Students Play In Recreation Room

East Carolina

Entertainment Series Offers Music, Drama, Dance Programs

East Carolina college will open its entertainment series for the 1951-1952 season with an appearance on the campus November 8 of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra. Five additional appearances will be presented during the school year will bring to the college some of today's outstanding artists and entertainers in music, drama and dance.

Fleming Announces Slate

The program announced by Mrs. Ellen C. Fleming, chairman of the college entertainment committee, includes the Cincinnati Symphony, November 8; the First Drama quartet, made up of Charles Boyer, Charles Langford, Agnes Moorehead and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, November 20; Frank and Ryder, young American dancers, February 18; and Eileen Farrell, dramatic soprano, March 10. A dance orchestra and a sixth entertainment, not scheduled as yet, will complete the series and will be announced.

The Cincinnati Symphony, one of the nation's finest and most popular music organizations, will appear at East Carolina under its famed director and conductor, Ther Johnson.

Quartette To Present Play

The First Drama quartette, made up of four outstanding stars of stage and screen will present Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell." Boyer will play Don Juan; Moorehead, Dona Ana, the lady abandoned; Sir Cedric, the Spaniard and Langford, the devil. The play is the witty and satiric drama from Shaw's work "Man and Superman." The performance, unusual because the artists appear without benefit of props and scenery, has been enthusiastically received by many audiences in this country.

Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder have been described as "the most gifted and engaging duo among America's junior modern dancers." Their program combines the dance

Wilson Hall Men Elect Bob Hodges Prexy At Meeting

The election of officers for the men's section of Wilson hall was held at a recent house meeting. Mr. M. L. Bray, dormitory counselor, made a brief speech, acquainting freshmen with the various rules and regulations prior to the election.

The following officers were elected: president, Bobby Hodges of Kinston; vice president, Edgar Tadlock of Winsor; house committee men, Paul Cameron and Dei Foscoe of Kinston; Charlie Batchelor of Rocky Mount; and Matt Prescott of Alliance.

President Hodges stated that, "I expect the boys to abide by the various lenient rules that have been laid down, but if any persist in intentional violation of them, I will be compelled to take stricter disciplinary action. So far we have had pleasant relationship, and I look forward to a successful year."

with the drama.

Soprano To Sing

Eileen Farrell, gifted young American dramatic soprano, has become increasingly popular since her debut in radio in 1942. Among critics and audiences alike she has won an enthusiastic response from those who admire her as a radio star, soloist with leading symphonies and concert artist.

All performances in the Entertainment Series will take place in the Wright auditorium on the campus at 8 o'clock in the evening. Tickets may be obtained by writing Mrs. Ellen C. Fleming, East Carolina college; prices are $6 for adults and $3.60 for children and high school students. College students will use their entertainment tickets for admittance.

Notice!

Tryouts for the Campus Radio program will be held next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the campus radio studio on the third floor of the Graham building, under the direction of Dr. Elizabeth Utterback.

Future Teachers Hear Educator Talk Of Germany

Conditions in Germany today and developments influencing the country's economic, political, and social life provided the theme of a talk given Thursday evening of last week by Josef Schwarz, German educator, before the East Carolina college chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

Mr. Schwarz, who recently arrived on the campus here for a two-month study of education in America, spoke informally to approximately sixty members and guests, and after his talk answered questions posed by those present. Sarah Jane Hester of Hurdle Mills, FTA president, gave a short talk of welcome, and Romerts Hall of Steadman, program chairman, introduced Mr. Schwarz.

Little sympathy with Communism exists in West Germany today, said Mr. Schwarz, who lives in the American Zone. In East Germany, however, he stated, Communist youth movements have won a strong and enthusiastic following among the younger generation.

As a divided country, Germany, he explained, has many problems caused by the concentration of industry in the west and the location of the resources of raw materials and of food supply in the east.

The difficulties caused by the entrance of some nine or ten million refugees from eastern Europe into Germany after the end of World War II have placed a heavy burden upon the German people, he said. Questioned about the rearmament of Germany, he stated that the German people are reluctant to rearm. They are war-weary, he stated, yet they fear the possibility of invasion and war.

Jones Addresses Faculty Lecture Club At Meeting

Illustrating his talk with slides in color photography, Dr. Harold C. Jones of the East Carolina college department of science spoke Monday evening, September 24, before the Faculty Lecture club of the college on "Interrelationships of Plants and Animals."

Dr. Jones' lecture stressed the idea of plant succession, and photographs illustrated how weeds, grasses and other growths stabilize the soil of barren areas and are followed by forest growth.

The series of photographs showing the influence upon plant and animal life of temperature, rainfall, altitude, and other factors were taken by Dr. Jones during the past summer on a coast-to-coast trip in the United States and into Canada.

Approximately fifty faculty members at East Carolina and their guests were present to hear Dr. Jones, who gave the first of a series of six lectures scheduled for the school year. Dr. Hubert A. Coleman, club president, introduced Dr. Jones.

Josef Schwarz, German educator now spending two months at East Carolina in the course of a study of secondary education in this country, will speak before the club in October. Mrs. Agnes Barrett, program chairman, has announced.

Chapel Services

Each Tuesday from 12 noon to 12:20 Chapel services are held in Austin auditorium. Dr. Robert Holt, director of religious activities on the East Carolina campus, is in charge of the programs. He is assisted by various students and faculty members.

College Placement Bureau Aids Grads In Securing Positions

Through its Bureau of Student Teaching and Placement, East Carolina college aided 309 of its graduates in securing positions, most of them in North Carolina public schools, during the period from September 1950 to August 1951, according to a report just issued by Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of the Bureau.

Of the total of 309 graduates, 277 accepted positions as teachers or administrative officers in schools, and 32 found employment in other types of work. The Bureau received during the time covered by Dr. Oppelt's report 1415 requests for personnel. The previous year's records, says Dr. Oppelt, indicate 996 requests and 268 placements.

Thirty Enter Service
Thirty among 392 graduates who registered with the Bureau during 1950-1951 entered military service; and ten are now doing graduate work in various colleges and universities. Forty-three registrants have not yet reported to the Bureau, says Dr. Oppelt; but it is understood that a number of these are teaching.
The 1950-1951 requests for teachers in the elementary grades num-

Legislature Allots 16 Organizations Funds For Year

The Student Government association appropriated a total of $29,690 to sixteen campus organizations at a meeting held on Wednesday night, September 19. Thornton Staples, SGA treasurer, served as chairman of the budget committee which met the night before the Legislature meeting to lay on the recommendations for the coming year.

The recommendations were presented to the Legislature members at their meeting, which had allocated to each organization the amount which they saw fit after a careful study of the requests.

There was a total of $33,000 for the use of student organizations for this year. Only 90 percent could be allocated this quarter. The remaining amount was put aside for next quarter.

Student publications and entertainment were voted the biggest percentage of the available funds. The Tecoco received $15,150 and the TECO ECHO was given $4250. Last year's Legislature voted the Entertainment committee $6300 in order that the programs could be booked early.

Educator Talks To International Relations Group

Mr. Josef Schwarz, noted educator from Heidelberg Germany was the guest speaker at the first meeting of the International Relations club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Schwarz stated in his informal address that the movement for a United Europe is one of the main hopes for future development, inspired not only by fear of the concentrated forces of Russia, but also by the fact that Europe already has a cultural unity. Many advocates of the union think it is necessary to achieve economic unity before political unity. This idea is the foundation of the Schuman Plan to pool resources of France and Germany. Although seemingly not very promising at the present, the long run prospects for a United Europe are very bright, he added.

He added, the political system of Germany is quite different from that of the United States.

Alumni To Receive Invitations To Annual Homecoming Program

Art Supervisor Has Work Shown In High Museum

James A. Walker, art supervisor for the Training school at East Carolina college and other city schools, has been honored by having his "Vol de Nuit" chosen for display in the Sixth Southeastern annual exhibition in the High museum, Atlanta, Georgia, September 30-October 14. The work, an imaginative study of cats, attracted favorable comment during the spring when it was included in the Fourteenth North Carolina Artists annual exhibition at the State Art gallery in Raleigh.

The Atlanta exhibition, one of the most important regional art shows held in this country, includes 150 works by artists in eight Southeastern states. The paintings, including both oil and water color studies, were selected by Francis Chapin and William Thon, both outstanding American artists.

Mr. Walker's "Vol de Nuit" is a water color-pen and ink. Unusual in technique, it shows in subject matter a sense of humor not often observed in gallery exhibitions.

Mr. Walker, who is from Richmond, Michigan, has been connected with East Carolina and the Greenville city schools for the past two years. During this time, he has exhibited his works in eight art shows, including the Virginia-North Carolina Artists exhibition in Norfolk, the Piedmont festival in Winston-Salem, and the National Art exhibit at Huckleberry Mountain, Hendersonville, N. C.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, West Michigan college, and Columbia university.

Bob Lee Band Adds Seven Members To Fill Vacancies

The Bob Lee band has selected seven new members to replace the graduates of last year who played in the music group. Tryouts for the positions were held early in the quarter.

The new members are: Dennis English, drums; Jimmy Alexander, baritone sax; Travis Martin, tenor sax; Bobby Williams, trumpet; Charles Armstrong and Ed Broughton, trombones; and Walter Noonan, piano.

The band will play for the dances following the home football games. Invitations to play for the various dances which will be held on the campus will probably be extended to the collegians, and the band will also play for dances at some high schools in this area.

Rollins Mims of Henderson is the manager and music director of music group. Bernard Ham will be vocalist again this year and will also front the band.

Calendar Of Events

Tuesday—Circle K meets at 5:00 p.m.
Wednesday—Phi Sigma Pi fraternity meets at 6:30 p.m.
Student Legislature meets at 7:00 p.m.
Thursday—Teacher's playhouse workshop presents "If Men Played Cards as Women Do" in Austin auditorium at 7:00 p.m.
Friday—Preparations for Homecoming continue.
Saturday—Homecoming!!!
Any club or organization on campus may list their activities on the "Calendar of Events" by filing the information with Alec Hurst, Box 652, or leave such in Dr. Clinton Prewett's office. All notices must be a week early on Monday.

The life of a student hostess always runs over with surprises. This conversation occurred over the telephone the other night:
Hostess: To whom?
Boy: May I speak to anybody?
Hostess: To whom?
Boy: Just anybody.
Hostess: I'm sorry, she isn't in. Could I take a message for her?

Cotten Hall Picks House Officers At Session Monday

Barbara Moore was elected president of Cotten hall at the house meeting held in the dorm Monday night. Margaret Suzanne Hicks was elected vice-president and Anna Frances Bunn was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Sara Peedin, president of the Woman's Judiciary presided at the meeting and carried on the elections. Miss Ruth White, dean of women, complimented the consideration and careful thought given by the girls to the election of officers.

Barbara Moore is from Raleigh and attended Hugh Morson high school. She is a transfer from Meredith college. While in high school, she held various offices in the student council. She was a cheerleader, a member of the Y-Teen club and other organizations. She is a member of the Methodist church and takes part in many of its activities. She is majoring in grammar grade education, still a little speechless, she expressed her thanks to those who supported her and pledged herself to making this a happy and successful year for Cotten hall.

Sue Hicks is a transfer from Louisville college. She calls Charlotte her home and is majoring in business education with a minor in English. She was May Queen at Louisville last year. She served on several committees and is an active member of the Methodist church.

Fran Bunn is a freshman from Whiteville. She was a member of the Beta club, president of the FHA and business manager for the school paper.

The members-at-large for Cotten hall were elected Tuesday night. They are Monteen Winstead, Jane Kanoy, Margaret Walker, Pat Dawson, Sue Williamson and Winnie Rose Harris.

Beta Kappa Group Invites Students To Join Fraternity

Five East Carolina college students have been invited to join the Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary fraternity for students of business education, according to an announcement by Shirley Pilkinton of Smithfield, president of the local organization. The students were chosen because of their excellent scholastic work at the college.

A pledge service inducting new members into Pi Omega Pi has been scheduled for October 15, and formal initiation will take place in November. Vance Lockamy of Rocky Mount, vice president of the campus chapter, will be in charge of both events.

Those invited to become members of Pi Omega Pi are Kenneth Kennedy and Herman Phelps of Greenville, Irene Lee of Four Oaks, Rachel Modlin of Ahsokie, and Paul Weeks of Whitakers.

Butler Announces Slate Of Events For Big Occasion

Invitations to Homecoming day for Alumni of East Carolina college, October 6, are being mailed to approximately 2,000 graduates of the college this week, James W. Butler, college alumni secretary, has announced. The invitations, attractively illustrated with photographs, announce a program of varied activities, including a parade, a luncheon, a dance and a football game between East Carolina and Elon.

Self Heads Decorations
Charles Self of Greensboro, president of the Student Government association of East Carolina, heads a committee in charge of campus decoration and student participation in the parade, which will be a spectacular attraction of the day. The East Carolina band, the college Air Force ROTC unit of approximately 400 cadets, the unit's Drum and Bagle corps and a series of floats entered by campus organizations will participate in the parade, which will begin at 3:30 in the afternoon. It will move along campus driveways and through downtown Greenville.

Dormitories will be colorfully decorated for the day. "Captain Teco," towering paper mache Pirate symbolic of college spirit, will be a center of attention on the campus for the second year at the Homecoming day celebration.

Pirates Play Elon
The East Carolina Pirates will meet the Elon football squad at 7:30 in the evening in a game staged on the college athletic field. The East Carolina band will be presented in a series of maneuvers between halves.

Henry C. Oglesby of Washington, D. C., will preside at a meeting of the college Alumni council at 11 in the morning in the Alumni office. Oglesby, secretary to Congressman Herbert Bonner of the First district, was elected president of the East Carolina Alumni association last spring.

A luncheon in the North Dining hall will include an address by East Carolina President John D. Messick introduction of Alumni association officers and a program of music. A dance in the Wright building, at which alumni and other visitors will be special guests, will close the day's program.

Recreation Class Sponsors Talent Night At College

The fifth annual Talent night at East Carolina, sponsored by the Community Recreation class, will be held in Austin auditorium Wednesday, October 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Prizes of $10, $7.50, $5 and $2.50 will be presented to those ranking first, second, third and fourth respectively. Competition is limited to students of East Carolina. Any student wishing to compete may get in touch with Mary Alice Fields, who is serving as program chairman. Members of the class will be canvassing the dormitories for entrants.

At a recent organizational meeting of the class Jimmy Byrd of Kinston was elected to serve as general chairman for the event. Other chairmen are: ushering chairman, Larry Respass; stage chairman, Tommy Painter; secretary and treasurer, Frances Long; and publicity chairman, Ruth Haislip.

Master of ceremonies and judges for the event will be announced later.

Science Club To Meet

The Science club of East Carolina college will have its regular monthly meeting October 2 in room F-1-2 in the Flanagan building.

At this meeting plans will be discussed for the annual Sadie Hawkins Day dance sponsored each year by the East Carolina Science club.

VERSE OF THE WEEK

A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit I put within you.
Ezek. 36:2.

BAD SITUATION PREVAILS

Sometime during Friday night or early Saturday morning the telephone on the second floor of Slay hall was torn from the wall of the booth and damaged to the extent of twenty-five dollars. The telephone company promptly and righteously removed the telephone which served the needs of approximately 140 men students on the second and third floors of the dormitory, and it was only through the efforts of Coach Dole, house advisor, that the only other public telephone in the building was permitted to remain.

This telephone, located on the east wing of the first floor, now must serve 206 men, thus resulting in much inconvenience to all concerned, particularly to the helpful and cooperative souls on the east wing who are good enough to answer the calls, and then run all over the building attempting to locate the recipients of the numerous calls.

The company wanted to remove it, but did not. They will do so if any further damage should result. This is a condition that Slay hall cannot afford. When over two hundred men are living under one roof, telephone service ceases to be a luxury; it is a necessity. The men in Slay should not permit one of their number to cause such a condition to be forced upon them.

Two hundred and five men should not be made to suffer for the misdoings of one individual. Whether the guilty party is feeble-minded and sadly lacking in moral fiber, there is no room for him in a college dormitory or on a college campus.

NO CHANGE POSSIBLE

Could it be possible to get the TECO ECHO distributed to the student body before late Friday afternoon? That was a question that came up before the editor of the East Carolina publication at last week's Student Government association meeting. The answer given was no.

The question was expected to come up. We are running on a new schedule from last year and have no Saturday classes. By the time that the newspaper is off the press on Friday afternoons, the larger part of the students have left the campus for the week end. Last year, with Saturday classes, our schedule kept the students on campus, which made it possible for each student who so desired to get a copy of the TECO ECHO.

We would like to get the paper out earlier in the day, but with the present situation is impossible. If we would try to have the paper out on Thursday, it would make us have to start gathering material on Friday. This might be all right, but the staff members go home on week ends, also. This is one reason which makes it impossible for the ECHO to get out earlier.

Another reason why we cannot have the papers ready earlier on Fridays is that the printer prints the paper on a press that one man has to be standing on hand at all times to put the paper in the press. Another person is busy folding the papers with the aid of another machine. We print nearly three thousand papers. The process takes time. The editor has to be at the print shop when the pages are being laid out. He has classes in the morning, which makes it impossible to start before noon.

We work hard to give you your paper. We would like for circumstances to make it possible for us to give it to you earlier, for we want you to have the chance to read it.

Some of you may not be able to find a copy of the ECHO in the dormitory when you arrive on campus. We leave enough papers in the dorms, but chances are that they are not there. We hope that they are not. We are printing an ECHO in the office and we will

Ye Editor's Say

by Tommie Lupton

Sophomores at Lenoir Rhyne college were overseers at the Freshmen week held on the North State campus. All freshmen students wore their "beanies" to please the upperclassmen. Fresh boys demonstrated their skill at scrubbing the sidewalks with toothbrushes, while the girls played gardener by cutting the lawns with scissors. All the fun ended with a get-together party held in order that all concerned might become acquainted with one another. We would think that even though the frosh might have felt conspicuous that they really had an enjoyable time.

Up at Appalachian State Teachers college, statistics released by their registrar reveal that their Fall quarter enrollment is 252 less than last year. The major reason contributed to the decline in enrollment was the fact that many boys have "enlisted into the armed forces. There is no ROTC unit on the campus at Appalachian. Who knows? Maybe figures will show that other colleges have shrunk in number.

Why aren't the girls allowed to stay out after 10:30 on Friday nights? This question has come up before the Student Government association at East Carolina and is being looked into by a student committee. There will be a lot of work that will have to be done in order to have the change made, if it is even possible to be made. We think of no reason why it should not be carried out, as now there are no classes on Saturday.

The TECO ECHO requested $4,254 for its budget during this year. At last week's SGA meeting the Budget committee put before the legislature the requests of the various clubs the amount that was recommended by the committee. The requests and committee allocations were discussed and voted on by the SGA members. The committee appropriated $4,250 for our operating expenses for the coming year. We think that we will be able to get along with the four dollar cut that our request received.

Plans for Homecoming day continue to progress. October 6 is the big day for alumni of East Carolina, as well as the present student body; for on that day there will be a parade, football game and other interesting activities being carried on over the campus. We especially look forward to the East Carolina-Elon football clash. The Pirates broke into the win column, last week end, and we hope that they are able to remain on the victorious side until the last game of the season has been played. Students and alumni alike are real anxious to get a look at the 1951 Pirate grid machine.

Correction!! In last week's paper there was a notice run concerning the Chapel services that are held each Tuesday in Austin auditorium. We did not mean to scare anyone away. The time is from 12 noon to 12:20. We had the program lasting 30 minutes instead of 20 minutes.

Who's Who At East Carolina

by Janice Hardison

Arthur "Pot" Johnson

Arthur Johnson has been at East Carolina since the fall of 1949, and chances are, a good many students have never known him by anything but just plain "Pot." He's the kind of guy who's informal and friendly enough so that people need not use anymore name to be recognized as his friends.

The tag "Pot" is in itself insignificant, a hand-me-down from two elder brothers of his, but to students here, it has real meaning. It could mean one of several things—for instance: first vice-president of the SGA or official "tail-twister" for the Circle K. It's the act of crammed into Arthur Johnson's stay here that has made his nickname so readily recognized.

Johnson graduated from high school in Greensboro in 1942 and went to Guilford college for two years. "I was just going to school," is the way he explains it.

Some time later he entered the army for a three year stay. Attaining the rank of Sergeant, he spent about two and a half years in Iceland, England and various countries in Europe. His connection with the engineers accounts partly for his being a math major now. By the way, he likes math because it gives him a chance to keep his classes informal—questions and answers rather than lectures.

Johnson is having an opportunity to use his teaching technique at Belvoir where he is teaching seventh grade arithmetic and unfolding the mysteries of plane geometry to a tenth grade class. "I was a little skeptical at first," he says, "but I like it."

Is he going to teach? "I don't know," he answers. "I've never known what I was going to do. Everything comes as a surprise." He has narrowed his vocation to one of two possibilities. He will become an inspector with an insurance agency in Raleigh, or teach "If I get a good offer."

At any rate East Carolina will not be left without his services for some time, for Arthur plans to remain through next summer to work on his master's degree after he receives his B. S. in February.

Last year "Pot" served on the faculty rating committee and was chairman of the Awards committee. This year he is first vice-president of SGA, chairman of the Math club's social committee and treasurer of the Phi Sigma Pi. His most unusual office is that of "tail-twister" in the Circle K. "Sometimes I don't even get a chance to finish my dinner, but everybody has a lot of fun," he says. He collects nickles from members who are ordered to pay through crack-pot motions which are made and carried. "Pot" himself has been fined for being the only man present at a meeting who was drinking hot tea. He doesn't like coffee.

Arthur is much more at home now than the first day he came to this campus. He and Charles Self came from Greensboro one day in the summer of 1949 to look the place over. Both of them in new surroundings, they asked a passer-by for directions to the administration building. The fellow pointed in some general direction, so "Pot" and Charlie walked a short distance and entered a side door. No sooner had it closed behind them than some dame screamed, and one glance revealed two more surprised lassies wearing only — it wasn't the place they were looking for. They were in Jarvis hall.

The incident didn't scare "Pot" away at all. In his own words, "The campus had great appeal. Everybody seemed eager to help you out." He came back in the fall and Arthur Johnson has been enjoying college life ever since. "Pot" and his jeep are close to tradition around the campus. "That jeep is a part of me and just about everybody else," is his statement about his favorite asset, or liability, whichever the case may be. Anyway he found time to put a brand new top on it last week.

"Pot" likes college life, especially his job in the soda shop, where he gets a chance to exchange small talk with everybody. Just a word or two and you know immediately that he's a fellow who likes people. In fact, Arthur Johnson likes living in general.

HERE AND THERE

by Tom Cox

Men Day students owe a vote of thanks to whoever (we wish we knew) is responsible for the face-lifting their room went through the end of last year. A fresh coat of paint, new carpet, soft easy chairs, lounges, smoking stands, pictures and even a radio have transformed it from a dingy ex-classroom to something more like the hotel lobby at the Waldorf.

And so the freshmen think the upperclassmen are conceited! Tah, tah. And all this time we have been wondering if it wasn't the other way around. We would have sworn that last year frosh spoke more and friendlier than this year's crop, so we are glad to be set straight on that score. If we both would come down off our high horses, and look one another in the eye with a "Hi," then maybe freshmen-upperclassmen relations would improve accordingly. We are all for more and better relations, ya know!

Team tangles with Norfolk Navy tomorrow night. More sailors to walk the plank of the Pirate ship. The press seems to have settled the North State football conference race by awarding the crown to East Carolina. Shall we play on, fellas, or just cancel the remaining games and claim the trophy?

A mass exodus from the campus is expected this week end, as it is the first week end the freshmen girls can go home, and the last week end before Homecoming day.

Remember the Pirate's Den, located in the east end of the Wright building, is open to all students on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Students play cards and dance, and there may be a bingo game on Wednesday. Why don't you check by there?

Straight From The Shoulder

"It's too much of a grind."
"It stinks."
"I like it fine—on Saturdays."
"Homework every night—Ugh!"

So was the general reaction among upperclassmen questioned about the new class schedule in effect here since school opened three weeks ago.

Maybe they've grown used to complaining for the reaction among freshmen was entirely different. Freshman John Edwards of Williamson says, "Sure, I like it. Anything is better than Saturday classes."

Ann Goss of Buchans, Newfoundland, voiced a similar opinion. "I love it. I like Saturdays free," she said, and a friend agreed wholeheartedly. By and large, freshmen like the idea of a long week-end. The old system, which the upperclassmen somewhat reluctantly parted with, made week-ends short. However, the most serious complaint now seems to be, as one junior expressed it, "There ain't enough time to get your lessons."

One guy who had really been doing some thinking made a statement which might interest a lot of females. "It's all right, if they'd let the girls stay out until 11:30 on Friday nights too." The gentleman preferred to remain anonymous.

Mac Eure, a real old-timer who's practically completed his education with classes every other day says, "It's great." — He didn't say what made it so. John Potas says, "I like it fine on week-ends." Maybe that's the point in favor of the new system, for several who objected otherwise pointed out that fact.

Hilda Moye had two words to say. "It's tops." Another senior girl responded with only a disgusted "Huh!" A couple of well-known athletes have observed that "It's definitely no good. There is absolutely not enough time to get any homework," one of them explained further.

A group of boys who were hashing the question out in the soda shop, as this interview was being conducted, had long before decided that they didn't think it worked.—With a very few exceptions they expressed the sentiment of a majority who believe that classes every other day gave them more freedom.—Those who never knew anything but this are satisfied, but there is a difference of opinion as to whether the change is progressive.

One fact stands out. Everyone asked to express opinion was either for or against it. Nobody was indifferent. The most vigorous reaction was a blunt statement—"It's not worth"—Oops. Pardon me, we can't print that.

LEGISLATURE ALLOTS BUDGETS

At last week's Student Government association meeting, the body appropriated $29,690 to sixteen East Carolina campus organizations. The Budget committee and SGA should be commended for the way that the work was carried out. The meeting was very orderly and the members gave serious thought to task that they were doing.

There was discussion about several of the requests which were cut. The Budget committee made explanations to the various campus organizations whose budget was not allocated as had been requested. The committee had just so much money to appropriate to the clubs and organizations, and they did it the fairest way that they knew how. Much thought and consideration was given to each request before the committee recommended the amount to the Legislature.

Most organizations were pleased with their appropriations, but those who were not told that they could ask for additional funds next quarter. The amount of money budgeted to the various groups was a large sum for a student organization to handle, but the Student Government association acted on the business in a very dignified manner.

ROUND THE CAMPUS

by Jean Head

We practice teachers find it easy to sympathize with teachers these days, after observing for two weeks and really beginning teaching (or maybe I should say learning) Monday; therefore fellow collegians, don't be surprised if you see "What is Civics" or "Explain the Grand Model" down in black and white. The teaching profession doesn't seem to be "too worse" however.

It seems that someone, over in Fleming, has a mania for "name plates," because a round was made recently in the wee hours of the night to confiscate them. You guilty ones may not realize the seriousness of your commitment. You know there might be some who can't remember their names — sounds far-fetched, huh? Bobby "Sweets" Hodges could not remember his football "numeral" at the pep rally last week.

And speaking of football, the boys got their revenge last week when they romped the Apprentice School. The score was really something to be proud of. The team is Virginia bound again this week end with the students wishing them the "best of luck."

To all of you new ROTC students! John "Dog" Daughtry might be persuaded to give instruction or at least demonstration on some of the drills and footwork. He was seen last week very elaborately instructing some new men!

There are so very many new faces on campus this year that we are still seeing one not seen before every day, but thought some of the "old times" might be interested in the whereabouts of some of the "old faces" that have departed from ole Alma Mata. Here are just a few that we happen to know about:

"Cutworm" Austin is teaching in Siler City; Shot Ellis and Pete Bazemore are coaching and teaching in High Point; Jim Blake is teaching in Leaksville; Patsy Grimes and Marjory Williams are in Pink Hill; Mrs. Charlie Edwards, as of last Saturday, (formerly Elda Richmond) will soon be located with the Welfare department in Tarboro; Faye Benton and Cassie Bennett are now students at Duke; Orville Floyd decided to pursue a teaching career instead of college; Roger Thrift is coaching at Murfreesboro, Johnny Smith at Gastonia and Leon Jones at Siler City; Billy Smith is working in Portsmouth. There are just a few of the graduates and even though there are a slew of new faces the old ones are not forgotten.

These first three weeks that we have been back have slipped by, but many of us are still thinking about how good it is to be back to East Carolina. "ROUND THE CAMPUS" hopes and believes that all of you "new faces" will soon learn to love and share the happiness that East Carolina has to offer you, just as us "old faces" have done.

Alex Macky's cottonmouth moccasin seemed to have caused quite a bit of confusion Sunday night. After scaring several of the boys on the second floor in Wilson hall, all doors were locked at bedtime by their occupants. Actually Alex caught the snake for Biology purposes.

All of East Carolina's football material isn't participating in varsity competition this fall. If you doubt this statement, drop by Wilson hall some afternoon. Bo Thorpe, with his large assortment of loud jerseys and slight of hand quarterback tricks, gives the "touch" game the ole gridiron look.

Teachers Playhouse Presents Repeat Performance Tuesday

A repeat performance of excerpts from "The Old Maid" was presented by a cast of seven students in Austin auditorium last night, as the weekly workshop production of the Teachers playhouse. Scenes from the first and third acts were portrayed.

Members of the cast included Carolyn Class as Charlotte, the old maid; Joan Edwards as Delia, the old maid's sister; Ralph Rives as Dr. Lansell; Percy Willis as James, Delia's husband; Clarkson White as Joseph, James' brother and Janet Waters as Mrs. Mingott. Ralph Rives directed the production. The cast with the exception of two freshmen was made up of upper-classmen. None of the original cast was included in the production.

"The Old Maid" was a successful Broadway play several years back and was made into a movie starring Bette Davis. It was selected by Burnham Mantle as one of the best plays of the 1934 and 1935 Theatre season. The plot was centered around Charlotte, the old maid and Tina, the adopted daughter. It is much like the theme of "To Each His Own."

Tryouts for "You Can't Take It With You," a three-act comedy, were held Monday and Tuesday night in the Green room. Approximately sixty students filled out cards stating their dramatic experience and expressing which phase of dramatics they wished to participate in. Later in the year these students will be called on to join in the work of their choice.

Next week's workshop play is "If Men Played Cards As Women Do" and features a cast of four men.

Methodist Students Serve 'Cheap' Supper At Center On Sundays

Are you interested in a good wholesome Sunday night supper for the small fee of 25 cents? Every Sunday around forty people take advantage of this opportunity at the Methodist Student center.

The food ranges anywhere from spaghetti to sandwiches or maybe some new concoction that the supper-fixers have originated. Then immediately after supper vespers are held.

During the week after a couple of hours of study, a cup of coffee usually helps perk up many a tired student. Or it is just an intellal conversation about the affairs of the day you want, what is more stimulating than that cup of "eight o'clock"?

SPORTS ECHO

BY LLOYD WHITFIELD

One week from tomorrow this campus will be one big mass of beauty. Spirits will be high, the dorms will be gayly decorated, the beauty queens will be dolled out in their best evening gowns and Captain Teco will once again reign over the campus.

Yet that long-awaited football opener with Elon college has arrived and reports have it that the 1951 homecoming will be the biggest and most colorful ever staged at East Carolina. Pirates are to be given for the best decorated dormitory and for the best decorated float. Along with these colorful things there will be the hot rods with their usual rolls of crepe paper flying out behind.

PIRATES MEET NORFOLK NAVY TOMORROW NIGHT

The cheerleaders will be ready to go with some brand-spanking new yells, pom-poms, co-ordination and plenty of spirit. Incidentally, we have had several reports from Newport News that our cheerleaders were superb in their performance last Saturday night when the Pirates so unmercifully defeated the Naval Apprentice school. They were there in fine style and with the support of the small gathering of East Carolina fans, they really carried the North State yells deep into the minds of the Cavaliers.

It is obvious that the student body is ready for the contest. They have been waiting for three weeks to gain an opportunity to yell the rest off their vocal cords and see some of the best college football.

CHEERLEADERS READY TO GO

Meanwhile, the Pirates have a game on their hands tomorrow night up in Norfolk, Virginia, where they lock horns with the Naval Air station. Scouting reports are that the Flyers are much stronger than the Naval Apprentice. They have a bigger club and a little more know-how. Last weekend they tangled with a conference brother, and were walloped 37-7.

The Buccaneers' running attack is stronger this year than it has been since we have been around. Thanks to Illard Yarborough and Mike Kovach the Pirates running attack may prove to be their strongest scoring weapon.

GUILFORD HAS NEW COACH

Guilford has a new coach who comes from a neighboring city, Williamston, Stuart Maynard, who coached Williamston high school to the 1950 state A title is beginning his first year at the Quaker college and found the going a little rough last Saturday when Hamden Sydney hurled a 21-0 loss at the North State conference members.

Appalachian also has a new coach, Preston Mull, who seems to be doing all right with the Mountaineers. He has them way out front in the conference with two wins and no losses. Could be that the Apps are on their way to their second straight title. After all, they still have Jack Groce wandering around the gridiron and he is enough for a winner. Groce is the lad who led the North State scorers last year.

LENOIR RHYNE BEATS DAVIDSON

There is trouble ahead in the Lenoir Rhyne team, and double for the Pirates when the Bears invade the local stadium, October 27. A hustling Lenoir Rhyne team came up and pulled one of the biggest upsets of the week when they beat the tar out of Davidson, completely humiliating the Southern conference. The final score found the Bears out front 21 to 7 and it marked the first time Lenoir Rhyne had beaten Davidson on the gridiron. The Robinson twins are the boys to watch on the Bruin's club. They were tops in the contest with the Wildcats.

ELON LOSES SIGNAL CALLER

In registering a 37-7 victory over Norfolk Navy last week, Elon college lost the services of signal caller, Ernie Gero, who suffered a broken ankle. Also on the Christian's injury list are tailbacks, R. K. Grayson and Lou Rochelli and fullback, Fred Blangrath.

The Pirate's 40-0 licking from Mississippi Southern a couple of weeks back does not look so bad when you consider that the Southerners held LSU to a 13-0 victory last weekend.

New bleachers have been added to the north side of the football field and turf is beautiful. Now lets get a few more ticket rates open and everything will be fine.

Apprentice School Stopped By East Carolina Squad, 32-6

Yarborough Gains 114 Yards Rushing As Bucs Register First Victory

by Jack Scott

The brilliant running of Illard Yarborough and Mike Kovach carried the East Carolina college Pirates to a 32-6 victory over the Newport News Apprentice school last Friday night at Apprentice stadium in Newport News. Yarborough gained 114 yards while Kovach picked up 84 yards for a combined total of 198 yards, or more than three-fourths of the total ground gained rushing. The Pirates lost little time in showing their superiority when after only 1:18 of the first quarter, Yarborough broke loose for 49 yards and the first Pirate touchdown of the season. Hawk Grissom's extra point kick was good and the Pirates led 7-0 with the game only three plays old.

After the first touchdown, the teams took turns at trying to hit pay dirt until late in the second quarter. The Pirates got a drive started then when a poor kick put the ball on the Shipbuilders 30 in possession of the Pirates. John Daughy started the drive by carrying across right tackle for seven yards. Jack Britt carried to the 24 for a first down and then Daughy moved to the 22. Yarborough moved the ball to the Shipbuilders 20 before Sandy Siler pitched out to Daughy who carried to the 5 yard line. Halfback Jack Benzie carried over for the TD in two plays. Grissom's conversion attempt was blocked and the Pirates left the field leading 13-0 at half-time.

The Shipbuilders got a drive of their own started after taking the second-half kick-off, but were finally forced to punt and the Pirates gained possession on their own 30 yard line. Yarborough and Kovach then teamed up to carry the ball down to the Shipbuilders 3 yard line. Benzie capped the drive with a thrust over tackle for the TD. Grissom's attempt for the extra point was again blocked and the Pirate led 19-0 after six minutes of the third quarter.

Thirty seconds later, the Pirates had their fourth touchdown of the night. The Shipbuilders returned King's kick-off to their own 41. On the next play, Lincoln attempted to pass but was smothered on the 24 yard line and his fumble was recovered by the Pirates. Siler then passed to Britt in the end zone for the touchdown. For the third straight time, Grissom's attempt for the extra point was blocked, and the Pirates led 25-0.

The Apprentice school broke into the scoring column following King's kick-off. From the 35, Lincoln carried to the EC 33 for a first down. With the aid of two Pirate penalties, the Shipbuilders moved the ball to the EC 5 yard line. Lincoln then passed to Collins for the TD. Seward's attempt for the extra point was no good and the Pirates led 25-6.

For the next few minutes, the teams alternated in moving the ball, but the Pirates broke loose again late in the fourth period. Grissom returned one of Lincoln's punts to the Apprentice 40 and the final march was on. Paul Gay and a Siler-Dwight Shoe pass moved the ball to the Apprentice 13. On the next play, Siler tossed to Hodges for the TD. Grissom's kick was good and the game ended with the score 32-6.

There was a Scotsman who rode in a cab with his girl. She was so beautiful, he could hardly keep his eyes on the meter.

Apps Take Lead In North State Conference Race

Appalachian's Mountaineers, sporting a new coach and several new football players, seem well on their way to their third successive North State conference title as they have two victories behind them for an undisputed lead in the league.

However, Coach Preston Mull's charges get their first real test this week end when they meet Elon's Fighting Christians. A year ago when the two clubs met, the Mountaineers had an unblemished conference record, but the Elon eleven managed to hold the defending conference champions to a tie. The two clubs meet Saturday night in Burlington for the week's only loop battle.

Appalachian's two victories have come over Guilford and its arch rival, Western Carolina. No other conference clubs have seen family action.

Lenoir Rhyne, the club that East Carolina trounced last year 27-19, took on a Southern conference club last week and walloped the Davidson Wildcats 21-7. The Bears meet Newberry at Hickory Saturday night and open league play the following week.

Catawba beat Newberry Monday night and takes on its usual Saturday night engagement against Erskine. The game with Newberry was originally scheduled for Saturday but was rained out.

Guilford, another school with a new coach, Stuart Maynard, suffered a 21-0 loss to Hampden-Sydney. Guilford's shortage of manpower hindered them considerably in the non-conference defeat.

The locals got back into the victory column by winning over the Newport News Apprentice school, 32-6. The Pirates take on the Norfolk Air station tomorrow night in Norfolk.

Notice!

(Editors note: East Carolina's head grid coach, Bill Dole, has written the following as an open letter to the students of this college and requests that each student take it upon himself to improve our hospitality.)

Dear Students,
Soon we shall have as our guests on the campus four North State college football teams. Our home season opens with a gala Homecoming against Elon, and after will follow Guilford, Lenoir Rhyne and Appalachian.

We should endeavor, from the time our guests arrive until they leave, to treat them with courtesy and to make their stay with us as enjoyable as possible.

Remember that one's actions not only reflect one's background and personality, but also casts light on one's school. Let us resolve, therefore, that in defeat, should it come, we congratulate our opponent and give them credit for their win; and in victory, we be even more generous, modest and considerate. Let each of us at all times adhere to the highest ideals of sportsmanship and continue building a greater, EAST CAROLINA.

Very truly yours,
Coach Dole.

Bucs Meet Norfolk Naval Eleven Saturday In Non-Conference Test

Buc Frosh See Action

Here are East Carolina's two leading freshmen ends, Larry Rhodes from High Point and Claude King from Wilmington. King also backs up the line and aids in the kicking duties, while Rhodes has seen action at the tackle slot on defense.

Locals Seek Second Successive Victory Against NAS Flyers

East Carolina's Pirates will combine a strong passing attack with a highly publicized running attack in Norfolk tomorrow night as they take on the Norfolk Air station in search of their second victory in three outings.

The Bucs will have an improved running attack with Illard Yarborough starting at the halfback position. Aiding Yarborough will be John Daughy and Mike Kovach, two hard-charging fullbacks with the stamina of a bull. The Pirate ground attack is stronger than it has been in a couple of years and may prove to be Dole's most potent scoring weapon.

Sandy Siler will be in the quarter back slot against the Flyers. He will have as targets two top-notch ends, Dwight Ehoe, a serious threat for All-conference honors, and Bobby Hodges, a 228-pound giant from Kingston. Siler will have as his understudy, Lyn Grissom who will also see action at the defensive safety position.

The Buccaneers will probably be in paramount physical strength for the game. Coach Dole has worked his charges hard all week in an attempt to get them in good shape before the North State campaign opens one week hence when the locals entertain Elon college in a homecoming battle. The Norfolk team was badly beaten by Elon last weekend 37-7 in a contest that saw the Christians lose three of their top men. The Flyers are reported to be big and tough, and capable of playing a much better game than they did against Elon.

Coach Dole and his traveling squad of 33 players will leave the East Carolina campus tonight by chartered bus and are expected to arrive in Norfolk, Virginia in approximately three hours.

Athlete Of The Week

Mike Kovach

We take great pride this week in singling out a ball player that played himself a "man's ball game" at Newport News Apprentice school last Friday night by spearheading the Pirates offensive attack, and carrying the brunt at fullback throughout the sixty minute grid battle, with his never-ending drives and persistent ground gaining.

This lad goes by the name of Mike Kovach, a bruising 185 pound fullback who is a senior at East Carolina. Mike starred at halfback in his home town high school in North Tarrytown, New York, and continued at the halfback spot at East Carolina for three years before being switched to the fullback position this year.

Mike is an easy going, soft spoken fellow with ice water for blood. Honestly, you couldn't excite this boy if you tied him to a railroad track with locomotives roaring from both directions. Kovach is well liked by his associates and carries a warm smile with him wherever he goes.

It looks as if Mike is coming into his own this season at fullback if he continues to play the brand of ball that he played last Friday night, showing a lot of aggressiveness and sheer power in "toting that pigskin."

Kovach is a senior this year at East Carolina and a young one at that. This young lad is getting off to an early start in life and probably will receive his B.S. degree and commission in the ROTC as early as anyone in the history of the school. With Mike's football spirit and the will to "go," it is quite obvious that he is sailing for a fine and final year at East Carolina. So until others words of praise come our way, here's to you Mike Kovach, and keep up the excellent work and wondrous way with the world.

Campus Radio Staff To Begin Broadcasting In Near Future

The Campus Radio staff will begin broadcasting programs in the near future. The general staff will be composed of Mrs. George Perry, director; Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, director of speech and drama; Dr. Robert Holt, technical adviser. The position of student assistant is still open.

The purpose of the Campus Radio programs is to reflect activities of the college to the citizens of Greenville, as well as to furnish a realm of experience for those students who are interested in studying for radio.

This year it is hoped that the social studies department, the music department, the home economics department, the health and physical education department and the Bernard Ham show will comprise the weekly programs. A dramatics program for adults is also planned. Mrs. Perry has indicated that, perhaps, other departments will sponsor a program on Campus Radio, thus giving a greater variety of interests.

Tryouts for the announcing staff will be held next Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Campus Radio studio on the third floor of the Graham building under the direction of Dr. Utterback. Everyone who is interested in radio work is eligible to try out.

Music Prof To Direct Workshop In Dancing For Duplin Teachers

Beatrice Chauncey, faculty member of the department of music at East Carolina college and supervising teacher of music in Greenville elementary schools, will direct during the next two weeks a workshop in folk dancing and rhythms for teachers in Duplin county elementary schools. Meetings will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Kenansville. Approximately 65 teachers will attend.

Greene County teachers, meeting at Snow Hill, Monday and Tuesday, September 17-18, held a workshop under Miss Chauncey's direction at which newly adopted music texts for North Carolina elementary schools were discussed.

Commerce Group Makes Plans For Year's Work

Plans were made for the coming year by the Commerce club of East Carolina college as the first meeting of the year was held Tuesday night in Flanagan auditorium.

The group also discussed plans for Homecoming. A program will be given by the Commerce organization at each meeting.

Wesley Players Read First Play Wednesday Night

"He Came Seeing," the first in a series of parlor plays, was read by member of Alpha Zeta chapter of the Wesley players at a meeting held Wednesday night at the Methodist Student center. Those participating in the reading were Ernest Sylvant, Donald Roebuck, Marian Chesson, Hazel Burke, Betty Tobgood, and Clark White.

Alpha Zeta is affiliated with the National Society of Wesley players, an organization devoted to the creation and production of religious drama. The Alpha Zeta chapter is under the sponsorship of Mamie Chandler, director of the Wesley foundation on the East Carolina campus.

Officers of the group are president, Ethel Parks; vice-president, Elaine Smith; secretary, Hazel Burke; treasurer, Mattie Hubert, and footlight reporter, Catherine Coston.

Membership is open to all students interested in religious drama. In order to become a member a student must go through a period of pledge-ship during which he either does full-time work in one major production, does full-time work in two one-act plays or participates in two half-hour radio programs or four fifteen minute radio programs.

ACE Club Is Handling Chrysanthemum Sale During Homecoming

"They are bigger and better this year than ever before," stated Ethel Parks, chairman of the committee for the selling and distribution of chrysanthemums for the Association for Childhood Education. Orders for the flowers to be worn Homecoming week-end will be taken in the post office lobby and in the dormitories.

To insure the ACE against unclaimed orders a deposit of fifty cents will be required upon ordering. When the flowers arrive, they may be obtained from the John Dewey Reading room in the Graham building on October 6. The total cost for the chrysanthemums will be one dollar each.

YWCA Holds Open House After Vesper Service Thursday

The YWCA will hold open house after Vesper services each Thursday night, according to Margie Smith, president. The first social, complete with punch and group singing, was held last night in the "Y" hut.

Meeting on Tuesday of this week, the "Y" cabinet passed a resolution to have all members of YWCA meet once a month in order to give them an active part in the business affairs of the organization. The cabinet also decided to have a joint Dutch supper on each third Thursday with the YMCA.

The YWCA holds its cabinet meetings on each first, third and fourth Tuesday nights in the "Y" reading room in the basement of Austin building.

Pleasant Garden Club Tours College Library

The Pleasant Garden high school Library club were visitors on the East Carolina campus last Sunday as they were given a guided tour through the college library by Mr. W. W. Smiley, librarian.

Composed of 14 high school students, the Guilford county group, mostly seniors, heard Mr. Smiley explain the "workings" of the East Carolina library.

The Library club is under the direction of Mrs. S. H. Hockett. Pleasant Garden high school librarian, who accompanied the organization on a week-end of relaxation and study at Island View Shores on the Pamlico river. The week end ended with the tour through the library.

The student members of the Library club making the visit were: Libby Hunt, president, J. D. Tilley, Mary Nesbit, Sara Frances Fields, and Ma May.

Moongeen Cochman, Peggy Crymes, Hadley Hunt, Bobby Newman, "Butch" Culbreth, Mary Lou Satterfield, Bill Nesbit, Ronald Teachy and Ma May.
