ECTC Debaters Capture High Honors In National Tourney

Victorious In Six Of Eight Debates At Fredericksburg

Winning six debates while losing two, East Carolina's negative debate team, composed of Gibbon McNeely and Edward Bright, placed eighth among 90 colleges and universities from all over the country in the Grand National Forensic tournament at Mary Washington college in Fredericksburg, Va., April 3-5.

Robert Russe and Milton Fields, president of the Jarvis Forensic club, won two debates and lost six while defending the affirmative side of the query: "Resolved that labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry."

The University of Pittsburgh debaters were declared grand champions of the tournament, sponsored by the Strawberry Leaf society of Mary Washington.

The East Carolina negative team met teams from the University of Cincinnati, University of Richmond, St. Vincent college of Pennsylvania, Washington college of Washington State, Pennsylvania State college, Maryland college of Tennessee, Seattle college and Lynchburg college. The negative debaters met teams from Agnes Scott, Pennsylvania State, University of Chicago, Washington and Jefferson, Wayne university, Maryville, Gustavus Adolphus and Waynesburg.

Seven of the colleges whose teams ECTC debated placed teams in the top 10. They are Seattle, Richmond, Wayne, St. Vincent, Agnes Scott and Penn State. Wake Forest and the University of North Carolina also sent teams to the tournament.

Dr. Meredith N. Posey, debate coach, accompanied the debaters and judged eight rounds of the debating.

Mrs. Sanders Speaks At Home Ec Meeting

The High School Girl and Her Home Economics Club was the theme of the Home Economics club meeting last week at which the members of the Greenville high school chapter of the Future Homemakers of America were present.

Mrs. Will Frances Sanders, state adviser of the Future Homemakers organization, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, gave a talk on the North Carolina association of the Future Homemakers of America.

Two Added To ECTC Faculty

Dr. Harold C. Jones of Mt. Berry, Ga., and Mrs. Bernice W. Wragg of Huston, Texas will join the East Carolina faculty this summer as teachers of biology and art, respectively, according to an announcement by President Dennis H. Cooke.

Now professor of biology at Berry college in Georgia, where he has taught since 1934, Dr. Jones will replace Dr. B. B. Brandt, who resigned from the East Carolina faculty Christmas to accept a position at State college.

Dr. Jones received his master's degree from Oberlin college in Ohio and the Ph. D. degree from George Pea-

Boygirlogy Student Craft Has Suggestions On Subject

by William Craft

In addition to my school studies of sociology, biology and campusology, I have taken up a brand new ology to study—boygirlogy. To be perfectly plain, boygirlogy is the primary stepping stone to fraternity pins, diamond rings, wedding bands and a knock on the head from a rolling pin.

First, it must be stated that it has been found that boys do like girls and girls do like boys. ECTC is no exception to this fact. There are three types of love-all painful! The he-loves-her-she-doesn't-love-him type and the she-loves-him-he-doesn't-love-her type. Both of these are heart-breaking and bring on excruciating pains. Shakespeare called it unrequited love. (If you can't pronounce it—better get in Dr. Charles' voice and diction class and start some of those drills she has half of the campus doing.) Be careful tho'—I think I overdid myself—at any rate I ended up with the mumps.

The third type which is sweetly

Ten Bids Issued By Phi Sigma Pi

Members of the Tau chapter of Phi Sigma Pi voted to extend invitations to 10 men at a meeting Tuesday night. Those accepting will go through the initiation ritual next Tuesday night, along with eight others tendered invitations after the last meeting.

Those offered membership are Fred Martin, Clarke Stokes, Charles Connor, Joe Tew, James Little, Isaac P. Davis, Gilbert Peel, John Booth, Dallas Whitford and Alton Gray.

The Tau members discussed plans for their annual banquet to be held in May.

Three Received Awards

Mary Massengill and Jean Cox, french majors and Mary Andrews Whichard, spanish major, were awarded achievement diplomas for work in the foreign language field at the national Sigma Pi Alpha convention banquet Saturday at the Woman's club in Raleigh.

Mr. Wragg, who is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college at Nacogdoches, Texas, is now an art supervisor in the city schools of Huston. She has done special study in art at North Texas Teachers college at Denton and holds the master's degree from the Colorado State college of Education at Greeley.

YW, YMCA Delegates To Attend Retreat

YW and YMCA of East Carolina will be represented at the North Carolina spring retreat April 25-27 at Camp Nawakwa, Greensboro "Y" camp at which the theme will be "The Christian Imperative."

Delegates from the YWCA will be Alma Arrington, incoming president, Josephine Herring and Myrtle Davis, also serving on the "Y" cabinet next year.

Nick Fokakis, Paul Craver, Earl Sawyer and Ralph Garganus will be delegates from the YMCA.

ACE Entertains At Dinner Party On Anniversary

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of the founding of the college branch of the Association for Childhood education, members of the organization entertained at a dinner in the south dining room on last Friday evening. Approximately 100 guests were present.

Frances Merritt, president of the ACE on the campus, presided and introduced numbers presented on the program during the evening. Special guests included Dr. and Mrs. Dennis H. Cooke; Mary Lou Butner of Washington, D. C., an alumna of the college and former president of the ACE; Jane Hadley, president of the Greenville ACE; teachers of the Training school; representatives of student organizations on the campus; and various faculty members.

A large birthday cake was the centerpiece on the guest table. As part of the program Miss Merritt lighted a candle for each of the ten years of the organization and introduced a speaker who outlined the annual accomplishments of the ACE.

Among those taking part in the program were Sally Margaret Johnston and June Brandenburg, who gave a program of music and the following speakers: Ellen Clark, Betty Sue McGee, Annie Lou Bobbitt, Ruth Gray Edmundson, Emma Gurley, and Ruth Lassiter. Miss Mary H. Greene. Miss Butner, and Miss Hadley also made short talks.

Doctor Cooke was the principal speaker of the evening. Citing incidents from American history, he stressed our changing national "loves and hates" and explained the frequent fallibility of our attitudes to imperfect understanding of issue and to faulty vision.

Misses Dora Coates and Cleo Rainwater are the faculty sponsors of the ACE.

'Concert Satirist' Henry L. Scott Will Appear in Wright Building On Tuesday

Heralded as a "concert satire" artist, Henry L. Scott, musical comedian, will try his hand (both of them) at amusing an East Carolina audience as the final presentation of the entertainment series in the Wright building at 8 p. m. next Tuesday, April 22.

Concert satire, according to Scott, is based on the premise that humor has a place in the concert hall as much so as on the stage, in literature or in the plastic arts. Accordingly, in a series of numbers entitled "A Great Concert Pianist," "Chopin in the Citrus Belt," "Little Boy Genius Grows Up," "Rhythm at any Cost" and "Mitten on the Keys," Scott will satirize some of the follies and amiable weaknesses of the music world.

In these numbers the humorist pokes fun at affectation of fellow musicians, traces the progress of a spoiled darling of the keyboard from his first recital at the age of five to the age of 80 when he is still spoiled, and displays his peculiar trade mark—the mitten.

Scott claims the piano-playing speed record of 44 2-3 notes a second, established in 1937 while giving an accurate rendition of a rapid passage based on Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody."

MUSICAL MAYHEM—Henry L. Scott in a typical position as he murders the keyboard and various personalities in his "concert satire," which he will present in Wright Auditorium Tuesday night.

Southeastern IRC Convention Will Convene Here Next April

Northern Division Accepts Kimbrell's Invitation To ECTC

The northern division of the Southeastern International Relations conference has accepted an invitation to hold its annual convention at East Carolina in April, 1947.

Jack Kimbrell, president of the East Carolina International Relations club, tendered the invitation at the meeting this year at Randolph-Macon college in Ashland, Va., on Friday and Saturday of last week. When the conference meets here next year, Kimbrell will act as student chairman.

Several internationally famous speakers will be present for the 1948 meeting, wherever it is held.

Nick Fokakis, vice-president of the IRC here, accompanied Kimbrell to the meeting this year. Kimbrell took part in a round-table discussion on "The Far East—Nationalism vs. Imperialism," while Fokakis participated in a discussion of "The United Nations—Collective Security or Balance of Power."

Dr. Howard E. Wilson, representative of the Carnegie foundation, sponsor of the IRC, and Dr. William J. R. Thorbecke, Netherlands diplomat and author, were the principal speakers of the conference, which had as its theme, "Peace Through Understanding."

The conference this year included representatives from clubs located in colleges in most of the States of the southeastern seaboard. It was voted to divide the conference into northern and southern divisions. The northern division, which accepted the ECTC invitation includes North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia and possibly South Carolina.

Honor Roll Made By 161 Students

A total of 161 East Carolina students made an average grade of two or better for the winter quarter and are therefore eligible for the most recent honor roll.

The total was almost evenly divided among the two sexes, there being 81 men and 80 women on the roll. Men students, making up only 46.6 per cent of the winter quarter enrollment, make up 50.3 per cent of the honor roll.

Of the 81 men making the roll, 51 are freshman, 13 sophomores, 4 juniors and 2 graduate students.

Of the 80 women eligible for the honor roll, 9 are freshman, 21 sophomores, 15 juniors, 30 seniors and 5 graduate students.

Eighteen seniors on the roll were doing practice teaching last quarter and carrying only one other course.

Two From ECTC Attend Congress

Representing the Phi Sigma chapter, Mary Andrews Whichard, spanish major, and Ella Cashwell, french major, attended the 16th National congress of Sigma Phi Alpha, national honorary foreign language fraternity, last Saturday at Meredith college in Raleigh.

A chapter report was presented by Mary Andrews Whichard, president of the local chapter.

A reception and tea were given at Meredith college following the convention. Saturday evening a banquet and formal dance were given by the fraternity at the Woman's club.

Pickett Elected Head Of Emerson Society

Sarah Pickett was elected president of the Emerson society for 1947-48, at a meeting of the society, April 10.

Other officers elected were: Nell Marie Webster, vice-president; Mary Humphrey, secretary; Christine Gray, treasurer; and Jo Herring, Eloise "Cooker" Morton, and Nell Webster, marshalls.

Invitations Planned

Members of the senior class met last week to plan the most convenient method of collecting money for the graduation invitations which will arrive C. O. D. in early May.

Mary Elizabeth Wooten was selected as temporary secretary.

'Snow White' Cast Is Named

The Chi Pi players and the Greenville chapter of the American Association of University Women will join forces in presenting a dramatic production of the ever-popular fairy tale, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," on May 8 and 9 for the benefit of children in the city public schools.

Dr. Lucile Charles of the English department will direct the production and Hubert Bergeron will be student director.

The AAUW, of which Miss Emma L. Hooper of the college faculty is president, will underwrite a major portion of the expenses of the production and will assist in planning and publicizing the performances.

Casting has been completed and rehearsals started. Heading the cast of the play will be Hennie Ruth Whichard as Snow White; Elizabeth Tripp as Queen Brangomar; Virgil Clark as Sir Dandiprat Bombs; Robert Musselwhite as Berthold; and Tom Rowlette as Prince Florimond (Charming). All are natives of Greenville.

Others who will have leading parts are Charles Connor, William Casey, Aimel Casey, Charles Williams, Robert Wheeler, Adreby Rogers, and Bradley Echhoff as the Seven Dwarfs; Johnnie Collins as Witch Hx and Lola Stevenson as the peddle woman.

ORCHIDS DUE

Brought into sharp focus for East Carolina campus citizens by the presentation of two outstanding entertainments in the space of one week is the work of the entertainment committee.

Under the capable direction of Misses Ellen Caldwell and Marguerite Austin of the faculty, the committee has offered an unbroken chain of popular hits over the last two years. One of the most pleasing presentations presented this year was the Charlie Spivak swing band, following up presentation of Tommy Tucker last spring.

But perhaps the best received program to be offered this year was the four-piano quartet which played here last fall. Students, faculty and outsiders alike also voiced strong approval of the Yeend-Cassel concert and the most recent success—the North Carolina Symphony orchestra.

Next Tuesday the committee is slated to score again with the presentation of Henry L. Scott, popular piano musician and comedian who is predestined to be a huge success at East Carolina.

To Misses Caldwell and Austin and to the members of their committee should go the thanks and commendations of the students for their untiring and successful effort.

OUT OF THE DOLDRUMS

At the North Carolina Education association's 1947 convention R. L. Fritz Jr., a South Piedmonter, was elected president.

Mr. Fritz' victory clearly indicates that the association is tired of the old conservative leadership and wants an aggressive administration that will stand up and fight and demand what it wants.

Fritz and his followers' ability to do this was shown clearly during the recent General assembly. As a leader of the so-called South Piedmont plan, he (and others) felt that the NCEA leader's request of a 20 per cent raise was too little, so they adopted the South Piedmont plan which called for increases of up to 68 per cent. Tar Heel teachers responding in great numbers backed this plan eagerly. Unfortunately the plan fell through, for they couldn't get the backing of the meek and conservative NCEA leaders. President Charles W. Phillips and Vice-President Claud Grigg, who, in the opinion of many, were working more for the state politicians than teachers.

The South Piedmonters were described as radicals and rebels because they favored the 68 per cent top pay increase. This may sound like a large increase, but when compared to salaries paid to teachers in other states, actually the total would be not very great.

Fritz' acceptance address at the convention brought this out.

"Equal opportunity in North Carolina is a myth because there can be no equal opportunity without equal educational advantage," he said. "There is no equal educational advantage because there is no true equalization of financial effort."

He further stated that teachers should not have been forced to ask for additional pay, but the State and General assembly should have given it of their own accord.

With Fritz as president and South Piedmonters A. C. Dawson as vice-president and Mrs. Lucille Allen as president of the division of classroom teachers, there is reason to believe that the NCEA has obtained the stimulus it needs, and will throw away the old conservative methods of doing things and use bold aggressive tactics to demand and obtain the salaries North Carolina teachers so rightfully deserve and need.

BESIDES, WE CAN'T SLEEP

The conduct of a small minority of students at recent showings of movies in Austin building has been far from commendable. Groups of students have been seen who insist upon talking aloud throughout the entire show, causing annoyance and distraction for those seated around them.

Apparently, there are a few others who are content to make loud and supposedly witty (?) comments at various intervals during the show.

Conduct could be improved if these students took into consideration that there might be a few others who hadn't seen the show before and were more interested in it than in the conversation of their neighbors.

Dining Hall Problem

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series of articles prepared by the supervisors of the dining hall staff explaining their problems in attempting to meet student's demands for healthful, appetizing food.)

We appreciate the cooperation of students who eat in the North Dining hall who have helped us in the new method of taking care of dirty dishes.

As some of you already know our waste food is sold to a farmer to feed his hogs. Last week some one thoughtlessly broke a broken glass or broken glasses into the waste food can. As a result two hogs

Non Credit "Phys-Ed"

New Director To Face Complaints On Non-Credit Physical Education

Beginning next fall East Carolina will have a new head—a man with a Ph. D.—for its department of physical education. According to President Dennis Cooke, Dr. Niphi M. Jorgensen has accepted the headship of the department.

One of the first and most pressing problems facing Doctor Jorgensen will be revision or elimination of the non-credit required physical education classes. Student complaints about non-credit "phys-ed" as it is now set up are loud and many.

In the first place the purpose of non-credit physical education is to insure at least a minimum amount of physical activity for all the students. Many students believe that as it is now operated, with classes meeting twice a week spread over several days and with such activating subjects as ping pong and "social dancing" offered, it cannot achieve its purpose.

But even granting that such courses offered at such intervals could stir the blood of a sedentary student, they could not do so under the present circumstances of East Carolina non-credit physical education. The entire program is resented by the large majority of the students, as would be any program of compulsion without credit or without any immediate compensation evidenced. This resentment extends to the students who teach the courses—physical education majors who are paid $10 a quarter for a course. One such student instructor declared recently: "I hated the stuff as bad as they did. I just marked everybody pre-died having eaten this glass. This loss amounted to a considerable sum of money at the present price of hogs. We are asking everyone to please be careful with the glasses, but if a glass is accidentally broken by all means keep it out of the waste food. Also please try to keep the silver out of the garbage. We still have not been able to get but one small delivery on silver within the past year.

Remember, When serving yourself food, take only what you know you can eat.

Do You Agree?

By Johnny Corey

For centuries men have been asking themselves the age-old question, what they think of women. Because (to men and other women) women are so baffling and mysterious, its no doubt they'll be asking this question for ages to come.

Since ECTC is so infiltrated by such a vast number of them, we can see no reason why the fair sex shouldn't be discussed here. So some of ECTC's more handsome type of men, who appeared to be well versed on the subject, were asked, what they thought of East Carolina women. Some of them were rather reluctant to commit themselves, particular the ones "going steady." Others were proud of the privilege to get it off their chests.

Jim Taylor—"ECTC women are the biggest line shooters in the world. They accuse a boy of shooting a line, while all the time they're shooting a bigger one. There sent whether they were there or not!" Many of the students conducting the classes appear at the appointed places at the appointed hours, check the roll or make a pretense of doing so, then disappear, along with most of their students. Few of the instructors ever try to force a student to take part in one of the activities listed.

For this reason, and because it would be extremely difficult to force any student to take part in any physical activity unless he desired to do so, many of the students who attended the non-credit physical education classes seldom or never take part in the activity. Often they sit and watch or work on other class assignments or do any number of things rather than the designated activity. Usually these are the very students for whom the program was organized and who probably actually need more exercise than they actually get. Those students who take part in the "sport" at the appointed times are the students who are getting plenty of exercise anyway.

What Doctor Jorgensen should do or will do about the program is not known. It has been suggested that an hour's credit be offered for the sports. This would provide the necessary incentive and reduce the resentment of the students. They certainly would not resent buying necessary equipment to take part in a course which offered them an hour of credit as much as they resent doing so at present for no credit.

Whatever is done, non-credit physical education should be the first thing called to the attention of the new department head.

are a few exceptions."

John Heath—"East Carolina women aren't stuck-up like the ones at Duke. I get along with them swell."

Jimmy Frye—"Well, I think they are all-reet. Everyone I know seems to enjoy the things I like, so why should I complain."

Harold Woolridge (married)—"ECTC women are average, but I remain partial to Virginia women."

Paul Craver—"The girls are getting too independent. A year ago they would do anything for a date. Now they are trying to pull that old 'come and get me' routine."

Frankie McCotter—"I think they are nice cute girls. They have good manners, easy to get along with, and have no conceit."

(Note — It seems that Miss Annie L. Morton, dean of women, was mis-quoted in the last column of Do You Agree. According to Miss Morton, she did not say merely "the student's conduct is very satisfactory," but stated "student's conduct has improved since last fall." This mistake is regrettable.)

Scumming

by the Keyhole Korrespondent

We were left out the last time, so any relation this week between this column and trash is purely coincidental. So pull up your chairs and sit back while we make a round of the campus. If mud gets in your eye wipe it out with the tablecloth. Any complaints? Then write a letter to the editor. This paper needs some life!

Margaret White has J. D. Baldree altar-bound and gagged. Ditto, Jeanne Brown and Annette Pridgen and their suckers.

Doris Simpkins have you read your handbook? Isn't there enough night life in the dormitory?

John Fleming disappointed a lot of girls when he got married. Oh, well, such is life, and he does have some cute friends.

Lydia Long does love those convertibles with good looking men in them. It's too bad she couldn't ride through Mebane with the top down as she planned.

Willie Warner (that cute boy) is back with Nora Lee again.

It looks as if Joyce Younce is trying to get on the good side of some of the student officials for next year, judging from her associates.

Washington has nothing on us—we have a "First Lady" too—Ruth Muriel Lassiter.

Oh, these seniors have priority on all the good looking men! Take Betty Joyce and Keith Hudson, for example.

Miriam Harper and Frank Booth make Romeo and Juliet look like pikers.

"Slobberlips" Taylor must have found Sue Henderson caught in a snare—don't know how else he'd get her.

"Gib's" a goat girl, but she will eat those onions. Oh, me!

Louise Batemen seems to have "Tuck'd" another one in her pocket.

All the high school girls have gone mad, simply mad, over Bob Martin's manly physique.

Harry Jarvis' exercises in his speech class all sound like "Emilliee."

"Skeet" Whichard and Ella Cashwell seem to have had quite the time at a foreign language convention. "Beautiful frat houses," they say.

Understand that Georgia and Bernice both got cases of poison oak. Now, just wonder how that came about.

It seems to be a toss-up between Dwayne Thompson and John Pournaras over "Mut" Andrews in affairs of the heart.

Rosalie Kearney has most of the boys walking around with a "come hither" look in their eyes.

Mariam Early and George Wynn apparently have that "lasting romance" everyone hears so much about, but no one has.

Edith Moore, don't you find those Smiths confusing?

Mary Potter and Pert Wells have every one guessing as to when they are going to get married.

Frances Brown and Frankie McCotter (the Kid) have been sitting around a log lately.

Struttin' Rosa Asbell keeps the men curious.

We would like to see more of the little lady (Gerry) from Chicago, who made a host of friends while on the campus. Okay, Zeke, get busy.

The top of the crop to you, chum!

Student Spotlight

by Ella Cashwell

Mimi "The Voice" Tripp is the hazel-eyed petite blonde whom you saw as the featured singer in the Veteran's Minstrel recently.

She started her singing career when she was 11 and since that time has appeared in operettas, chapel and assembly programs and recitals. Oddly enough, she doesn't sing in the bathtub. I was disillusioned for I thought all singers did. (Singers or not, they do on our hall.)

I received another shock when after coyly asking her age, she very frankly told me, 20, and, furthermore, told me I could publish it. Most of the girls I interview feel that they are either too young or too old to want their age known.

A senior music and English major Tripp (as she is known to her friends) will graduate in August. Mimi acquired the nickname Tripp through the pun "Is this Tripp necessary?" "Bet Denton thinks so," wise-crack friends when meeting her on campus. Edgar Denton is the man in her life as anyone with half an eye would know upon spying that "rock" on her finger. As to plans for the future she is going to get married. "Who wouldn't?", I asked. "Who couldn't?", she tossed back at me.

A lyric soprano, "the highest, you know" (I didn't till she told me.) she has been in the glee club for four years. Her other activities include membership with the FTA, Emerson society ensemble and the orchestra. She said that I'm not supposed to tell you that she plays the violin and clarinet, but now that her back is turned I'll tell you just to ignore her for she can. So there, too.

Although Tripp is a Greenville resident she lives in the dormitory, third-floor Cotton to be exact. Here every few nights and into the wee hours Carolyn Brown, Sarah Pickett, Lillian Joyner and "Corny" Beems gather with roommate "Lib" Worthington for the purpose of telling jokes. What kind? Why, good ones, naturally. Denton keeps her posted on the latest ones, it is understood.

"The Voice" likes to listen to the pick-up and especially likes to dance. She was doing both the day I interviewed her. The only unusual thing about it was that she had a broom in her hand and was cleaning up for general inspection at the same time.

As a rule she dances "For Sentimental Reasons" with Denton. She likes classical music, too, with "Clair de Lune" rating high. "I like most nearly anything, most nearly, that is." Incidentally, "most nearly" is her favorite expression.

In her idle hours "The Voice" (newly dubbed by me—though I believed I promised her I would not tell anyone that I called her that—so, keep it to yourself, will ya?) likes to be with Edgar. They knock off fried chicken and lemon pie, at Tripp's insistence. Denton usually isn't interested in food when Mimi's around. Ah, now we wonder why, or do we?

(Note: This time I quote with permission.) "If I had 50 dollars I'd buy a trailer and live at Chapel Hill. That is, if I had 50 dollars."

Sports
HermBy
Bernard West

When an athletic team from another school or organization visits our college to engage one of the Pirate athletic squads in a contest, we naturally want that team to depart carrying full respect for our college.

To accomplish this we must see to it that the visitors are treated cordially as possible. In other words, we should treat them as we would treat guests in our homes. Showing good, clean sportsmanship will always be a deciding factor towards developing a good reputation and gaining respect.

Little or no lack has been shown, at least to this writer, in this phase of gaining the respect of visiting teams. However, there is one cog in the wheel of East Carolina cordiality toward visiting teams that is in need of adjustment.

The visitors' dressing, toilet and sleeping quarters are definitely way below par for a college as large as ours. New lockers are needed, the showers need repairing, the beds need cleaning and other toilet facilities demand repair. The entire quarters are in drastic need of a thorough restoration. A complete readjustment of that important cog in the wheel of East Carolina cordiality is a very worthy project that could be accomplished easily and cheaply.

In my last column, I mentioned the fact that a basketball scoreboard is needed in our gymnasium.

This brings out the fact that a baseball scoreboard is also a necessity that is lacking on our athletic field. Here is a project for any ambitious carpenter about the campus who wish to do something worthwhile for their Alma Mater.

It would be a great aid to both players and fans alike. The scorekeeper, who is kept busy enough tending to his records, is continually interrupted from all sides as to what the score is, or as to what the inning is. If there is anyone who would like to construct a scoreboard (which would be a simple task), I feel sure that the college would furnish the materials and tools.

Our baseball team, as everyone can easily perceive, hasn't thus far been exactly up to par. On the other hand, neither have the fans who witness the games been up to par.

This is a decided disadvantage to our boys, and it is a strong possibility that this is one reason for their lack of winning punch.

Some of the remarks that are made in the stands are generally intended to be jokes, but sometimes they do more harm than good.

During the entire first three games that were played, not a cheer was led by a cheerleader. In fact, very few cheering cheers were voiced for our side during any of the games. School spirit is definitely lacking, and it shouldn't be so. It gives a team spirit when it knows it has fans backing it. And for a team to know that its side is backing it, it must be shown; to show the team that is being backed, a little spirited noise in the form of cheers must be produced by the fans.

When the Pirates play here again, come on out all you baseball fans and show our Buccaneers we appreciate their efforts by "rooting" for them whether they're up or down!

Dr. Niphi M. Jorgensen To Direct Physical Education Program

Present Vallejo, Calif., College Director
Will Join East Carolina Staff Next Fall

Dr. Niphi M. Jorgensen, currently director of physical education at Vallejo college in Vallejo, Calif., has accepted the position of director of the department of health and physical education at East Carolina.

According to an announcement from President Dennis H. Cooke, Doctor Jorgensen will begin his duties here at the beginning of the 1947 fall term in September.

Doctor Jorgensen, who received his B. S. degree from Utah State college, M. S. from the University of Oregon and Ph. D. from Iowa State university, has had extensive experience in teaching physical education.

He has taught at the University of

East Carolina
Lassies Rate High
In Carolina Meet

At the Play Day program held in Chapel Hill April 12, 14 members of the East Carolina WAA represented the local college.

The ECTC lassies garnered third place in the Olympics. The Olympics, which was the main event of the program, consisted of a baseball throw contest, a 50-yard dash and a shuttle relay.

Ten North Carolina colleges were represented at the annual affair. The colleges were Meredith, WC, Guilford, Peace, St. Mary's, High Point, Queens, East Carolina Teachers, Duke and Carolina.

Pirates Rack Up
First Victory
Of 1947 Season

by Jack Hedgepeth

East Carolina's Pirates won their first game of the '47 season here yesterday afternoon, when Bob "Lefty" McCotter, freshman from Vandemere shut out the Atlantic Christian college Bulldogs, 1-0, in a nine-inning thriller.

McCotter, who had a record of eight wins and one loss with Oak Ridge Military institute in 1943, hurled brilliant ball throughout the game, limiting the Bulldogs to five hits—all singles—and striking out nine men. He was the first ECTC pitcher to go the route this year. He was in trouble only once, that in the eighth inning. With two men on base by virtue of a hit and a fielder's choice, Davis of ACC lifted a tremendous drive to centerfield, which Sam Stell, Pirate centerfielder took on the run for the final out.

McCotter received errorless support from his teammates, who played by far their best game of the year.

The Pirates collected eight hits in beating J. D. Throne, Bulldog pitcher, who is one of the leading hurlers in the North State conference. George Wynne, Sam Stell and Garland Little collected two hits apiece, while Ben Hester and Russell Galord each garnered a single.

East Carolina loaded the bases in the sixth, but was unable to score. Garland Little, leading Pirate hitter, got his second hit of the day. Stell sacrificed Little to second. Larry James walked to first when hit by a pitched ball. Gaylard gained first on a fielder's choice, filling the sacks. With weather threatening, the Pirates attempted a squeeze play, but Little was caught in a run-down between third and home when the signal became crossed.

The winning run came in the eighth inning. George Wynne, who handled McCotter's pitching effectively, got his second hit of the day—a single to the right of second. He went to second when the attempted play at first was erred and moved to third on a passed ball. A moment later he scampered home with the winning run when Thorne uncorked a wild pitch.

Score by innings:

Buccaneers To Battle NATTC
In Contest At Norfolk TodayDeacs Batter Pirates, 11-0;
Quakers Blast Out 12-8 Win

Wake Forest's Demon Deacons broke loose with a 14-hit barrage here Saturday afternoon April 5, to completely outclass the Pirates, 11-0, in a baseball game marked by the slugging of the Deacons's first baseman, George Edwards.

Edwards collected a homer, double and two singles in five attempts to lead his team at bat. Whitner smacked out a homer with none aboard in the sixth.

The Deacons's big inning was the second when they scored four runs on as many hits. They picked up one run in the third when Edwards led off with a double and came home on Hook's single through short. Three more were added in the fourth when Red Cochran doubled home Edmunds who had singled. Cochran came home a moment later when Edwards got his third hit, a single to center.

The inability to get a base hit when needed was evident Saturday when the Pirates loaded the bases three times with one out, only to have the scoring chances erased when Wake Forest pulled three double plays.

George Wynne, Pirate catcher had a perfect day at bat, slugging out two singles in two tries.

The fielding gem of the day came when Sam Stell, Pirate center fielder, made a running one-handed catch of Whitner's drive to right center in the fifth inning.

Little, Jones and Murphy handled the mound duties for ECTC with George Wynne and George Wood on the receiving ends.

Doc Newton's Guilford Quakers, who were held hitless the previous Thursday by a trio of ECTC hurlers, found the range here April 4, blasting out 11 safe blows, to top ECTC 12 to 8 in a free-scoring ball game.

Tommy Jones, George Rawls and C. Stamey were the leaders in the Guilford assault. Jones collected four singles in five appearances at the plate, one coming with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Rawls had a double and two singles in five attempts, and Stamey drove out three singles in five appearances.

Bray, Powell and Jamieson held the Pirates to two singles, but their generosity in issuing 14 free passes to first enabled the Pirates to score eight runs. Jamieson gave up both the ECTC hits in the last three innings.

The Quakers scored three runs in the first inning on two errors, a hit batter, and Jones's single to left. They were never behind after that.

ECTC scored five runs in the seventh inning on five free passes to first and an infield hit by James Hudson. Micky Wetherington collected the second ECTC hit, a single to center in the ninth inning.

Coach Cameron made frequent substitutions in an attempt to find a working combination.

Mild-Mannered Garland Little
Pirates' Biggest Mound Gun

The screwball that he tosses with such devastating effect has nothing to do with the nature of mild-mannered, short, stocky Garland Little, ace left-hander of the Pirate mound staff.

Garland hails from the big little city of Ayden. He paced the Ayden high school baseball chunkers for three years before graduating from that school in 1943. He once pitched a no-hit game in an independent league organized in the Ayden section.

Now a sophomore Garland plans to continue his studies at East Carolina until he graduates. He is majoring in physical education, with aspects toward a coaching career.

The 1946 Buccaneer nine saw Garland showing his stuff for the first time at East Carolina. Strike-out king of the Bucs, he blazed third strikes by 19 befuddled Oak Ridgers in one of his best performances last season.

Last summer he played semi-pro baseball with Edenton, and gained wide recognition as an outstanding hurler. Garland ended the season for Edenton with a record of 14 wins and four losses.

An ex-GI, Garland spent two years in the army.

Baseball is the only sport the curly-haired brunet participates in at East Carolina.

Varsity Club Plans
May Day Dance;
Admits Members

The Varsity club has been busy in the past few weeks initiating new members, and laying final plans for the dance to be held May 3.

The new members include men from the '47 basketball squad and '41 baseball team. The one man from the baseball team is John Thigpen of Williamston.

The men initiated on the merits of their '47 basketball ability are: Jim Taylor, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Cecil Hill, Richlands; Jack Everton, Columbia; Russell Gaylord of Beckwith; and Charlie Bill Moye of Greenville.

The annual Varsity club dance, with the music being furnished by the "Collegians" is being presented in honor of the Varsity club sweetheart and the May Queen and her court.

The dance will be the climax to the May Day festival.

ALUMNI NEWS

CRAVEN COUNTY ALUMNI ORGANIZED IN NEW BERN

Howard P. Carpenter was elected president of the Craven County Alumni chapter at its organization meeting held on Thursday evening, April 10, at Hamilton's Sea Food Cafe in New Bern.

Other officers elected were J. H. Ippock, vice-president; Miss Helen Wetherington, secretary; and Miss Clara Elizabeth Laughinghouse, treasurer.

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke brought greetings from the college, and gave some of the plans for future development. He was presented by Mrs. A. E. Brown (Hannah Cuthrell) who had called the group together.

Allie Mitchel Dilday, a 1947 graduate, gave a toast to Mrs. Clem Garner (Ruth Blanchard), alumni secretary, who showed how the chapter could help the Alumni association accomplish its goals.

Mrs. W. F. Dowdy (Georgia Keene) acted as toastmistress. She recognized the 24 alumni present and the guests—Dr. and Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Garner.

GREENVILLE CHAPTER

Members of the Greenville chapter enjoyed a social hour at their regular monthly meeting on Friday evening, May 11. Bridge and set-back were played. Mrs. Lonnie Webb (Eleanor Burney) won high score. Mrs. D. M. Williford (Nannie Elks) and Mrs. L. M. Roebuck (Roland Lewis) tied for low.

Mrs. Janie Jackson Simmons, Mrs. Chester Walsh (Catherine Hill), Mrs. Roebuck, Miss Frances Smith, Sam Strickland and Ellis Bedsworth served refreshments.

WEDDINGS

Alumnae continue to change their names. The latest ones to do so are: Tucker Lynch of Goldsboro and William Pope Lyon of Smithfield.

Billie Wilson Broden of Ayden and Norman M. Dalton, Jr. of Boston, Mass.

Edna Ippock of Greenville and Ronald Earl Jensen.

Margaret Anne Johnson of Greenville and John David Gardner.

Feodor Elected

Audrey Feodor, sophomore has been elected new president of the Science club for the 1947-1948 school term.

Other officers include Josie Joyner, vice-president; Lola P. Stephenson, secretary-treasurer; and Floyd R. Collins, public relations director.

Club Sponsors Dance

"Sail on Ye Mighty Ship Commerce" was the theme of the annual formal dance sponsored by the Commerce club and presented April 12 with music furnished by the Collegians.

CONCERT

spread: "The staid audiences of piano concerts are having their staid composites slightly but pleasantly rattled this season when an earnest young man strides onto the stage, bows in the concert manner and suddenly proceeds to slaughter the musical classics with fists, elbows, mittens and assorted fruit. The young man is Henry Scott, who has made himself musically famous as a concert humorist by playing such renditions as "How the Lost Chord Got Lost" and "Bach Goes the Weasel," interspersing the rendition with imitations of a young lady taking a cold bath."

Scott will also include a classical section in his program featuring Scarlatti, Chopin and Liszt. A third section of the program will include swing impressions of leading modern popular piano styles in concert impressions of Eddy Duchin and others.

Modern Dance Group Of Duke To Appear Here On April 29

The Modern Dance Group of Duke university will present a dance recital here under the direction of Madena Lewis on April 29 at 8 p. m. Marion Willoughby will be the accompanist.

The program is being sponsored by the East Carolina Physical Education department, in another one of their series of entertainments.

A small admission will be charged to attend the recital to pay the expenses of the members of the dance group, according to Miss Nell Stallings.

Some of the dances to be presented are pantomimes of old ballads and other phases of conditions that occur in life. Such dances include "Henry Martyn," an English ballad cherished by American folksingers. Another dance, "Horror Stricken," attempts to portray the emotional reaction of the early American populace toward the practice of witchcraft.

These and several other dances and poems will provide an entertaining evening for those who wish to attend this event.

The recital will be held in the Austin auditorium if conditions warrant it possible. In case the auditorium is in use that evening, the program will take place in the Wright gymnasium.

"Students are urged to attend this educational and entertaining event," declares Miss Stallings.

STUDENT AFFAIRS DIRECTOR
—Mr. W. E. Marshall, who was appointed recently by President Dennis H. Cooke as the first director of student affairs at East Carolina.

Chandler Speaks On Wells Story

Miss Mamie Chandler, Methodist student worker, summarized the story of the sighted stranger by H. G. Wells in her chapel address Tuesday of this week.

"We must learn the values that Jesus taught if we are to understand eternity," the speaker stressed. She further suggested that "we live this life as though it were in truth a preparation for eternity."

Wilton To Attend Biology Meeting

Dr. Christine Wilton of East Carolina Teachers college and Dr. Harold Humm, assistant director of the Duke University Marine laboratory at Beaufort, will present a paper dealing with the production of agar at the eighth annual meeting of the Association of Southeastern Biologists at Emory University, Ga., on April 18-19.

The meeting will be attended by representatives of three outstanding scientific groups of the southeast, the Association of Southeastern Biologists, the southeastern section of the Botanical Society of America, and the Southern Appalachian Botanical club.

Jane Winfield Features Symphony Presentation

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin, presented a program of symphonic music in Wright auditorium on Monday night, April 12.

The highlight of the evening's program was the unscheduled appearance of Jane Winfield, twelve-year-old pianist from Washington, N. C., who played the first movement of Mozart's Coronation Concerto. Performing with the poise and assurance of a professional, she drew the warmest applause of the evening. The school-girl pianist had previously played several times with the state symphony.

During the first half of the program the orchestra played all four movements of Brahms' graceful Symphony No. 1 in C Minor. The first three movements were broadcast by station WGTC over the Tobacco Network.

Following Miss Winfield's performance after intermission, the symphony played conductor Swalin's own "Maxablen," an uneven piece in the best spirit of the modern interpretation of classical music.

The musicians, many of whom are from other symphony orchestras which are now in their "off season," delighted the large audience with their renditions of Strauss' ever-popular "Wine, Women, and Song" waltz and Debussy's tinkling prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun."

Concluding the program with the Overture to Tannhauser by Wagner, the orchestra responded to the persistent applause with a short encore, the spirited Hunting Song.

37 ECTC Student Teachers Working In 10 Schools

East Carolina has 37 student teachers working in 10 schools in the eastern section of the state during the spring quarter at the college, according to an announcement from the office of Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of student teaching and placement.

Twenty-seven of the students are women, and 10 are men. Thirty-five are North Carolinians, and two are out-of-state-students.

In the Greenville high school 20 of the students have assignments in the various departments of instruction. Seven are teaching in grades one through six of the Training school located on the college campus. Those working off the campus are located at Lucama, Saratoga, Walstonburg, Tarboro, Chocod, Washington, Bear Grass and Maury.

Fellowship Retreat To Be At Bayview

The annual retreat for officers of the Westminister fellowship of Greenville will be held tomorrow at Bayview.

Together with Leader Ruth Hillhouse the Fellowship officers will plan the work and social activities for next year.
