Teachers Attend Piano Clinic At East Carolina

Approximately forty music teachers from various localities in eastern North Carolina spent Saturday, October 29, at East Carolina attending an annual piano clinic. Sponsors of the clinic were the college department of music and the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

Speakers at Meredith College included a series of discussions of music held during the contest annually held by the state Federation of Music Clubs. Elizabeth Drake, George E. Perry and Robert Carter, all faculty members of East Carolina Teachers College, participated in the program. Various types of methods to be used by pupils taking part in the contest were discussed and demonstrated.

Miss S. Easley of Wake Forest, general chairman of the State Federation of Music Clubs, presided at meetings held by the music teachers. Dr. R. E. Willmann, director of the department of music at East Carolina, was in charge of local arrangements for the clinic.

Those present for the clinic represented the Southeastern and Northwestern districts of the State Federation of Music Clubs. Teachers from Greenville, Walstonburg, Raleigh, Wake Forest, Scotland Neck, Appleton, Williamston, Whiteville, Lenoir, Warsaw, Washington, Windsor and Kinston were present for the clinic.

Change In AROTC Curriculum Announced By Col. W. Brown

Col. William D. Brown, professor of air science and tactics, has announced some recent changes in the Air Force ROTC curriculum. These changes affect both the subject matter and the time required for the completion of the courses. The college credit for all courses has also been raised as a result of action taken by the college faculty policies committee.

The complete Air ROTC course formerly required twelve quarters for completion. The new course will require only ten quarters for completion, four quarters being required for the basic course (air science and tactics I and II) and six quarters being required for the advanced course (air science and tactics III and IV).

College credit has been raised from one quarter hour to two quarter hours for each of the four quarters of the basic course. Credit has been raised from two quarter hours to three quarter hours for each of the

Veterans' Follies Has Large Number Out For Tryouts

Ed Casey, president of the Veterans' club, has revealed that the first tryouts for the "Follies of '50" saw the largest number of persons ever to turn out for the annual musical comedy. Approximately 125 appeared to try out for the production directed by Eli Bloom, Greenville businessman.

The first rehearsals were held Tuesday, November 1. Many persons who had taken part in the previous productions were present, Casey said. The Veterans' club quartet composed of Keith Kilpatrick, Linwood Kilpatrick, Paul Geer, and Richard Ricks; and Betty Croom, Norman Wicker, Art Holland, Milton Glover, Virgil Clark, Bernard Ham, and Jack Hedgepeth and his wife, Betsy Hedgepeth, were among those who plan to participate again this year.

Outstanding among the new talent were the three clowns, who have been prominent in the football games this year. Joanne Bloom, daughter of Director Eli Bloom and former Powers model, who is known for her singing and dancing ability, and Al Smith, singing and tap dancing performer in the "Follies of '48," will also have parts in the production.

Although the chorus line has been selected and work begun to learn the complex dance routines under the instructions of Marie Wallace, local dance instructor, Casey has stressed that students with special talent may still be auditioned.

Freshmen Men Meet

There will be a required meeting of all freshmen men on Monday night, November 7 at 7 p. m.

This meeting will be held in the auditorium on the first floor of the Flanagan building. Dean W. E. Marshall has announced that this will be a very important meeting.

WAA Members Go To Atlantic Beach

New and old members of the WAA traveled to Atlantic Beach for the weekend for two days of fun and frolic. Arriving Saturday, the girls spent the afternoon hiking and the evening playing games.

Sunday afternoon the students spent some time at Fort Macon and other points of interest while a few of the group remained at the beach. They returned Sunday evening.

Those making the trip were: Anne Winstead, Shirley Pilkenton, Elsie Carver, Eddie Holloman, Frances Douglas, Virginia Floyd, Joyce Adcock, Jane Cole, Sarah Jane Hester, Maxine Robinson, Carolyn Jessup, Mary K. Perry, Janet Davis, Jean Beddingfield, Dorothy Midgett, and Alicia Blue. Miss Margaret Tift and Mrs. Wilton Wilkerson acted as chaperones.

Want To Win $10? Then Draw A Sign

Students interested in winning ten dollars and those who can draw are invited to try their hand in a contest sponsored by the SGA.

The college needs a sign that it can be proud of, so the Student Legislature is running a contest for the person that can draw the best sign. This drawing must have full dimensions and lettering. It is to be made of wood and will be placed on the front campus.

The drawing will be submitted to a board for selection and a first and second prize of ten and five dollars respectively will be given. Anyone interested should contact either of the following persons for full details, Lou Hines, Milton Clark, Paul Morris, or Bill Flanders.

Announcers Needed On Campus Radio Broadcast Here

Miss Marguerite Z. Austin, director of the campus radio studio and Dr. Lucile Charles, speech consultant, have announced that audiences are now being arranged for students interested in announcing on the campus radio programs.

Dr. Charles stated that persons to be used on the permanent staff are being selected early next week but that there are still several openings. Students who tryout will be classed in three classifications; approved, those who will be allowed to go on the program; conditioned, those who must make progress; and disapproved, those who can not go on the radio until improvements are made.

Participants Selected For Leadership, Service, And Scholastic Record

Twenty students at East Carolina Teachers college have been selected to represent the college in the annual published work, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Chosen by a committee made up of both students and faculty members, those chosen for inclusion in the work are students who have outstanding records in scholarship, leadership, and participation in extra-curricula activities and who give indication of future usefulness to business and society.

Those included in the selection are: Raz Autry, president of the Student Government Association; Paul Morris, treasurer of the Student Government Association; Lola Stephenson, president of the Science club; Jessie Braxton, secretary of the Student Government Association; Gilbert Carroll, president of the junior class; Ed Casey, president of the Veterans club; Jack Hedgepeth; John Nelson, chairman of the Men's Judiciary; Margaret Mason, chairman of the Women's Judiciary; John Pournaras, editor of the Tecoco; Bill Sutton, president of the

Vornholt Elected To Music Office

Dan E. Vornholt, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina, was recently elected secretary of the North Carolina Music Education Association. The association is the largest organization of music teachers in the state and includes among its affiliates the North Carolina associations of Band Masters, Orchestra Directors, Choral Directors, and Piano Teachers.

Mr. Vornholt and Dr. Karl V. Gilbert represented the East Carolina department of music at the 1949 Conference of North Carolina Music Teachers and the North Carolina Music Education Association, held recently in Greensboro.

Amateur Show Will Be Presented Here Wednesday Night

Members of the P. E. Class 127 will present an amateur show Wednesday evening, November 9 at 8 o'clock, in the Wright Auditorium in which talent from all of Pitt County will participate. Since the request for talent for this show was published, more applications than can possibly be used have been received.

From these applications, a variety of numbers have been selected and a full evening is assured by Dr. Charles DeShaw, instructor of the class.

A few of the participants are Alice McKinsey who will render a vocal selection, Bernard Ham, well known on the campus as a vocalist and pianist, Lola Stephenson and Catherine Stephenson will do a dialogue, the Marshal Schrug's quartette will sing and there will be a tumbling act by the men better known on the campus as the three clowns seen at the football games. These tumblers are Paul Fitzgerald, Gerald Hunt, and Neal Stout.

There will be no admission charge and prizes will be awarded to the top three contestants as selected by the audience. First prize will be $10, second prize will be $7.50 and third prize will be $5.

Mathematics Club Plans Regular Tuesday Meet

The Mathematics club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday, November 8 at 6:45 p. m. in Austin 125. The program, under the leadership of Francis Everett, will consist of a talk by Milan Johnson on the Abacus. After the program refreshments will be served. All members and persons interested in mathematics are invited to attend.

Scholarships To Be Given To Students To Study Abroad

Announcement has recently been made by the Department of State and the President's Board of Foreign Scholarships of the opening of competitions for U.S. Government awards for graduate study abroad for the academic year 1950-51. The scholarships offered to American graduate students are made available by the Fulbright act. This is the second year in which American graduate students will have the opportunity of competing for these awards which provide travel, tuition, and maintenance for one academic year.

The participating countries and openings are: Great Britain and dependencies, 156; Belgium and Luxembourg, 22; Burma, 3; Netherlands, 25; Philippines, 6; Greece, 12; New Zealand, 10; France, 220; Italy, undetermined; Norway, undetermined, and Iran, undetermined.

The basic eligibility requirements are: 1. American citizenship; 2. a college degree or its equivalent by the time the candidate takes up his award; 3. knowledge of the language of the country sufficient to carry on his studies there. Interested applicants should get information and application forms from the chairman of the Fulbright committee on the campus, Dr. L. F. Brewster, 115 Austin building. Applications must be in by November 30, 1949.

Building To Contain Auditorium And School Cafeteria Says Duncan

The walls of two new wings for the Training School on the campus of East Carolina Teachers college are rapidly rising. Work on the building was begun in late summer and satisfactory progress is being made, according to F. D. Duncan, college business manager.

The completed building, says Mr. Duncan, will somewhat resemble an H in shape. A west wing is under construction between the present structure and the Wright building. To the east another wing, now underway also, stretches back from the building toward the athletic field.

Blue prints in Mr. Duncan's office show many improvements in store for the training school.

Located in the west wing will be an auditorium, a kindergarten, a cafeteria, a special room for science instruction, and an industrial arts workshop.

Auditorium

The auditorium promises to be an attractive addition designed to fill the double need for a place of assembly and a little theatre. A main lobby, equipped with a ticket booth, will lead into the auditorium. Seats will be provided for 783 people. The stage will curve across the front of the auditorium and will be bordered with a short flight of steps extending full length under the proscenium arch. Back of the stage will be a make-up lobby, two dressing rooms, and a workshop where scenery may be made. The Teachers Playhouse, dramatic organization, and other college groups will use the auditorium for productions.

Kindergarten

Also in the west wing will be new quarters for East Carolina's kindergarten, now located in the Graham building. A booth from which observers may watch the children without being seen themselves will adjoin the main room. Opening off the kindergarten will be an open-air play terrace.

The cafeteria will have "in wall" tables. These, Mr. Duncan explains, will be so built that, after use at meals, they may be pushed back into the walls. The cafeteria will them become a play room. A kitchen and a pantry will open off the cafeteria.

Science Room

The science room and the industrial arts workshop will provide much needed quarters for improved instruction in the subjects. The east addition to the present Training School will house a gymnasium, shower baths for pupils, and an office for teachers. The gymnasium (See TRAINING SCHOOL on Page 4)

Spanish Student Makes Talk At Meeting Of Language Frat

Senorita Paloma Lopez-Alarcon was guest speaker at the October meeting of the Phi Sigma chapter of Sigma Pi Alpha, national honor fraternity for students studying foreign languages. Paloma, as she is called by her friends here, led an informal discussion on points of interest about Cuba, her home, after having been introduced by Ellen Buffkin, entertainment chairman for the fraternity.

Discussing at length the educational system in Cuba, Paloma said that in most phases it is broadened that of the United States. She explained, "We have primary schools that include the first through the eighth grades, then institutes, which are the equivalent of your high schools where we study during five years. With the title obtained at the institute a person is admitted to the University." Another feature mentioned was the fact that there is no racial discrimination in Cuban Schools. Paloma spoke of her study of Latin and Greek in the University where a three-year core curriculum and one year of specialization are followed by all students working toward a philosophy degree.

Discusses Sports

Asked about the sports programs in Cuban schools, Paloma explained that since there are only a small number of universities and colleges in Cuba, competition in athletics is mostly among the various schools of the University of Havana where, she said, a great deal of enthusiasm is shown among students. They play practically the same sports as we

Gives Talk

When asked how she liked East Carolina and the United States, she replied, "I like very much all I have seen of the United States, which is not much yet. But I hope to visit other places before leaving. Greenville is really a nice town and I am very grateful to East Carolina for having given me the opportunity of studying here, and living in such a friendly and interesting environment."

BEWARE OF HASTY CHANGES IN CONSTITUTIONS

Last week the Student Legislature passed, by a simple majority, a motion to change article eighteen and section three of the constitution which reads: "An amendment shall become a part of this constitution when it has been passed first by a two-thirds vote of the Student Legislature and then by a simple majority of the student body," to read "An amendment shall become a part of this constitution when it has been passed by a two-thirds vote of the Student Legislature and then by a simple majority of the students voting in the election."

When our constitution was first written, it was written so as to be flexible enough for service but at the same time the students who wrote the constitution, made it hard enough for amendments to be passed so as to prevent other students from making unnecessary changes over night. We have now come up against a problem in this constitution. We shall not say let it remain as it is but we shall say modify it only to the extent that it is needed.

The federal constitution is so written that no small group can swing an election for a change and get it. It requires three-fourths of the states' approval to make a constitution change. If the system now being considered by this student body were adopted, a small group could bring up an election, suppress publicity, and carry over a change in the constitution for their own selfish desires.

We have reasons to feel that the intent of those supporting such a motion would be a hasty change. We maintain that if students are interested enough in having a change, they will come out and vote in sufficient numbers to carry an election. However, due to the divided living conditions (so many day students) on our campus, it is sometimes impossible for all of the students to vote. To say a simple majority of the students voting could carry an election would mean that if fifty people voted and twenty-six voted for a change, the change would be made. It is plain to see that the votes of these twenty-six persons would not represent the voice of the entire student body composed of 1659 students.

We agree that a change should be made but we do not favor such a change as has been proposed. It seems sound enough to change to a plan whereby a change could be passed by three-fourths of the students voting.

There is still much that the students can say and do about the present motion. It must be voted on by the Legislature again and passed by a two-thirds vote. May we urge the students to have their representatives vote against the present motion. Your freedom may be suppressed under the new motion if passed.

BUILDINGS SHOULD BE WARMER

Now that the windowstripping has been practically completed in the Austin building, the building should be much easier to heat and should be warmer. Mr. Duncan stated that about $10,000 has been spent on the various campus buildings for such work.

Nevertheless, the coal shortage is still on. Students are urged to keep windows in the dormitories closed as much as possible and if it seems a little cold button up your coat. The situation should improve in the near future.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE RADIO STAFF

East Carolina's radio staff is really working. Each day several programs which should be of interest to many of the students are broadcast over station WGTC. Thanks to the station, the college now has a relay station set-up in the Graham building on the campus.

Students who have not as yet heard a program are urged to tune in. If it is sports—we have it; if news—we have that too; if music—likewise; and for the kiddies, there is the "Once Upon A Time" program.

EVERY WEEK SHOULD BE "HELLO WEEK"

State college is sponsoring "Hello Week" this week. For a number of years State has set aside one week during the year in which everyone is requested to speak. The purpose of such a week has been to encourage friendly relations among the students and among faculty members.

We like the idea, it sounds good, but why can not every week be "Hello Week?" East Carolina is noted for being one of the friendliest campuses in the south. Yet at times some of us go by our classmates without speaking. It is because we become too self-centered. Let us take note that there are other students and faculty members on the campus other than ourselves. Speak even before being spoken to should be our rule.

Student Spotlight

by WILBUR JONES

The TECO ECHO spotlight of the week falls on that versatile senior from near Goldsboro—Ed Casey.

In reality Ed is from the small community of Grantham that is located near Goldsboro. While interviewing Ed, he spoke of being from near Goldsboro and explained why he didn't use Grantham. As Ed puts it "No one seems to have heard of Grantham." So in this feature, Ed and Grantham are in the spotlight.

He was born in Rocky Mount, N.C., in 1924, and honored that fair city by completing high school there in 1942. In his younger days, Ed liked to change schools. He first went to school in the county near Goldsboro, changed to Rocky Mount, changed back to the county school, and then back to Rocky Mount. We wonder if Ed would have changed again, or if the time just ran out on him.

Ed stuck strictly to school work while in school, and did not participate in many extra-curricular activities. On completion of high school he went to work in the Wilmington ship yard, and worked there for sixteen months. He did not have future plans then as the war was going on, and he expected to be called into service.

In the fall of 1943, Ed entered the Aviation Cadet program. He was eliminated, and took a course in aerial gunnery at Denver, Colorado. His actual gunnery practice was at Fort Myers, Florida. In 1944, Ed was sent overseas, and was stationed in England and France. As a tail gunner in a B-26, he flew thirty-three missions, and was decorated with the Air medal and five Oak Leaf clusters. He was discharged in November of 1946.

Upon his return to North Carolina, Ed worked for eight months in Rocky Mount, and then tried to get in the University of North Carolina. With many other potential students, he found that very hard to do. What was Carolina's loss was East Carolina's gain. Ed came to the East Carolina campus, liked it here, found he could take the same course here as he could at Carolina, and stayed to be an asset to the school.

Ed will complete the course for an A.B. degree in business education, and a minor in social studies this spring. Along with his school work, he has taken an active part in various activities on the campus. He has served on the Student Legislature, served as president of the Commerce club, served as treasurer of the Veterans' club, and at present is president of the Veterans' club. More recently, in fact this week, Ed is recognized with 19 other students who have been chosen to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

He says that the work he has enjoyed the most was working on the Veterans' club Follies, and working for dances sponsored by the Veterans. Ed likes to help in any way to aid athletics on the campus, and looks forward to East Carolina having the very tops in all sports.

Like many other veterans, Ed has taken advantage of the ROTC program on the campus, and plans to get a reserve commission in the Army. He also plans on sales promotion work as a career, but if times get hard he might make use of his reserve commission and join the Army.

Students such as Ed Casey are a credit to the college, and it is with pride that we turn the student spotlight on Ed Casey of Grantham.

ROUND THE CAMPUS

by Curtis Nichols

Well, this brain of mine has just about dried off (no remarks, Mr. Aurtrey) from last Friday's game so leave us get down to the business before us, namely getting this column out.

Wet Turf

A special tribute must be bestowed upon those most courageous students who saw the finish of that mud battle with the Flyers last week. That's what I call real spirit, and I sincerely hope the little shower caused no ill effects. I wonder if those Flyers went back and said they lost because the turf was too wet?

To The Veterans

I realize that most of the veterans on the campus have been civilians for quite a few months, so here is a little poem that may bring back a few memories.

Those two she had really caught my eyes,
They seemed to stand out, though the usual size,
Brother, I tell you, they really looked nice.

I couldn't help from looking twice,
I gazed on them with great desire,
In my hungry eyes there burned a fire,
She was a Wac, I'm a private you see.

And her corporal stripes looked so good to me.

Pay Day

The first week of every month is such a nice one, isn't it veterans? Seventy-five bucks worth of cardboard for the "lucky ones" really is something to write about. This is the week in which debts are paid off, penny ante games flourish, boy takes girl out—and pays, instructors wonder where their students were the night before; the boys with their football forecasts (I wish I wasn't so darn weak headed) make a killing; everybody eats and drinks; and grade averages take a terrific drop.

The following week, borrowing starts again; the Soda Shop increases supply of nabs; students get usual five hours of sleep per night; Library overflows and the grades—yep, you guessed it, the darn things drop lower.

Looking Toward The Future

Students are wondering when Slay hall will be ready, and the only solution I can give as to getting the answer is to pay a visit to Madame Lee. (This is not a paid advertisement, Mr. Morris).

Congratulations

I would like to be another to extend my sincere congratulation to those students who were selected to represent East Carolina in Who's Who. It's an honor that anyone would be proud to receive, and the choice of the committee could not have been a wise one. The twenty chosen have set high standards and I'm sure they will set ever higher standards in the future which will be an inspiration to all.

It seems that the cheerleaders had quite a struggle in getting the rooters organized at the last game due to the fact that a few didn't want to cooperate with the others in the various yells. I'm certainly in favor of displaying plenty of noise, but I do think that we should go along with the cheerleaders in every respect.

All Play, No Work

It has been and will be quite an entertaining week for students at East Carolina. Sunday an opera was given to a very appreciative audience; Wednesday night saw the magician show; Eugene List, pianist, provided Thursday night's entertainment; and the Commerce carnival and football game will take care of tonight and Saturday night. Sandwiched in between, I'm sure, were a few quizzes which took a lot of the joy out of the week, but that's really entertainment too, isn't it? (Nose Nichols they call me).

Mr. Alfred Tennyson Wicker, the new campus poet, made quite a big hit at the game Friday night. Now that's literature we would all like to study.

Well, gany, as a Kigmy would say wishy, this is the end. See you at the game tomorrow night and God help those Apps. Too bad—they tried hard, but it just wasn't their night.

Ole Man Winter Is Coming, Coal Supply Low

B-r-r-r, no you're not in east Greenland but right here in the sunny south. Your roommate just came in the door and made the room just a little draftier. Hovering over there under your feet, your teeth begin to chatter. Of course, they are in the glass of water beside your bed, but they chatter nevertheless. This is the picture you're gonna see with the arrival of ole man winter in a few more weeks. That is, if some of us students don't take to the coal mines and start excavating a little fuel.

Thought it'd be fun to see how some of the students felt about the vacation we might get if that shipment of coal doesn't hurry up and find its way to Greenville.

Florida Calls

Doug Bryant, football player extraordinary, Casanova and English whiz all rolled into one said, "I think I'd like to go to Florida and continue my studies in Metcalf (English Literature book)." Doug insists on spelling this author's name Met Calf!

Janie Starling had the same idea about migrating to Florida but she didn't say a thing about taking any books with her. Bet she wouldn't forget to take her most comfortable hunting outfit, though.

Faye Moore who always keeps an eye out for her education regardless of the situation says that she would travel over to Wake Forest and take a few lessons in law. You could probably find at least one student who'd be right happy to help ya, Faye.

Thoughtful Al Berman said that he would give all the teachers a book of matches (probably hoping they'd get this institution on fire), go home and recuperate from studying so much.

Jean Holliday expressed the sentiments of all when she answered with one word, "Sleep."

Frances Bizzell said she'd go home and sleep but her roommate, Molly Leggett, said emphatically that she didn't want school to stop.

Are They Crazy
Here's the right attitude . . . Grace Breedlove and Helen Alderman said that they'd be glad to contribute their share of wood to be able to stay in Greenville. Wait a minute now. Could they really be yearning to learn or are there other reasons?

Carrie Smith seemed to agree with the two aforementioned gals when she said, "I'd be very unhappy." She added that she reckoned she'd go home and work and look forward to coming back. Her roommate, Marjorie Williams frankly admitted that she'd catch up on dating, eating and sleeping. Nothing like those Wayne county women!

Jimmy Ratledge looking at the practical side of life said that he'd go home and burn all his books to keep warm. Think of all the money you'd loose on that deal.

Industrious Gal

When this reporter questioned Jean Head she was carrying about four boxes of candy around the dormitory trying to make enough money to buy some unmentionables. She grinned and said, "Oh brother! Go home and do something exciting every minute." Jean, when did they open a pitcher show in Seven Springs?

Elda Richmond looked sorta homesick when she said she'd go home and get some of mama's cooking. She added that a holiday from Julian's cooking would be a vacation.

If worse comes to worse and we can't want to discontinue school, we can always get some little pot bellied wood stoves and put 'em up in our rooms. Add a checker board and checkers, a kettle for heating bath water and who could ask for anything more?

Editor's Corner

Now that East Carolina has a guidance director each student should take advantage of the opportunity of seeing Mr. Fuller to have a talk about their planned career. The TECO ECHO reporter who interviewed Mr. Fuller last week was very much impressed with the guidance work.

There is nothing to complain about so far as pep rallies are concerned here at East Carolina. The editor reads in the Black and Gold, student paper of Wake Forest, that all of forty students turned out for a pep rally.

Calling all artist and especially sign painters or rather designers. The Student Legislature is sponsoring a contest to give a prize of ten and five dollars to the two students drawing the best two signs to use for the college. Drawings must have specifications, dimensions, and actually how the sign will look when completed. The words East Carolina Teachers College must be on the sign. For further information students should see Bill Flanders.

It's hard to please everyone on the campus, but this paper has tried. Anytime you have a problem which you wish aired in these columns drop us a line. We appreciate the letters we have received.

The editor wonders how many of the students here at East Carolina realize that this college is now sponsoring several radio programs each day on the local radio station. If you've been hearing the programs, check the radio calendar in this issue of the paper and tune in for your favorite.

Congratulations to William Roy Phelps for the work he is doing with his radio hobby. The editor thinks that his bringing the father and daughter together for a conversation several weeks ago is well worth congratulations. That's what we commonly call "using your head for something besides a hat rack."

We wonder if some of the students thought that the annual staff was trying to get rid of some of its musty annuals. In the last issue of the TECO ECHO the editor wrote a note saying that a number of the 1948 annuals were now for sale. He is ready to retract his statement—it is the 1949 annuals that the staff would like to sell.

In Other Colleges

The TECO ECHO exchanges papers with some 100 to 150 other colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Since most of the activities of these colleges are run on the same level as those at East Carolina, we thought it would be of interest to most of the students to know something about college life in other parts of the country.

Below are a few facts about other colleges as seen through their newspapers.

We shall try to make this one of our fill-in features.

The College News, voice of Murray State College, Kentucky, reports that a dramatic fantasy, "Robinson Crusoe," will be presented in the college auditorium on November 5.

The play is being presented by Edwin Strawbridge Production of Bedford, New York, and the proceeds will go for the benefit of a student loanfund.

The Lenoir Rhynean states that the Playmakers are planning a tour. The play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," will be taken on a tour throughout the state this fall.

The Blue and White (Sharpesville, Penn.) announces "Hawkins Day," for November 11.

The Leader (State Teachers College, Fredonia, New York) states that Szymon Goldberg, Polish violinist of world renown, opened the evening concert series at FSTC on October 12. It was stated that Mr. Goldberg and his wife spent time in fourteenth Japanese internment camps during World War II.

The West Carolinian states that the campus radio station is now on the air. The station went on the air on October 24. The chief purpose is to give training and to inform students of campus activities.

Tempo (Chicago Teachers College) reports that a melodrama, "Kind Lady," will be presented by the Theater Workshop in December. The play is adapted from a story by Hugh Walpole.

Bucs Defense Meets Strong Test In Appalachian Game

Coach Bill Dole's offensive charges displayed their power in routing the Edenton Flyer eleven last week, 67-0. This week the defensive squad of the Pirates will probably meet their stiffest test as East Carolina plays host to the rolling Mountaineers from Appalachian in their final home game tomorrow night in the college stadium. Kickoff time is set at eight o'clock.

Heavy rains have dampened the Pirate preparations for the big Apps during the past week, but the Buccaneers practices have been spirited all week long as they are striving to hit the win column of the North State Standings for the first time, this year.

Apps Hit Champ Stride
Appalachian, after getting off to a slow start in losing to West Carolina and Guilford, have hit their championship stride of last year in winning five straight games. Last week, the Apps defeated Newberry college by the score of 41-6.

Outstanding men employed by Coach E. C. Durgins eleven are three Little All-Southerns, John Caskey at end, who also made Little All-American last year, along with Center J. C. Honeycutt, who was honorable mention All-State in 1948, and Herman Bryson, a halfback, who led North Carolina touchdown getters with seventeen scores.

Although rated a two or three touchdown underdog, the Pirates have the record of playing their best games against heavier odds as they held a highly-touted West Carolina team to a 19-6 score at Canton, and played Lenoir-Rhyne, another North State powerhouse, to the limit before losing 21 to 20.

Tomorrow's Leads
Leading tomorrow night's defensive play against the Mounts will be Reggie Byrd, rugged tackle who has played outstanding ball his first year here. Along with Byrd will be big Ken Booth, another tackle, who does a superb job in his usual 60-minute maneuvers on the gridiron. Rugged Raz Autry, jolting Jack Melvin, and defensive ends "Doc" Smith and Bob Bradley will also make the going tough for last year's North State champions.

In playing their final home game, the Pirates will be out to keep up their record of scoring in every contest thus far this season, and to improve Coach Bill Dole's coaching record to 102 games.

Dance To Be Held Following Game Tomorrow Night

There will be an informal dance after the game tomorrow night with music by Bob Lee and his orchestra. This dance is being sponsored by the college cheerleaders and is in honor of the football team. All proceeds of the dance will be used to defray the expense of chartering the buses to the ACC game in Wilson. Admission will be twenty-five cents per person.

All women students who do not have night riding permits must write home for permission to go to the game in Wilson if they intend to go. Students are urged to do this as soon as possible. The round trip charge per person on the bus is indefinite as yet but it should not be more than $1 if the dance is successful.

The student admission to the game will be ninety cents. Everything possible will be done to lower this as much as possible according to Virgil Clark, head cheerleader.

Boxing Team Opens Ring Card Against Gamecocks Of S. C.

An official schedule has been released by Athletics Director Dr. N. M. Jorgensen for the East Carolina Pirate boxing team for the 1949-1950 season under the tutorage of new head pug coach Johnny Long. So far the Coach Johnny Long's ring team has only four matches scheduled but more contests may be added in the near future. The ring schedule is as follows: December 16—University of South Carolina at Columbia, S. C. January 20—The Citadel of South Carolina at Charleston, S. C. February 4—University of South Carolina, here. February 17—American University of Washington, D. C., here.

Pirates Rout Flyer Team In Offensive Spree, 67-0

East Carolina's Pirates went on a scoring spree here last Friday night as they smothered the Edenton Flyer before 3,000 fans, 67 to 0.

Coach Bill Dole's charges, reaching their season peak, scored at least two touchdowns in every quarter, and tallied three TD's in each of the first two periods.

Score Three In First Period
In the first stanza, the Buccaneers scored in the first minute of play as Quarterback Roger Thrift tossed his first of three touchdown passes to End Dwight Shoe with the play good for 15 yards. The educated toe of Jim Danks made the ball split the uprights and the Pirates led 7-0.

With four minutes gone, the Pirates set sail again. This time Halfback Jack Benzie skirted his own right end for thirteen yards to paydirt, Danks kicked good again, and the Bucs took a 14-0 lead. This score was set up, Bill Darby ran from his 35 down to the 20, then Thrift sneaked through center down to the 13 yardstrip.

In the same period, Fullback Johnny Smith made a brilliant 43 yard sprint to stage the third score of the period as Thrift tossed to Halfback Mike Kovach, who went over to score the first of his two touchdowns. Danks booted his third consecutive placement, and the Pirates led at the end of the period, 21-0.

Grady Jaunts 67 Yards
Relentless in their offensive against the Marine team, the Bucs came back just as hard in the second quarter with Bob Grady, the Kinston freshman back, racing 67 yards on a punt return, behind brilliant blocking by Dennis Smith and John Daughtry to score the fourth TD for the Bucs. Danks' kick was partially blocked and the score real 27 to 0.

For their sixth score during the first half, Thrift passed to Kovach on the Flyer 44 yard line and the Tarrytown, N. Y. lad ran the ball all the way to the 26 before being hauled down. Two plays later, pint-sized Billy Smith, skimmed 21 yards for the score. Danks fifth conversion made it 41 to 0 as the half ended.

The touchdown adding machine of the Pirates received no rest at the start of the second half, as Kovach tallied his second TD of the evening as he scampered down the sidelines for 52 yards and into the end zone for the score. Later in the same period Thrift connected with a pass to Billy Smith for 17 yards and another Pirate touchdown. Danks' toe was again true and the Bucs were ahead 55 to 0.

Rains Come, Pirates Set Sail
In the final stanza, the rains came, but the Pirates took to it as the seamen did in days of old, with Darby running 29 yards for the touchdown to give Coach Dole eleven a 61 point lead. The final Buc score came on a pass from Thrift to End Eddie Tanner in the end zone which gave the Pirates their final score, 67 to 0.

Only once did the Edenton Flyer aggregation threaten and that was quickly smothered with safety man, Bob Grady, intercepting a Marine pass on his own six yard stripe.

A brilliant 72 yard run by this same Grady was nullified in the third period because of a clipping penalty. Another Pirate score was also called back because of a penalty.

Sport Sidelights --- by Whit

Tomorrow night when the final whistle has sounded and East Carolina has a second victory over Appalachian, Stan Peel, Mac Lewis, Gorrell Bass, Raz Autry and Keith Kilpatrick will have eaten the dirt of East Carolina's stadium for the last time. Sure, they will see lots more of the practice field, but their playing days in Greenville will be over. All five of these boys are slated to graduate this year. They have played some mighty fine ball for the Pirates and they will be out there fighting tomorrow night against the Apps giving all they have got to help the Bucs win their last home appearance in 1949.

BOLE LOSES FIVE MEN, SOPHS COMING UP
Coach Dole is fortunate to lose only five men of his squad this year. With the material on hand now and Coach Bill Dole at the reigns East Carolina might have a much talked about grid team in years to come.

Coach Dole will be running for win number 102 tomorrow night. Also he hopes to have his boys in shape to accomplish a feat that a Pirate team has failed to do in three years. Beat that Appalachian eleven! In three years the locals have failed to register a victory over the Apps and have scored only 13 points against them. Therefore, tension should be high tomorrow night out at the college stadium.

A win for East Carolina would bring the Bucs up some three notches from the conference cellar and give them their third victory for '49. However, the conference cellar and give them their third victory for '49. However, the conference cellar and give them their third victory for '49. However, the conference cellar and give them their third victory for '49.

BILL DARBY, PIRATES' LEADING SCORER
Bill Darby leads the Buc team in individual scoring with 24 points. Meanwhile, our own Roger Thrift has been hailed as North Carolina's leading passer with 54 completions to his credit. His closest completers are Davidson's Lambeth with 36, and Carolina's Justice with 35 completions.

BUCANEER CAGE SQUAD
There has been a lot of chatter around the campus lately about the Buccaneer cage squad, but Coach Howard Porter is not too optimistic. He says, "We'll be lucky to finish up in fourth place. We'll have a good team if the boys take their training more seriously."

The Bucs open their season November 19 when they invade Wilson Teachers College in Washington, D.C. The first home game on slate will be December 5 when the local five entertain Camp Lejeune and the freshman squad battles with Wilmington college.

KINSTON'S BOB GRADY STARS
Bobby Grady, freshman from Kinston, N.C., reeled off the longest run of last week's clash with the Edenton Flyers when he raced downfield 67 yards for a touchdown. Grady also ran a punt return back 72 yards for six more for a touchdown. Grady cut short the Flyers' points, but the sprint was nullified on a penalty. Grady cut short the Flyers' only attempt to score when he intercepted a pass on the Bucs' 12 yard line.

Other backfield standouts were Kovach, Smith, Thrift and another freshman, Sandy Siler. Kovach got off on a nice 52-yard run and Smith raced 45 yards. Thrift completed six out of eight passes while Siler hit his receivers four out of five tosses.

The Pirates gained an unbelievable total of 512 net yards rushing against the dauntless Flyers. Co-captains for last week's game were Johnny Smith, a 160-pounder from Portsmouth, Va., and 180-pound Raz Autry from Dunn, N.C. The local squad scored more points last week against the Flyers than they did in the entire 1948 grid season when they only scored 45 points. Jim "Truetoe" Danks split the uprights seven times out of ten tries.

EAST CAROLINA'S BAND IS TOPS
The band once again moves into the spotlight of this column for the impressive and well-done job they did at the ball game. A band is supposed to help build up school spirit and our band has accomplished that.

Who Is Justice And Lambeth? Thrift's Pass Record Better!

by Frank Hogg

"Who are Choo Choo Justice and Auburn Lambeth when it comes to passing that pigskin?" That's the question staunch East Carolina fans are asking. Reports have these two boys as the leading passers in the good old state of North Carolina.

Lambeth is currently leading Justice for state honors with 36 completions for Choo Choo's 35, up until games of Oct. 29. If that's all that Lambeth has, he can take a back seat to East Carolina's own passing wizard, Roger Thrift. Up until Oct. 29 Thrift had 48 completed passes, to which he has added 6 more as of Friday's Pirate rout of Edenton Flyers 67-0, for a total of 54 completions.

Looking into Thrift's record up until last Friday's game, we find he has 48 completions of 116 attempts, good for total yardage of 808 yards and 9 touchdowns. Against Edenton Flyers, Thrift completed 6 passes of 8 attempts for 135 yards and 3 touchdowns. As of this moment "Mr. Pitch" has the fine record of 54 completions on 124 attempts for 943 yards and 12 East Carolina touchdowns.

Who are Mr. Justice, of UNC, and Mr. Lambeth, of Davidson, when it comes to passing performances?

East Carolina's Quint Schedules Twenty-Two Tilts

The 1949-1950 basketball schedule for the East Carolina Pirate cage team was released by Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, college athletics director this week. Twenty-two games have been slated for Coach Porter's quint this year. This schedule does not include the games that will be played in the North State conference tournament at Statesville sometime in the latter part of February. The Pirates open their season November 19th against Wilson Teachers College at Washington, D. C.

Richmond-Anson-Scotland
Dr. Howard J. McGinnis spoke on the topic of vocational guidance and showed the college film to members of the Richmond-Anson-Scotland chapter and high school seniors from Hamlet, Rockingham and Morven schools at a meeting on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Clem Garner (Ruth Blanchard), alumni secretary, also participated in the program.
Mrs. Lillian Seawell Castor presided.

Raleigh Chapter
Professor J. W. Paulson spoke on the restoration of Tryon's Palace, which is located in New Bern, on Monday evening when the Raleigh chapter met at the home of Mrs. R. Clyde Pleasants (Ruby Lee), 1814 Arlington Street.

Professor Paulson discussed the purpose and problem of the restoration. Sufficient funds are now on hand to make a good start, he said, explaining that the job must be done economically and authentically, with archeological search of the Palace grounds and a study of pertinent documents.

The president, Mrs. R. A. Martin (Mary Elizabeth Crawford), presided over a short business meeting. It was announced that the annual get-together dinner will be held at 6 p.m. on November 28 at the Woman's Club. The ways and means chairman announced plans for fund-raising by a series of parties, beginning with one November 1 at the home of Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. Pleasants' group acted as hostesses, serving pie and coffee after the meeting.

KINSTON CHAPTER
The Kinston-Lenoir County chapter met in its first session of the year on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald (Hannah Turnage), Mrs. Earl Grady (Blanch White) and Mrs. Fitzgerald were co-hostesses, and the presiding officer was Mrs. J. L. Mills (Ruby Stocks).

During a business period, Miss Esther Hardee was elected president to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Mills, who was resigning. Committee chairmen were named as follows: Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Randolph Spear (Annie Blanche Herring), program; Mrs. George Warren, Jr. (Frances Hardy), Mrs. Grady, and Mrs. Kirby Loftin (Edna Moore), handbook; Mrs.

Raz Autry, Lola Stephenson, and John Pournaras will not be listed in the volume since they were elected last year.

Mills, membership; and Mrs. Loftin, publicity.
Attractive new year books in the college colors of purple and gold and embossed with the college insignia were distributed. Programs for the year were outlined.

Mrs. J. F. Parrott gave the program for the evening, being presented by Mrs. Fitzgerald. She spoke on Holland, where she was a recent visitor. She told of the characteristics of the country and interesting facts concerning the people. She visited families living in windmills and was impressed with the cleanliness and orderliness found in their homes, she said. Handmade lace curtains hung at the windows, where panes shone from frequent washings. There are no window screens for there is an absence of flies, she stated.

She spoke in detail of the artists and art works found there, referring in particular to the Amsterdam Art Gallery and the works of Rembrandt, whose technique has never been equaled. She described her visit to The Hague and told of visiting the Peace Palace, which she was unable to enter due to a conference being held.

Guests were invited into the dining room for a refreshment course. Mrs. Mills poured tea, which was enjoyed with salted nuts and a variety of sweets in the Hallowe'en colors. A centerpiece of marigolds graced the table, and elsewhere in the rooms, bouquets of roses were used in decoration. The meeting was well attended.

Students, Faculty Members To Attend Meeting From ACE

East Carolina Teachers College will be represented by three students and two faculty members at a meeting held by North Carolina branches of the Association for Childhood Education in Greensboro, tomorrow, November 5.

A planning conference has been called for that date, with the purpose of making arrangements for the 1950 Study Conference of the Association for Childhood Education International which will be held in Asheville next April. It is expected to bring together more than 3,000 delegates from the United States and foreign countries.

Student representatives of the Association for Childhood Education at East Carolina who will attend the Greensboro planning conference next Saturday are Patricia Davis of Mantoo, president; Frances Bizzell, Kinston, publicity representative; and Barbara Eisele, Statesville, vice president. Dora Coates and Annie Mae Murray of the faculty will also be present at the Greensboro meeting.

The student branch of the Association for Childhood Education has been an active group on the campus here for a number of years. It was formed in 1936 and is the oldest such organization in North Carolina. More than seventy students at East Carolina are members this fall.

War Refugee Tells Of WSSF Drive For Foreign Countries

Miss Sonia Grodka, former war refugee, and now representative of the World Student Service Fund, spoke here last Thursday night in Flanagan auditorium on the conditions in colleges abroad that make it vitally important to continue sending aid from the college campuses of this country. The speaker also told something of how the funds collected last year are being used.

At the meeting, Evangeline Baker, as president of the YWCA, one of the sponsors of the World Student Service Fund, introduced the speaker. Gene Hart, forum chairman of the YWCA, read the Bible selection which opened the program.

Tells of Needs
Miss Grodka told in detail of the great need in many fields among foreign students and teachers and cited figures to show such things as the lack of books, of printed materials, of food, of shelter, of medical care, and of clothing.

She said that the WSSF inspectors abroad had found nursing homes for tubercular students with only one bed for every five patients needing to be cared for. "In Greece," said Miss Grodka, "recent figures show that 80% of the cows are tubercular." The speaker then went from country to country pointing out the chief needs of the students in each, if they are to continue to study.

Talk Opens Drive
Miss Grodka's talk was the first step in the campaign on this campus to raise money for the annual World Student Service Fund Drive. That night following her talk and Friday night solicitors under the leadership of Pat Sutton and Frances Everett canvassed the women's dormitories for contributions. Letters had already been sent to Marie Aycock, secretary of the YWCA, to the faculty and staff, and the various organized groups on the campus inviting their cooperation.

"The campaign is continuing this week, with the drive among the men on the campus. Figures on the funds raised will not be available before next week.

More Than 150 Persons Hear Talk On Germany And Other Countries

Heinz Buntze, young German student now attending Duke university, discussed the present political situation in German Tuesday evening, October 25, before the International Relations club of East Carolina.

More than 150 student and faculty members of the organization were present in the Flanagan auditorium on the campus to hear the talk. Curtis Phipps of Grimesland, IRC president, acted as chairman, and Mrs. Betty Unterberger of the faculty introduced the speaker to his audience.

Distinguished Speaker
The son of a distinguished German diplomat of the period of World War I, Buntze is one of eighty German students brought to this country to study in American universities in the fields of social studies. Eleven of them are attending Duke, where Buntze is a graduate student in political science and economics.

The young student reviewed for his East Carolina audience the main events of the reconstruction of Germany since the war and the present set-up of political parties. He told of the work of the American military government and of the effects upon political and economic life of the Marshall plan, and outlined developments in the economic life of his country.
