

Final Plans Underway For YDC Rally Tonight

Scenes From High School Celebration

Baptists Attend Spring Retreat In Greensboro

East Carolina students, Clifford Adams, Doris Edwards, Elizabeth Glasgow, Donald Smith, Catherine Hill, Albert Edwards, Ora Mae Rouse, Margaret Mason, Gene Hart, Houston Williams, Dorothy Cain, Avis Squires, Patricia Williams, along with Miss Gloria Blanton, Baptist student counselor, attended the Spring Retreat of the State Baptist Student union held at the First Baptist church, Greensboro, N. C., April 14-15.

The theme of the Retreat was "Christians Committed to Leadership." Messages were given by Rev. Richard T. Howerton, First Baptist church, Lincolnton, N. C., Dr. M. A. Huggins, general secretary of North Carolina Baptist Southern convention and Dr. George Heaton, pastor of Myers Park Baptist church in Charlotte.

Elections and installation of State B. S. U. officers were held in which Doris Edwards of Selma, N. C. was elected social vice president.

John Causey of John's Flowers provided transportation for a group of the students.

Veep To Speak In Wright

ALBEN W. BARKLEY

Vice-President, Other Notables Attending Rally

by Carl G. Conner

Final plans are underway here in Greenville and on the campus at East Carolina late this week for the YDC rally in Wright auditorium Friday night at 8:00 p. m. Vice-President Alben W. Barkley will arrive in Greenville by airplane around 6:30 according to an announcement by J. B. Spillman, president of the Pitt County YDC.

Besides the Vice-President, Governor W. Kerr Scott, Senator Frank Graham, Congressman Herbert Bonner and many other national and state officials will attend the dinner. Dinner will be served in the Wright auditorium at 8 p. m.

Band to Play

Furnishing music for the dinner will be the East Carolina band under the direction of Herbert Carter. Gladys Reichard of the music faculty will sing the "Lord's Prayer" just before the meal. The speech by Vice-President Barkley will highlight the rally.

With approximately 1000 people expected to attend, the rally will be the outstanding YDC event held in the state this year. The dinner will take the title of Annual Roosevelt dinner and is patterned after the Annual Jefferson Day dinner held each year by the Democratic party.

Tickets Sold

Tickets to the dinner have been on sale all week in Pitt County at a price of $5 per person. A limited number of tickets were sold on the campus to members of the campus YDC at a reduced rate.

Dorm Reservations

Men students desirous of securing a room in Wilson or Slay dormitories are advised by Dean Leo W. Jenkins to make application for same at the Registrar's office as soon as possible. A deposit of $5.00 is required for all reservations. Wilson dormitory will be for freshmen and sophomores; rooms in Slay will be available for juniors and seniors. Students now living in Wilson dormitory are also required to make application for a room for next year.

Buffkin Will Serve As Language Frat President Next Year

Ellen Buffkin, junior of Tabor City, was elected president of Phi Sigma chapter of the Sigma Pi Alpha, national foreign language fraternity at East Carolina, at the April meeting. Others that were elected to hold various offices with Miss Buffkin are: Norma Hughes, vice-president; Eloise Tucker, secretary; and Emma Dean Calfer, treasurer.

Circle K Club Gets Charter At Kiwanis Division Meeting

The Circle K of East Carolina officially received its charter at a seventh division meeting of Kiwanis International on the campus Monday evening of this week. Dr. Orin F. Crow of Columbia, S. C., dean of the University, made the presentation of the charter to Bob Mays, president of the club.

Members of the Circle K were guests of the Greenville Kiwanis at the dinner meeting. President John D. Messick gave a welcoming address to the club in which he outlined the curriculum offered at East Carolina and invited those present to attend the Patrice Munsel concert on the campus.

World About Same

Speaking to the Kiwanians, Dr. Crow told those present that the world conditions today seem to be about the same they were in 1858. Reading a clipping from the Harpers Magazine for that year, he stated that people always have the tendency to look on the dark side of life.

Twelve clubs from surrounding cities were represented at the meeting with a total of around 350 people attending.

A group of students at the Baptist Student center heard Rev. E. V. Holmes, pastor of the First Baptist church of Farmville, N. C. speak at the forum on Monday night, April 17. Rev. Holmes' topic for thought and discussion was "Jesus as a Teacher."

Pupils Of Drake Recite Music For Two Pianos

Seventeen pupils of accompanying and piano, now studying under Elizabeth Drake of the East Carolina Teachers college faculty, were presented in a recital of music for two pianos Sunday afternoon, April 23, in the auditorium of the Austin building.

A group of approximately 150 people from the campus, Greenville, and surrounding towns was present to hear the young musicians and to enjoy a varied program, including selections ranging from American folk music to Schumann's "Concerto in A Minor."

Those appearing in the recital were Peggy Laughlin, Asheboro, and Morton C. Miles, Henderson; Rose Brown and Marilyn Henaghan, Greenville; Nell Dean Owen, Asheville, and Louise Brooks, Falcon; Doris Fulcher, New Bern, and Victor Van Hook, Nashville; Frances Cherry and Peggy Vaughan, Tarboro; Jean Shavender, Ransomville, and Jeannie Ennis, Dunn; Alison Harne, Greenville, and Barbara Massey, Pleasant Hill; Cora Pauline Moore, Ayden, and Mary Wallace Foy, Pollocksville; and Rupert Browning, Logan, W. Va., with whom Miss Drake played at second piano.

Student Awards Day Held In Austin Building As Recognition To Outstanding Students

Student Awards Day, observed Tuesday at East Carolina, brought recognition to approximately 85 students, who were honored for scholastic achievement and for outstanding service in campus organizations and activities.

Keith Kilpatrick of Kinston, chairman of the Awards Day committee, presided at a student assembly in the Austin auditorium at 1 o'clock. Awards Day, he said, was begun last spring under the sponsorship of the Student Government Association. The occasion, he stated, has the purpose of honoring East Carolina men and women for their accomplishments in scholastic work and for their services to the college and their fellow students. He introduced Carl G. Conner of Windsor and Jack Hedgepeth of Greenville and Rocky Mount, other members of the committee.

Messick Speaks

President John D. Messick of the college spoke briefly in congratulation to those honored and presented the awards.

Lola P. Stephenson of Willow Springs, president of the student Science club and former president of the Teachers Playhouse, college dramatics club, received the award given to the outstanding student citizen among women attending the college. G. Raz Autry of Dunn, president of the Student Government Association during 1949-1950, and Jack Hedgepeth of Rocky Mount and Greenville, prominent in activities of the Veterans club and other student organizations, were joint winners of a similar award for men students. Recipients were chosen by the Student Legislature of the college.

Departmental Awards

Fourteen seniors, chosen by student-faculty committees in the various departments of instruction, received awards. These were presented in recognition of high scholastic standing and for service in departmental activities.

Those honored by their departments were Arthur Lockard, air science and tactics; A. E. Manning, art; Charles E. Woods, business education; Helen Ayscue, education-psychology; grammar grades; Virginia Brooks Frazelle, education-psychology, primary grades; Louise Hines, English; Peggy Steed, foreign languages; Arthur Lockard, geography;

Laura Williamson, library science; R. Eugene Midgette, mathematics; Edward D. Benson, music; G. Raz Autry, physical education; Curtis Wilson, science; and Edwin M. Strand, social studies.

"Who's Who" Awards

Students representing East Carolina in the nationally circulated year book "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" were also given certificates indicating the honor.

The twenty men and women so recognized were G. Raz Autry, Carl G. Conner, John Pournaras, Gilbert Carroll, William Sutton, Jessie Braxton, Linwood Kilpatrick, Keith Kilpatrick, Jack Hedgepeth, Thomas Edward Casey, Geraldine Amundson, R. Eugene Midgette, Florence Boerckel, John Nelson, Margaret Mason, Hilton Styron, Paul Morris, Charles Woods, Lola Stephenson and Virgil Clark.

Forty-eight members of the Student Legislature of the Student Government Association were also recognized for their services during the past school year and were presented certificates of merit.

Over 2600 Seniors Attend Annual High School Day

With more than 2600 seniors from schools in every portion of North Carolina present at East Carolina Teachers college celebration Friday, April 28, the annual High School Day.

Visitors began arriving on the campus at 9:00 in the morning to enjoy a full program of social and recreational activities. They came in automobiles, 400 automobiles and 1000 trucks. Students from 114 counties in 44 counties of the state came to observe a "college program" and to take advantage of the campus and the buildings, the departments of instruction, the exhibits in fifteen departments and various other features of campus life.

Warm spring weather contributed to the pleasure of the occasion. The campus abloom with dogwood, magnolia, red bud, camellias, and other flowering trees and shrubs, made an attractive background for the festival.

Schools Attending

Asheboro, with 100 students present, headed in point of numbers the list of visitors from towns represented; and Wayne County, with 95, topped other counties. Groups were present from Beaufort, Bertie, Blaine, Brunswick, Carteret, Chowan, Columbus, Craven, Cumberland, Currituck, Dare, Duplin, Durham, Edgecombe, Franklin, Gates, Greene, Granville, Halifax, Harnett, Hoke, Johnston, Hyde, Johnston, Jones, Lee, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Northampton, Onslow, Pamlico, Pasquotank, Pender, Perquimans, Pitt, Robeson, Sampson, Transylvania, Vance, Warren, Washington, Wayne, and Wilson.

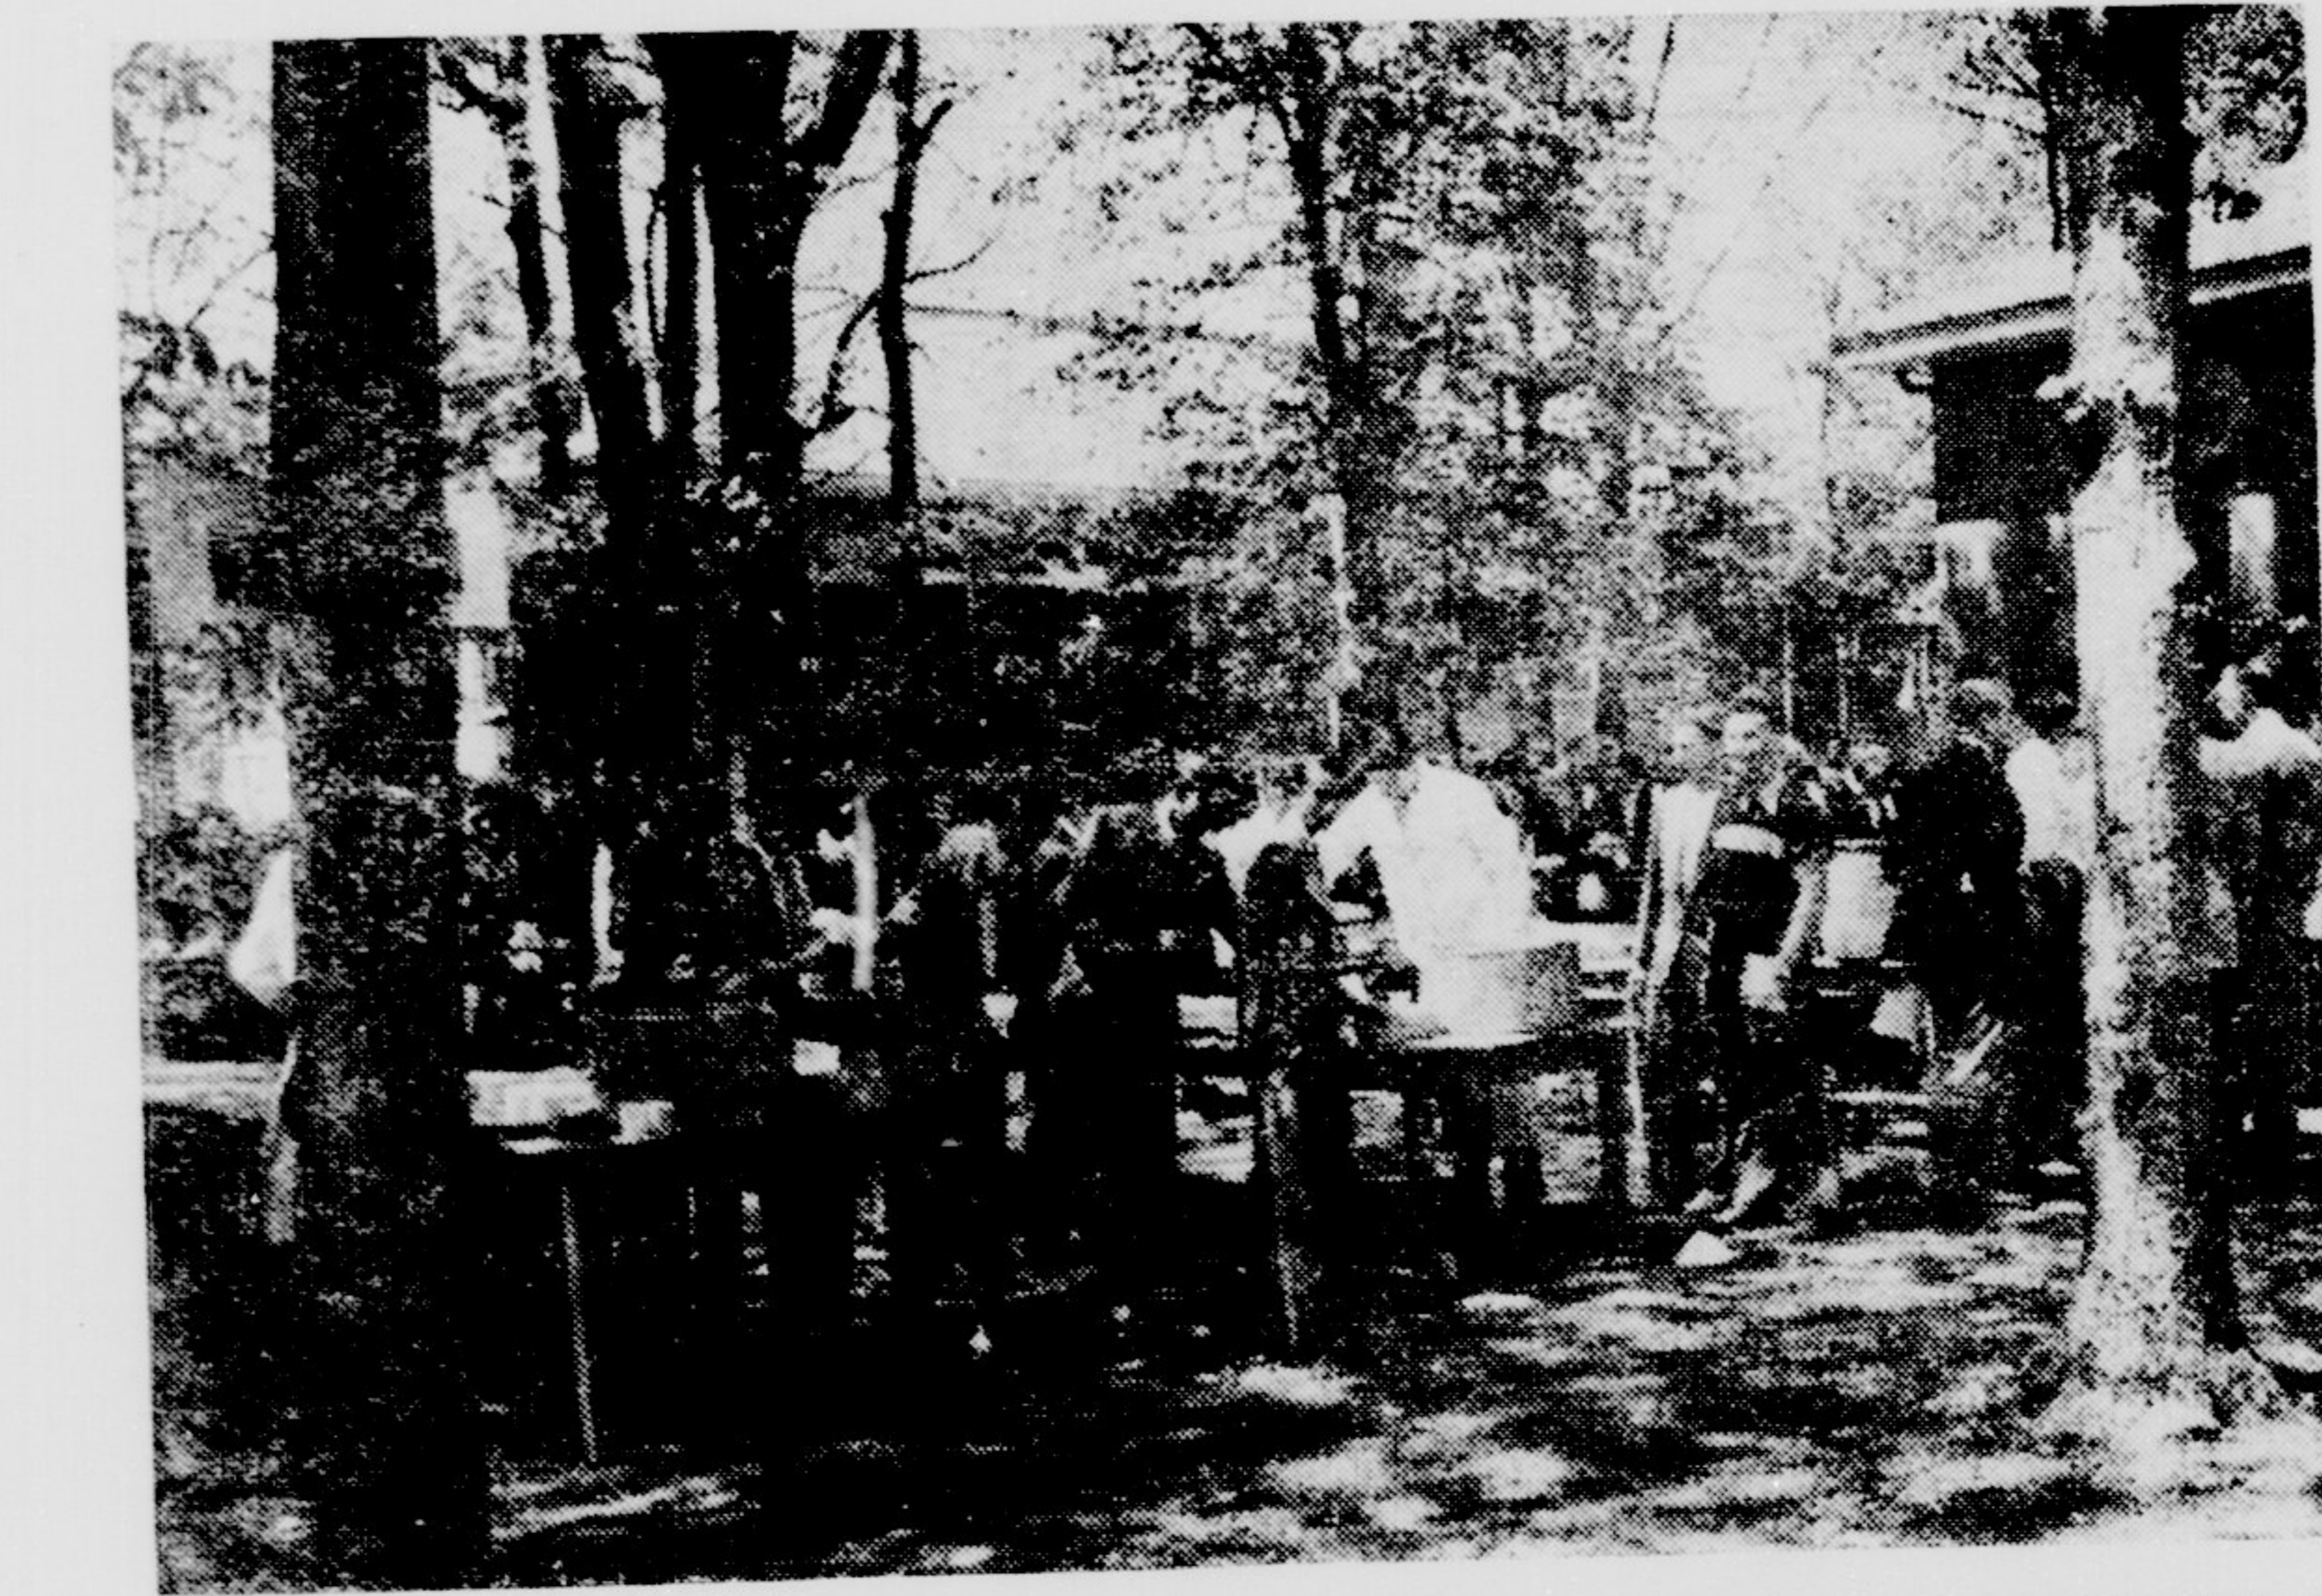

A full program of varied activities was carried out during the morning and the afternoon. Welcoming committees of college students from the home counties of guests greeted the visitors as they arrived. Souvenir booklets, illustrated with scenes of campus work and play, and automobile stickers in the East Carolina colors of purple and gold, were presented to the high school students.

Hart Succeeds Hatch For YMCA Presidency

Gene M. Hart, sophomore from Kinston, will serve as president of the YMCA at East Carolina during the 1950-1951 term. In recent elections he was chosen by members of the organization to succeed Donald Hatch of Mount Olive, president for the present school term.

Other officers chosen to carry on activities of the YMCA next year are F. Milan Johnson, Euro, vice president; Philip R. Gorham, Battleboro, secretary; and Clifford A. Adams, Elizabethtown, treasurer.

Dr. John O. Reynolds and Dr. Beecher Flanagan will continue as faculty advisers of the organization during 1950-1951.

Queen Of May To Preside Over Campus Festivities Tomorrow

Pat Morton of Carolina Beach will preside as queen at a May Festival to be held on the campus of East Carolina Saturday afternoon, April 29, at four o'clock on the lawn fronting Fleming hall.

Her maid-of-honor will be Jane Cole of Sanford, and a group of twelve other women students at the college will serve as attendants. These are Eloise Morton, Carolina Beach; Jessie Braxton, Winterville; Roba Lee, Benson; Florence Boerckel, Baltimore, Md.; Janice Perry, Louisville; Jean Jackson, Angier; Christine Strickland, Tabor City; Martha Koonce, Aurora; Dorothy Jennings, Elizabeth City; Mary Lois Jester, Thomasville; Iva Payne, Stumpy Point; and Betty Heath, Kinston.

The May Festival will be presented under the sponsorship of the Student Government Association, with G. Raz Autry of Dunn, president of the organization during the 1949-1950 term, and a student committee in charge of arrangements. Neil Stallings of the department of health and physical education, faculty director of the event, prepared the synopsis of the May ceremony and trained the dancers and other participants in their roles.

The festival will follow traditional English customs, including the winding of the maypole; contests of archery, tumbling and racing; folk dances; the appearance of Robin Hood and his men; and the crowning of the queen. Students of the physical education department will make up the cast of the colorful pageant.

A brass ensemble conducted by Herbert L. Carter and the College Choir of 55 voices directed by Dr. Karl V. Gilbert will take part in

Queen Of May To Preside Over Campus Festivities Tomorrow

Vendric To Serve As Wesleyan Head; Committees Named

Billy Vendric of New Bern will serve as president of the Wesleyan Foundation for the coming year. Other officers are Betty Ann Shaw, Weldon, vice-president; Clark White, Belvidere, secretary; James L. Ratledge, Advance, treasurer.

Chairmen of commissions are as follows: Worship, Marilyn Watkins, Middleberg; Personnel, Sue Thompson, Bahama; World Christian Community, Rebecca Pate, Rowland; Church Relations, Donald Gaylor, Magnolia; Music, Donald Roebuck, Stokes; Recreation, Charles Cherry, Stokes; Literature and Training, Betty Ann Shaw, Weldon; Public Relations, Anne Jones, Neuse; Deputations, Junius Rose, Greenville; President of Wesley Players, Ophelia Kirvin, Sumter, S. C.

These officers were commissioned by the pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church in a special commissioning service on Sunday night at the church.

Dance Tomorrow

The Junior-Senior dance, using the theme "Neptune's Ball," will get underway in Wright auditorium at 8: p. m., Saturday, April 29. Bob Lee and his Collegians will furnish the music for the occasion.

The dance will be semi-formal and will be open only to junior, seniors and their escorts.

Strickland Chosen Chief Marshal

Christine Strickland of Tabor City has been chosen as chief marshal for the 1950-1951 term at East Carolina. Miss Strickland, a junior at the college, served as chief marshal during the winter quarter of the present school year.

Sixteen women students at East Carolina have been chosen as marshals for the coming school year. They will act as ushers at college programs and entertainments of various kinds. Positions as marshals are responsible ones and are sought by large numbers of students at the college. The recently elected group having been chosen from thirty-five candidates.

The marshals who will serve during 1950-1951 are, in addition to Miss Strickland, Margie Smith, Patricia Sutton, and Betty Heath, all of Kinston; Doris Brinson, New Bern; Elizabeth Davis, Henderson; Olivia White, Scotland Neck; Sarah Jane Pate, Goldsboro; Laura Swain, Aurora; Barbara Carrowan, Pinetown; Myrna Cooper, Nashville; Anita Gullledge, Radford; June Pritchard, Montclair, N. J.; Doris Stroud, Swansboro; Peggy Jean Hart, Ayden; and Mabel Lewis, Smithfield. Elizabeth S. Walker of the college Library staff is their faculty advisor.

EDITOR REVIEWS TWO YEARS

It is with a great deal of sadness and at the same time pleasure, that I take this last opportunity to express my thanks to the people who have made the success of the TECO ECHO possible for the past two years. There are always a few people in a group as large as the enrollment of East Carolina, who never understand an editor, but I will assure you that all that I have done while editor was done with a feeling of the interest of the entire student body, the college, and the future interest of journalism at East Carolina.

In the first issue which I edited in September of 1948, I promised to use the editorial page to the best advantage. I feel certain that many of the students here have not agreed with my comments at times, and this was expected, but in the long run, the means justified the end.

As for the use of the paper, your retiring editor has never stooped to the cheap position of using the paper for his own ends in spite of the fact that he has been accused of doing so by a few adverse students. I would not have the students misunderstand this article. I very deeply appreciate the honor of having served as editor. The experience has been well worth the time but not the criticism, which as a whole has been directed to others and seldom to me.

If the paper has, in the eyes of the majority of the students, been a success then the time spent in publishing it has been well worth the time. As editor, I contribute the honor to the two staffs with which I have had the privilege of working. No editor can publish a paper alone; his main function is to direct policies and give assistance when needed by the staff. The staffs of the past two years have made the paper—without them the paper could not have been published.

In 1948, the TECO ECHO staff published sixteen issues of the paper against thirteen the year before, and this year we are publishing twenty-five issues. The year before I became editor, the paper made a second class rating; last year we made a first class rating in two press associations, and this year took medalist, the top honor at the Columbia Scholastic Press meeting. I point out these things not for the honor of the editor, but to show that the paper has made progress and that you have a paper of which you can well be proud. After I became editor, the paper dropped the column "Scumming," much to the distaste of many students, changed the make-up of the editorial and sports pages, added more pictures, took a progressive idea of editorials, and most important of all, made the paper a weekly newspaper. We have tried to make the paper a force or power to the extent that it influenced and helped to advance progressive moves. This is the function of any paper.

To sum up the two years I have served as editor, may I express my appreciation to: the student body for the honor of having served them, first, with the bi-weekly paper, and second, as editor of the first weekly paper; to the Student Legislature and Budget committee, for the past two years, for giving the paper everything requested, for after all no paper can operate and grow without the assistance of funds and without an interested body to back you; also to the Legislature for having the confidence in this year's staff by making the paper a weekly; to the staffs with which I have served last year and this year; to the administration for the splendid cooperation; to the faculty for their cooperation and interest in the papers; and to the alumni for their interest and comments during the two years.

In closing my term as editor, I say thanks to everyone. It has been wonderful serving you.

Carl G. Conner, retiring editor

BUT SURELY WE ARE HONORABLE MEN

During the past two or three weeks there have been a number of students who have lost books from the lobbies of the various buildings on the campus. We are supposed to be living in a country where everyone has equal right—but not the right to take the property of others.

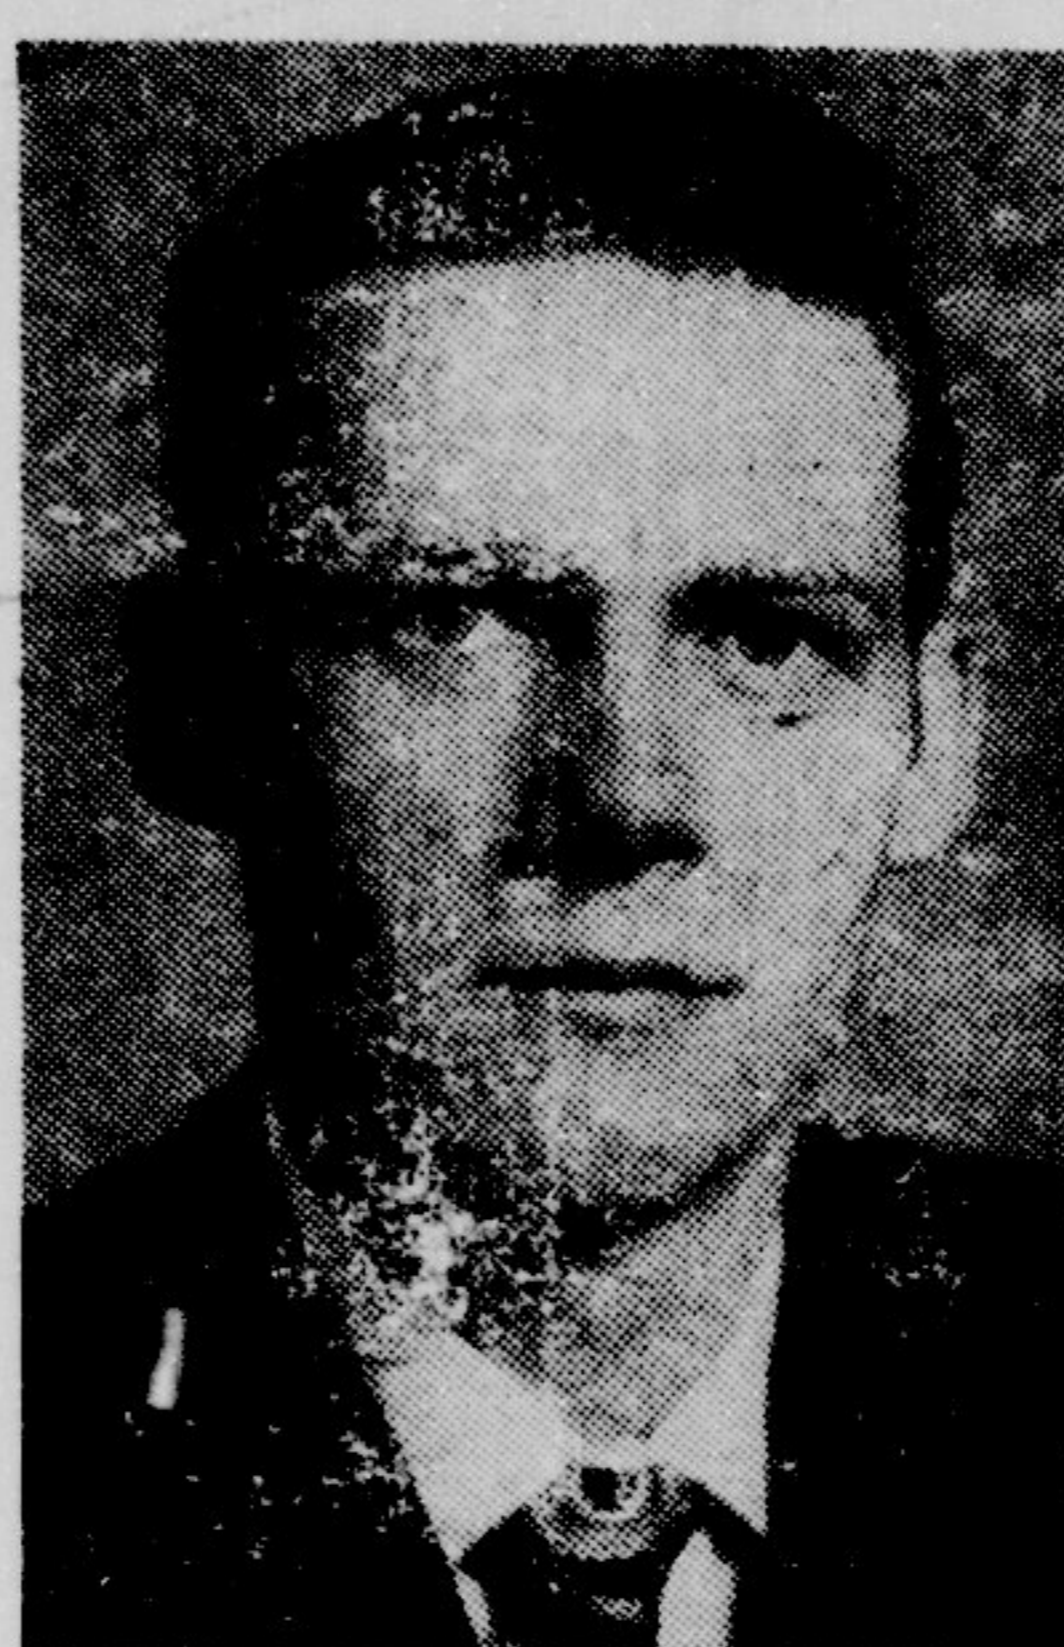

Such cases as have been called to our attention make us wonder if we are really ready for the honor system on our campus. Then, if the honor system were put into effect on the campus, there is a chance that the condition would improve.

In the cases that have been reported, books were taken from the post office lobby or the lobby of other buildings. Such cases should be reported to the judiciary immediately and a check made by the judiciary. We will never be any nearer to solving our problem so long as the students accept the losses and say nothing about them.

East Carolina is fortunate in having the YDC rally held here in the history of the college have so many outstanding names in government met on the campus at one time. A few names in the list who will be here Friday night are Governor Scott, Congressman Bonner, at least two names have not been released, and the

by Carl G. Conner

Some people are born in the spotlight, others live in the spotlight and still others grow into it. The "Spotlighter" of this week more or less grew into the position. Bill Flanders began at East Carolina in the fall of 1947 and worked from the bottom position to the top, to take the honor place in the TECO ECHO for this week.

Bill is modest about the whole thing and says, "What's the matter, run out of people?" Of course, we quickly informed him that there were plenty of other people who would like to glow with the light, but that he had been chosen over them. By birth, Bill is a Yankee, having been born in Syracuse, New York in 1927—that makes him about 23 years old.

From New York the old grind of getting an education began and led all the way to Florida to cover a total of twenty-one schools. Finally, after trying them all, Bill returned to the "Old North State" and graduated at Hope Valley high school in 1947. In the meantime, education was a little disrupted when his "uncle" called in 1945. Entering the army, Bill served in South Carolina and then was shipped over to Italy where he spent thirteen colorful months. He was given an honorable discharge in December of 1946 and re-entered high school as a senior. In high school, Bill was a member of the Kappa Phi social fraternity.

In this interview, Bill refrained from talking about experiences in Italy, but having known him for three years makes it easy to refer back to some of his stories which he told when he least expected to be spotlighted.

In Italy he drove the Colonel and was in the transportation corps. This, of course, gave extra time for interesting past times and rest—but I think he would object to a lengthy discussion of this.

To sum up Bill's education and school life, he has attended school in New York, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina with a total attendance of four different schools in one city in North Carolina.

As usual, we finally got around to future plans, only to find that Bill somewhat banks his future on Joe Stalin. He watches the world events and is a student of current happenings—with a dislike for wars of any description. However, Bill did express a desire to do graduate work at East Carolina in guidance after he gets his B.S. next winter.

This summer will find our spotlighter in ROTC camp in Georgia and at the completion of the winter quarter, Bill will be eligible for a commission as a second lieutenant in the army reserves. Naturally, his choice for the camp would be in Florida.

At East Carolina Bill keeps most of his date books filled with one kind of date or another. Eloise Tucker takes her part of these. Other than the social dates, Bill spends a good deal of time in Student Government work. As has been stated in the first of this article, Bill had to grow into the SGA work. When he first entered college here he regarded extra curricular a waste of time—that is with the exception of one type of extra curricular—which of course doesn't give points.

At present our Spotlighter is treasurer of the Student Government, has served as second assistant treasurer and first assistant treasurer, for two quarters as associate editor of the TECO ECHO, has served on the Elections committee, on the Budget committee this year and next year will be chairman of the committee, is now on the Faculty Rating committee, member of the Circle K club and on the board of directors, will serve on the Legislature and Executive council next year, served on the Legislature this year, will serve on the handbook committee for the SGA next year, and was recently elected to the Phi Sigma Pi social fraternity.

With a friendly attitude and the ability to make friends, Bill has grown to be one of the most popular students on the campus. As treasurer, his popularity will probably grow since the position is one of the most important on the SGA.

Bill possesses all of the qualities to make a good citizen of tomorrow and the best wishes of the TECO ECHO and staff are with him in whatever field he may decide to enter.

ROUND THE CAMPUS

by Jean Powell

The gals have taken advantage of this real (at last) spring weather and started their annual pilgrimage to the sunbathing courts of Cotton, Fleming and Jarvis halls. Saw Frances Bizzell 'tother day wearing a most unique sunsuit. It is made entirely of two kerchiefs tied in knots at strategic places. Bizzell also takes first prize for grumbling about how warm it is. Pat Morton, our May Queen, is gonna look like a returned Florida vacationer tomorrow when she is crowned. The only one of the crew who'll be one big freckle will be Janie Starling. I was only kidding! "Tom" Hester gets her suntan scientifically by bringing an ole outdated alarm clock out with her and timing how long she cooks on each side. The only objection to the clock is that it ticks too loud. She said brother Ben rigged up a sunlamp for her and for further proof showed us an ugly scar on her leg where the lamp fell on her.

All the courts come complete with swimming and drinking water spigots. And too, the pigeons keep the girls from getting too lonesome 'cause you always know they are there.

If the boy seen on campus during high school days representative of what the well-dressed college man will wear next year, heaven help us. He was clad in a dark green shirt with white polka dots and a lime green corduroy jacket, and of course, the accompanying articles of clothing. He looked like a real cat from Goldboro, as the saying goes.

It has been learned through devious means (I assure you) that Miss Marguerite Austin, who is notorious for her reputation of not letting you get out of class without an assignment, is quite an impersonator. We would tell you who she imitates, but that would be too cruel. Since we are on the subject of Miss Austin, you should have seen the expression on her face when her class in Spanish grammar literally ran away and hid in the English laboratory.

The students on campus are crying for records of the Collegians' and Bernard Ham's rendition of "I Cover the Waterfront." Is there anyway to get a recording? The band and Ham could clear a small fortune if the records were on sale at a reasonable price.

Trust Bill Sutton and Al Livesay to always lead the fashion parade. Their new plunging neckline tee shirts are most alluring. It just goes to show you that the men have no originality but have to copy women's clothes.

The gals have started trotting out their cotton dresses. The next problem is what to do when the clean ones sent from home get dirty and there ain't no Mama to wash and iron them. Melba Brown says she's not worrying about it because her dresses have yet to be sent. She observed that she and one other girl were the only two in the dining hall who had on sweaters and skirts Monday night.

Reports from the Junior-Senior Dance committee sound like advertisements for a movie musical. The lighthouse is going to be so tall that it will probably go on out the top of the Wright building and anchors are gonna be thrown carelessly around to carry out the nautical motif. At least all of you inebriates will have a good excuse for falling down. And if you happen to fall from the balcony, there will be fish nets to catch you!

Letters To Editor

Dear Students and Faculty:
Again I want to thank all of you on the campus, faculty and students, who did such a magnificent job in putting on our High School Day last Friday. Making preparations for this day, and carrying it on so successfully took a lot of work, but you entered into it with such a fine spirit and did it so successfully that the day seemed to be all that could be expected.

The entire student body and the faculty had the spirit of good hosts and hostesses. My special thanks and appreciation to the committees of faculty and students, to the students who served so effectively as guides and hosts, to the staff members who contributed so largely to the smooth working of the plans, and to each of you for your fine cooperation.

Many of our visitors expressed themselves as highly pleased with their visit. They thought it was very profitable and highly enjoyable. Many of them will want to come again.

I congratulate and thank you for the excellence of your contribution to this event.

High School Day Committee

Radio Ramblings

by Miles Buck

Last Friday the radio staff created some commotion on campus as they went around recording some of the highlights of High School Day. Lugging equipment around on a hot day isn't exactly sport. A. E. Manning, our announcer, decided it was definitely "radio active."

After three hours of nerve-wracking editing and several packs of cigarette butts, we had fifteen minutes of wonderful music. This was aired at 8:15. The department of music was pleased with the work of the band and other units that entertained the high school seniors. We regret that we did not have more time available to bring more of the fine music to the radio audience.

Dr. McGinnis added a humorous touch to his roll call by counties with the homey expression, "way down yonder." This we like.

Tonight the piano students of Mr. Perry will take over the studios and bring another fine program sponsored by the department of music.

Dr. Coleman accused this reporter of sabotaging his program last Sunday. He claims he would have given us the story on the Russians. The engineer got his wires crossed. Our apologies to Dr. Coleman.

Miss Green's news program has moved over to the ten o'clock spot on Tuesday nights. It should have a larger audience at the new time.

Dr. Willmann is very pleased with the Thursday night hour for the department of music's show. It doesn't compete with the Music club now.

The Campus Sports parade with Whit is scheduled for Friday night this week.

It is possible that a part of the YDC rally's festivities will be carried locally Friday night. If you can't get a ticket to dinner you might be able to hear the VEEP anyway.

Editor's Corner

In the editorial column this writer has expressed thanks to the various people in general who have worked on the paper during the past two years, but at this time will take the space to list a few. From the issues of last year, thanks go to Charles Williams who capably assisted with the editing and feature writing; to Josephine Pinnell and Curtis Nichols, associate editors in 1948-'49; to the staff reporters of 1948-'49; to Bill Lloyd, sports editor; to Betsy Parkerson West, last year's business manager; to the circulation managers last year, and to our faithful advisor for two year, Miss Mary H. Greene. For this year, thanks go to Curtis Nichols, managing editor, for the assistance he has given; to Associate Editors Wilton Joyner and Gene Piner; to Feature Editor Jean Powell; to Assistant Feature Editor Wilbur Jones; to the staff and club reporters; to our two sports editors for the year, Bill Lloyd and Bernard West; to Business Manager Jerney Minshew; and to the circulation staff composed of Thornton Staples and Harold Blake. The two years could have not been possible without all of these people.

As this writer completes his term as editor, he looks forward to next year for an excellent year under your new editor, Gene Piner. Gene has proved his ability this year as associate editor and will make a good editor. Give him your support.

Especially thanks to Raz Autry, retiring president of the Student Government. Raz has been an excellent president and has done much to make the SGA at East Carolina tops. No Legislature has achieved quite so much as the one which just retired. To have this record, a body must have a capable leader. Raz filled this requirement.

There will be a chance to show off the college when the college band plays for the Vice-president and Miss Reichart sings the "Lord's Prayer." An estimated crowd of 1000 or more is expected to attend the all-State rally.

It's time to start talking up the changing of the name of the college. With the new members of the State Legislature running soon, it would be good for students to remember this possible bill in the Legislature when talking to those who might be in the Legislature next year. As has been stated before, this writer feels that the changing of the college name would help the college like nothing else that can be done at this time.

Could It Be Possible

by N. O. Chance

LET'S GROW UP!

This spring, as in springs past, the human tendency towards procrastination has been graphically illustrated by the frantic last minute rush of the freshmen in trying to accomplish a full quarter's work on their source themes in the last few days before the deadline. This same attitude of "Never do today what you can put off until tomorrow" is exemplified by far too many of our students, not only in regard to their classwork, but in the making of most of the important decisions of their college careers.

One would think, and in fact expect, that the student of college age would be mature enough to give some evidence of adult reasoning, judgement, and dependability. But such is evidently not the case. Source themes will be completed at the last moment; make-up tests will be postponed as long as possible; students will flood the Dean's office with last-minute excuse slips; and rising seniors expecting to practice teach in the fall will find that they lack one or more of the courses necessary.

We have always held that the actual knowledge of a subject imparted to the student is of secondary importance to the training in self-discipline, in learning to think for oneself, and in learning to assume responsibility and make intelligent decisions.

The education program of this school is designed along these lines. The school seeks to prepare the individual to assume his rightful place in a responsible adult society. It has a progressive, intelligent program for student guidance; yet many of our student drift through their college careers, drifting from subject to subject, major to major, as though trying to postpone the day when they must grow up and assume their niche in life as adults.

Believe it or not, we are here for an education, and from our ranks will come the leaders of tomorrow. Whatever our store of 'book knowledge,' we can succeed in life only if we couple it with an adult understanding of and approach to life's problems. We should begin now to assume our share of responsibility; to think for ourselves, and to plan for a successful life. Let's grow up while we can!

Buc Golfers Can Cop North State Championship

Local Netters Face Panthers In Matches On Home Courts

Wake Forest Golf Lads Top Pirates; Bucs Nip Marines

The Wake Forest Deacon golfers trimmed the East Carolina Pirate linkmen by 23-3 at Raleigh on Monday. It was the second win for the Deacs over the Bucs this year, the only two losses East Carolina has suffered. Wake Forest now has a 9-1 record.

Low scorers were Arnold Palmer and Mickey Gallagher of Wake Forest and Bill Stalls of East Carolina, each carding a 73 over the 72-par Raleigh Country club course.

The summary:

Palmer (WF) defeated Stalls, 2½-1½; Gallagher (WF) defeated Massey, 3-0. Best ball: Wake Forest, 3-0.

Harris (WF) defeated Exum, 3-0; Anzer (WF) and Wells tied, 1½ each. Best ball: Wake Forest, 3-0.

Edens (WF) defeated Zellin, 2-1; Yancey (WF) defeated Moyer, 3-0. Best ball: Wake Forest, 3-0.

East Carolina 15, Camp Lejeune 12 (April 21)

East Carolina's swashbuckling Pirate golf team handed the Camp Lejeune Marines a 15-12 defeat on the local links last Friday.

The East Carolina tennis squad, yet to win a 1950 match, went off against the powerful High Point net aggregation, defending North State loop champs, yesterday on the local courts. Another match is slated between the two teams on the same courts tomorrow afternoon.

Banking mainly on the possibility that the High Point netters might have an off-day, the Pirate racquet-swingers enter the matches as definite underdogs.

Losses

They have suffered losses at the hands of both Elon and Guilford twice, in conference play. Non-conference foes who have turned back the locals are Wake Forest and N.C. State.

Dick Palmer and Art Holland will be leading the Buc tennisers in their attempts to break into the win column.

The Pirates wind up their schedule at home against the Wolfpack of N.C. State on May 1. The Wolfpack blanked the locals, 9-0, at Raleigh April 1.

The summary:

Stalls (EC) over Hartman, 3-0; Massey (EC) and Spencer tied, 1½-1½. Best ball: East Carolina, 3-0.

Gardner (CL) over Exum, 3-0; Wells (EC) over Hornbuckle, 3-0. Best ball: East Carolina, 3-0.

Zellin (EC) and Dutch tied, 1½-1½; Greer (CL) over Moyer, 3-0. Best ball: Camp Lejeune, 3-0.

Pirate Nine Rises In Loop Standings To Third Place

Battle High Point In Crucial Tests On Local Course

by Bernard West

The Pirate golf team can make East Carolina sports history today when it meets the High Point links club at the Greenville Country club course. They met the Panthers in the first of a two-match series yesterday.

Not since this great, rising institution of learning joined the North State conference in 1947 has a conference championship been wrested by an East Carolina athletic team. Now, that goal which has been sought by Pirate aggregations for three years is in sight.

Clean Slate

The Bucs have a clean slate in loop play thus far this season. All they have to do is keep their record clear of defeats against High Point. That should take a lot of doing, but the Bucs feel they have the stuff to meet the task.

High Point has lost one match this season—to Elon, a team the Pirates whipped twice by decisive margins. That's a good sign, if one prognosticates victories by past records. East Carolina is the only outfit in the circuit without a conference loss.

One Win Might Do

East Carolina might win the North State title by winning just one of the matches with High Point. Catawba, with only one loop loss up until Tuesday, had a two-day engagement with Elon Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. If Catawba lost either one of these matches, one Pirate victory over the Panthers would guarantee an East Carolina championship, even if High Point took the other, since that would make East Carolina the only team in the league with just one loss. Results were unavailable at this writing.

On the other hand, if High Point should win both matches against the locals, the Panthers would cop the championship. They're the defending champs, and would like to take the crown home again with them this year.

Want Revenge

Led by Bill Stalls, the Bucs hope to gain sweet revenge over the Panthers, who are the only members of the conference that have ever taken the measure of the locals. The High Pointers turned the trick in 1948, the year East Carolina first organized a golf team.

The two teams didn't meet last year, and High Point, by virtue of winning more conference matches, received the championship. Stalls, captain of the Pirates, said the High Pointers were challenged to a match to decide the rightful owner of the crown last season, but that the Panthers failed to meet the challenge. This fact should add to the tension that has already mounted.

Easy So Far

Coach Howard Porter's boys have fairly "run over" all the conference foes they have met this season. They walloped Guilford twice, by scores of 21-6 and 20½-3½. At Elon they had a little more trouble, turning back their foes, 18½-8½.

Pirate Baseballers For 1950

Here's the 1950 edition of the East Carolina Pirate diamondmen, coached by Jack Boone. The locals, currently resting in third place in the North State conference, open a crucial western series against Catawba today. Tomorrow they meet Elon, defending champs. Both these clubs whipped the Bucs in games played here. They are, left to right, first row: George Wood, Fred Soles, Jack Wallace, Bob McCotter, George Sauls, and Bob Bailey. Second row: Dick Hobbs, Vernon Jones, J. C. Fields, Leon Jones and Larry Kincaid. Third row: Carlton Fleetwood, Jim Corbin, Martin Byrd, Sonny Russell, Billy Smith and Paul Bunn. Back row: Coach Boone, George Morriss, Jim Flye, Stan Terrill and Manager Bob Price. Seated in front of the group is Anne Hester, batgirl. Absent when the picture was taken were Lou Collie, Frank Ceruzzi and Hall Whitchurch.

Baseballers Have Two Tough Scraps On Western Trip

East Carolina's rampaging Pirate diamond aggregation opens a crucial western sojourn at Catawba this afternoon. The Buiros complete their all-important trip west against the high-flying Christians of Elon Saturday at Elon.

The Boonemen, currently riding a four-game winning streak within the circuit, vaulted all the way up to third place in conference standings with last week's work of copping four loop games while dropping one.

Double Wins Do It

Double wins over Appalachian and West Carolina gave the Bucs their third place spot. Atlantic Christian, the club that whipped the locals last week, won two other games while losing only one to move into fourth.

Catawba, the team the Pirates battle today, has second place in the conference with seven victories and one setback. The local's Saturday opponent, Elon, is riding on top with a perfect record of seven triumphs within the loop.

Two More Will Help

Two wins by the Pirates out west this week would put them within grasping distance of second place, at least, and possibly first. They have three loop engagements next week, one at Guilford on May 3, one at Lenoir-Rhyne on May 4, and one at High Point on May 5. They wind up their conference play against the Bulldogs of Atlantic Christian in the battle for the Bohunk trophy at Wilson May 9.

The standings, as of Monday, April 24:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Elon	7	0	1.000
Catawba	7	1	.875
East Carolina	6	4	.600
Atlantic Christian	4	4	.500

West Carolina	2	4	.333
Lenoir-Rhyne	2	5	.286
Guilford	1	4	.200
Appalachian	1	8	.112

tain the tie.

Soles also led his mates at bat, getting two of the Bucs' nine hits in five attempts. Bob Bailey had two for six for the locals.

Bus. Education Fraternity Picks 1950-51 Officers

Members of the Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary business education fraternity, at East Carolina recently selected Jane Albritton, junior from Snow Hill, as president of the organization for the coming year and appointed Jerry O. Bennett of Winston-Salem to head their annual Tag Day to be observed on Monday, May 1.

Other officers chosen to serve with Miss Albritton are Beulah Grace Sugg, Snow Hill, vice president; Cleon Avery, Cove City, secretary; Robert L. Chick, Rocky Mount, treasurer; and Patricia Sutton, Kinston, and Ronald Underwood, Carolina Beach, historians.

Tag Day, which will be conducted under Bennett's direction this year, has the purpose of raising funds for the Thomas Clay Williams Memorial Scholarship award, given each year by the fraternity to the East Carolina senior with the highest average in the department of business education. The scholarship was established in 1945 in memory of Thomas Clay Williams of Greenville, who at the time of his death was a member of Pi Omega Pi and editor of the TECO ECHO, student newspaper at East Carolina.

Art Students Show Spring Quarter Work

Art students in a class in life drawing taught by Frances Lee Neel of the faculty of East Carolina have displayed their work for the spring quarter in the Alumni office of the Austin building on the campus. The exhibit extended from Monday through Friday, April 24-28, and closed today at 4:30 p.m.

The exhibit included twenty-five studies in charcoal and pencil. Those whose work was on display are first-year students of art at the college.

College Singers Sing In Recital At Robersonville

The College Singers, a group of ten students of voice at East Carolina, appeared in a recital at the Baptist church in Robersonville Thursday evening, April 27. The program was sponsored by the McDowell Music club of Robersonville. Dan E. Vornholt of the East Carolina faculty is director of the group, and Madeline Hodges of Washington is accompanist.

Members of the College Singers are Carolyn Eisele, Statesville, and Mary Wallace Foy, Pollockville, first sopranos; Louise Brooks, Falcon, and Catherine Stephenson, Willow Springs second sopranos; Alice Foley Jones, Greenville, and Hilda Grace Moye, Snow Hill, altos; Carl Denton, Greenville, and Carl Anderson, Elizabeth City, tenors; and Robert Mays, Hopewell, Va., and Alfred Kreckler, Gothenburg, Neb., Basses.

Miss Hodges played as a piano solo on the evening's program "E-tude," Opus 8, No. 10, by Chopin. Vocal soloists were Misses Brooks, Eisele, and Foy, and Mr. Mays and Mr. Kreckler.

The program included a number of popular ballads, American folk songs, and selections from the works of Tchaikowsky, Cesar Franck, and Grieg.

Tag Day Proceeds Being Applied To Scholarship Award

Tag Day, sponsored annually by the Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary business education fraternity, will be observed this year on Monday, May 1, by the sale of tags on the campus and throughout the city.

Proceeds of the tag sale will be applied to the Thomas Clay Williams Memorial scholarship award, which is presented each year to the senior with the highest average in the business education department. Tag Day was established in 1945 in memory of Thomas Clay Williams, who at the time of his death was a member of Pi Omega Pi and editor-in-chief of the TECO ECHO.

Jerry Bennett, treasurer of the local Pi Omega Pi, is serving as chairman of the drive and has assisting him Patricia Sutton, Alvin McArthur Jr. and Charles Woods.

Methodists Hold Informal Banquet Honoring Officers

An informal banquet, honoring the outgoing and incoming officers of the Wesley Foundation, was held at the Methodist Student center on the evening of April 20. At the close of the meal, business of the club was closed for the year, and outgoing president, Iola Carrowan, of Pantego, presented the gavel, which was tied with the Wesley Foundation colors, white and green, to the incoming president, Billy Vendrie of New Bern.

Words of appreciation for the sincerity, loyalty and cooperative spirit of Iola Carrowan, past president, were spoken by Mamie Chandler, director of the Wesley Foundation, and a gift was presented to her by the council. The new officers will take up the work of the Wesley Foundation immediately and begin to plan for the Spring Retreat and the program for the incoming year.

Pitt County English Teachers Meet Here To Elect Officers

The Pitt County Council of English Teachers held a meeting at East Carolina Thursday evening, April 27, in the parlors of Ragsdale hall, according to an announcement by Louise Greer of the college faculty, president. The chief purpose of the meeting was the election of officers for the 1950-1951 school year.

Preceding the business meeting the Teachers Playhouse of the college gave a program of two one-act plays, which members of the Council were invited to attend.

Foreign Language Frat Represented At Annual Meeting

East Carolina's Phi Sigma chapter of the Sigma Pi Alpha, national honorary foreign language fraternity, was represented at the 19th annual Congress of the fraternity, held at Mitchell college in Statesville, N. C. on April 15, 1950. Those representing this college were: Gilbert Woolard, Ellen Buffkin and Peggy Steed.

ALUMNI NEWS

Burlington
Dr. J. K. Long, registrar at East Carolina Teachers college, was principal speaker at a dinner meeting given Wednesday in Burlington by the college alumni chapter there. Ruth White, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Ruth Garner, alumni secretary, were also guests of the Burlington chapter and appeared as speakers on the program for the evening.

The meeting was held at the Alhambra hotel in Burlington, with Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart Bennett, Mrs. Anna Outland Parker, and Mrs. Lillie Fogleman Causey as hostesses. Approximately forty guests were present. Mrs. Estelle McClees Komerka, president of the Burlington chapter and former alumni secretary at the college, presided. Following the dinner, Mrs. Bennett entertained in honor of the visitors from East Carolina at an informal reception at her home in Burlington.

District of Columbia
Mrs. Seth Muse (Dorothy Crumpler) of Ayden, N.C., was elected president of the Washington, D.C. chapter at a dinner meeting in the Evans Coffee shoppe recently.

Mrs. Muse, a charter member of the Washington chapter, succeeded Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Seago of Potomac, N.C., who was accorded a rising vote of appreciation for her work with the chapter during the past year.

Other officers elected included: vice president, Miss Mildred McLawhorn of Vanceboro; treasurer, James Worsley of Greenville; corresponding secretary, Miss Lola Reel, Reelsboro; recording secretary, Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, Greenville; historian, Miss Mary Whichard, Greenville; and reporter, Eugene Price, Elizabeth City.

Raleigh

Mrs. Mammie Cutler Noble was hostess to the Raleigh chapter at her home on Fairview road on Monday evening. Assisting her were Mrs. Ethel Stephenson Briley, Mrs. Margaret Trexler Sivik, Mrs. Rose Carlton Dunn Harrison, Mrs. Augusta Woodward Marcom, and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Smith. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Crawford Martin. There was no program as the entire meeting was taken up with business, primarily reading and discussing the newly revised constitution for the chapter, which will be voted on at the next meeting. The committee revising the constitution was composed of Mrs. Mary N. White Bradshaw, chairman, Mrs. Alla Mae Jordan Holland and Mrs. Elaine Turner Phelps.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38
Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

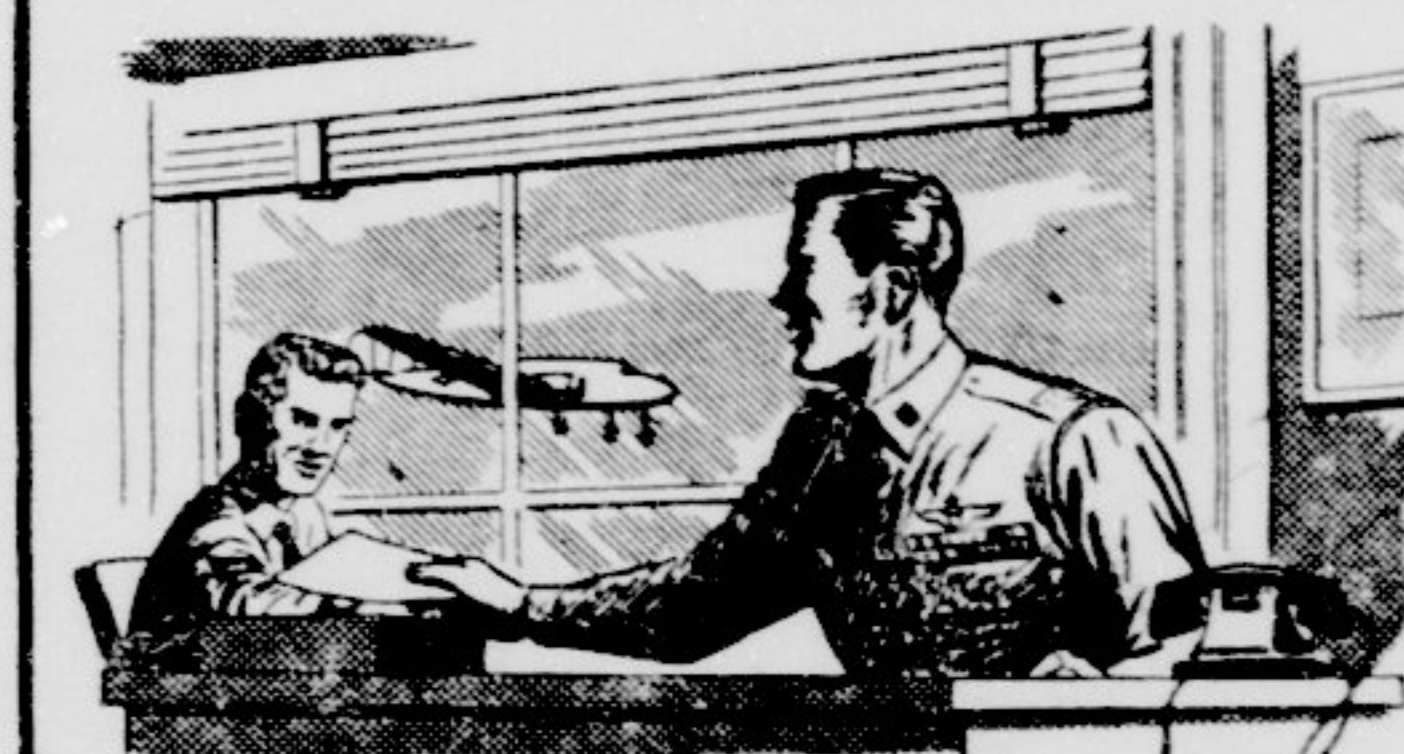

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.
