

In Summers

man ever placed legislative bodies... offense, he would... in obtaining my

Carnival

Carnival, sponsored by the Commerce Club... March 13, with... variety of amuse... cake walk, bingo... booth-sayer and president of the... and Ed... the Commerce... a profit of $100 the carnival will go... that fund to help... Commerce club... hold April 3 in... of the... of the... per person... a couple. Music... the College Col...

Goldboro was... president of the... of East Carolina... a member of the... ing teams spon... sation, Lassiter... during the spring

Pi Omega Plans Annual Tag Day

Plans were made this week for "Tag Day," an annual activity of the Beta Kappa chapter of the Pi Omega Pi to raise money for the Thomas Clay Williams award. This award will be given at commencement to the student with the highest average in business education for four years of work here.

Agnes Dillingham, Blind Student, To Receive Degree

Agnes Dillingham, of Burlington, a senior at East Carolina Teachers college, has been blind for 24 years. When three years old she suffered a severe case of diphtheria which closed the cornea of her eyes, and unless a major operation is performed, her own eyes removed, and new ones from an eye bank put in, she will never see.

Miss Dillingham began school at the Raleigh Institution for blind when six years old. Here she lived in a large room similar to a nursery with several playmates, their belongings, and their toys. While in the Raleigh school she learned to read and write Braille, type, play a piano, sew, and do other handicraft work as well as complete the high school requirements. To pass time Miss Dillingham learned to skate, dance, took hikes, and was a member and leader of a girl scout division.

What Lucky Girl Has Been Chosen

VOLUME XXIII

Spring Enrollment Reaches 1287, Increase Of 164 Over Last Year's

East Carolina Teachers college has an enrollment for the spring quarter of 1287 students, according to information released from the office of Paul K. Long, registrar. The figures for this spring show an increase of 164 students over the total for the same period in 1947, when the number of students was 1123.

At other quarters during the previous school year, men now at the college numbered women. The total for the students is 689 and for women students, 598.

A total of students by classes included that there are 448 freshmen, 207 sophomores, 260 juniors, 187 seniors, 55 graduate students, and 8 special students.

Debate Teams Hold Meet Here

Debate teams from the various counties of the state met at East Carolina Teachers college on April 15 for a series of contests arranged by the North Carolina High School Debate Union. Dr. Meredith N. Pugh of the East Carolina faculty is chairman for this district and was in charge of the debates held during the afternoon and the evening.

The participating teams, winners in round and triangular contests among the schools of this area, debated the motion "Resolved, That the Federal Government should require arbitration of labor disputes in all basic American industries."

Both affirmative and negative teams from Weldon, Greenville, Rocky Mount, Scotland Neck, and Eden and negative teams from Kinston and Perquimans participated. Judges were faculty members at the college.

A series of debates held in the afternoon in the Austin auditorium eliminated all but four teams. These teams met in the evening in the classroom building for a final round of debates, at which an affirmative and a negative team were chosen to participate in the state finals of the North Carolina Debate Union at Chapel Hill in the spring.

Pi Omega Pi To Initiate 13 New Members

Thirteen students at East Carolina Teachers College have received invitations to become members of the Beta Kappa chapter, local unit of the national honorary business education fraternity, Pi Omega Pi. The students, eleven men and two women, were chosen by present members of the chapter on a basis of high scholastic standing in their work at the college. A pledge service and an initiation ceremony will take place later in the spring.

Calendar Of Events

- Saturday, April 17, 8:30 p.m.—Wright auditorium, Sophomore-Senior dance — semi-formal.
- Saturday, April 17, 10 a.m.—Austin and Wright auditoriums, North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs, junior division, music contest.
- Saturday, April 17, 6:50 p.m.—Austin auditorium, Movie, "Les Miserables."
- Monday, April 19, 6:30 p.m.—TECO ECHO staff meeting, all club reporters are expected to attend.
- Monday, April 19, 8 p.m.—Wright auditorium, Mac Morgan concert.
- Tuesday, April 20, 7 p.m.—Austin 121, Music Education Club meeting.
- Tuesday, April 20 — Wright auditorium, Folk and Square Dance Club meeting.
- Tuesday, April 20, 6 p.m.—Austin, Regular meeting of Sigma Pi Alpha, foreign language fraternity.
- Wednesday, April 21, 6 p.m.—Ragsdale Hall, Creative writing club, everyone interested in creative writing is invited.
- Friday, April 23, 5 p.m.—Radio Program, over WRRF, Washington Music Department will be in charge.
- Saturday, April 24, 6:50—Austin, Movie, "Rage in Heaven."
- Sunday, April 25, 3 to 5 p.m.—Fleming Hall—Tea, everyone is invited.
- Monday, April 26, 7:30 p.m.—Sheppard Memorial Library, AAUW meeting. Dr. Lucile Charles, guest speaker.
- Tuesday, April 27, 6:45 p.m.—International Relations Club meeting.
- Wednesday, April 28, 6 p.m.—Ragsdale Hall, Creative Writing Club—Everyone interested in creative writing is invited.
- Friday, April 30, 5 p.m.—Radio Program over WRRF, Washington Music Department in charge.

NOTICE! The annual Sophomore-Senior dance will be held tomorrow night in Wright auditorium. The music for this semi-formal dance will be played by the Collegians. Morris Hill, the Sophomore president, announced that advance-sale tickets will be on sale in the Y-store. This is an open dance.

Here are three refugees from the "Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody Number" in the "Follies of 1948"—one of the most hilariously funny dances (?) ever presented on the Austin stage. Left to right the "girls" are Paul "Oh you kid" Geer, Jack "Macho" Everton, and J. D. "How'm I doing, folk" Woodlief.

Follies Of 1948 Acclaimed By Capacity Audiences

The Veterans club of East Carolina Teachers college presented on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week the "Follies of 1948," one of the most successful and acclaimed productions ever presented on this campus by a student organization. Capacity crowds filled the Austin auditorium on the campus at both performances.

The "Follies" was one of a series of annual productions given by the Veterans club to raise funds for the Athletic Scholarship Fund established by the club several years ago.

Eli Bloom, Greenville attorney and producer of a number of successful minstrels for the city Kiwanis club, was director of the production. Also on the production staff were Marie Wallace, dancing instructor, and Rosalie Brown, director of the men's chorus.

The gala, laugh-provoking show featured gaily costumed dancers, black-faced comedians who kept the enthusiastic audiences in stitches, and a chorus of men, all in tuxedos. The "Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody" number, in which eight of the huskiest boys in the college did a ballet burlesque, produced some of the loudest laughter ever to shake the Austin auditorium "rafters."

Among the featured singers in the "Follies" were Joe Buckmaster of Swansboro, Miriam Harper of Spring Hope, Robert Mays of Hopewell, Va., Fred Ourt of Wilmington, Keith Kilpatrick of Kinston, Gayle Giles of Lexington, and Al Smith of Greenville.

Jack Hedgepeth of Rocky Mount, the interlocutor, headed the cast of approximately 80 men and women students. Other principals were P. T. Upchurch, Raleigh; Garland Hill, Chocowinity; Arthur Holland and Norman Wicker, Hopewell, Va.; Ben Hester, Oxford; Charles Whiteford and Joe Williams, Greenville; Jimmy Fryar, Wilmington; Linwood Kilpatrick, Kinston; Richard Ricks, Conway; and John Wyatt, Portsmouth.

Jack Hedgepeth of Rocky Mount, the interlocutor, headed the cast of approximately 80 men and women students. Other principals were P. T. Upchurch, Raleigh; Garland Hill, Chocowinity; Arthur Holland and Norman Wicker, Hopewell, Va.; Ben Hester, Oxford; Charles Whiteford and Joe Williams, Greenville; Jimmy Fryar, Wilmington; Linwood Kilpatrick, Kinston; Richard Ricks, Conway; and John Wyatt, Portsmouth.

'Follies' On Tour

The college Veterans club will present the "Follies of 1948" in Ayden on the night of April 22 and in Ahoskie on the night of April 27, under the sponsorship of civic organizations in those towns. According to Veterans club president Jack Hedgepeth, all seats in the Ayden auditorium were sold out several days ago.

Sponsorship bids have been received from civic organizations in several other towns, including Winston, La Grange, Morehead City, Washington, and it is likely that the club will book one other date in one of these towns.

Touring Players Present Shaw's 'Pygmalion'

Touring Players, Inc., a New York cast which will tour over sixty cities and universities this spring throughout the South, presented "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw in the Austin auditorium of East Carolina on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 14 and 15. The production was sponsored by the college Entertainment committee as a special attraction on its spring program.

The company has had a wide variety of experience, touring with Special Services through Germany and Austria and appearing in plays before civilians in France, Belgium, England, and Denmark. In this country they have covered the west coast and the northwest.

In Shaw's sparkling cinderella tale, "Pygmalion," Touring Players have produced a vivid, crisp expose of English class distinction. The costumes for the production are attractive fin de siecle models, and the stage settings are ornate in the style of the late 1900's.

Lisbeth Blake, the star of "Pygmalion," has appeared in productions in both London and Paris and played the lead in Guthrie McClintic's "Winterset" in Biarritz, France. Robert Newton, who plays the male lead, has been on tour with the Canadian Repertory Theatre for the past winter. During the war he worked with Special Services and appeared in various entertainments for both U. S. and Canadian air bases in western Canada and Alaska.

Class Officers Elected For 1948-49 College Year

Class officers for the 1948-1949 term at East Carolina Teachers college were chosen in a series of elections just completed on the campus here.

Willard V. Pendleton of Portsmouth, Va., was elected to head next year's senior class. Pendleton, a GI student who has been at the college for the past seven quarters, was a member of the college football squad for the past two seasons. He is specializing in physical education and the social studies.

Other senior officers for next year are Marian Ward, Nakina, vice president; Polly Ingold, Elizabethtown, secretary; John Heath, Washington, treasurer; Patricia Lyon, Ayden, and Nancy Wilson, Roxboro, reporters; and Audrey Feezor, Lexington, member of the student council.

The junior class of 1948-1949 has elected the following group of officers: G. Raz Autry, Jr., Dunn, president; Milton V. Clarke, Whiteville, vice president; William E. Sutton, New Bern, secretary; George High, Parksley, Va., treasurer; Curtis Nichols, Greenville, and William H. Durham, Jr., Rocky Mount, reporters; and Rachel Floyd, member of the student council.

Officers for next year's sophomore class will be Alexander Livesay, Rocky Mount, president; William Davis, Stantonburg, vice president; Lorine Lewis, Smithfield, secretary;

Leon Jones, Thomasville, treasurer; Lorine Lewis, Smithfield, and Marie Orr, Willard, reporters; and Estelle Jones, Elizabeth City, member of the student council.

Dr. Robert N. Tarkington, southern manager of the Gregg Publishing Company and a prominent figure in the field of business education as an author and educator, will speak at a conference on business education to be sponsored by the department of business education on Thursday, April 29, in the New Classroom auditorium at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The conference is being planned jointly by the Pi Omega Pi, business education fraternity, and the college Commerce club. Since Dr. Tarkington is also recognized as a very clever magician, the business students are anticipating his talk both from an entertaining and a serious angle.

Mac Morgan Appears In Recital In Wright Auditorium April 19

Mac Morgan

Class Officers Elected For 1948-49 College Year

Class officers for the 1948-1949 term at East Carolina Teachers college were chosen in a series of elections just completed on the campus here.

Willard V. Pendleton of Portsmouth, Va., was elected to head next year's senior class. Pendleton, a GI student who has been at the college for the past seven quarters, was a member of the college football squad for the past two seasons. He is specializing in physical education and the social studies.

Other senior officers for next year are Marian Ward, Nakina, vice president; Polly Ingold, Elizabethtown, secretary; John Heath, Washington, treasurer; Patricia Lyon, Ayden, and Nancy Wilson, Roxboro, reporters; and Audrey Feezor, Lexington, member of the student council.

The junior class of 1948-1949 has elected the following group of officers: G. Raz Autry, Jr., Dunn, president; Milton V. Clarke, Whiteville, vice president; William E. Sutton, New Bern, secretary; George High, Parksley, Va., treasurer; Curtis Nichols, Greenville, and William H. Durham, Jr., Rocky Mount, reporters; and Rachel Floyd, member of the student council.

Officers for next year's sophomore class will be Alexander Livesay, Rocky Mount, president; William Davis, Stantonburg, vice president; Lorine Lewis, Smithfield, secretary;

Leon Jones, Thomasville, treasurer; Lorine Lewis, Smithfield, and Marie Orr, Willard, reporters; and Estelle Jones, Elizabeth City, member of the student council.

Dr. Robert N. Tarkington, southern manager of the Gregg Publishing Company and a prominent figure in the field of business education as an author and educator, will speak at a conference on business education to be sponsored by the department of business education on Thursday, April 29, in the New Classroom auditorium at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The conference is being planned jointly by the Pi Omega Pi, business education fraternity, and the college Commerce club. Since Dr. Tarkington is also recognized as a very clever magician, the business students are anticipating his talk both from an entertaining and a serious angle.

Members of the Senior Class and of the Chi Pi Players at East Carolina Teachers College will give a joint production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," popular comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, as the annual spring production sponsored by the two groups. The date has not been definitely set but will be in May.

Dr. Lucille H. Charles, director of speech and dramatics at East Carolina, will direct the play. Assisting her will be Helen Winslow of Goldsboro and Thomas G. Larkins of Greenville and Scotia, N. Y., seniors at the college. The cast of the play, as yet unannounced, has begun rehearsals.

Among those now working on the production are Francis Coier of Newport News, Va., president of the Senior Class, and Lola Peele Stephenson of Willow Springs, president of the Chi Pi Players. Earl Sawyer of Jamesville has been chosen as technical director for the play, Elizabeth Carter of Greenville as business manager, and Isaac N. Reynolds of Columbia as publicity director.

Students Form Writing Club

A group of ten students at East Carolina Teachers college who are interested in creative writing have organized an informal club at which they will read their works and conduct critical discussions of them.

Richard Powers, senior from St. Pauls, was chosen as chairman of the group and Carl G. Connor, Windsor freshman, as secretary. Plans for increasing the number of members and for obtaining a charter from the student government association have been made. Weekly meetings will be held each Wednesday during the spring quarter. Dr. Martha M. Pingel, faculty member of the department of English, will act as advisor of the newly organized club.

One of the brightest new stars of concert and radio is the handsome young ex-GI baritone, Mac Morgan, whose appearance here in recital in Wright auditorium on April 19 at eight o'clock in the evening will undoubtedly prove to be one of the major delights of the local music season.

Texas-born, but bred in Florida—Jacksonville was the home town—and educated at the far-famed Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., before his enlistment in the U. S. Army interrupted a promising career in concert, radio and oratorio, Mac Morgan was released from the Army early in 1946.

Within a few months he had won one of the most coveted contracts in the radio world—to appear weekly as the singing star of the Cities Service "Highways in Melody," which is heard nationally over NBC Fridays at 8:00 p.m., EST. Paul Lavalle conducts the orchestra for this important network production, on which Morgan replaced four well-known singers, two of them had bigger national reputations than he himself.

His concert season is necessarily built around his regular radio series; one of his greatest artistic disappointments this season has been the fact that he has, for example, been obliged to decline the invitation of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony Orchestra to appear with that organization because the date selected conflicted with a broadcast. He was to have made this appearance with the attractive young California mezzo-soprano Nan Merriman, with whom he won the Cincinnati Zoo Opera National Aria Auditions shortly before he became Private Mac Morgan, U.S.A., and with whom he appeared in an Ohio production of Humperdinck's "Haensel and Gretel."

As becomes a 29-year-old American-born and American-trained musician, Mac Morgan is keenly interested in contemporary composers; at least one contemporary American composition is included on each of his programs.

Among the composers whose works he has sang are David Diamond, Bernard Rogers, Howard Hanson, Paul White, Gian-Carlo Menotti, and Albert Hay Malotte, with whom he once appeared with a USO unit in a tour of Australia and the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. Robert N. Tarkington, southern manager of the Gregg Publishing Company and a prominent figure in the field of business education as an author and educator, will speak at a conference on business education to be sponsored by the department of business education on Thursday, April 29, in the New Classroom auditorium at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The conference is being planned jointly by the Pi Omega Pi, business education fraternity, and the college Commerce club. Since Dr. Tarkington is also recognized as a very clever magician, the business students are anticipating his talk both from an entertaining and a serious angle.

Members of the Senior Class and of the Chi Pi Players at East Carolina Teachers College will give a joint production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," popular comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, as the annual spring production sponsored by the two groups. The date has not been definitely set but will be in May.

Dr. Lucille H. Charles, director of speech and dramatics at East Carolina, will direct the play. Assisting her will be Helen Winslow of Goldsboro and Thomas G. Larkins of Greenville and Scotia, N. Y., seniors at the college. The cast of the play, as yet unannounced, has begun rehearsals.

Among those now working on the production are Francis Coier of Newport News, Va., president of the Senior Class, and Lola Peele Stephenson of Willow Springs, president of the Chi Pi Players. Earl Sawyer of Jamesville has been chosen as technical director for the play, Elizabeth Carter of Greenville as business manager, and Isaac N. Reynolds of Columbia as publicity director.

Let the good times roll !!! And roll they did on Thursday night April 8, after the last performance of the "Follies of 1948" on the East Carolina campus. Director Eli Bloom is shown above directing a real old-fashioned community sing of "Follies" songs during the shindig, which held forth in the "Y" hut until midnight. Consuming large quantities of cokes, Pepsis, and sandwiches of all kinds, most of the 80 cast members were present for a well-deserved party.

Let the good times roll !!! And roll they did on Thursday night April 8, after the last performance of the "Follies of 1948" on the East Carolina campus. Director Eli Bloom is shown above directing a real old-fashioned community sing of "Follies" songs during the shindig, which held forth in the "Y" hut until midnight. Consuming large quantities of cokes, Pepsis, and sandwiches of all kinds, most of the 80 cast members were present for a well-deserved party.

The Teco Echo

Published Biweekly by the Students of East Carolina Teachers College

Entered as second-class matter December 3, 1925, at the U. S. Postoffice, Greenville, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
AMOS CLARK

ASSOCIATE EDITORS
Thomas Larkins, Carl Conner, Charles Williams

Staff Assistants
Elizabeth Manning, Jean Powell, Josephine Pinnell, Estelle Jones, Patricia Davis, Jimmy Gray, Curtis Nichols, Max Garrell

Art Editor JIMMIE JARVIS
Sports Editor BERNARD WEST
Associate Sports Editors Jack Hedgepeth and Jimmy Futrell
Editorial Adviser MISS MARY GREENE

BUSINESS STAFF
Business Manager BETSY PARKERSON
Associate Business Managers
Ellen Clark, Enid Pettaway, Ruth Stevens, Grace Daniels, Marjorie Thompson
Faculty Adviser DR. BECHER FLANAGAN

Member: North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press.

They Are Bouqueting

The college Veterans club and all cast members for the excellence of their annual presentation, "Follies of 1948," and for their plans to present the musical production in several towns in eastern North Carolina.

Mr. Eli Bloom and Mrs. Marie Wallace of Greenville for giving unselfishly of their time and talents in directing the "Follies." All members of the cast agree that two finer people couldn't be found anywhere.

The Administration for its liberal attitude in permitting the Veterans club to take their show on tour.

AS I SEE IT

by Charles Williams

In the years prior to my graduation from high school, I, like most other students who plan to further their education to a higher degree, began searching for the one college or university to fit my personal aims. Because the four years of work required to meet the standards for a bachelor's degree plays such an important role in shaping a person for the complexities of life in this new age of indecision, I wanted a college with a proud background, with high standards, good teachers, friendly atmosphere, and, of foremost importance, a liberal college.

When my final decision was made, I discovered that East Carolina seemed to possess all of the qualities which I deemed essential to the institution of my choice.

Now that I have been here long enough to get fully oriented to the numerous outstanding features of the college, I realize beyond a doubt that, in most respects, my decision was a wise one. I recognize forty years of excellent teacher-training as a supreme tribute, not only to North Carolina, but to the United States. I see that as an accredited member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the North Carolina College Conference, East Carolina is unmistakably a school of high standards. In the faculty I find that a majority of the members are exceedingly well qualified and eager to help the students. And students create the friendly atmosphere about the campus.

I have been wondering recently if East Carolina is as liberal as it is commonly reputed. As far as I am personally concerned I have no quips to make; but since I believe in equality, I am definitely under the opinion that the coeds are deprived of mature living as long as they are forced to be in their respective dormitories by 10:30 p.m. on Sunday nights. Until the board of aldermen rescind or alter the city ordinance forbidding the showing of movies between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m. on Sunday nights, which makes movie attendance by female students impossible except in the afternoons, it seems most appropriate that the East Carolina administration should take the initiative and extend the Sunday night deadline for signing in from 10:30 until 11:30.

If one of the objectives of the college is to see that "each student accepted for registration should be given an opportunity to develop optimally as a person, citizen and teacher," enabling him or her to "meet the demands of modern society," then the college should also change to meet the demands of modern society. This is 1948!

In advocating an 11:30 p.m. deadline for signing in on Sunday nights, I am not doing so entirely ignorant of similar rules being used at other colleges and universities. The following is a list of thirteen institutions and their respective rules, selected from among representative areas of the United States:

- University of Maine.
Freshmen, 1st semester: Monday-Thursday, 7:30; Friday and Saturday, 12:00; Sunday, 10:00.
Freshmen, 2nd semester: Monday-Thursday, 9:30; Friday and Saturday, 12:00; Sunday, 10:00.
- All other students: Sunday-Thursday, 10:30; Friday and Saturday, 12:00.
- Rollins College
Freshmen: Sunday-Thursday, 10:00; Friday, 10:30; Saturday, 11:00.
- Upperclassmen: Sunday - Wednesday, 10:30; Thursday and Friday, 11:00; Saturday, 12:00.
- Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.
Friday, 11:00; Saturday, 12:00; Sunday-Thursday, 10:00.
- Baylor University.
Freshmen: Monday - Thursday, 8:15; Friday and Saturday, 10:45; Sunday, 10:15.
- Sophomores: Monday-Thursday, 9:00; Friday and Saturday, 10:45; Sunday, 10:15.
- Juniors: Monday - Saturday, 10:45; Sunday, 10:15.
- Seniors: Monday-Thursday, 11:00; Friday and Saturday, 11:30; Sunday, 11:00.
- University of Chicago.
Under 18, Freshmen and Sophomores: Sunday-Thursday, 10:30; Friday and Saturday, 11:00.
- Under 17, Juniors and Seniors: Sunday-Thursday, 10:30; Friday and Saturday, 1:00.
- State University of Iowa.
Sunday-Thursday, 10:30; Friday and Saturday, 12:30.
- University of Wisconsin
Sunday-Thursday, 10:30; Friday and Saturday, 12:30.
- University of Minnesota.
Entertaining at residence: Friday and Saturday, 12:00; Sunday-Thursday, 11:00.
- Social functions away: Sunday-Thursday, 12:00; Friday and Saturday, 2:00.
- Nebraska Wesleyan University
Freshmen: Monday - Thursday, 9:15; Friday and Saturday, 12:30; Sunday, 10:30.
- Others: Monday-Thursday, 10:15; Friday and Saturday, 12:30; Sunday, 10:30.
- University of Colorado.
Sunday - Thursday, 10:30; Friday, 12:00; Saturday, 1:00.
- Montana State College.
Monday-Thursday, 10:00; Friday and Saturday, 1:00; Sunday, 12:00.
- University of California.
All students: Friday and Saturday, 2:30.
- Freshmen: Monday - Thursday, 7:30; Sunday, 9:00.
- Sophomores: Monday - Thursday, 1:00 (one night). Same as freshmen on other nights.
- Juniors and Seniors: Sunday-Thursday, 1:00.
- College of Puget Sound.
Sunday-Thursday, 10:00; Friday and Saturday, 2:00.

Do You Agree?

by Estelle Jones

Penny-pinching GI's will no longer have to stretch their government checks after receiving the supplement on May 1. In fact some of them may even have an excessive amount of money left after fulfilling the obligations of their old budgets; however, this is doubted. Of course we are interested to know how our college veterans are going to use this much needed "do-re-me." This week we are asking the veterans the following question: How do you plan to spend the supplement to your GI check?

Donald Daly—I am going to start eating regularly.

Wade Saliveby—Going to re-cap my spare tires.

Richard Tarravechia — Slip it in the bank.

Woody Wilson—Get a fifth of whiskey.

Robert McClaren — Wedding bells in June for me.

Junior Williams—It is just what we needed, should have had it sooner.

Dinky Toler—(Married man) I need the new pay raise now, I realize I will have to pay it back later, but now is the time I need it most.

Walter Hannon—I think it is a very good thing and the right time for a new raise is subsistence allowance.

Jack Davis—(Newly wed) It is a great feeling to jump from $105 to $155. It is too bad everybody can't get a $50 raise that way.

Cecil Murphy—It can well be put to an advantage because most of the veterans in school have exhausted their savings.

Jim Brinson—The $15.00 raise will really come in handy.

All Livesay—I am going to buy me a pair of unmentionables. I need them bad.

Charles Williams—Just stuff!

Charles Lee—I don't know; it's so much I will have to decide.

With The Alumni

Edited by Mrs. Ruth Garner
Dr. Messick Speaks to Lenoir Co. Alumni
Dr. John D. Messick spoke at the annual spring banquet of the Lenoir County chapter held at Mike's Steak House on Thursday evening.

Beginning his address with news of the alma mater, the speaker offered pertinent facts relating to the two million dollar building program. With a present enrollment of 675 girls and 727 boys, he spoke of the possibility of requiring more rigid entrance exams within future years in order to keep the enrollment down. Referring to the responsibility of the faculty members in making the college a wholesome place, and their responsibility for the conduct of the students, he declared that with the 18 new members brought in this year, emphasis was upon the type of teachers which will wield the most influence on the boys and girls. The student today must be prepared as the future teacher to know what communism, facism, socialism, nationalism and inter-nationalism is and how to combat it; what democracy is and how to defend it, he said.

He told of the new library building, the tremendously expanded music department, the physical education department, athletics, power plant and laundry improvements, and the progress being made in the direction of servicing through the extension classes in Kinston, New Bern, Washington, Williams-ton and Morehead City. The college is making itself felt off the campus more and more, he continued. During the coming summer a six week's term in extension work will be offered in Wilmington.

As the State does not build stadiums, a campaign has been inaugurated to raise funds for that purpose, and the speaker expressed the hope that various alumni units would work with the college in this endeavor in order that the college could compete on a basis with other North Carolina schools. Dr. Messick cited the need to build up strong alumni units to send out types of students to build splendid teachers and to further the college in all its tenets. In conclusion, he invited the group to feel free to approach him, and declared that profitable criticism should be pointed to them for the continued growth of the college.

Mrs. Randolph Spear (Annie Blanche Herring), program chairman, served as toastmistress. Invocation was pronounced by Mrs. Lott West (Mamie E. Whitfield), and Miss Mary Louise Wooten welcomed the group. Mrs. Clem Garner (Ruth Blanchard), alumni secretary, introduced the speaker. The chapter president, Mrs. Kirby C. Loftin (Edna Moore) brought greetings and presided over a brief business session. She appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Joe Hardy (Evelyn Bizzell), chairman; Miss Blanche Harper Moseley and Mrs. Spear.

A delightful reading was offered by Miss Edith Harris.

Among the visitors recognized were Mrs. Messick and Miss Annie L. Morton, dean of women. There were 37 alumni present.

The banquet table, where a delectable turkey dinner was served, was pleasingly appointed in the purple and gold colors of the college. Yellow tapers were interspersed with bowls of tulips, iris and spirea along the length of the U-shaped table, while the programs furthered the predominant colors.

Mr. Deal, Founders Day Speaker

Professor Ralph C. Deal, a retired faculty member, who was former head of the department of foreign languages, was speaker at the Founders Day program of the Lenoir County chapter at the home of Mrs. Joe Hardy (Evelyn Bizzell) with Mrs. W. R. Leggett (Billie Burke Bizzell), Mrs. Lehman Barwick (Izora Whitfield) and Mrs. J. L. Mills (Rugy Stocks) as joint hostesses. The home was attractively decorated with a variety of spring flowers.

Mr. Deal spoke on the early days of the college and of the changes which have occurred in the faculty and administration. An interesting outline of plans for the future was heard.

A social hour was enjoyed following the address when the guests were invited into the dining room for refreshments. A salad plate with relishes was served with iced tea to the 30 members and guests. A centerpiece of mixed yellow flowers and lighted

Student Spotlight

by Thomas Larkins

We've really got a B.M.O.C. to toss around this time (verbally, that is) in the person of one Charles David Connor, class of '49.

Chuck's a Yankee, since he was born and raised in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He spent two years (age two to four) in an orphanage, then lived with foster parents till he graduated from high school. This occurred in Wilkensburg, Penna. Incidentally, Charles has never to this day seen his real parents. Who or where they are he will probably never know.

In 1937, after finishing high school, he went to work in the steel mills of Pittsburgh. Soon tiring of this rugged sport he ventured into the Coast Guard and served for three years. Well grounded (?) in the marine arts by 1941, he then served at Cherry Point for two years. It was during these years that he became enamoured with the South, fried chicken and the smell of jasmine.

Following service at Cherry Point, Chuck spent three years aboard ship in the Merchant Marine under commission of the Navy and Merchant Marine simultaneously.

Right now we're beginning to think that was enough service and we guess Chuck did too. In any event, he got his discharge and settled in New Bern for six months, there attempting to peddle insurance policies while he sought to matriculate at East Carolina, which he finally did in 1946.

His record here fully qualifies him for the rating of a B.M.O.C. (Big Man on Campus). Last year he was second vice president of the student legislature and automatically became first vice president when Fred Martin eased off to Peabody.

On the twenty-first of this month Charles takes over as president of the student legislature.

He claims membership in the Phi Sigma Pi, the Jarvis Forensic club, and the Chi Pi Players. For this last organization he may be remembered (or recognized) for his parts in the plays "I Remember Mama," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," "Family Portrait," and "Coppelia."

Charles Connor declares that he is gregarious and we believe him, too, since he candles graced the table.

Greenville Chapter Holds Dinner Meeting

Samuel D. Bundy, principal of the Farmville school, was the main speaker at a dinner meeting of the Greenville chapter held last Friday evening. Bundy, who is at present a graduate student at East Carolina, was introduced by Fodie Hodges, principal of the Belvoir School, and entertained the fifty-six guests who were present with an after-dinner talk on "College People Are Smart."

Z. W. Frazelle of Richlands, graduate student at the college and president of the Greenville alumni chapter, presided at the meeting. Plans for the dinner and program were in charge of Mrs. Beecher Flanagan (Ruth Picklesimer), Mrs. Thornton Meeks (Ruth Willard), and Grace Smith.

Scumming

by the Keyhole Korrespondents, Peep, Snoop and Meddle

The saying, "In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," still holds true on ECTC campus. The noise of wedding bells is almost deafening. Glover and Ann have set the date for May 1st. Ann's ring is one of the prettiest we've seen—noticed a crowd of girls completely surrounding Ann in order to get a look at it. We hear that Sam Stell is looking around the Service Men's home for a tux big enough for him. Think he's getting married in the near future.

Paul Geer was sho celebrating one night last week. Could it have been because the minstrel was over or some other reason? John Nelson was with him and when asked what he was celebrating for he replied, "I'm celebrating because Paul's celebrating," Such devotion!

In case any of the female sex is interested, J. I. Horner is the owner of the good-looking yellow convertible seen tearing around recently.

We have been snooping around during the past few days and unearthed some new romances, Mary Byrd and G. H. Fussell, Jimmy Finch and Barbara Stovall and Cut Alston and Cooker Morton.

MacDonald Rouse is still being true to his Meredith gal. It seems that if "Mac" isn't going up to Raleigh for the weekend, she's coming down here.

Bob Wheeler and Faye Moore are a mighty cute lil couple. Hear poor Bob has lost his wallet about two times in the last month. That's the result of going around in a daze all the time.

It must be awfully dull for Mary claims a permanent group which includes a wife and two children, one a boy nine years old and the other a very pretty girl (we saw her picture) seven years old. They now reside in New Bern.

This is a good opportunity to give Chuck a plug. He even finds time to tutor students in science and math, in addition to all his other campus activities. To prepare for this gruelling activity he gobbles down his favorite chow, Italian spaghetti.

Charles' plans for the future involve medical school after graduation from East Carolina, probably at Carolina. More power to him! More immediately in the future however he plans to take a summer cruise at the expense of the Navy. Sounds like a postman's holiday to us.

Chuck Connor is by now a dyed-in-the-wool North Carolinian. He can't say enough about the friendliness and hospitality of the many friends he has made here. He has the profound opinion that this is the most beautiful campus in the world, and we share his conviction. He says all the bigger campuses and scholar mills can be given back to the Indians; he wouldn't trade East Carolina for all the tea in China. This wasn't campaign talk either—he spoke from the heart.

Speight here at ECTC, but when a certain young man from Greensboro (Joe, that is) shows up things brighten up considerably. What about it, Mary?

What's this we hear about you and Eddie, Peggy Burney? We haven't heard the particulars, but it sounds like a new romance.

Well, Jimmy Cozart, have you finally decided that your Ford will never outrun John Howard's Cadillac? The results of your last race should have proved that.

Barbara Martin is one of the most sophisticated young gals on campus. Have you ever noticed those gorgeous eyes?

Betsie Flye (a Greenville gal) is mighty popular with everyone around campus and incidentally, Betsie Lou thinks Betsie is sweet, does Betsie think Lou is sweet?

Ethel Clement, who is that young man you've been casting shy glances at in band? You're not fooling us.

Overheard in the sunbathing court: I'm dating Joe King tonight and we're going to work Trig. Can you think of anything more intriguing?

Virginia Chapin, we've just been wondering when you're going to get the second ring from that handsome blonde in Bethel.

After much consideration, we herewith offer our abject apologies to Jay Roberson for the slander in the last issue of the paper. Honest we won't ever do it again! Are we forgiven?

The cast of the minstrel was really ready for the party in the "Y" but after the last performance Thursday night. For further proof, ask anyone who attended it. Congratulations to the entire cast for such fine entertainment. We hear that they're going on the road the 22nd. Of course, the road stops at Ayden; but who knows, there might be some Hollywood talent scouts around.

Jack Hedgepeth is known around campus now as "Little Eli." Is that correct, Mr. Interlocutor?

Daisy Steele, Laura Thomas and Elda Richmond are running a race to see which one can get to looking like a South African the quickest. We think Elda has a slight edge. And have you noticed that after the girls (and boys, too) have been out in the sun, they invariably wear white shirts?

Congratulations, Perry! See in the paper where you're going to take the final step June 5th.

Trafton, we hope you find out about the election of 1776 or was it 1867. You can find it all in the book. Which book? Oh, any of 'em.

The latest in crew cuts may be seen on Ray Futerle. Do you think it adds anything to his charm?

Can't let the column run an issue without printing something about Janie Starling and George Wood. When last seen they were going in the library hand in hand.

Talk...

on defense...

Spor...

By Bernard...

Once again...

as they are...

The man...

and golf...

ways to...

hail field...

indications...

cosmical...

East Ca...

certainly...

bat, and...

in the p...

Late-im...

almost ha...

for fans...

lost ball...

If the...

wrinkles...

time the...

coming th...

successful...

The EC...

a powerf...

last year...

Though...

their Nur...

men's ag...

tennists...

stars are...

ber, the...

High Poi...

With s...

Tall, lanky Sam Stell, one of Coach Johnson's most consistent men on defense, has been a regular Pirate starter in the outer gardens.

Pirates Slated To Play Appalachian Today, WCTC Saturday Afternoon

Bucs Bow, 8-7, To Power-Laden Evansville Nine

by Jack Hedgepeth
The Pirates and the Evansville Braves of the Tri-League in Indiana, clashed in the Guy Smith Stadium last April 8, and when the game was over the Pirates had sent 23 men against the power-laden professionals but were on the short end of an 8-7 score.
Abb Williams, Roger Thrift, Pete Reynolds, Frank Mayo, and Bo Butler combined to hold the Braves to eight hits, but three of these came in the home half of the ninth inning off the serving of Butler and meant the ball game breaking a 7-7 tie.
The Pirates had tied the score in the top half of the ninth. Consecutive hits by Stell, Connelly, and Ferrell, followed by Hester's double were good for three tallies and a tie game.
Ben Hayes, ECTC second-sacker was tops for the evening, with a single and double in two attempts.

by Jack Hedgepeth
The ECTC Pirates play host to Appalachian today and WCTC Saturday, in a couple of North State Conference baseball games that may play an important part in the Pirates' on-conference success this year.
Coach Jim Johnson will start ECTC ace Bob "Lefty" McCotter against Appalachian today, with Abb Williams slated to hurl against WCTC Saturday.

Pirates Trounce William and Mary

by Jack Hedgepeth
The ECTC Pirates trounced the Norfolk division of William and Mary here last Monday afternoon 9-2, in a non-conference contest. Abb Williams, sophomore from Elizabeth City, went the full distance for the Pirates, scattering 9 hits effectively.
The Pirates took the lead in the third when two singles, two stolen bases, and an error netted two runs, and put the game on ice in the fourth inning when they got three tallies on two singles, a double, and four stolen bases. The big knock in the 4th frame was Abb Williams' smashing doubles to left center driving home Jimmy Futrell and Sam Stell.
The Pirates found the swiping of bases easy against the visitors, as they ran for a total of eleven. Ben Hester with three led the Pirates in that field.
Abb Williams, with a double and a single, and Tom Benton, with two singles led the nine-hit attack off the two visiting hurlers for the Pirates. Wilcox and Gaither each got two hits apiece to set the pace for the Norfolk club.

Good-looking Ben Hayes, a mainstay on last year's Pirate nine, has been playing regularly at the second base position for the Buc baseballers.

East Carolina Subdues Guilford In Loop Scrap

Sparked by the brilliant relief hurling of Bill Fulp, sophomore from Winston-Salem, the Pirates defeated Doc Newton's Guilford Quakers here on April 6 by the score of 5-4.
Coming to the aid of Pete Reynolds in the first inning, "Tavern" proceeded to check the visitors, holding them to five hits and one run the rest of the route. Fulp, who has become the spectators' choice with his "now you see it, now you don't" brand of pitching, had the enemy toppling weakly to the infield.
"Zoo" Jones, Quaker outfielder and one of the most popular athletes ever to visit here, was the victim of Fulp's uncanny hurling, fanning twice and "pooping" out twice (much to the delight of ECTC students).
The Pirates iced the game in the fifth inning when they sent across four tallies. Fulp led off with a single, and after Benton looked at his third strike Stell was safe on an error. James went down swinging but Hayes walked, loading the bases. Successive singles by Jack Wallace and Vernon Jones, combined with an error, sent the runners scurrying home.

ish includes a boy nine years girl (we saw They now re.

to give Chuck tutor students tion to all his prepare for this own his favor.

future involve from East More power in the future summer cruise Sounds like a dyed-in-the- not say enough spitality of the He has the most beau- we share his igger campuses back to the Carolina for as'n't campaign heart.

when a certain (Joe, that is) considerably.

ut you and Ed- ven't heard the a new romance. ave you finally l never outrun The results of ved that.

the most sophi- Have you ever egal) is mighty and campus and nks Betsie is is sweet? that young man ees at in hand?

shathing court: and we're going ank of anything just been won- to get the second onde in Bethel. on, we herewith o Jay Roberson sue of the paper. again! Are we strel was really Y" but after the night. For fur- he attended it re cast for such ear that they're Of course, the ho knows, there d talent scouts own around cam- that correct. Mr. thomas and Elda ace to see which a South African llda has a slight ed that after the been out in the white shirts? See in the paper the final step ind out about the 67. You can find ook? Oh, any of s may be seen on it adds anything un an issue with- out Janie Starling in last seen they and in hand.

Sports View

By Bernard West
Once again outdoor sports dominate the spotlight at East Carolina, as they are doing in all the sports world.
The magic spell of springtime has roused the spirits of baseball, tennis and golf-minded ECTCians. Short-styled lads and lassies wending their way to the tennis courts and softball fields are becoming everyday indications that spring, in all its celestial glory, is here!

East Carolina's '48 baseballers are certainly showing their power at the bat, and their ability to come through in the pinches.

Late-inning rallies are becoming almost habitual for the Buc diamond lads, and are providing excitement for fans if not pulling a seemingly lost ball game out of the fire.

If the locals can iron out the few wrinkles in their fielding, and continue the good pitching, batting and coming through in the pinches, a successful season should be experienced.

The ECTC tennis team is again a powerful aggregation, as it was last year.

Though weakened by the loss of their Number One tennisist of last year's squad, Doug Jones, the Buc tennismen are still a potent group of tennisists. Almost all of last year's stars are back. As some will remember, the locals last year walloped High Point, state tennis champions.

With several new strong additions on the squad this year, the Pirate racket-swingers should be the scourge of the North State conference tennis battle. Already this year they have proved their ability, in a match with the University of Richmond. Though the locals lost this match, they did well in holding the powerful Richmond squad, rated as a top-notch tennis aggregation, to 6-3.

One person who is proving to be a valuable asset to the Buc baseball club this season is "Lefty" Bob McCotter.

Bobby, in the two games he has participated in this season, has, in addition to his superb pitching, showed great power at the plate. In seven times at bat, he has banged out four hits, including one triple, and has driven in four runs. In addition to that, he has scored twice himself.

Another great asset to the local squad is clutch-pitcher Bill Fulp. He has already, in several instances, proved his ability to settle rifts in the Buc diamond machine when the going gets tough. His dazzling array of befudding pitches has trapped many opposing batters, and his hurling arm should prove even more valuable in the future.

A baseball scoreboard would certainly prove worthwhile on the ECTC baseball field. It is always a difficult problem for fans to keep up with the score, especially when the game is close, and to keep up with the innings.

Attendance to the baseball games here thus far this season has been very good. The spirit of the fans, too, has shown no lacking.

However, students are showing a great tendency to straggle away from games before they're even nearly over. Of course, the hours the dining hall operates is the main cause for this. So far, most of the students have missed the best part of every game, for it has been the case in almost every game thus far in the season for the last few innings of every game to be the best innings—the innings in which the locals have looked their best.

None of the games will last long enough to cause the students to miss getting fed. Of course, there might be congestion in the chow lines if everyone tries to eat at once, but if those students who do not attend the games would eat early, this problem would be remedied.

ACE To Send French Children A Treasure Chest

Members of the Association for Childhood Education at East Carolina have prepared a Treasure Chest of books to be sent to children in France. All of the fifty-seven members of the organization took some part in the project and served on committees for collecting funds, selecting and purchasing the books, making the chest and shipping it to Treasure Chest headquarters in New York, where it will be sent abroad. Last year the college ACE carried out a similar project of providing books for foreign children.

Lucille Blalock, junior from Timberlake, was chairman of the Treasure Chest committee. Ellen Joyce Clark, junior from Everetts, is president of the organization, and Dora E. Coates is faculty advisor.

Thirty volumes, carefully selected to meet the needs and interests of children of all ages and many of them beautifully illustrated, make up the contents of the chest. Funds were provided by contributions of members of the ACE on the campus.

EAT and DRINK where all COLLEGE STUDENTS meet KARES

The right kind of FRUITS and FOODS for those SNACKS

HONEYCUTT'S MARKET

ECTC Christian Students Give Dance Saturday

by Bernard West
Tomorrow night the Christian Student Association of East Carolina will present a dance for the Christian students of ECTC. The dance, to be held at the Greenville Country Club, will be semi-formal, and will last from 7:30 o'clock until 10:45 o'clock.

A special invitation has been extended the Christian youth group of Raleigh, whom the local organization visited Sunday, April 4. Transportation will be furnished those who wish to attend and cannot possibly furnish their own.

The local group, which is the first and only organized college Christian student group in North Carolina, was begun last fall quarter under the direction of Miss Evelyn Lyon of Ayden, student worker for the Greenville Christian church. Since then it has grown considerable in size and activity. Cell groups have been organized for discussing various topics that interest the students. Dr. H. G. Haney of the Eighth Street Christian church has conducted a Bible study, and has led discussions on various phases of the Bible. The proposed

For the most EXCLUSIVE CAMPUS OUTFIT Visit C. HEBER FORBES

COMPLIMENTS OF GARRIS GROCERY

The FRANK WILSON Store "King Clothiers Since 1898"

Morton's Bakery We Specialize In All Kinds Of Cake ALSO FROZEN MALTED MILK AND ICE CREAM

Blount-Harvey "Eastern Carolina's Shopping Center"

Universal Military Training has also furnished interesting material for open discussion. Other such topics will be discussed at future meetings.
One of the most interesting and worthwhile achievements the CSA has made is the presenting of a religious and singing program at the Pitt County prison camp. A group of students visited the camp one Sunday last quarter and led the inmates in singing and prayer services.

Next Tuesday evening the Pirates are slated to meet the Greenville Greenies at Guy Smith Stadium. Pete Reynolds, youthful Pirate freshman who has been bothered by a sore arm will probably get the starting nod for this tilt.

Jean Bostian, junior from Wilmington, has been elected president of the YWCA at East Carolina and will serve as leader of the organization during 1948-1949. Miss Bostian, who was elected last year as vice president of the college YWCA, took over the vacant office of president during the winter quarter this year and has acted as president for the past four months.

Go To DIXIE LUNCH for between meal snacks and meet the gang

Compliments of Palace Barber Shop 201 East Fifth Street

Wyatt Brown's Cascade Laundry THOMAS BOOTH Representative

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

Jean Bostian Elected To Head College YWCA

Jean Bostian, junior from Wilmington, has been elected president of the YWCA at East Carolina and will serve as leader of the organization during 1948-1949. Miss Bostian, who was elected last year as vice president of the college YWCA, took over the vacant office of president during the winter quarter this year and has acted as president for the past four months.

Compliments of Palace Barber Shop 201 East Fifth Street

Wyatt Brown's Cascade Laundry THOMAS BOOTH Representative

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

QUALITY and QUANTITY IN CAROLINA DAIRY DELICIOUS MILK SHAKES OPEN NOW UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

"COTTON DRESSES" THAT ARE OUT OF THIS WORLD! SAIEED'S

Advertisement for Sterling Beauty jewelry. It features a large illustration of a silver fork and a spoon. Text includes: "See Gorham Sterling and you'll want 'the loveliest silver in the world' for your home. Our full showing of Gorham patterns awaits your choice." Below the illustration, it lists "Lautares Bros. Jewelers" and "1948 1912".

Advertisement for BELK-TYLER'S. It features the text: "BELK-TYLER'S - Sun and Surf Shop Is Now Open". Below this, it lists various items: "Swim Suits!", "Beachcoats!", "Hooded Beachcoats!", "Sun Suits!", "Swim Caps!", "Pedolpushers!", "Shorts!", "Halters!", and "Polo Shirts!". At the bottom, it says "BELK-TYLER'S 'The Shopping Center'".

Queen For An Issue

by Amos Clark

Pat Morton

She likes for people to scratch her back.

Last year she received one of the most signal of collegiate honors—that of being chosen Varsity Club Sweetheart.

Her name is Pat Morton.

She is the fourteenth girl to be honored (we hope) by the TECO ECHO as "Queen For An Issue."

She has brown hair, brown eyes and a sister, known hereabouts as "Cooker," who is 15 months older than she is.

Pat was born at Jacksonville, North Carolina, on September 1, 1928; lived for a time at Wrightsville Beach before moving to Carolina Beach, her present home; and graduated from the New Hanover High School in Wilmington in the spring of 1946.

She matriculated at East Carolina the following fall and expects to depart from this institution in 1950 with a degree in Primary Education.

Pat was a college marshal last year and this year has served as chief marshal. She was recently chosen member-at-large of the Women's Judiciary for 1948-49.

Her favorites — "Begin the Beguine," "How Do I Love Thee" (How everybody loves this one!), and a typical southern combination, fried chicken and strawberry shortcake.

Pat has lived down by the sea practically all her life—but till this day

Jenkins Speaks To Kiwanians

Other reasons than low salaries go far toward explaining why the supply of teachers now being trained in North Carolina does not meet the demands of the public schools, Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina told members of the Kiwanis Club in Tarboro at a meeting of the group there Tuesday evening, April 6. The number of teachers for primary and the grammar grades especially, he said, is inadequate, and the causes of the shortage should be given careful consideration.

Long hours of work and classes that are too large make the life of the teacher an arduous one, Dean Jenkins stated. Many young people, he said, therefore prefer other less strenuous types of work. "The teacher's day never ends," he added, stressing the multiplicity of duties in the community which the teacher is expected to perform. Much of the work in worthy city and county projects is turned over to teachers who are already overworked, he pointed out.

Dean Jenkins cited figures indicating that 1200 new teachers will be needed in North Carolina for positions in the lower grades next year. East Carolina Teachers College, he said, will graduate only 27 students trained to fill these places. Figures from other colleges over the nation, he stated, indicate similar unsatisfactory conditions of supply and demand.

Hurlburt To Teach In Texas During Summer Session

Dr. Allan S. Hurlburt, director of the department of administration and supervision at East Carolina Teachers College, will teach at the University of Texas during the first summer session there, it was learned here today.

Dr. Hurlburt will conduct classes in school finance and public school administration at the Texas institution and will be one of several consultants in workshops for school principals. He will return to East Carolina as a member of the faculty for the second summer session in July and August.

At the beginning of the fall quarter of 1947, Dr. Hurlburt came to East Carolina from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., where he was awarded the doctor's degree in 1947 and was a staff member engaged in teacher-training work and serving as chairman of the bureau of educational statistics. During the present school year he has become well known in this section of the state through extension work for the Bureau of Field Services at the college here.

Who Will Be Varsity Club Sweetheart At Dance On May 1

Music Club Elects Jackson President

Leon Jackson of Pikeville was chosen in a recent election as president of the Music Education club at East Carolina. The club, made up of 35 music majors at the college, was organized last spring and has just completed a successful year's work. It was recently admitted to membership in the National Music Education Association. Jackson, a junior at the college, is manager of the 65-member College Choir and pianist for the Collegians, East Carolina dance orchestra.

Also elected as officers of the Music Education Club are Edward Benson, Rocky Mount, vice president; Annette Hughes, Willard, secretary-treasurer; and Joan Oppelt, Greenville, reporter.

Woods Elected Club President

Charles E. Woods, sophomore from Milwaukee, N. C., was chosen in a recent election as president of the Commerce Club at East Carolina. Woods, an ex-GI student, will head the club during the 1948-1949 term.

DILLINGHAM

(Continued from Page 1)

When asked if she had ever thought she would feel handicapped here, Miss Dillingham replied, "I never thought I would feel handicapped here and was never disappointed in the students." About the students here now she says, "—friendliest people I have ever known, and I really mean that." To pass time Miss Dillingham reads, listens to the radio, dances, plays the piano, writes friends (come in Braille and some on the typewriter), and keeps a scrap book and sometimes visits the 'Y' shop.

Miss Dillingham outlined an average day in college thus: Arise at 7 o'clock, breakfast at 7:20 o'clock, morning reading—1 to 2 hours, listens to the radio about 1 hour, lunch between 12 and 1 o'clock, classes from 2 to 4 o'clock, supper at 5:30 o'clock, evening reading, letter writing, sometimes a visit to the 'Y' shop, and retires between 11 and 11:30 o'clock.

On class she takes notes in Braille from the lecture and discussion. She says she can do this almost as fast as most students can write in long hand. This is her chief source of study material—not the texts.

Miss Dillingham owns only two Braille books; a Bible which is about one foot by one foot by four and one half inches, and a dictionary. Novels and other books she wishes to read are borrowed from the Congressional Library in Washington, D. C.

In an informal discussion of the opposite sexes, Miss Dillingham said she fell in love with several boys in the Raleigh blind school (where even puppy love is against regulations) and strange as it seemed, it was always with the boy who rang the bell. (The bell boy was a boy that pulled the cord on the old iron bell for classes and lunch.) One of these boys always tapped out "I love you" on the end of the ringing but this was discovered and forbidden by the faculty, so a budding romance was clipped.

At East Carolina, Miss Dillingham is a member of the Women's Chorus, the Science club, the Poe society, and the International Relations club. While here she has several times made an average or 2 or better, thus putting her on the honor roll. According to students who have had classes with Miss Dillingham, "she really holds her own in classes."

She will graduate in June and receive her B.S. degree at the age of 27.

Caviness Presides At Economics Annual Workshop

Louise Caviness of Fuquay Springs, senior at East Carolina, will preside at meetings held during the annual workshop of North Carolina college home economics clubs at Queens college, Charlotte, April 23-24. Miss Caviness is president of the organization of state college home economics clubs.

Other delegates from East Carolina to the Charlotte meeting will be Myrtle Davis, junior from Lucama and president of the home economics club at the college here; Blonnie Stott, junior from Sims; and Mary D. Poindester of the college faculty, who is state adviser of the organization. Sixteen other colleges in North Carolina will send representatives to the workshop in Charlotte.

A program including group discussion meetings, special speakers, a business session for the election of new officers, and a tea given by the home economics club at Queens college will be presented during the two-day workshop.

Reading Committee Makes Plans For English Institution

Members of the Reading Committee of the North Carolina English Teachers Association, representing schools in the eastern section of the state, met at East Carolina on Saturday to make plans for an English institute at the college this summer and to elect a chairman for the group. Lois Grigsby of the East Carolina faculty was in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Overman of the S. L. Sheep School, Elizabeth City, was chosen as chairman to replace Jessie Johnson of Rocky Mount, who recently resigned.

Plans for a one-day English institute on reading to be held at East Carolina during the summer under the direction of Dr. M. N. Posey of the college faculty were discussed. The date has not yet been chosen.

Present at the meeting were Dr. Earl H. Hartsell of Chapel Hill, executive secretary of the NCET; Dr. F. E. Bowman of Duke University, chairman of the organization; Reba Proctor, supervisor of elementary schools in Pitt County; and a number of teachers from the college here and from schools in this section.

Eighteen Students Completed Work On Degrees Last Quarter

Eighteen students completed their work for degrees at East Carolina Teachers college at the close of the winter quarter, according to information from the office of Dr. J. K. Long, registrar. All but one of the students are North Carolinians. Eleven were candidates for the B.S. degree, which is awarded to those trained as teachers; five, for the A.B., or liberal arts, degree; and two, for the master of arts degree in education. The students will be awarded their degrees and receive their diplomas at the regular commencement exercises in June.

Mrs. Myrtle Brogden Clark of Greenville and Lewis H. Swindell of Washington completed the requirements for the master's degree in education.

The candidates for the B.S. degree, with the subjects in which they specialized at the college are Edith Bowles, Greenville, commerce and social science; Elia Mae Cashwell, Saxapahaw, English and French; Francis Colner, Newport News, Va., history and English; Mary Louise Fillyaw, Roseboro, home economics and social science; Frances Gardner, Pikeville, grammar grade work; Ruth Krank, Poplar Branch, English and history; Louise J. Moore, Roxboro, commerce and social science; Billie Perry, Louisburg, home economics and science; Patsy Pridgen, Elm City, mathematics and physical education; Barbara Selby, Dudley, English and history; and Mary Andrews Whichard, Greenville, Spanish and commerce.

Those completing the liberal arts course and receiving the A.B. degree are: Frances Sutton Bailey, Kinston, physical education and social science; Adrian Brown, Greenville, history and science; Mimi Tripp Denton, Greenville, music and English; Joseph W. Hines, Washington, mathematics and social science; and James A. Little, Winterville, science and physical education.

Science Club Hears Dr. Dew

Dr. Walter A. Dew, widely known speaker on chemical progress as it affects the average American, spoke on "Preview of Progress" on April 1 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the Austin auditorium. Dr. Dew demonstrated several scores of the newest developments of modern chemical research, some of them yet to be publicly introduced.

The lecture, which is non-technical and of popular interest, was sponsored by the Science club of the college. Members of the group and their faculty advisor, J. O. Derrick, have recently completed arrangements for Dr. Dew's appearance on the campus. The lecture was open to the public.

Dr. Dew is eastern manager of the Extension Division of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, with headquarters at Wilmington, Delaware. During the past twelve months, he has spoken at scores of meetings in many states.

Dr. John Reynolds Addresses Math Club

Dr. John O. Reynolds of the Mathematics department gave a talk on "Russian Peasant's Method of Multiplication" at a meeting of the Math club, Tuesday evening, April 13.

Following the talk by Dr. Reynolds, the new officers for 1948-1949 were introduced to the club members. These officers will take over their duty in the club at the May meeting.

Mothers' Day Cards
GREETING CARDS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
NEW SOCIAL STATIONERY

Carolina Office Equipment Co.
Printers — Stationers — Office Outfitters

Underwood Typewriters
SALES and SERVICE

Standard and Portable Machines
Rubber Stamps For Marking Linen

304 Evans Street Dial 3570

RESERVATIONS FOR CAPS AND GOWNS CAN BE MADE AT The Stationery Store ANY DAY

From 9:00 to 12:00 and From 2:00 to 4:00

"CHESTERFIELD IS MY IDEA OF A REALLY ENJOYABLE SMOKE. THEY'RE O. K."

Mark Stevens STARRING IN "THE STREET WITH NO NAME" A TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX PRODUCTION

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield (FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I think Chesterfield is the best cigarette on the market. I've smoked them for about 20 years. It's mild and it's got more real tobacco taste."

"Liggett & Myers buy the middle leaves... it's the best leaf... it's mellow... it's got to be ripe. They consistently pay above the average to get the tobacco they want."

R. J. Eubank TOBACCO FARMER, MT. STERLING, KY.

ABC ALWAYS BUY CHESTERFIELD ALWAYS MILDER BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING

Copyright 1948, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Who's Go Old Bohu VOLUME XXI Phi Hon

The fourteen who hold the averages for 4 work were the... Phi Beta local alumni national honor dinner in the P day night, May... The dinner... given for East the honor group held last spring class of 1947... The fourteen... has a grade av... for all his... are, in the or... Isaac Reyno... Lassiter, Jame... Mayo, Ann... Ellis, Ruth... Hines, Betty... othy Marie... Young White... Five of the... Greenville an... are from Br... Pitt student... Whitehurst... and Harry... sister.

Miss Jean... Art depart... filed at the... speaker was... Isaac N. Re... the highest... class of... seniors.

Members... (See 2)