

State Budget Office Gives $700,299 For New Library

Construction To Be Two Story Building

The State Budget office has allocated a sum of $700,299 for the construction of a new library. About $50,000 will be spent for equipment. The new building will be of modern design with a flat roof and large windows. Plans for the library are now in the making with the actual construction expected to begin around Christmas. Mr. Smiley states that it will be approximately two years before it can be occupied. It will be located on a direct line with the Flanagan building and the Infirmary at the north west corner of the "Y" lot.

The two story building will have facilities to accommodate 125,000 volumes. It will be 267 feet long and will seat 100 people. The newspaper and periodical room will seat fifty-three. Additional furniture will be distributed throughout the building.

The new library will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 100 and it will be equipped for dark room projection. The radio broadcasting studio will also be housed in this building.

Windows will be 15 feet wide and 2 feet high and will be so constructed as to prevent persons from seeing outside.

Upon completion of this new building, the present library will be converted into a music building.

BSU Makes Plans To Attend Meet In Winston-Salem

Plans are being made this week by the BSU to attend the twentieth State BSU convention at the First Baptist church in Winston-Salem on October 28, 29, and 30.

The East Carolina BSU is chartering a bus for the convention and expects approximately thirty students from the college to attend. The purpose of the convention is to encourage Baptist student work throughout North Carolina, for inspiration and guidance, and for the interchange of ideas among the thirty colleges and universities of North Carolina.

Dr. Olin L. Brinkley, of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Kentucky, and Dr. Frank Young, Duke university, will be among the principal speakers.

The overall expenses for each student will be $11 including transportation, room, meals, and the registration fee. The registration part of the fee will have to be paid in advance.

Tentative plans were made for local students to leave the campus at 4 o'clock Friday, October 28 and return Sunday afternoon.

Daisy Chaffoo Of Bagdad, Iraq, Studying At East Carolina

Daisy Chaffoo, an undergraduate student, comes to East Carolina from Bagdad, Iraq. She arrived in Greenville September 14 following a 35-hour flight by plane from Bagdad to New York and then by train from New York to Greenville. Daisy is taking courses in Home Economics and in addition, is taking French. Following two years of study at the Teachers Training school in Bagdad, she taught primary English, primary Science and Arabic in Bagdad for four years.

In a quaintly charming accent Daisy said that it was very difficult for her to understand Southerners because we don't pronounce our "t's" and "g's" very distinctly. She said that she studied most of the time that she was not in class and that she was still not making "too good" grades because of her difficulty with the English language. She studied English for three years prior to coming to the United States and practiced speaking it at home.

Daisy says that Bagdad is not at all like the movie idea of the old city. She said that it was very much like Wilson with its wide streets and

SGA Office Hours

Student President Raz Autry has announced that the Student Government office will be open for persons who might have business beginning next week.

Hours will be Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 and Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 11 a.m. to 12 a.m. Students are urged to take advantage of these hours and obtain information about the SGA when necessary.

Vet Club Announces Tryouts For Annual Follies Production

Ed Casey, president of the Veterans club, has announced that tryouts for the "Follies of '50" have been scheduled for Tuesday, October 18, at 6:45 p.m. in the Austin auditorium.

President Casey has stressed the desire that all students with any kind of talent be present for the "Follies" tryouts. He said approximately 100 men and women would be needed for the original production which will be presented sometime in January.

Director of the combination musical comedy and minstrel will be Eli Bloom, Greenville business man. Assisting Bloom will be Mrs. Marie Wallace, Greenville dancing instructor.

Bloom is noted for his direction of the Kivans club minstrel for the past ten years and for his direction of three previous "Follies" sponsored by the Veterans club at East Carolina. Mrs. Wallace, who has assisted Bloom in the previous college productions, is regarded as the youngest master dancing instructor in the United States.

The "Follies of '50" will probably play for two out-of-town engagements in addition to the presentations on the campus.

Aycock Chosen As YWCA Secretary

Marie Aycock was elected to fill the vacancy of secretary in the YWCA following vespers Friday evening, September 30. Miss Aycock is from Black Creek and is a junior at East Carolina. She has been an active member of the YWCA for the past two years.

Two other cabinet members were appointed to fill the vacancies on the World Fellowship and Religious Education Committees. Callie Marie Kinard of Verona and Margie Smith of Kinston were selected for these offices, respectively.

NOTICE

Anyone who is interested in announcing or narrating on the Teachers Playhouse radio program, "Once Upon a Time" may make arrangements for a tryout by contacting Susan Smith, student director, Jarvis hall, or by writing College, box 175.

Hogan Gaskins, Jr. Chosen President Of Day Students

Hogan Gaskins, Jr., of Greenville, was elected as president of the day students Wednesday evening, October 5, in a meeting of approximately 125 off-campus students in the Austin auditorium. Other officers chosen by the day students were Cleon M. Smith, Jr., of Hamlet, vice president; Junius Rose of Greenville, secretary-treasurer; Sherod White of Greenville, "Tecoan" reporter; and Henry Selby of Dudley, TECO ECHO reporter.

Gaskins will represent the day students in the Student Government association.

After the election of Rose as secretary, a motion from the floor proposed that the duties of treasurer be included with those of the secretary. The motion carried giving Rose his dual assignment.

The business of the day students' participation in decorating the campus for Homecoming Day was brought forward by President Gaskins at the meeting. Miles Buck, who had figured prominently in the election but had been defeated, proposed that day students not undertake a separate project for Homecoming Day but aid other organizations in their projects.

He said this would be advisable due to the lack of time left before decorating was to begin. His motion was passed.

The meeting was adjourned by President Gaskins.

McIntyre Elected To State Home Economics Office

Tempe McIntyre of Red Oak, president of the Home Economics club at East Carolina, was recently elected secretary of the Providence III Home Economics Clubs workshop, an organization including colleges in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and the eastern section of Tennessee. Miss McIntyre and Alice Strawn, faculty advisor of the East Carolina club, attended the workshop held September 30-October 1 in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

While in Gatlinburg, Miss McIntyre served as chairman of the committee on club finances at the workshop. Fifty-one advisors and students from 46 colleges in the four states were present for the meeting.

As secretary of the workshop, Miss McIntyre will be a representative at the annual meeting to be held in Georgia next year. She is at present a junior at East Carolina and is majoring in home economics and science.

Holland Chosen As 2nd Ass't. Treasurer Of SGA

In a run-off election held on Wednesday of this week, Art Holland was elected second assistant treasurer of the Student Government association of East Carolina.

Hugh Fox, who was treasurer of the SGA, graduated last summer. By a constitutional provision, Paul Morris moved up to treasurer from the office of first assistant treasurer. William Flanders, who was second assistant treasurer, moved up to first assistant treasurer by a vote of confidence of the Student Legislature. Therefore, a vacancy was created for a second assistant treasurer.

In a previous election, Art Holland and Charles Septer polled the most votes, therefore, being the candidates in the run-off election. Art Holland defeated Charles Septer by a 135 to 118 vote in this election to become the second assistant treasurer of the SGA for the present academic year.

Iola Carrawan Attends Meeting In Greensboro

Iola Carrawan, president of the college Wesley foundation and student representative from the N. C. conference on the inter-conference commission, attended the State Methodist student movement council meeting at College Place Methodist church in Greensboro on September 24 and 25.

HOME COMING HIGHLIGHTS

by Wilbur Jones

East Carolina dormitories were gaily decorated to welcome alumni back to the campus. Jarvis and Fleming halls were the most notably decorated. Jarvis hall women used a newspaper theme with a headline of "The New York Times" displaying a win over Elon college, and with football players in various positions on the porch roof. On the campus in front of the hall was a crepe paper submarine with a broom on the conning tower meaning a "clean sweep." Fleming hall used a pirate theme that had an Elon player being walked off of a plank by a pirate.

Alumni who arrived on the campus on Friday, had the privilege of attending a huge bonfire and pep rally that was held near the Greenville High school.

A pre-game parade was held Saturday in which numerous students participated. The parade, which passed through the business district of Greenville, was composed of the college band, the sponsors of the game and their escorts, and all the students that could get a car in the parade. The cars were decorated with crepe paper fixed in various ways. Outstanding decorated cars of the parade were a jeep made into a pirate ship with pirates aboard, and a Ford model A decorated with a coffin on top.

Open House was held at Dr. Messick's new home on Saturday evening. Alumni and students who visited President Messick's home had the pleasure of seeing a beautifully furnished home, and the privilege of meeting the charming occupants of the house.

Representing the American way of life as seen through the eyes of high school students, sixty-two photographs have been on display in the library for the past week. The exhibit consists of a selection of prize winners from the fourth annual National High School Photographic Awards sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company.

Included among photographs are first, second, and third prize winners from the four contest classes, and also a selection from the remaining 335 prize winning prints. They show a diversity of subject matter and indicate a wide range of interests among teen-agers in photography.

The collection of pictures is now on tour throughout the United States and was shown here under the sponsorship of the East Carolina department of art.

Tomorrow is the last day the photographs will be displayed here.

Donat Speaks To Club On Wild Life Of State

Mr. Win Donat from the Wildlife Conservation service in Raleigh was guest speaker at the first regular meeting of the Science Club, Tuesday night, October 4. "We are," he said, "failing to conserve the very things that mean food, clothing, and shelter for us and will determine the wealth and future of our nation."

This was the last meeting at which the club received new members and the auditorium of the Flanagan building was practically filled.

Alumni Return For Homecoming Amid Decoration And Programs

Early Graduates Of East Carolina

Student Problems Discussed At Wednesday SGA Meeting

Student problems were aired at the regular meeting of the Student Legislature Wednesday night of this week and several committees appointed to investigate the problems. President Raz Autry announced that the entire SGA was now complete and that business should proceed as usual.

Reporting from the Elections committee, Lawrence Posey stated that the election for the second assistant treasurer had been completed and that the vote on the change of the method of electing editors of the publications had been carried. Explaining the constitution, Milton Sawyer, parliamentarian, stated that according to the constitution the motion would have to have a simple majority vote of the student body before it could become an amendment to the constitution. He stated that since the change did not receive a majority it did not pass.

Referred to Advisory Committee Posey stated that he was not contesting the vote but referred the matter to the advisory board for a ruling. Following the requirement of the constitution, Posey submitted a written letter to the president of the SGA requesting that the matter go to the advisory board.

Investigation Committee Set-Up President Autry, after the passing of several motions, appointed the following investigation committee, Virgil Clark, chairman, Lola Stephenson, Otis Bains, Kenneth Casey, Evangelina Baker, Bill Sutton, Ed Casey, and Gene Midgett. Following the instruction of the SGA, this committee will investigate the salaries of the self-help students, the system of selling and refunds on meal books, and the food prices in the dining hall.

Science Museum Now Open Daily For Students

Dr. Harold C. Jones, faculty member of the science department, has announced that the Science museum will be open from ten to eleven a.m. each day for the benefit of students interested in museum specimens. The museum club was first started by students interested in displaying their work under the direction of Dr. Slay, former science department director.

The Science museum of East Carolina has one of the best collections of war relics in the state. These were contributed by students, interested persons, and some were bought from the state museums. Among these you will find an airplane, which was used for training during World War I.

The latest development of the museum will be placing charts on the sides of the walls to show the simplified structure of an atom.

Meeting Of Alumni, Ball Game, And Play Top Events Of Day

Students and faculty welcomed alumni back to the campus Saturday by providing them with programs and other events of interest.

Welcome signs of various designs and colors were displayed on each entrance and on other buildings of the campus. Automobiles on the campus were arrayed in crepe paper and slogans of "Beat Elon"—the opponent of Saturday's football game.

Events for the returning alumni began with a meeting of the executive board of the alumni association, which was held Saturday morning. Present at this meeting were Mrs. Dubose Bullard of Wilson, president; Ella Moore, Rocky Mount, vice-president; and approximately 20 chapter presidents.

A luncheon was held in the dining hall, and was presided over by W. E. Marshall, dean of men. President Messick spoke to approximately 200 of the returned alumni.

Events of the afternoon for the alumni featured a colorful parade followed by a football game with Elon college.

In the early evening a play, "The Taming of the Shrew" by Shakespeare, was presented by the Teachers Playhouse. The play was presented on the lawn near Cotton hall.

Later in the evening, the alumni were entertained by an open house held at President Messick's new house. This was followed with a dance sponsored by the junior class, held in Wright auditorium. Music for the dance was furnished by Bob Lee and his orchestra.

Mathematics Club Has Annual Wiener Roast

The Mathematics club of East Carolina Teachers college held its first regular meeting for the school year with a wiener roast at the chimney, with a wiener roast at the chimney, assisted by the mathematics faculty, Tuesday evening, September 20.

The second regular meeting was held Tuesday evening, October 11. After a business meeting, in which it was decided to have the next club meeting on the date that the annual picture will be taken, a program was led by Francis Everett. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Science Class Takes Trip To Morehead City

Dr. Harold C. Jones' biology class saw the practical side of their lesson Monday, October 3 while on a trip to Morehead City.

The all day adventure included studying rocks and sea animals in Fort Macon Sound, visiting the United States Fishery and Wildlife Museum, and studying animals on mud flats at the Duke Marine Laboratory. Dinner at the Sanitary Market in Morehead City climaxed the day.

Dr. Charles G. DeShaw Joins Physical Education Staff

Dr. Charles G. DeShaw of Montclair, N. J., joined the faculty of East Carolina Teachers college Monday, October 10, as a member of the department of health and physical education.

Because of a large increase in enrollment for the fall quarter, plans have been made to add four new members to the East Carolina faculty. Dr. DeShaw was the second faculty member to join the staff since the opening of the college, September 5. Robert Carter of Lakeland, Fla., joined the faculty of the department of music in late September.

Dr. DeShaw has taught for the past two years at Montclair State Teachers college, New Jersey, where he was assistant professor and director of health, physical education, and recreation. He holds the degree of doctor of education in physical education from New York University.

He has taught at Griffith Institute, Springfield, N.Y.; State Teachers college, Fredonia, N.Y.; the University of California at Los Angeles; and Montclair. In 1948 he became president of the New Jersey Intercollegiate Athletic conference, and he has served on committees of various professional educational organizations in New York state. Dr. DeShaw is the author of a number of articles which have appeared in educational publications dealing with health and physical education.

East Carolina Participates In Dewey Birthday Celebration

East Carolina Teachers college will participate in a nation-wide celebration in honor of John Dewey, famous educator and philosopher, on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, next Thursday, October 20. A dedication ceremony in which the lounge and reading room of the Graham building will be named "The John Dewey Reading Room" will constitute a major part of the program conducted on the East Carolina campus, President John D. Messick of the college has announced.

The program here will be one of many held in selected colleges and universities throughout the United States. As the culminating event of the national observance of John Dewey's birthday, a dinner in his honor will take place in the Hotel Commodore in New York City.

Dr. Messick will be chief speaker at an assembly held in the Wright auditorium on the East Carolina campus. He will talk on "Contributions of John Dewey to Education." Members of the college organizations of the Association for Childhood Education and the Future Teachers of America, freshman students majoring in education, teachers in the city school system of Greenville, and faculty members of the college have been invited to attend.

A luncheon for those present at the dedication ceremony and the assembly will be given in the Graham building as the final event of the day's program.

HIGHLIGHTS

"The Taming of the Shrew" were very much impressed by the acting ability of the participants, the beautiful costumes, and the effective lighting.

Highlight of the Homecoming celebration was a football game between Elon college and East Carolina. Introduced at half time were the sponsors. They were Sue Lanier, Lillington, chief sponsor; Annie Morton, Carolina Beach; Jane Brown, Clarkton; Iva Payne, Stumpy Point, and Betty Heath, Kinston.

Other highlights of half time were the performance of the band, and the tumbling clowns. The clowns, who are getting more popular at each game, added a new feature to their act by using a springboard from which to perform tricks. The football fans were thrilled by their front and back tricks from the springboard.

Bob Lee and his orchestra furnished music at a dance Saturday evening from nine until twelve. The dance sponsored by the junior and freshman classes was enjoyed by everyone.

Players Present Two Successful Productions Here

by Jean Powell

Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," presented by the Teachers Playhouse and directed by Dr. Lucile Charles, and her student assistant, Geraldine Weathers, was well attended at the two showings Homecoming weekend, October 8 and 9, and at the Monday evening presentation.

Claude "Kip" West and Shirley Cowburn were excellent in their roles as Petruchio and Katherina. The couple provided quite a bit of amusement as they fought in hand to hand combat, knocking each other to the ground, kicking and slapping each other and finally reaching an agreement. Susan Smith and Joe Congleton in their supporting roles as Bianca and Lucentio also furnished the audience with laughs as Bianca tried desperately to rid herself of one suitor so that she might marry Lucentio.

The authenticity of the costumes lent a realistic note to the play. The girls clad in stately gowns of silks and satins and the boys in long stockings, short pants, and plumed hats looked as though they had stepped out of an Elizabethan picture.

The Oak Theatre was the best stage setting the Players could have selected because it would have been impossible to reproduce on an indoor stage a setting as appropriate.

STUDENT

if she missed her home, she said that she was just a little homesick when she first arrived. She is fortunate in the respect that she has a married sister in Wilson. In fact, this is one of the reasons she chose to come to East Carolina. She is planning to spend next summer there rather than go back to Iraq for her vacation. Daisy is one of nine children. In addition to the sister living in Wilson, she has a sister who received her Master's Degree in Art from Woman's College, a brother who conducts classical music in England and conducts a miniature orchestra when in Bagdad, a brother in France, and two brothers and two sisters in Bagdad.

Daisy who is 23 years old wears a diamond ring but says her mother gave it to her. Of course, this led to this reporter's asking the ultimate question, "What do you think of the boys on campus." She said quite disappointedly that she had not met any.

Daisy finds that college life in the states is different from her country primarily because she lived at home when she attended school there and didn't know much about dormitory life. She said that as far as dress is concerned there is not too much difference. She rooms alone but wishes she had a roommate because she thinks it would help her master English more quickly.

About the only regret Daisy has is that she has so much studying to do that she doesn't have much leisure time. She said that it was so different here because at home she had time to go to gay parties and have a good time.

She compared the theaters in Greenville with those in Bagdad and said that she was amazed at the smallness of ours. When it was explained that the size of Greenville compared to Bagdad made the difference, she smiled and nodded her head in agreement.

Daisy is a warmly vivacious person who seems to get a "big kick" out of talking with and observing the students here. She laughs readily but also has a serious side. She has had to adjust to a difficult situation, that of being in a strange country among a strange people; yet, already she has endeared herself to those who have met her.

ALUMNI NEWS

Alumni Council Makes Plans

Twenty-six members of the Alumni council were present for the fall planning meeting which was held on Saturday morning at 10:30 in Austin 103.

Mrs. DuBose Bullard (Mildred Harrison) of Wilson presided. The Beckwith Gateway committee was instructed to have prices and designs of suitable markers ready to submit at the spring meeting. Stanley Scarborough of Mooresville, chairman, Mrs. A. F. Smith (Elizabeth Smith) of Raleigh, and Mrs. W. W. Morrison (Ella Outland) of Asheville are serving on this committee.

It was decided to wait until after all nominations are in before appointing the committee to select the Alumni award recipient.

The name of Bob Young of Bethel was approved to serve as alumni representative of the Intercollegiate Athletic committee. He will serve for a three year term. He is replacing Tex Lindsey whose term expired.

The chapter president assured the cooperation of the chapters in accomplishing the three projects of the year—that of beautifying the spot adjoining the soda shop, helping to furnish the sunroom of the college president's home, and increasing the athletic scholarship fund.

A committee will be appointed by the president to work out a point system for the chapters.

Those present included the three members of the faculty advisory committee, Miss Emma L. Hooper, Miss Dora Coates and Dr. A. D. Frank.

Association officers here were Mrs. Bullard president; Mrs. George Crawley (Ethel Vick), past president; Ella Moore, vice president; Ruth White, treasurer; and Mrs. Clam Garner (Ruth Blanchard), secretary.

The district vice presidents to attend were Grace Smith of Greenville, Northeastern district; Stanley Scarborough of Mooresville, South Piedmont district; Mrs. J. Y. Lassiter (Leola Pleasant) of Goldsboro, the Central district; and Baxter Ridenhour of Burlington, Northwestern district.

The following represented chapters: Floyd Eamon, Alamance county; Jerome Donaldson, Charlotte; Mrs. A. E. Brown (Hannah Cuthrell), Craven county; C. Ray Pruette and Mrs. Pruette (Margaret Allen), Franklin county; Mrs. O. K. Joyner (Christine Vick), Forsyth county; Mrs. Thurman Dail (Eleanor Hardy), Greenville; Ella Moore, Nash-Edgecombe; Tex Lindsey, Onslow county; Mrs. R. A. Martin (Mary Elizabeth Crawford), Raleigh; Mrs. Lillian Seawell Castor, Rockingham; Mrs. Stanley Seago (Mary Elizabeth Parker), Washington, D. C.; Mrs. W. M. Rogers (Elsie Morgan), Wilson; and Mrs. W. V. Gaylord, (Beulah White), Washington county.
