

Kiwanis Minstrel Features Several College Students

Alison Hearne and Al Livesay, East Carolina students, will feature in a dual "If You Were the Only Girl in the World", in the tenth annual Kiwanis minstrel to be presented on this campus next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, according to Eli Bloom, Greenville business man and producer of the show. Some twenty other East Carolina students will also participate in the minstrel.

The minstrel will be held in Austin auditorium at 8:00 p. m. each of the three evenings. Tuesday evening's performance will be for East Carolina students. Only students will be admitted. A reduction in the price rates will be available to any student who wishes to attend the show for Tuesday evening's production only.

This year's minstrel should be better than ever, Bloom thinks. One hundred members make up the cast. All of the cast members have had previous experience in this kind of dramatic production. All songs, jokes, and costumes are new and came straight from New York. Bloom also came from New York. Bloom stated that the Kiwanians have an orchestra of their own to play for the show, and that the music is going to be good.

Other features of the minstrel to be presented by East Carolina students are song and dance numbers. Singing in harmony will be Charles Self, Tom Swain, Gail Gyles, Paul Cameron, Ray Robinson, Whitey Esterling, Marvin Brown, and Bob Mays. A social dance feature will be presented by J. B. Edwards and Mary Sprull. Other dancers will be Jerry Minshew and Sadie Deans, John Johnson and Mary Lou Phillips, "Pat" Johnson and Lou Yates, Ceil Winslow and Evelyn Moore, David Jones and Dorothy Bradshaw and Al Smith and Peggy Bowen.

Proceeds from Tuesday evening's performance will be turned over to the Circle K club here on campus, to be used in some worthy project. Bloom said Robert Mays is president of the Circle K club.

Fleming Students Have Tea In Dorm To Honor Guests

Students living in Fleming hall entertained students and staff members of East Carolina at a Valentine tea last Sunday afternoon between the hours of three and five.

Guests were welcomed in the recreation rooms of the dormitory by Miss Edith G. Zinn, house counselor; Marie Aycock of Black Creek, house resident; Jane Albritton of Snow Hill, vice-president; Lucy Robertson of Williamston, secretary-treasurer; and Margie Smith of Kinston, Jean Jackson of Angier, Doris Brinson of New Bern, Frances Wilson of Dunn, Helen Duncan of Murfreesboro, and Lillian Bennett of Lumberton, members-at-large of the dormitory organization.

The dormitory was decorated in a color scheme of red and white. Large red hearts with lacy white borders were used on the newels of the stairway, and the balustrade was wound with ivy. A bowl of red carnations was placed the center of the table.

A program of music suitable to the theme of the tea was given during the afternoon, with Miss Anne Whitehurst of Robersonville and Miss Seleta Tucker of Farmville as soloists. A sextet, including the soloists, sang a number of popular songs with words composed for the occasion. Members of this group were Miss Whitehurst, Miss Tucker and Miss Elizabeth Gaddy of Wadesboro, Elizabeth Glasgow of Littleton, Patricia Rogerson of Bethel, and Janet Tyson of Stantonburg.

The tea was one of a series of dormitory entertainments being given during the present school year by students at the college.

Greenville Lions Hear Dr. A. D. Frank Speak

Plays Here Next Week

Elliot Lawrence, the youngest "name" bandleader in the nation, and his orchestra will play on the East Carolina campus next Friday night. The Lawrence orchestra will play for a concert from 8 until 9 and a dance from 9:30 until midnight in the Wright auditorium. Lawrence, who is only 26 years old, was picked this year by the Barbizon models as one of the ten most attractive men in America and was chosen by the Custom Tailors' Guild as one of the Ten Best Dressed Men. The dance is sponsored by the Entertainment committee of the Student Government association. No tickets will be sold at the door, but each student may purchase one guest ticket at $1.80 from the budget office before 6 p. m., February 16.

Dean Jenkins Urges Students To Finish Sequence Courses

Next Year's Schedule May Cause Confliction With Incomplete Work

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of the college, has issued the advice that students who have not completed sequence courses which they have already started should try to complete them during the spring quarter or summer school sessions. In the state ment Wednesday of this week Dean Jenkins said students should try to complete sequence courses in order to avoid complications in the fall quarter when the new quarter system will go into effect.

Under the new quarter system most classes will be held every day, five days per week. There will be no Saturday classes in the majority of courses. Courses will carry five quarter hours credit.

Dean Jenkins explained the problem this way: Under the present system American history is divided into three quarters work carrying a total of nine quarter hours credit. Under the new system the course will be consolidated into two quarters work carrying a total of ten quarter hours credit. If a student has completed history 10 and 11, then he has six hours credit. If he waits until the fall he will not be able to take the third part of the course because it will not be offered. He would have to take a five quarter hour course to satisfy a three hour requirement.

Dean Jenkins has stated, however, that under the new system "no student will suffer because of the transition." He said students would be given an opportunity to have courses substituted in some instances.

James L. White, faculty member of the department of business education at East Carolina, will represent the college at a meeting of the National association of Business Teacher Training institutions in Atlantic City, February 16-17. Mr. White, a native of Scotland Neck, is a graduate of East Carolina and has been a member of the faculty since 1948.

On the program to be offered at Atlantic City, he will lead a panel discussion dealing with the "Selection of Staff Members for College Business Education Departments."

Sears Gets Award For Highest Grade As Frosh Chemist

Ray Sears, East Carolina freshman, was recently named winner of a handbook of chemistry and physics, the annual award presented at this college by the Chemical Rubber Publishing company to the beginning chemistry student who achieves the highest scholastic average during his first quarter. Sears has an average of better than 98, according to J. O. Derrick, professor of chemistry at East Carolina.

The handbook Sears received is bound in blue leather and has the name of this college engraved in gold on its cover. Such awards are presented only in select colleges, according to data published by the Chemical Rubber Publishing company. Sears is a day student whose home is in Greenville. He has not yet selected his major.

The Teachers Playhouse will present a one-act play tonight in the Flanagan auditorium. The play will be presented by the YMCA and YWCA under the direction of Dr. Utterback.

Draft Women Says Ex-Wave

"Why doesn't somebody do something about drafting women?" The social forces which made women hesitate to volunteer for military duty would vanish if they were drafted, Mildred McAfee Horton, wartime head of WAVES, says in her article "Why Not Draft Women?" in the February issue of LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

"Selective Service officials are having a hard time finding men," Mrs. Horton says. "Veterans, fathers and boys in the middle of their educational training are being drafted. How much better for the nation, it would seem, to draw from the 16,000,000 young men and women of draft age, rather than try to fill our military needs from the 8,000,000 boys."

"Nobody who knows anything about military life seriously contemplates making the Army or Navy—and certainly not the Marine Corps—into fifty-fifty coeducational organizations! The main business of military services is combat, and women should be noncombatants. Nevertheless, the organizational difficulty of using women for noncombatant duties is not insurmountable.

Students Urged To Complete College Work In Three Years

Fall Curriculum Will Include New Home Ec Courses

Homemakers, teachers, extension workers and others will benefit from a group of new courses soon to be added to the curriculum of the home economics department at East Carolina. Dr. Bessie McNeil, department head, states that two of the new courses will be taught during the summer session of 1951, and all will be taught during the college year of 1951-1952.

Adult education for homemaking and demonstration technique in homemaking will be included among courses for the summer session. Courses in household equipment: selection, use, and care; meal planning and table service; experimental food study; and home demonstration organization will be added in the fall of 1951 to the courses already given by the college home economics department.

Adult education in homemaking, says Dr. McNeil, will be given during the summer session this year as a workshop course extending from June 25-July 6. Dr. McNeil will act as coordinator, and a number of off-campus lecturers will participate. Further announcement as to plans for the course will soon be made.

Demonstration techniques in homemaking will be given next summer primarily for students who are or plan to be extension workers, or who are interested in positions in business. Techniques of demonstration in all areas of homemaking will be discussed and exemplified.

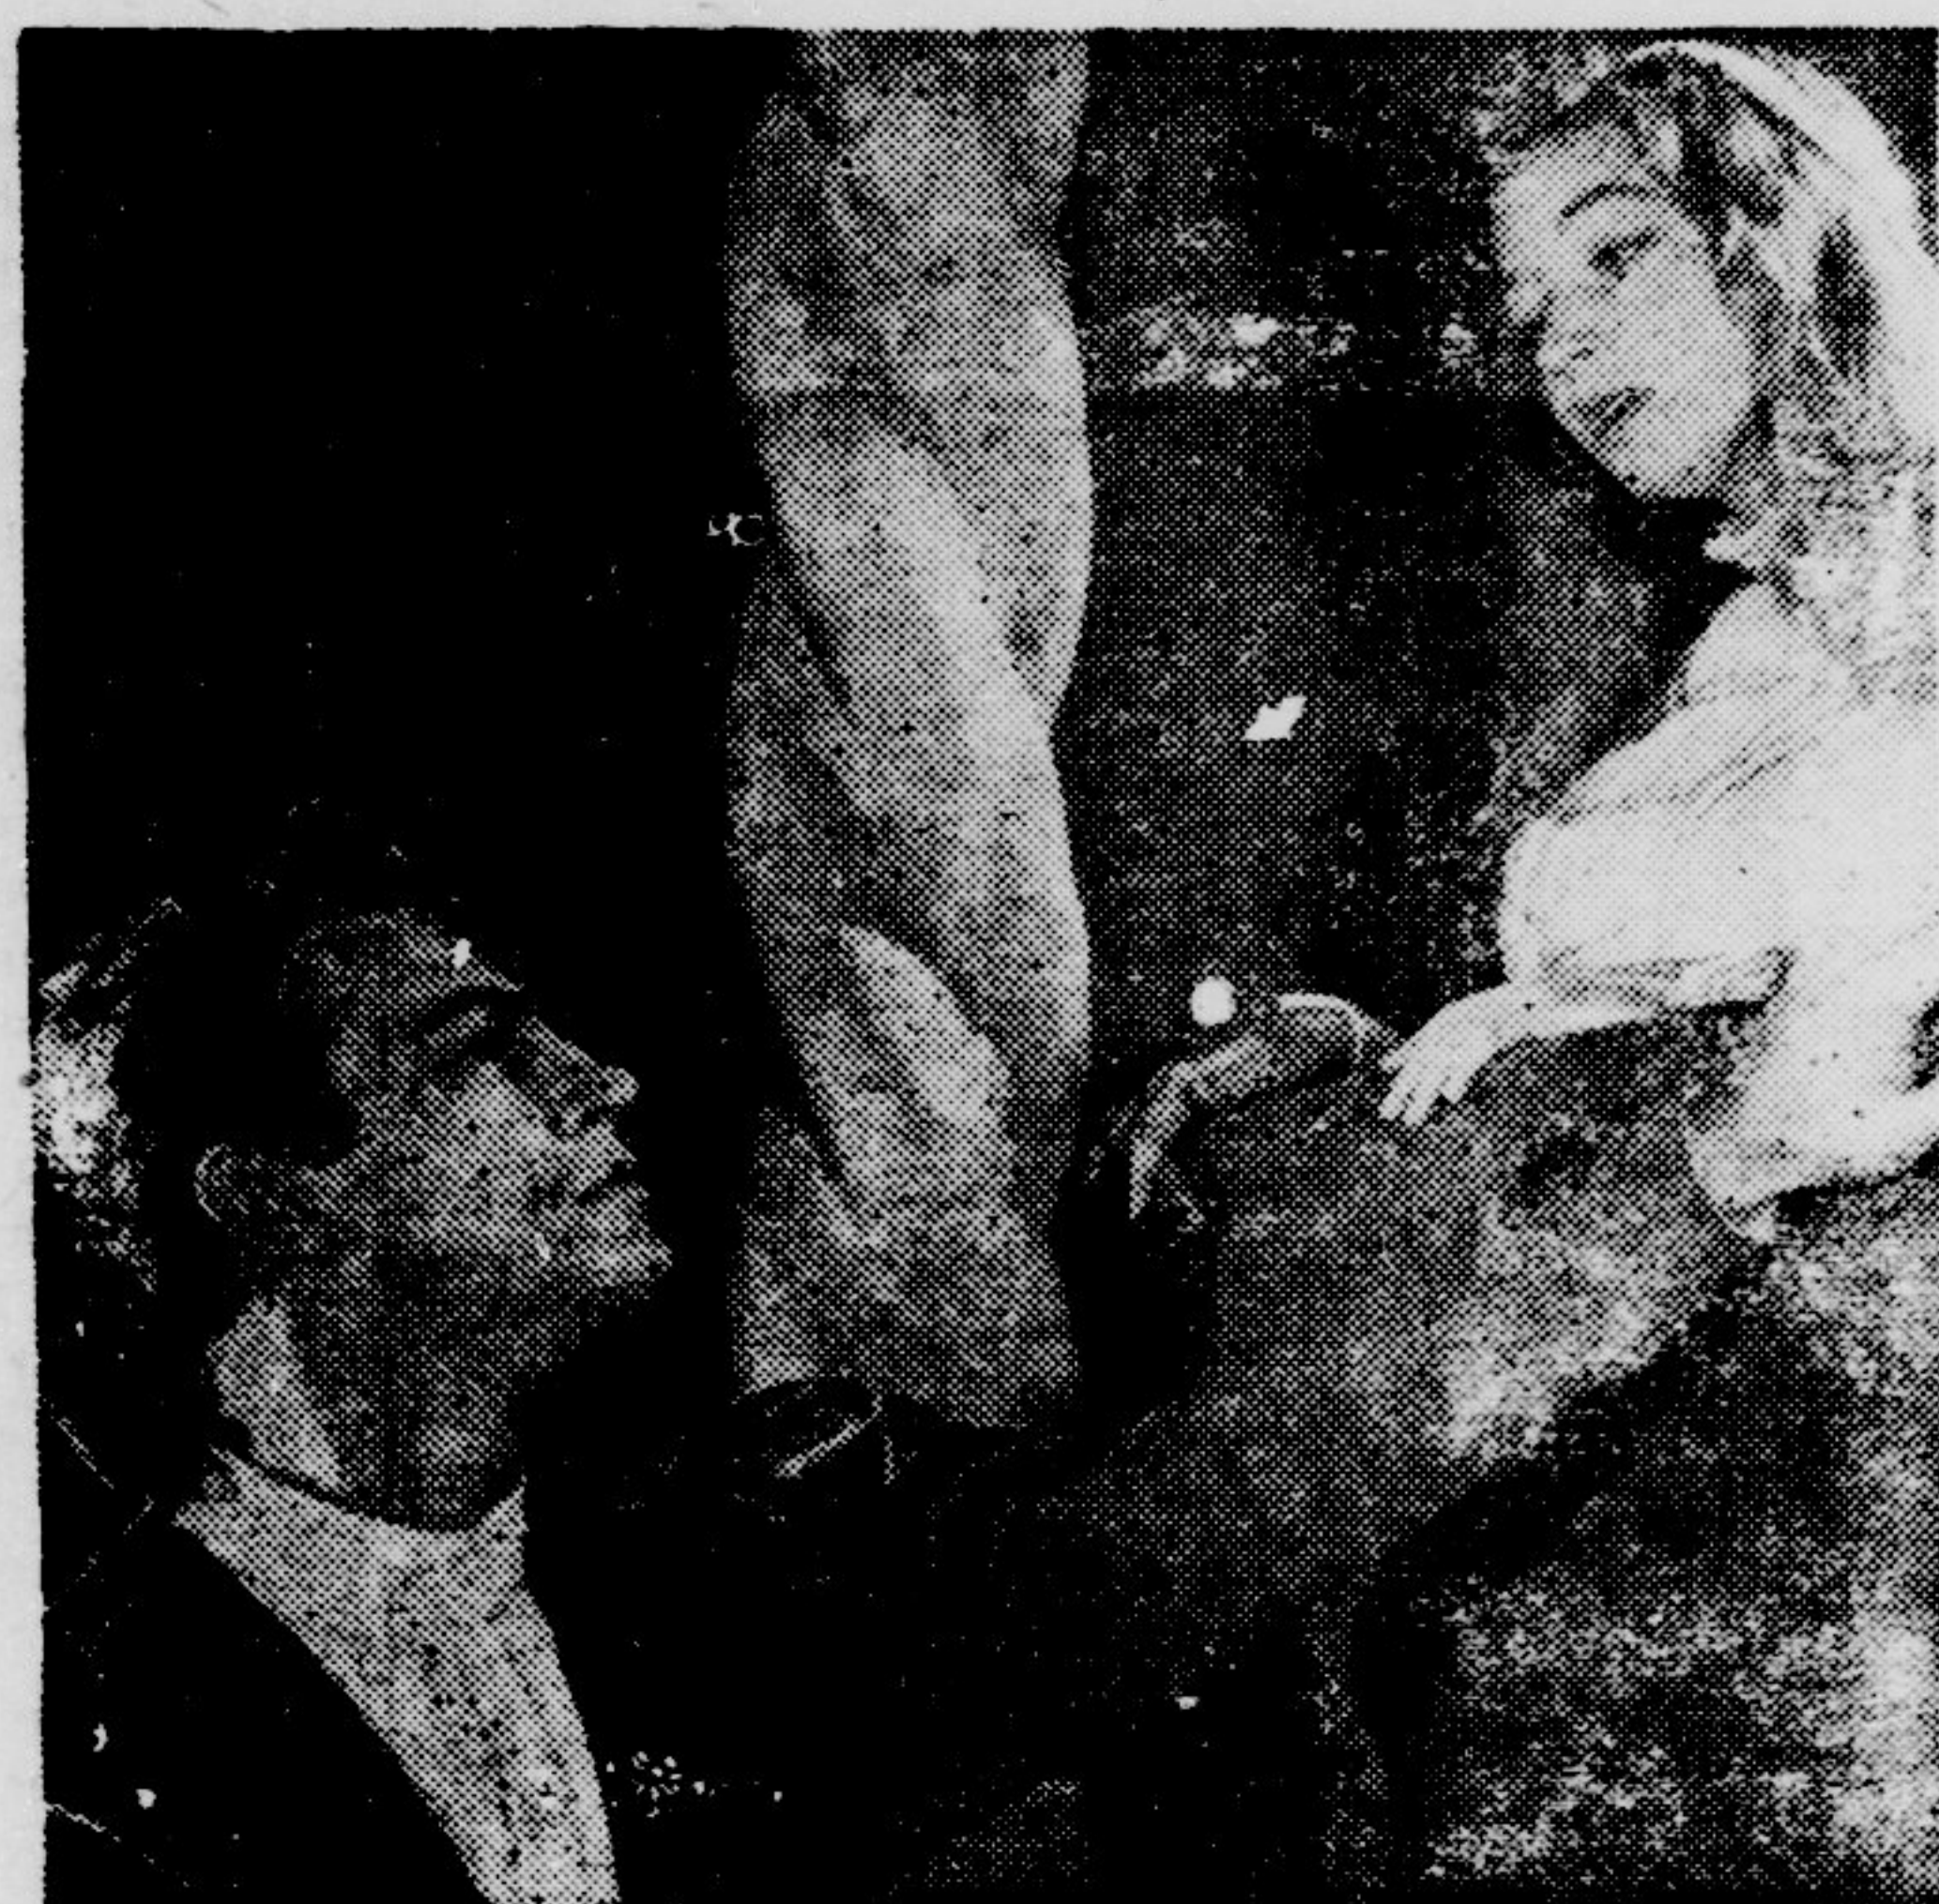

Home demonstration organization, according to Dr. McNeil, is a methods course with special attention to the needs of those who wish to go into extension work. Members of the staff of the State Agriculture Extension service will cooperate in the teaching of the course when it is offered first in the fall of 1951.

Fight To Represent Wesley Foundation At State Meeting

Eight students will represent the Wesley foundation of East Carolina at the State Methodist Student Movement conference being held at the First Methodist church, High Point, February 9-11. Mamie Chandler, director of the Wesley foundation, announced this week "New Testament-Blueprint for Today" will be the central theme of the program, the principal speaker being Dr. Lowell B. Hazzard, professor of religion at Wesleyan college, Bloomington, Illinois.

Approximately 300 delegates will represent colleges and universities from all over the state at the conference.

Portray Romeo And Juliet

The Carolina Playmakers of the University of North Carolina are to appear at East Carolina Tuesday night in the new College theatre at 8 o'clock. The above scene was taken from the play, "Romeo and Juliet," which is to be staged by the Playmakers. On the left is Donald Treat of Waterbury, Conn., who plays the part of Romeo, and on the right is Ann Mardin of Cherokee, N. C., who will portray Juliet.

Pi Omega Pi, Commerce Club Celebrate 15th Anniversary

Sponsors Are Chosen For Annual Social In Valentine Theme

The fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the department of business education at East Carolina will be celebrated Saturday evening, February 10, with a dance given by the Commerce club and the Beta Kappa chapter of Pi Omega Pi, business education fraternity. The dance, an annual social event at the college, will derive interest from the fact that it will mark the completion of fifteen years of work and growth in the department. Dr. E. R. Browning has been head of the department since its establishment on the campus in February, 1936.

A Valentine theme will be carried out in decorations and will give the motif for a dance figure, in which a group of sponsors for the Commerce club and Pi Omega Pi and their escorts will participate. Commerce club sponsors are: Frances Edwards, Greenville, with Allen Berman, president, Portsmouth, Virginia; Alef Collins, Greenville, with Leon Bizzell, vice-president, New Bern; Mary Frances Allen, Farmville, with Claude Altman, treasurer, Dunn.

Pi Omega Pi sponsors are: Jane Albritton, president, Snow Hill, with Raymond Cox, Mury; Grace Sugg, vice-president, Snow Hill, with Jimmy Taylor, Snow Hill; Mrs. Lincke, secretary, Kinston, with Paul Lincke, Kinston; Dee Wilkinson, Rocky Mount, with Robert Chick, treasurer, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Ronald Underwood, with Ronald Underwood, historian, Greenville; Patricia Sutton, historian, Kinston, with Lindy Speight, Snow Hill.

Other sponsors will be the dates of the chairmen of dance committees. They are: Armerelous Culppeper, Rocky Mount, with Vance Lockamy, Rocky Mount; Jean Brown, Greenville; Hilda Grace Moye, Snow Hill, with Pete Bazemore; and Joyce Mallard, Treaton, with Clement M. Gray, Trenton.

Allen Berman of Portsmouth, Virginia, president of the Commerce club and Jane Albritton of Snow Hill, president of the local Pi Omega Pi chapter, are leaders in planning the anniversary dance. Norman Cameron, James L. White, Lena C. Ellis, and Dr. Audrey V. Dempsey, faculty advisors of the two organizations, have worked with committees of students on arrangements for the entertainment of members and guests.

The dance will be open to all students at the college and their guests, and a large group is expected to be present. Bob Lee and his Orchestra will provide music.

College Officials Offer Assistance In Acceleration

Students at East Carolina who wish to complete their college work in three years are being urged to do so. College authorities and faculty advisors and counselors are offering assistance in the preparation of schedules of work for an accelerated program.

President John D. Messick pointed out recently that East Carolina operates on the quarter system and that by taking advantage of courses offered during summer sessions the student may complete all requirements for a degree in twelve quarters, or three years. The plan of work at the college, Dr. Messick stated, makes it possible for a student to enter college at the beginning of the fall, winter, or the spring quarter, or at the beginning of either of the two terms of the summer session, as heretofore.

Have Early Chance To Enter
High school graduates who wish to begin their college training immediately, he said, still have three opportunities of entering East Carolina during the present school year. They may enter at the beginning of the spring quarter on February 27, or at the beginning of either of the two summer terms, on June 4 or July 11. Students who wish to enter ROTC training may do so on June 4 or July 11, at the beginning of either of the two summer terms.

Dean Leo W. Jenkins, director of the summer school at East Carolina, has announced that freshman courses for new students will be offered during both terms of the summer session. This arrangement, he says, will enable the beginning college student to take sequence courses in their proper order and without delay.

May Take Heavier Load
Students now in college who have an average of "2" or better, he stated, will also be allowed to speed up their programs by taking a slightly heavier load than other students attending the summer session.

Dr. J. K. Long, registrar, has stated that he will give prompt attention to applications for admissions from high school students who wish to enter East Carolina.

Pre-Registration For Spring Quarter Will Start Monday

Pre-registration of students at East Carolina for courses to be taken during the spring quarter will take place during the week beginning Monday, February 12, according to an announcement from the office of Dean Leo W. Jenkins. The winter quarter will close Saturday, February 24, when examinations on work for the period will be completed. The spring quarter will begin Tuesday, February 27.

During the week of February 12, students at the college will meet with their faculty advisers and will arrange their work for the spring quarter. Tuesday, February 27, the opening day of the spring quarter, has been designated as a day set aside for completion of schedules arranged during the pre-registration period. Students who need to register late may do so through March 6.

EC Music Department Gives Student Recital In Austin Auditorium

The Music department of East Carolina sponsored a student recital in Austin auditorium yesterday afternoon at 3:00. A feature of the program was a solo, Tosti's "Serena," sung by Alison Hearne, well known Greenville and East Carolina soprano.

Other music majors appearing in the student recital were Marietta Hooper, who served as Miss Hearne's accompanist, William Williams, Donald Roebuck, Spencer Rollins Mims, Edward Reynolds, Myrtle Manning, Leonard Starling, Madeline Hodges, Jeanine Ennis, Cora Pauline Moore, and Delores Mathews.

Three To Attend IRC Conference In Tennessee

Three student members of the International Relations club at East Carolina will attend a meeting of the South Atlantic Regional conference of the organization, to be held March 2-3 at Harrogate, Tenn. The East Carolina group of delegates includes local, state, and regional officers of the IRC.

Those from the college here who will attend are Carl Smith of Washington, president of the East Carolina IRC; Evelyn Littleton of Jacksonville, vice-president of the regional group; and Bettie J. Dougherty of Fayetteville, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina organization of the IRC.

They were chosen to represent the local club at a business and program meeting Tuesday evening of this week in the Flanagan building. The appointment of Miss Dougherty to the state office of secretary-treasurer was announced at this time to club members at East Carolina.

Dr. George Pasti, of the department of social studies, was principal speaker on the program meeting. His talk dealt with relations between the United States and Russia, and was based in part on personal observations during two years of travel abroad during 1948-1950.

Rabbi Rypins Will Conduct Service In Chapel Tuesday

In observance of national Brotherhood Week, East Carolina students will hear Rabbi Frederick Rypins of Greensboro comment on "Jewish Contributions to America" next Tuesday in the regular chapel services held in Austin auditorium. Rabbi Rypins is being sent to East Carolina by the Jewish Chautauqua society, which is traditionally the sponsor for Brotherhood Week on this campus.

Rypins was ordained by the Hebrew Union college in 1921. He served in pulpits in Wilmington and in Roanoke, Virginia, before being called to his present post as Rabbi of Temple Emmanuel in Greensboro. Arrangements are being made for Rypins to meet the class in Biblical literature in Austin 104 at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon and speak on the topic "Beginnings of the Bible." All students are invited to visit this class and enter into the discussion.

THE PRESIDENT ON 'HONOR SYSTEM'

(Ed. Note—Following is a speech delivered before members of the Circle K club at a meeting that organization Tuesday evening by Al Livesay, president of the Student Government association. A discussion of the honor system followed the speech. The Circle K club is in favor of having an honor system.)
Gentlemen:

We are standing at the foot of a hill. The name of that hill is "Success." There is a foot path leading to the top of the hill. The name of that foot path is "Opportunity." The path is broken by many chasms. Some chasms are so deep and dark and wide that they look to be impossible to cross. There are those who have built up strength and prepared themselves for the big jump. There are those who have given no thought to preparation—they have existed in hopes. Hopes that when they do jump strength will come.

We who are community leaders of the future (And I say are because our mere presence at college places us in a minority and a respected group)—we who are leaders of the future should prepare ourselves to deserve the faith and respect which will be placed in us. We must be prepared to jump the chasms—walk up the foot path and reach the top of Mount Success. We will reach success and leadership only through work.

We must think in abstract terms of such things as honest, truth, and honor. We are laboring in a school system which notoriously deals with facts and excludes philosophical thought and religion which are natural to man. For our own we must search for the true meaning of life in his environment.

At this point to a subject which has meant so much to me personally for a long time: we've all heard much of honor in our lives. We have heard of the father of a young man's daughter asking an anxious suitor, "Young man, are your intentions honorable?" We've heard of women in a certain profession who are "without honor," and we've heard that there is "honor among thieves." Webster says honor is a trait of character which inspires respect of an individual—that which attracts esteem, as dignity and courage; especially excellence of character.

This leads to a discussion of an honor system in colleges. In America, there are many examples of man's eternal search for freedom. Americans are continually making concerted efforts to escape control by other human beings. This is the real reason that honor systems exist. With every attempt to escape control comes a placing of responsibilities. It is mandatory that each individual benefitting from a freedom-giving contract must assume personal responsibilities in order that freedom might thrive.

An honor system has many reasons for existence. The primary one is the acquiring of individual freedom. (2) The developing of individual responsibility among students. (3) The developing of right attitudes of work among students and teachers. (4) The gaining and maintenance of broad powers for student organizations. (5) The setting and maintenance of high standards of conduct which are requisite for the development of a morally disciplined leadership. (6) The establishing between faculty members and students a mutual feeling of respect. An honor system is not a spy system. It is not a terrible monster which is ready to gulp up the unwary ones.

An honor system is needed at East Carolina. But there are other things which are needed first. The men's organizations—house committees and judiciary—are not as well organized as the women's. The dean of women works closely with the women's organizations and keeps them apprized of campus affairs. We do not have such a close-working organization with the men. All student organizations must be working at full capacity and strength before advancement to an honor system can be made.

As a personal point, I would like to say that to me anyone who states emphatically that he is against an honor system is in one of four positions.

- (1) He has been misinformed.
 - (2) He has seen a bad system in operation.
 - (3) He is without honor.
 - (4) He has no faith in his fellowman.
- The establishment of such a system is not an overnight thing. And in establishing an honor system it must be fitting to a school. Also, it must be asked for by the student body. It may take years to develop such a system at East Carolina. (Continued in last column)

ETAOIN and SHRDLU

by Rexford E. Piner

In an editorial on "The Blessings of a College Editor" in the "Appalachian" of Appalachian State Teachers college we came across the following "words of wisdom:"

"... the success of a good paper may be determined by the number of enemies one makes. If a few people are riled up occasionally one knows his paper is being read."

If this be the case, we have reason to be glad, because we've been getting a few compliments recently. We're getting worse all the time as complaints gradually are dwindling away.

Personally, we do not like to think we have been successful just because we have some indication the paper is being read. There are other indications, and we appreciate a kind word once in a while. What editor wouldn't?

In a recent lecture to one of his education classes Dr. Ed J. Carter stated, in bringing out a point, that the man who said "two can live as cheap as one" didn't intend the interpretation we give to that saying today. What the man really meant, according to Dr. Carter, was that two men could live as cheap as one woman.

We are glad to see, of course, that a class in journalism has been scheduled for the spring quarter. We're said, however, because there aren't two, so that more students would have the opportunity of taking the course. There is only one course in journalism offered here, and that is a one quarter course. Seems a shame that a school which has produced several excellent journalists does not expand opportunities in this field for its students. Journalism is particularly important to English majors who may someday be faculty advisors for student publications. Journalism will become increasingly important, too, as newspapers, magazines, radio and television will be used more frequently in the schools of the future. They are already being used in many schools. Since these media have so much influence on the students, would it not be wise to broaden the curriculum to fit their needs?

Some adjustments have been made on the television set in the men day student's room and we saw a couple of shows on its screen this week. We hope it will continue to produce results as successfully as it did when we saw it. If it does, the men day students will probably support their officers and donate money enough for the set so that it may become a permanent fixture.

Students seem to be receiving happily the innovation needed for so long in the college library. Books of fiction have been put on shelves, downstairs and students are being allowed to browse through them. It's about time someone took a positive approach to the problem of why students don't read more than they do. There aren't many students here who read for pleasure. Most of the time we read because we have to. Students don't like to be "introduced" to books through classroom assignments, particularly fiction. They like to search through the books, find one they like and then spend leisure time reading it. If they don't like it, they may have started the reading habit. If books are placed where students cannot get to them, then there is very little reading for pleasure.

Bill Flanders, capable treasurer of the Student Government association, will retire at the end of this quarter. He announced his intentions at a meeting of the Executive committee of the SGA Wednesday night. Thornton Staples, first assistant treasurer, is expected to succeed Flanders.

The Men's Judiciary will sponsor a movie "Last Date" Saturday, February 17, in the Austin auditorium. The movie will be in addition to the regular movie shown each Saturday evening. According to Gene Smith, chairman of the Men's judiciary, the film portrays the incidents which lead up to and include the tragic misfortune which befalls an innocent (?) youthful maiden who is led astray down the easy, rollicking road of sin and corruption by a group of juvenile delinquents hell-bent on a life of evil and destruction.

"Don't fail to see mad youth at its heights," says Smith. "See the unleashed passions... etc." You get the idea.

Who's Who At East Carolina

by Anne Jones

Bernard West

The field of sports has found a true and life-long friend and promoter in the personage of Bernard West of Greenville, North Carolina, who is a senior at East Carolina. This long, lanky student is an up-and-coming journalist in the eastern part of the state.

Like so many other college students, West had no idea when he entered East Carolina in 1946 that, today, he would be well on the way towards establishing himself as a prominent newspaper man in the sports writing department. He had never even worked on any kind of a newspaper staff until he entered college and started working on the TECO ECHO. As a freshman, he became the paper's sports editor, a position which he continued to hold during his sophomore year.

He gives credit for his start on the TECO ECHO and in the field of journalism, his first crack at professional work on a newspaper, as well as the introduction to the girl who later became his wife to Bernice Jenkins, East Carolina graduate and former editor of the TECO ECHO.

West, who served as sports editor of the Wilmington "Star-News" in portions of 1948 and 1949, is planning to return to this job immediately after his graduation at the end of this quarter. While working with the Wilmington "Star-News" he was able to meet and interview many influential and prominent sportsmen such as Bob Locke and Cary Middlecoff. "These interviews were great experiences for me," he stated.

At the beginning of the spring quarter of 1950 West returned to the Navy for a period of 21 months, 12 months of which were spent in the Pacific on the island of Okinawa. "My wife is a pretty little blue-eyed brunette," West commented. Both members of his household believe in acquiring an education, because they are both enrolled in school here. Mrs. West is a business education major and an English minor while her husband is an English major and a social studies minor. "Just before being married, it was just two years ago this February 11 that Tony Newhan of Carolina Beach and Bernard West of Greenville were united in wedlock.

It was just another case of hometown boy making good when West did his practice teaching this past fall quarter in Greenville High school.

It goes without saying that West likes to write and that he likes sports. His favorite sport happens to be basketball. By way of his interest in writing West became a member of the campus Neographics and served as the chairman of the organization one year.

His other activities have included membership in the Veterans club as a freshman and the Young Democratic club at the present time. "One year I was a member of the Student Christian association, its first vice-president to be exact. The most memorable thing I ever did in this organization was to preach a sermon at a prison camp with the chains of the prisoners clanking all around me," he cited.

West is a witty, sincere, and capable leader.

staff of the TECO ECHO as its sports editor. Also, during the summer term of 1950, he served as editor-in-chief of the summer editions of the college paper.

West went as one of the representatives from the TECO ECHO and the college to the Columbia Scholastic Press association convention held in New York in 1947.

During the current school year West has served as sports editor of the "Tecocan," the college yearbook. Under his supervision the sports section of the "Tecocan" has been revised and enlarged.

Prior to enrolling in college here West served in the United States think it's a good thing. We'll have to realize that we will have to accept it within ourselves."

Hog Jaw—"I don't know."

Ann Stone—"A very good thing, if they use it in everything, not just grades."

Mac McConeghy—"I've been to a school that had it, and don't like it to put it mildly."

Janet Shore—"I don't like the clause concerning students telling on each other. I don't believe they will do it."

Ken Stargardt—"I don't know how the system plans to be presented, but it seems that it will require the cooperation of the entire student body and that is a lot to ask of us all at once. However, its function would be a credit to East Carolina."

ROUND THE CAMPUS

by Jean Head

About the most exciting thing that happened this week were the two ball games Monday and Tuesday nights. The Pirates played two swell games against the Catamounts. The scores were really a coincidence; in the first game at the half, we had 48 points; in the second game we repeated, and both games ended with the Pirates scoring 98 points. Almost like seeing the same movie twice.

Tomorrow night the Commerce Club sponsors its annual Valentine dance. Mr. Dan Cupid will most likely be on hand, to greet the gals and guys, and bet'cha the gals will be all dolled up in their "Valentine's best."

In Miss Stallings' Corrective Physical Education class, the students were taking exercises to promote relaxation. It seems that Larry Kincaid "went all the way," and had to be waked up. Could be that he wasn't awake to begin with. These 8:00 a.m. activity classes are really rough.

Saw several "old familiar faces" at the ball game Tuesday night—Marian Ward, who is doing welfare work in Washington, N.C.; Ben Hester and three of his "charges" from Seven Springs; and Jane Cole, who is teaching in Rocky Mount.

Thought it might be interesting to find out the opinions of some of the students concerning the Honor System, which is being discussed:

Roger Thrift—"I don't think it will work, the majority of the students don't want it."

Jim Ratledge—"I very definitely got underway last week and will continue indefinitely. Bernie will sing your favorites; just drop him a card in care of the College Post office.

We were happy to have our fine president qualify his statements about spooning. We agree that there is a time and place for everything, but we hate to think that a college education will kill the activities of "Dan Cupid." Such a thing might discourage female students and that would in turn discourage the men. It's just a vicious circle.

MILES BEHIND THE MIKE

by Miles Buck

The orchid of the week goes to the basketball team for wrapping up the basketball season on the home court in blaze of glory. We'll be pulling for them during the remaining games on schedule and in their bid for tournament honors in Statesville later this month.

Dr. Frank claims to be a left-handed "Yankee" inasmuch as he holds a degree from Columbia. He made this announcement the other morning at a meeting organizing the out-of-state committee for the new recruiting program instituted this week. Dr. Frank overlooked the fact that there were several good citizens of Georgia in the group. Someone suggested the group be called the "Yankee club" but some of the deep south boys tell us they would be forced to leave such a group. The only answer as it looks from here would be to call this group which hopes to do something about bringing out-of-state students here, "The Blue and Gray club" and then everyone would be happy.

We hear from our favorite coffee stop that Hubert Bergeron is directing the Wesley Players production for the drama festival which will be held in the College theater during the spring quarter. We don't know much about his ability in directing plays but we do know he has plenty of experience in college plays, and we feel certain he will do a good job. If there are any people on the campus interested in religious drama and are looking for an outlet for their energies, drop by the Methodist Student center and talk with Miss Chandler.

By way of information for those people that like to hear good popular music, listen to the Bernie Ham show on Thursday night. This series got underway last week and will continue indefinitely. Bernie will sing your favorites; just drop him a card in care of the College Post office.

We were happy to have our fine president qualify his statements about spooning. We agree that there is a time and place for everything, but we hate to think that a college education will kill the activities of "Dan Cupid." Such a thing might discourage female students and that would in turn discourage the men. It's just a vicious circle.

Students worn and weary from exams at High Point college found companionship and refreshments in the student center after they had completed the dreary tasks. The practice of serving refreshments during exam week was begun at High Point last year and was met with much approval from the student body, and why not?

Do you remember the "Kissing Rock" in "The West Point Story"? Here is a clipping taken from the Lenoir Rhynean. "Like all other college campuses, Lenoir Rhyne has its legends. We, too, like West Point and Northwestern, have our 'Kissing Rock,' the third brick on the left of the door to Mauney hall. 'Tis said that once a girl refused a boy a kiss there—and the rock fell on his head. (The solution: He tried anyway, the brick was loose, and the girl had been a lady wrestler.)"

There is an "editorial" in the Western Carolinian that we have not seen the likes of in quite a while. The editorial is titled "On Our School Spirit" and we still have not seen anything, because there is about one half of a column of just empty space under the editorial. Maybe they do not have any school spirit at Western Carolina or maybe the type was lost at the printer's.

The Appalachian State Teachers college wrestling team seems to be making a good name for itself. The Appalachian grapplers took a trip west of the Mississippi when it went for a match with Arkansas State college team, which is reported to be one of the better teams of the nation. The Apps have lost one match this year and are a threat for the Southern championship says Jim Howe, sports editor for the Appalachian.

ina. But when East Carolina will have put into operation an honor system it will have made a firm step toward real progress.

We can do some ground work with the Circle K. We can set up as a permanent goal the continual striving which will be necessary for the establishment of an honor system.

I hope that you will discuss this when I sit down.

Personally, I feel a great need for ideals for all human beings to live by. Many people are critical of idealists. I feel as John Greenleaf Whittier did when he said "When faith is lost, when honor dies, the man is dead."

By faith, perseverance, and hard work, we can prepare ourselves to assume real leadership in the future. We can, through preparation, be outfitted with strength to jump these chasms on the path of "Opportunity," and finally we can arrive at the top of Mount Success.

SPORTS ECHO

BY LLOYD WHITFIELD

Coach Howard G. Porter and his valiant band of Pirates have completed an eleven home-game schedule, and a mighty fine showing he and his cagers gave the home crowd. In the last two contests, to the delight of some 5,000 East Carolina fans, the Pirates racked up two of the most impressive victories seen here in years. In those two wins the locals racked up 196 points against the Western Carolina Mountaineers. The scores were 98-69 and 98-68 respectively, and provided the spectators with some of the most outstanding basketball thrills they have witnessed in a long time. For instance, the Bucs shattered all previous scoring records by tallying 98 points in one game, and in doing so the locals looked like the unbeatable. Sonny Russell, the sensational cager from New Bern broke individual scoring honors by ripping the cords for 35 points in one contest.

In providing local fans with top-flight basketball, Coach Porter is to be commended for a hard job splendidly done. Even though the conference record reads 7-6, there is more behind the scenes. When the current campaign opened Porter had a crop of inexperienced freshmen on hand and two starters from last year's squad. It's true that he had recruited a bumper crop of freshmen that had great potentialities.

Nevertheless, they lacked that college experience which is so vital, and also they had to get the know-how of Porter's system. Things looked rather gloomy for the home front for a while. Many fans were griping about the slow type of ball that the locals were playing. They were playing slow because they had not fully developed as Porter wanted them. They still have not mastered the A. P. system, but Tuesday night against Western Carolina for the first time this year, the high sailing Bucs were executing the plays the way they should be done. The players were doing what Porter wanted them to do, and they won the ball game in a run-away.

Many people may gripe about the type of ball that the Pirates elect to use, but if it is played correct, it's a good system. Look at Kentucky, they run from a modified A. P. and are rated tops in the nation. Kansas State, coached by Phoggy Allen, an old-timer in the coaching field, is ranked fourth in the nation. They also operate from the A. P. Incidentally, Porter used to be assistant coach under Allen.

ON POOR SPORTSMANSHIP AT EAST CAROLINA

Another thing that displeases us very much is the poor sportsmanship East Carolina hands out to game officials, visiting coaches and players—and even our own team and coach at times. All the booing starting at the High Point game when Joe Mills and Jim Mills officiated the game and called numerous decisions that the local fans disagreed with. Confidentially we did not know them either, but still their word is final and when you boo a decision it only makes things rough for the home team. The Mills brothers were treated so badly while here that they threaten to have East Carolina removed from the NCBA if it happens again.

If such a move was taken East Carolina would be regarded as an outlaw school and would not be able to get good officials. It's true that the Mills brothers call a strict ball game and take a lot of the game away from the players. That is why they are not in the Southern conference. Nevertheless, we should try to control our emotions.

The most pleasing thing we have noticed here in two years was during the Western Carolina game Tuesday night. The visiting Catamounts had been forming the east for a week and were probably getting lonesome for them. The Mills brothers they took to the court for Tuesday night's game they received a tremendous ovation from East Carolina fans. That builds good friendship between schools and we believe that Coach Jim Gudger and his Western Carolina team will long remember the courtesy they received while at East Carolina.

Did you know that . . . Lenoir Rhyne, current North State leaders, were given honorable mention in national ratings last week . . . it was Lou Collie who held the famed Billy Wells of Lenoir Rhyne scoreless last week. It was the first time in four years of collegiate competition that Wells had failed to score, and the publicity director at Hickory gave the credit to Teddy Fennell, but it was really Lou Collie who did the remarkable job.

HIGH POINT BREAKS CONFERENCE RECORDS

While East Carolina was running up such a big score over Western Carolina Tuesday night, the Panthers of High Point college went rampant in a scoring spree against Atlantic Christian college. The team which was slated at the beginning of the season to take the conference championship broke the North State conference team scoring record. High Point defeated Atlantic Christian 119 to 88. Jesse Joyce, who dropped in the winning basket when High Point defeated East Carolina by one point, broke the conference individual scoring record in the Atlantic Christian game with a total of 44 points. His 20 successful tries out of 22 attempts on free throws was another record. Games with High Point and Atlantic Christian are the only two remaining conference clashes on the schedule for the East Carolina Pirates. The Pirates lost to High Point, 59-58, in the first engagement between the two teams, and defeated Atlantic Christian 83 to 35. Both of these games will be played away from home.

Russell Scores 25 As Porter's Cagers Register 98-69 Win

With All-conference forward Sonny Russell ripping the cords for 35 points, Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina Pirates shot with amazing accuracy as they walloped a sister college, Western Carolina, 98-69, in Wright gymnasium here Monday night before a near capacity crowd.

Sonny Russell, the Pirate great from New Bern, was the leading scorer in the contest that saw East Carolina rack up its highest scoring mark ever put in the record books by a Buccaneer five. Russell tallied 14 points in the first half and hit for eight field goals and five free throws in the last period to raise his point total to 256 in 17 games.

In soundly trouncing the visiting Catamounts, Porter had nothing except praise for his cagers as they played probably their best game of the current campaign. With tournament time only two weeks off, the Pirates are beginning to show their highly publicized scoring power.

Russell Tops Rogers
An expected scoring duel between the North State's leading point-getter, and the Bucs' Russell materialized with the popular Pirate cager outshining the Catamounts' Rogers in all departments. Moreover, there was a scoring duel between an unused Cat player and Russell. Ned Straehla, a short guard, took set shots from all sectors of the court and seldom missed as he tallied 25 points. All except three of these came from outside the foul circle.

Cats Take Early Lead
The visiting Catamounts took the lead in the opening minutes when Rogers hit on a free throw and Carter was true on a field goal to provide Western Carolina with a 3-0 lead over the home team. For the first ten minutes the Cats managed to stay on pretty even terms with the towering Buccaneers, but Porter's cagers began to slowly pull into the lead and had widened the margin to 48-37 at intermission.

In the final period, Coach Porter used everything except the bench as he substituted his reserves freely to register the high scoring victory which gave the Bucs a 6-6 won-lost record in the conference.

Careful Big John . . . We Need Those Points!

East Carolina's big six-foot, six-inch giant, John Postas, gets in a big scramble for the ball in the contest with Western Carolina here Monday night. Postas, a sophomore from Franklin, N. J., is Coach Howard Porter's rebound ace, and was one of the big guns in the Buc cagers' rumpaging 98-69 victory over the visiting Catamounts. Western Carolina players in the picture, left to right, are Jim Purdue, Ned Straehla and Ronald Rogers.

Buc Five Scores Second Straight Win Over Visitors

Coach Howard G. Porter's East Carolina Pirates made it two in a row over a visiting Western Carolina five as the Bucs trounced the Catamounts 98-68 in a North State conference clash in Wright gymnasium Tuesday night.

Coach Porter's cagers hit the same total for the second straight night as they registered the 30 point decisive victory over the mountain lads from out west. In Monday night's encounter the Buccaneers beat the visitors 98-69. The impressive victory evened East Carolina's North State record at 6-6.

The locals outclassed the West Carolinians in every department of play with a well-balanced attack which easily penetrated the Cats' ineffective defense.

Hodges Gets 22
Many of the spectators came to the game expecting to see All-conference forward Sonny Russell have another great night at the basket, along with the league's leading scorer, Ronald Rogers, from West Carolina. Russell, who had tallied 35 points the previous night, scored 13 points, while Rogers was busy collecting 18.

Lou Collie, a little 5' 8" defensive demon from Wilmington, did a spectacular job of guarding the visitor's high scoring guard, Ned Straehla, who had hit for 25 points the night before. Straehla, who is dead on set shots from mid court, was held to four points by the brilliant defensive play of Collie.

Bucs Took Early Lead
The East Carolina cagers with their aggressive and fast type of ball jumped into an early lead in the opening minutes and were never headed by the hard-luck Catamounts. After the first few minutes of play there was no doubt about the final outcome. The Pirates were out in front by about six points after five minutes of play and kept plugging away until they finished the half with a comfortable 48-40 margin. At no time were the losers to get into contention as East Carolina found its last home contest of the season one of its easiest.

West Carolina, which took many of its shots from beyond the foul circle, lacked the height, and East Carolina's towering five's ability to control the backboards proved the difference. Also, the local defense seriously hindered the Catamounts' chance at driving in for shots.

Local Quint Seeks Revenge At Asheboro Against McCrary Five

Crowell Williamson Wins Three Round Decision Over Peel

Crowell Williamson, East Carolina's outstanding welterweight boxer coached by Johnny Long, won a three round decision over Crow Peel in Wilmington last Saturday night before an overflow crowd in the Wilmington Sports Arena. Peel is one of the leading welterweights in the south, and was the victim of Williamson's 55th victory in amateur boxing. Before the East Carolina officials dropped boxing as an intercollegiate sport, Williamson was Coach Johnny Long's leading pugilist. In his year of collegiate competition, the youthful fighter lost only one bout which was a highly booted decision to Jim Brigman, the state champion of South Carolina.

Williamson has won five golden gloves tournaments since his entry into the annual Carolinas boxing marathon. He needs only one more championship before he is eligible to go to New York as a member of an eight man boxing team to represent the two Carolinas in the national finals.

The Whiteville whiz has been a sensation at East Carolina, and fans miss watching the aggressive fighter in the ring here. Shy as a student, you would never expect this sophomore to be a boxer, but he mixes a terrific punch with his personality which has brought him recognition throughout Virginia and the Carolinas.

Athlete Of The Week

Louis Collie

Athlete Of The Week

Louis Collie, a junior from Wilmington, is a scrappy, aggressive forward whose value to the Pirate basket-keepers should not go unheralded. His basketball career got off to a flying start in his initial year at East Carolina when he was named an All-conference forward after his participation in the North State conference tournament.

Last year, as a sophomore, he pumped 200 points through the hoop to emerge as the third-highest scorer on the team.

Beginning this season as a substitute, Collie soon showed his worth and now holds a starting berth on Coach Porter's Pirate five. An expert ballhandler and passer himself, he enters enemy ballhandlers like an octopus, and harries the opposition by dashing in to take a quick slap at—and very often to liberate—the ball.

A 1948 graduate of New Hanover High school in Wilmington, Collie was a schoolboy flash in basketball and baseball, lettering for four years in basketball and for three years in baseball. He played an outfield position on a baseball team that reached the state finals of the AAA high school baseball playoffs and won the Eastern conference championship for two consecutive years.

During his freshman year, he was voted the most valuable player on the squad, and in his sophomore year he was an All-Eastern conference AAA outfielder. In 1948, he made the All-conference second team. Collie brought his baseball skill with him to East Carolina and was a regular on the Pirate nine for two years. As a standout hoopster on basketball-famous New Hanover High's top-flight team, Collie was fourth-highest scorer in the Duke-Durham All-North Carolina high school tournament in 1948, his senior year. The same year, he made All-state honorable mention. He was a member of the 1946 edition of the New Hanover Wildcats, which were the All-state champions that year. That same season, and the following one, his junior year, Collie played in the Duke-Durham Southern Invitational basketball tournament on a Wildcat team which was rated as the third best high school AAA basketball team in the entire nation.

On September 16 of last year, Lou Collie was married to Miss Jean McGowan, of Greenville.

Eagles Have One Of Best Semi-Pro Outfits In State

The East Carolina Pirates will be seeking revenge when they meet a strong semi-pro McCrary Eagle five in Asheboro Saturday night at 8 o'clock in a non-conference contest. The Bucs will be seeking revenge for a 61-50 heartbreaking loss handed them earlier in the season by the Eagles.

McCrary boasts one of the strongest semi-pro outfits in the state with several former college stars spearheading their attack. Led by such ex-college stars as Coy Carson of Carolina and Hugh Nance of High Point, the Eagles will not be an easy foe. In the last encounter between the two teams these two men scored 11 and 13 points respectively to lead the attack.

Locals Lost Heartbreaker
The Pirates were highly impressive when they met the pros before Christmas. The locals started out that contest by playing an improved brand of ball and found themselves sporting a lead until the dying minutes when the more experienced visitors forged ahead for a 61-50 victory.

Fresh from two astounding North State conference victories over Western Carolina, the Pirates are in tip-top shape for the contest. Against Western Carolina the Bucs looked the best they have all season as they shot with deadly accuracy and played great defensive ball.

Usual Starting Five
The probable starting lineup for the contest will have Sonny Russell and Charles Huffman at forward. Toddy Fennell will start at center with Bobby Hodges and John Postas starting at guards.

Porter has several competent reserves who will see plenty of action tomorrow night. Paul Jones, Jim Blake and Lou Collie are capable substitutes along with center Charles Butler.

After tomorrow night's contest, the locals have two remaining games before the annual North State tournament is reeled off in Statesville. Thursday night they will meet a strong High Point five there and close out the season in the traditional Bunk battle against Atlantic Christian in Wilson.

Schools Charged Communistic

Two large midwest universities were charged last week by state politicians with providing a haven for Communists. They were Northwestern and Minnesota.

A columnist for the "Daily Northwestern" remarked: "I see some of our state politicians rank Northwestern as a center of Communism in Illinois. Really, gentlemen, you aren't serious?"

"Oh, there may be a Communist on campus. I never heard of one. There may even be one in the administration. But I suspect he's as rare as a Republican who relishes singing the 'Missouri Waltz' at a Chamber of Commerce banquet."

At Minnesota the heat came from State Sen. Child and was aimed mostly at Joseph Weinberg, a physics professor. Weinberg last year was identified as "Scientist X" by the Congressional Un-American Activities committee. He has been investigated by two grand juries but has never been indicted. He was accused of associating with Communists and of transmitting information to them.

Child recommended that the Board of Regents suspend Weinberg. He added that to disregard "alleged radical influences at work in the universities" was no way to solve the problem of protecting our educational system.

Pirate Golf Team Has Match Booked With Ohio In March

East Carolina's only North State conference champion, the gold team led by Bill Stalls, has scheduled a match with the University of Ohio for March 28, it was announced on Wednesday.

The schedule has not been completed, but Captain Stalls reported that every possible effort is being made to bring an attractive schedule to the local golfers.

For the past three years, Coach Howard G. Porter's putters have dominated North State play and were undefeated in conference competition last year. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest college, who ranked among the top five teams in the country.

The Bues will be led by such returning veterans as Bill Stalls, one of North Carolina's most famous golfers, Mote Massey, Charlie Bill Moye and Milt Zellin.

Students To Attend Richmond Meeting Of Church Workers

Several East Carolinians will attend a workshop in Richmond, Virginia tomorrow for students and religious counselors from colleges and universities in the states along the eastern seaboard. The workshop is being sponsored by the University Christian mission, and is one of four to be held in the nation on "The Evangelization of the University."

Those who have registered and received study guides are Peggy Monroe; Eleanor Godfrey, Westminster fellowship counselor; Frances Dixon Alice Bullard; and Gloria H. Blanton, counselor, Baptist Student Union. Students and faculty interested

ALUMNI NEWS

Richmond-Anson Chapter
President John D. Messick was guest speaker in Rockingham Tuesday evening when the Richmond-Anson alumni chapter had a dinner meeting.

Richard Wilson is president of the chapter and Leon Jackson is assisting in arranging the program. Both are teachers in the Rockingham school system. The chapter was organized three years ago and is conducting at present an active program of work for the Alumni association.

Dr. Messick told of the expansion program which is taking place on the campus and also explained the budget needs of the college.

Duplin Chapter
Alumni living in Duplin county met on Tuesday evening at Lanier's Oyster Roast in Wallace for a "Dutch Supper."

Z. W. Frazelle, president, announced that the chapter had reached its membership goal of 25 and had exceeded it by three.

A project for the chapter was discussed but action was delayed until a later meeting.

Schools Charged Communistic

Two large midwest universities were charged last week by state politicians with providing a haven for Communists. They were Northwestern and Minnesota.

A columnist for the "Daily Northwestern" remarked: "I see some of our state politicians rank Northwestern as a center of Communism in Illinois. Really, gentlemen, you aren't serious?"

"Oh, there may be a Communist on campus. I never heard of one. There may even be one in the administration. But I suspect he's as rare as a Republican who relishes singing the 'Missouri Waltz' at a Chamber of Commerce banquet."

At Minnesota the heat came from State Sen. Child and was aimed mostly at Joseph Weinberg, a physics professor. Weinberg last year was identified as "Scientist X" by the Congressional Un-American Activities committee. He has been investigated by two grand juries but has never been indicted. He was accused of associating with Communists and of transmitting information to them.

Child recommended that the Board of Regents suspend Weinberg. He added that to disregard "alleged radical influences at work in the university" was no way to solve the problem of protecting our educational system.

Pirate Golf Team Has Match Booked With Ohio In March

East Carolina's only North State conference champion, the gold team led by Bill Stalls, has scheduled a match with the University of Ohio for March 28, it was announced on Wednesday.

The schedule has not been completed, but Captain Stalls reported that every possible effort is being made to bring an attractive schedule to the local golfers.

For the past three years, Coach Howard G. Porter's putters have dominated North State play and were undefeated in conference competition last year. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest college, who ranked among the top five teams in the country.

The Bucs will be led by such returning veterans as Bill Stalls, one of North Carolina's most famous golfers, Mote Massey, Charlie Bill Moyer and Milt Zellin.

fighting in Korea now because we had a definite obligation to the people of Korea to aid them if they were attacked." If the United States had not stepped into Korea when it did, the present United Nations set-up would have fallen, stated Dr. Frank.

In talking on Russian aggression, Dr. Frank pointed out that there are other danger spots which are possible attack points for the Reds. The ones which appear to be most in danger, according to Dr. Frank, was that of Japan, and the oil fields in Iran.
