrived on a bright red fire truck.

Prizes were awarded for bicycles, pets, ponies, buggies, mules, and saddle horses. The streets were crowded with children and grownups to welcome Santa Claus.

Dr. Posey Staged Oratorical Contest

Winners in a district oratorical contest sponsored by the Good Health Association of North Carolina and held at East Carolina Teachers College on Friday, December 6, were Virginia Dickens, representing Wilson County, and Alton Hill, representing Lenoir County. Fifteen high-school boys and girls from schools in Nash, Lenoir, Pitt, Bertie, Martin, Edgecombe, Wilcox, and Beaufort counties, delivered original speeches on aspects of the good health program in the state. The contests were staged under the direction of Dr. Meredith N. Posey.

Charlie Spivak And His Band Thrill Students

by Bernice Jenkins

"If I were a few years younger, I should like to come to school here," so spoke that man who plays the SWEETEST trumpet—Charlie Spivak.

Resting in the wings of the Wright building stage while his troupe provided thrill music for 1,500 East Carolina students and their guests to dance by, Spivak declared that he enjoyed very much his second trip to Greenville and ECTC on the evening of Tuesday, November 26. "Even more than the first time," he declared after needlessly having explained, "I was here four years ago, you know."

More than 2,000 students and East Carolinians at large stuffed the Wright auditorium to hear the Spivaks perform an hour and one-half concert preceding the dance, which lasted until 12:45 a. m. Wednesday. It was the largest crowd to attend any entertainment at ECTC since the advent of the war and one of the largest ever to attend an event on the campus.

Spivak, the Star Dreamers, Vocalist Tommy Mercer, recently discharged from the army, and the other members of the famed swing band satisfied the audience completely with their rendition of the popular hits of the day.

Among the repertoire were: "Rumors Are Flying," "Night and Day," "Toora-Loora-Loora" and many other popular numbers. The maestro and his troupe offered an orchestra rendition of "Claire de Lune," which he said he was playing especially for Miss Marguerite Austin, chairman of the entertainment committee, who arranged for the concert and dance.

"I get a great kick out of seeing the girls break on the fellows," Spivak told an interviewer. "This is the only place I've ever seen that done. I also notice that there seem to be considerably more men here than there were during my last visit," he added.

He disclosed that his band, which had an engagement downtown, in Greenville the following night, was going from here to Richmond, Va., thence to Hollywood for a three-months stand.

After the concert and dance most members of the band followed an old custom among the male ECTC students in journeying downtown to the Carolina Grill for cheeseburgers and hamburgers. Several of the male students were treated to an impromptu rendition of "In My Arms" by the Star-Dreamer quintet at the Grill.

During our last meeting, the club had a brief orientation on the subject "Should Labor Have a Direct Share in Management on Industry". Bob Russ gave a brief outline on the affirmative and Rosalie Kearney the negative. A short discussion followed.

Gift Service Features Chapel

The YWCA and the YMCA sponsored a white gift service given as a chapel program in the Austin auditorium on Tuesday, December 10, at noon. The service has been a tradition for many years at the college.

A tableau of the scene at the manger, in which Helen Rich of Garland portrayed Mary and Sullivan Nelson of Jackson, Joseph, was the center of interest on the stage. Ruth Krank of Popular Branch read the service as the following representatives of organizations on the campus offered symbolic gifts: Paul Craver of Lexington, YMCA; Fred Martin of Asheville, student government association; Joe Williams of Greenville, Veterans club; Jack Currin of Oxford, Rosalie Kearney of Camp Butner, Nell Battle of Rocky Mount, and Catherine Charles of Ahoskie, the four classes; Josie Keeter of Merry Hill and Everett Hudson of Thomasville, the athletic associations for men and women; Rachel Pleasant of Angier, the literary societies; Frances Bass of Wilmington, the departmental clubs; Kay Mann of Middletown, publications; Jean Roberson of Spring Hope, music clubs; Lorraine Davis of Arrola, church organizations; Margaret Hall of Wooddale, student body; Dorothy Lewis, Marguerite Austin, and Mrs. Agnes Barrett of the college, the alumni, the faculty, and the staff, respectively.

Home Management Students Entertain

Miss Elsie Gray Hunt and Mrs. Robert Kimley, students now living in the Home Management House on the campus, entertained on Wednesday evening, December 6, at a Christmas dinner, at which ten guests were present. Assisting the hostesses were Misses Helen Jones, Maxie Henderson, Ann Miller Parker and Frances Ann Williams, also students in the Home Management House.

Guests who were present were Dr. and Mrs. Dennis H. Cooke, Dean and Mrs. Ronald J. Slay, Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. McGinnis, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Frank, Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Reynolds, and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Duncan.

The home was attractively decorated for Christmas, and the table also carried out the idea of the holiday season.

East Carolina Teachers College had on hand a 34-day supply of coal, according to F. D. Duncan, treasurer. Precautions were taken to make the stock on hand last as long as possible during the present emergency created by the strike among coal miners.

W.S.S.F. Needs Student's Contributions

The W. S. S. F. is an international students organization. Its purpose is to help destitute students all over the world, especially those in the war torn countries of Europe and Asia. This fund provides direct relief for students and professors who are victims of War. It places a special responsibility upon us, the students of America. We have become the hope of democratic people all over the world. We must not let them down.

In foreign countries, today, students and teachers alike are making a valiant attempt to keep a spark of learning alive. They are determined to have an educated and well trained people, to help rebuild their countries. We must help these students for they are the future leaders of their nations. Never in the history of the world has there been two such great ideologies as democracy and communism, come face to face. One believes in free, unbiased education; the other in controlled education. We, the students of ECTC can help our fellow international students, by contributing to the World Students Service Fund. By contributing to them we are virtually saying, "Here is our help! Take courage! Have hope! Learn all you can; for we know that an educated, free, liberty loving people are a peaceful people. No single part of the world can hope to advance alone. Educated countries can move only as fast as the slowest country".

A new era is opening. If we are to have peace; we must have understanding among nations. In order to have understanding you must have education. By contributing to the WSSF, we all fire kindling wood to a slowly growing flame—peace through understanding.

In our Vesper Services on Sunday, November 18, we had as our guest speaker Mr. Rendis, a student of the University of Athens. In his speech, Mr. Rendis described the conditions that University students are living under in Athens, Greece.

He told us of how the boys would line their pants and coats with newspapers in order to keep warm. They do not have beds to sleep on. They lay blankets on the floor. Everyone does not have a blanket so they sleep in shifts each using the blanket for his allotted length of time.

Food is extremely short. Their daily meal consists of some soup, a little piece of cheese and bread. This is an everyday diet, which amounts to 1,200 to 1,600 calories. We need at least 3,000 calories a day to live a normal healthy life. Because of this serious lack of food, the students do not exert themselves by taking exercise. They must do everything possible to conserve their energy. Even when studying, they lie down rather than sit up.

Most of the food that the University of Athens receives comes from UNRRA; however, this international relief organization is being dissolved. Our Secretary of State, James Byrnes, says that conditions in Greece this winter will be worse than last year unless supplies are shipped into Greece. Mr. Rendis mentioned this to us several times. That is why we are striving so hard to raise food and clothing.

All of us can help these students if we bring back a package of food or clothing when we return from our Christmas holidays. These packages that you contribute are to be sent direct, from the Students of East Carolina Teachers College to the students of the University of Athens.

It's Christmas now, and we are going home to our families. This is truly a wonderful time of year for us; we are a fortunate people who have had very much. Christ said, "Blessed is he that gives." We are blessed! We are not hungry! We are not cold! Let us give a package of hope!

College Admitted To Membership In NABTI

The College has recently been admitted to membership in the National Association of Business-Training Institutions. The association, which has been in existence for sixteen years, includes among its members the leading institutions of this country which train teachers of business education and has as its purpose the improvement of the programs of such colleges and universities. Dr. Elvin S. Eyster, head of the department of business education at Indiana University, is president of the national association.

The College was admitted after a thorough investigation of the courses and the type of instruction offered by its department of business education.

Science Club To Sponsor Booth

The Science Club held its regular meeting on December 3, 1946, in Room 3-2, Classroom Building.

There was a short business meeting in which the discussion of sponsoring a booth at Play Night on January 10. The club voted to have a booth which will be decided by a committee.

Following the business meeting the club was entertained by a short program directed by Miss Audrey Feezar. Mr. Luther Nelson and Mr. Thomas Boykins performed chemical demonstrations and explained some ways Dry Ice may be used and how Ammonia may be collected.

At the next meeting there will be an outside speaker for the program.
