Home Economics Department Organizes Student Honor Club

Top Students Selected At Candlelight Meet In Flanagan Building

The home economics department at East Carolina college has organized an honor society, Phi Omicron, for students in the department who have outstanding scholastic records. Nine graduates and seniors of the present school year and six juniors have been chosen as its first members.

In an initiation ceremony held in the Flanagan auditorium Tuesday evening, April 8, the fifteen honor students were initiated. At the same time, all seniors in the department were initiated as members of the North Carolina Home Economics association. Dr. Bessie McNeil, director of the college home economics department, and Mrs. Eugenia Van Landingham of Tarboro, president of the state association, conducted the initiation ceremonies.

New members of Phi Omicron and of the two professional organizations, faculty members of the home economics department, and other guests were entertained after the ceremony at a reception given by students living in the Home Management house on the campus.

Those chosen as Phi Omicron's first members are: graduates of the fall and winter quarters this year—Lois Johnson, South Mills, now a teacher at Bath, and Frances Edwards Warren, Pendleton, now a teacher at Woodland; seniors—Iris Aldridge, Kingston; Frances Barnes, Kenil; Gail Hines Britt, Faison; Dorothy Fitzgerald, Selma; Elizabeth Hedgepeth, Warrenton; Anne Messamer, Whitakers; Edith Rogers, Williams; juniors—Jeanette Bateman, Draper; Grace Giles, Linden; Ruth Haislip, Oak City; Aleash High, Roanoke Rapids; Hilda Lee, Pink Hill; and Phyllis Randolph, Hickory, Va.

Officers of the new honor society are Miss Rogers, president; Miss Randolph, vice president; Miss Haislip, secretary-treasurer; and Ruth Lambie, faculty advisor.

Invitations Sent For Coming Dance Of Upperclassmen

Invitations to the annual Junior-Senior dance, which is to take place in the Wright auditorium Saturday, April 19, have been mailed to the Senior class, Publicity Chairman "Sig" Haire announced today.

Lasting from 8:30 until 11:45, and carrying out a "Stardust" theme, the Junior-Senior dance this year will feature music by Bob Lee and his orchestra, and intermission entertainment by talented members of the student body.

No admission will be charged to the semi-formal dance, which is to be held for juniors, seniors and their guests.

Present plans indicate that the annual affair, the first post-holiday major event scheduled, will be one of the most complete and enjoyable dances of the season, according to Haire.

Dance committee and chairmen announced this week by Junior class President Jerry Sanford are: invitations, Verona Sparrow; decorations, Frank Madigan and "Cotton" Klutz; publicity, Haire; and refreshments, Dorothy Bradshaw and Russel Jarret.

ACE Appoints Fristoe As Coming President

In a recent election John Fristoe was elected president of the Association for Childhood Education for the coming year. He is the first man ever to hold this office in the organization.

Other newly elected officers include: Vivian Mercer, first vice president; Rebecca Pate, second vice president; Alice Roberson, third vice president; Pat Co-bett, corresponding secretary; Elaine Smith, secretary-treasurer; Janice Meekins, Mitzi Watson and Theresa McNabb, publicity reporters; Anne Dunn, publications; Janet Kirkland, reporter; and Madeline Weaver, historian.

These new officers of the ACE were installed April 8 at the final meeting of the club for the year. Following the installation ceremony the group was entertained at a social hour in the Training school cafeteria.

Personnel Agent Speaks To Group At Coming Meet

Charles T. McNary of Greensboro, personnel director for Blue Bell, Inc., producer of work clothes for men and boys, has accepted an invitation to speak at East Carolina college on the occasion of the annual business education conference at the college.

The meeting is sponsored each spring by the college Commerce club and the Beta Kappa chapter of the national honorary business education fraternity Pi Omega Pi, student organizations. The conference has been scheduled this year for Tuesday, April 22, in the Flanagan auditorium. Mr. McNary will be principal speaker on a program which will focus attention on various problems of business and of business education in the schools.

Mr. McNary is responsible for the personnel and public relations program of the Blue Bell company's 23 plants, located in seven states. He has had many years of experience in the social service and industrial fields, having served as general secretary of the YMCA; USO industrial relations director; and a director of job relations training for the War Manpower commission, Training Within Industry division. He is secretary of the Society for Advancement of Management, Greensboro area chapter.

Notice!

Pre-registration for the summer and fall sessions at East Carolina will be held during the week of April 21, according to an announcement by Dr. Leo Jenkins, dean of the college. Students with a two average will be permitted to carry a total of 20 hours during the two summer sessions, while those with an average under a two will be permitted to carry on seven and one-half hours credit each session. Students who plan to carry more than the regular load are requested to make arrangements now.

Local Band Plays In Two Concerts At High Schools

East Carolina's Concert band will be featured in two concerts April 17, one at Tarboro high school and the other at Williamston high school.

Featured on the program, which will be the same at both schools, will be: "Atlantic Zephyrs" with a trombone solo by Charles Armstrong; "Three Trumpeters," a trumpet trio played by Rollins Mims, Clyde Straughan and Bill Hobbs; and a group of small ensembles including the clarinet quartet and the brass sextet.

Wednesday, April 23, the band will take part in the Farmers' Day parade in Farmville.

Herbert Carter, band director, said that the band has been extended many invitations to give concerts off the campus. Other band activities this year has included the annual spring concert, informal lawn concerts and the band picnic.

Betty Poole To Lead English Club Next Year

Betty Poole of Durham was chosen president of the English club in the election which was completed at the meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers for the coming year are: Vernie Wilder, Nashville, vice president; Imogene Jennette, Mount Olive, secretary; Nancy Kesler, Fuquay Springs, treasurer; Ann Fequay Springs, Burghaw, Tecumseh reporter; Jane Simmons, Bessemer City, TECO ECHO reporter; Elsie Howard, St. Pauls, and Nell Grantham, Fairmont, were appointed co-chairmen of the social committee.

Dr. Lucile Turner spoke on her trip to Cleveland, Ohio, where she attended the conference on Composition and Communications. The meeting was concluded with a short social hour.

Patricia Moore Heads Marshals For 1952-53 Year

Patricia Ann Moore of Turkey will serve as chief marshal at East Carolina college for the school year 1952-1953. She replaces Janet Tyson of Stantonsburg, and with fifteen other marshals will begin her duties this week.

Miss Moore will head a group of sixteen women students chosen by their fellow students for their positions as marshals. During the school year they will act as ushers at all large gatherings and participate in events of commencement this May. While on duty, they wear white dresses and regalia of purple and gold, the college colors.

In addition to Miss Moore, the college marshals for the coming school year are: Lynnette Murphy, Rose Hill; Mary Lee Jones, Warsaw; Peggy Joyce Grice, Calypso; Christine and Pauline Blalock, Timberlake; Audrey Beaman, Dudley; Betty Ray Outlaw, Elizabeth City; Faye Farmer, Carolina Beach; Evelyn Davis, Warsaw; Anne DuRant, Wilmington; Betty Hendrix, Greensboro; Peggy Barrow, Greenville; Jane Eason, Stantonsburg; Jane Bond, Windsor; and Seleta Tucker, Farmville.

Reports Feature Final Club Meet Of Home Ec Group

Reports of standing committees, initiation of seniors into the American Home Economics association, and the North Carolina Home Economics association and initiation of 15 seniors and juniors into Phi Omicron were features of the final meeting of the East Carolina Home Economics club for 1951-52.

Following a short business session over which Emily Faircloth, newly elected president of the club, presided, Miss Ruth Lambie, advisor for the newly organized Phi Omicron, presented 15 girls to Dr. Bessie McNeil for initiation into the honorary organization. Miss Lambie explained the symbolism of the flowers and ribbons used for the occasion. Dr. McNeil explained the purposes of the organization and presented each girl with the flowers.

Present at the meeting was Mrs. Eugenia van Landingham of Tarboro, past president of the NCHEA. She gave a short history of the AHEA and NCHEA and explained their meanings, objects and advantages. She also explained the meaning of the Betty Lamp, which is the club symbol. Each senior received a miniature Betty Lamp and lighted it from the Betty Lamp on the table.

Following the initiation the girls living in the Home Management house entertained at a reception for the graduating seniors, the members of Phi Omicron, members of the Home Economics staff and guests.

Approximately Three Thousand Seniors Visit Campus For Annual High School Day Program

East Carolina college celebrated Friday, April 4, its Tenth Annual High School day by offering a varied program of recreational and educational events to approximately 3,000 public school seniors visiting the campus.

Forty-nine counties of the Eastern and piedmont sections of the state were represented on the campus, and students from a total of 135 schools attended. Pitt county, with 287 seniors and Greenville, with 48, in attendance had the largest delegations present. Beaufort county followed Pitt in numbers by sending 226 seniors to the campus for the day.

A group from East Spencer in Rowan county traveled farthest to be present for High School day, a distance of more than 200 miles. Five seniors from Ocracoke left home Thursday at 7 a. m., arrived in Greenville that evening, and were the first to register Friday morning.

Groups Visit Departments
The day's program began with visits to departments of instruction, where exhibits of student work and departmental activities were on display. Members of county clubs at the college conducted groups of

May Queen Comes From This Group

Cotten Hall Residents Stage Tea For Professors, Students

Students living in Cotten hall, dormitory for women at East Carolina college, entertained students and staff members at the college at a tea Sunday afternoon, April 6.

The popular song "Younger Than Springtime" was used as a theme for the tea, and both decorations and a program carried out by the hostesses developed the idea of spring and youth.

Orchid and yellow predominated in the colorful and attractive floral arrangements in the dormitory reception rooms.

Dean of Women Ruth White and Barbara Moore of Raleigh, president of Cotten hall, headed the receiving line during the afternoon. Others who welcomed guests on their arrival were Miss Edith Zinn, assistant dean of women; Mrs. Helen Snyder, dormitory counselor; and the following dormitory officers: Suzanne Hicks, Charlotte, vice president; Frances Bunn, Whiteville, secretary-treasurer; and Winnie Rose Harris, Washington; Betty Sue Williamson, Southport; Monteen Winstead, Tabor City; Jane Kano, Thomasville; Patricia Dawson, Belhaven; and Clara Harris, Elizabeth City, members-at-large of the Student Government association.

As a special attraction of the afternoon a program of music and a skit were presented. Soloists were Patsy Pappendick of Elizabeth City, Jacqueline Waldron of Statesville and Ruth Little of Winterville. Carolyn Willis of Marshallberg was accompanist. Fifteen students took part in the skit, "Younger Than Springtime."

Cast Presents Musical For Lejeune Marines

"Good News," a campus production of the Broadway musical comedy, will be presented at the base theatre at Camp Lejeune April 20.

Approximately 100 members of the cast, chorus, orchestra, dancers and varsity Glee club will make the trip by bus. They will be guests of the base for dinner before the performance.

Some of the specialty numbers will be presented at the base hospital in the afternoon. Arrangements have been made by Colonel Richard D. Strickler and Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, director of the show. "Good News" is sponsored by the East Carolina Student Government association.

Let's Donate Blood!

Approximately 58 Air Force ROTC cadets have volunteered to give a pint of blood Friday, April 17, when the Bloodmobile is on the East Carolina campus. College officials state that nearly 100 more volunteers are needed if the college is to meet its quota.

Of all blood collected on the campus, 50 per cent will go to the Korean battle grounds and 50 per cent will remain in the Pitt county blood bank. The process of donating blood is said to be a painless process, for the arm is deadened. Some colleges in the United States have had several thousand pints donated by the student body and faculty.

Any student who has donated blood can obtain blood at any time needed in any place in the United States, and the Pitt county blood bank will repay the amount used.

Baptist Students Leave For Study With Youth Group

Spring retreat for BSU Council officers in North Carolina will be held April 25-27 at High Point when approximately thirty colleges in the state will be represented at this gathering which is for the inspiration and training of newly elected council members.

East Carolina's Baptist Student union will have charge of one of the demonstration worship programs. Ramona Outlaw, devotional vice-president of the local BSU, is making plans for this service.

A retreat social will be featured Saturday night and will be directed by the Wake Forest BSU and the new social vice presidents who are present, and this will also be a demonstration from which new ideas for socials can be learned.

Elsie Howard, retiring chairman of the North Carolina BSU, will be East Carolina's representative on the nominating committee which will present a slate of officers for the coming year.

Clinic periods will be held during the retreat.

Cause duties and opportunities for officers. Miss Howard, counselor of the BSU, will lead one of the sessions during the retreat. During the retreat, the students will be engaged in various activities, including a picnic, a dance, and a tea. The retreat is a time for the students to relax and enjoy each other's company while also participating in various activities that will help them to grow as individuals and as a group.

Dances Feature Springtime Theme Of Festive Event

"Magic In The Studio" is the theme of the 1952 May Day festival which will be presented on the campus Thursday, May 1, in the college stadium as East Carolina's salute to the month of May. Plans for the festival are well under way and it should prove a day of bright colors, gay dances, and lively musical entertainment for the audience, states Mrs. W. E. Dole of the health and director of the pageant.

The program, "Magic In The Studio," deals with an artist doing a hard days work with his paints and brushes. After tiring of his work, he pallet and pictures become alive and begin strange and fascinating dances.

Principals In Cast

The artist will be played by Bill Goodson, while Garland Jackson and Thomas Owen will portray his paint brushes. The pastel colors from the artist's pallet will be represented by Jackie Cash, Shirley Clark, Nellie Gardner, Ann Goss, Kay Johnson, Elizabeth Riddle, Jo Ann Smith, Julia Spears, Lottie Stephens, Glenna Clark, Pat White and Lib Williams.

Other selections for the festival will be "The Boy and the Donkey." Joan Britt will play the little boy, and the donkey will be portrayed by Ann Shoe and Wayne Shoe. Garland Jackson will act as the father. The teacher and her students will respectively be Virginia Warren, Betty Talley and Mammie Wooten, with Al Wafford and Robert Schwalenberg as the two merchants. The last of the cast will be the two gossips played by Laura Ann Kirven and Lou Moore. Ralph Rives is the narrator.

The other selection is entitled "The Irish Wash Woman." Janice Hardison will represent the hard working wash woman, and her twins will be played by Carolyn Burnette and Clark White. Stallings Directs Dance

Miss Nell Stallings of the health and physical education department will direct a folk dance group in "Dancing Czardas." A form of ballet will be rendered by Peggy Bowen, student of Marie's School of the Dance.

The May Court has selected escorts who will be dressed in white dinner jackets and black bow ties. They are as follows:

Seniors: Barbara Williamson, courted by Frank Macdonald; Tillet-Jack Britt; Mildred Cole; Hilda Grace Moye; and Jeanette Tillet.

Fenner Boyd; Lib Hedges; Daley; Rusty Edmundson; Delton Perry; and Hilda Grace Moye.

Charles Satterwhite; Junior: Peggy Bowen; Christine Burnette; and Clark White. (See MAY 1)

SPORTS ECHO

BY LLOYD WHITFIELD

Since Bill Dole, former head grid coach at East Carolina submitted his resignation two weeks ago, a great deal of local speculation has been taking place on the campus as to just who Dole's successor would be and how long it would be before a successor is named. Immediately the finger goes to Jack Boone, baseball coach and a member of Dole's coaching staff in football. College officials say that they are going to take their time on the matter and appoint a capable and well-liked figure. Rumors have it that several successful high school coaches in this area and one from Virginia have applied for the position. Some reports have it that Bill Crutchfield former coach at Atlantic Christian college has applied, but his readiness does not seem plausible for Crutchfield is working in Indiana at the present time and could not have heard about Dole's resignation until the latter part of last week. Another source says that Bill Merner, an East Carolina graduate and present coach at Hopewell, Virginia desires the job. Merner has turned out some of the South's best high school grid teams in the past few years and would certainly be well qualified for the job. Jim Diggers, coach at Fayetteville has also been mentioned as being interested in the job.

No Proof To Offer

All of the aforementioned men are capable candidates for the coaching position, but whether they even said anything about the job or not, we cannot offer positive proof.

It appears from this corner that a logical decision would be to immediately give the job to Jack Boone if he is interested and secure an able assistant to help him carry out the duties. If such a decision is made, a line coach should be selected and one that is a top-notch line trainer. Such a move, we believe, would be a wise one and it certainly would carry the stamp of approval from the student body and be the general consensus of the football team.

If a newcomer to the scenes is named, it appears that the decision should be made as quickly as possible, for he definitely would want two or three weeks work with the boys before the current school year ends. If Boone is chosen it is possible that he would keep the system employed by Dole and the one with which the team is familiar. This means that a rebuilding program would not necessarily have to take place.

One thing that has come to our attention in the past few weeks and has been of great concern to the student body is the unreleased 1952 football schedule. It appears that the Pirates are in line for only two home North State battles for next season, which are possibly Catawba and Lenoir Rhyne. Games would be played away with Appalachian, West Carolina, Elon and Guilford. That is the way things look at present and the student body seems to be deeply concerned over what ball clubs would be contacted to fill out the schedule. No matter who they are we should be entitled to at least four or five home contests, for the past season saw only four home battles and caused the interest to wane considerably.

Baseball Squad Doing Fine

The recent success of Coach Boone's baseball team has brought a big round of praise from North State followers. The Pirates have a veteran ball club this year in spots with some top-notch freshmen filling in the positions left vacant, and are now offering Elon some serious contention for the loop crown, which the Christians have worn for three consecutive seasons. Currently the Bucs are out front in the loop, winning six and losing one to Elon. That loss was avenged last Friday, however, as Jimmy Byrd tossed a six hitter in the visitors faces and shoved the locals on top of the eastern division in the loop standings.

Buc Tennis Team Takes Third Win Beating Elon 7-2

The East Carolina tennis team romped to their third victory in four outings by downing the net representatives of Elon by a score of 7-2 here Tuesday. The visitors could capture only one singles and one doubles match in dropping the contest. Tingley, Elon ace, downed Paul Cameron in the opening match, 8-6 and 6-4, and then combined with teammate Blackstone to defeat Cameron and Joe Hallow by a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Summary:

Singles

Tingley (E) defeated Cameron, 8-6, 6-4.
Hallow (ECC) defeated Howell, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Richardson (ECC) defeated Blackstone, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Stroud (ECC) defeated Peters, 6-0, 11-9.

Bruton (ECC) defeated Johnson, 6-3, 6-3.

Doubles

Stroud and Bruton (ECC) defeated Howell and Johnson, 6-3, 8-6.

Richardson and Moberly (ECC) defeated Painter and Peters, 6-2, 6-3.

East Carolina Defeats Elon Nine 8-3 To Take Lead In NS Conference

Jimmy Byrd and the East Carolina Pirates handed the Elon Christians their first loss in North State conference baseball play on the local diamond by the score of 8-3 here Friday.

The game, played before a crowd swelled by an annual High School day crowd, came to a climax with a five run Pirate outburst in the sixth inning. Byrd, stellar sophomore, throttled the visitors with six scattered hits. He also struck out seven and chipped in with a run scoring single.

Elon opened the scoring by tallying once in the first and again in the second. The Pirates came back for one in the fourth and took the lead by playing two more in the fifth.

The longest hit of the game was Gaither Cline's inside of the park homer that brought in the first Pirate run. Major Hooper was the only player on either club to garner more than one hit. His two for three topped both teams.

Locals Win Fifth Straight In 13-2 Guilford Triumph

Guilford's Quakers were the victors as the East Carolina Pirates captured their fifth North State conference win by the score of 13-2 in a game played Tuesday on the local diamond.

Rodney Heath gained credit for the win, but was relieved by Rose. Guilford jumped into a short lived lead by scoring in the opening frame. The locals took the lead in the third with two and clinched the game in the fourth with two more. Claude King opened the fourth inning uprising by homering inside the park. The Pirates banged out a total of ten hits off the combined slants of Guilford hurlers Nunn and McKeown. Six Guilford errors also contributed to the Quaker downfall. Cecil Heath, Fred Soles and Paul Gay rapped out two hits apiece to pace the Pirates at the plate.

Pirate Nine Encounters Montclair Here In Intersectional Contests Next Week

Piner Hurls As Bucs Trample High Point In Loop Test 15-2

Athlete Of The Week

Jimmy Byrd, sophomore right-hander on East Carolina's red hot baseball team, is in his second year on the Pirate mound staff and by now he has established himself as the favorite among Buccaneer rooters, and as an enemy of opposing batsmen. Sometimes he is a hardluck pitcher and then again he gets the breaks, but either way, he is always pitching with his heart in the game, for he loves it and might even consider making a career out of it after he completes his college education, which he desires more than anything in the world.

Many describe him as a hard-luck twirler who never seems to get the breaks. He has pitched one three-hitter this year against Elon and in that battle his batsmen failed to hit in the clutch and as the result, Byrd received credit for a 2-1 loss. Even in that contest he proved his capabilities as he also led the local batters at the plate with two hits in three appearances.

Not only does he set the opposing batters down with a blazing curveball, but he also is a demon at the plate as he swings a hefty stick that sometimes brings in extra base knocks. In last week's encounter with Elon, which saw the youthful Kingston hurler avenge his previous loss 8-3, he personally took control of the situation at the plate when he drove in the tying run in the fifth inning.

He made himself a favorite with Coach Jack Boone last year as he twirled his team to a win over Elon which marked the first time an East Carolina nine tutored by Boone had ever registered a win over the Christians. It was a moral victory for Boone since he is a graduate of Elon where he starred in football and established himself as an all-time great in the backfield.

Just one of the many college baseball heroes turned out by Grainger high school's Frank Moeck, Byrd has learned the meaning of mental control at East Carolina and can pitch himself out of a hole with the greatest of ease as he sets down batter after batter by slipping the third strike past them before they even get the bat off their shoulder. Another of his accomplished feats is his ability to pick off base runners when they take too much liberty off the base. On numerous occasions he has caught a runner a little too far off his respective base and with a flip of the wrist he sent the runner to the bench.

Jim Piner twirled a six hit victory over the High Point college Wednesday afternoon as his teammates blasted out eleven hits off the offerings of two Panther hurlers to give the East Carolina Pirates a 15-2 victory and a 6-1 North State conference record.

It was the fifth straight conference win for the Pirates and gives them a loop record of six wins and one defeat. For Piner, a righthanded sophomore from Beaufort, it was his third win and second against High Point. He gave up only six hits—holding the visitors hitless until the sixth—and struck out 10 batters.

The Pirates scored three runs in the first inning after two men were out and the margin proved to be enough to clinch the victory. Gaither Cline walked and Claude King walked. Both men stole bases and W. C. Sanderson singled the two runs across, with Sanderson going to second when the ball got away from the leftfielder. Sanderson came home with the third run when Paul Gay singled.

Teachers, Students Attend Industrial Arts Meet Here

Approximately 75 teachers and students of industrial arts attended Saturday at East Carolina college the annual spring meeting of the North Carolina Industrial Arts associations.

The all-day program presented on the campus here centered attention upon the first state-wide exhibition of work by students of industrial art in the public schools, the election of new officers for the next biennium and an address by Mott B. Heath of Dearborn, Mich., manager of community relations for the Ford Motor company.

Claude A. Bell, teacher of industrial arts in the Central high school of Charlotte, was chosen as new president of the NCIAA. He succeeds A. B. Rackster of Winston-Salem. Other newly elected officers of the association are Robert G. Thrower, Reidsville, vice president; Ashley Hudson, Cooleemee, secretary-treasurer; and Gilbert Watkins, Erwin, executive committee member.

More than 175 examples of the work of students in North Carolina schools were on display in the East Carolina department of industrial arts during the day. Entries exemplified 27 different types of work.

President Rackster acted as chairman at a luncheon and business meeting in the college dining hall. President John D. Messick of East Carolina, in welcoming guests, told of the expansion of the college industrial arts department during the past five years and of the continuing efforts of the college to give the state the best in training for its industrial arts teachers.

As principal speaker of the day, Heath outlined the Industrial Arts awards program sponsored yearly by the Ford Motor company. He was introduced by Dr. Arnold Hostetter of State college, Raleigh. Heath emphasized the values of the awards project as excellent motivation for student work and as a good public relations program for educators interested in informing the public about the aims, nature and worth of industrial and vocational education.

General Reports Result In ROTC Rifle Competition

The results of the 31st Annual William Randolph Hearst ROTC rifle competition, in which two Air Force ROTC rifle marksmanship teams from East Carolina college participated, were announced recently in a letter from the Commanding General, Continental Air Command.

The AFROTC teams from East Carolina college placed 38th and 150th with scores of 888 and 782, respectively.

The winning University of Maryland team, with a score of 936 out of a possible perfect score of 1,000, will compete with the winning teams from the Army and Navy ROTC for the William Randolph Hearst National Defense trophy, upon completion of arrangements by the Hearst organization.

One hundred and forty-six AFROTC units entered a total of 220 teams for the largest participation in the history of the matches.

Greenville Sophomore Merits Business Department Honors

Joyce Calhoun of Greenville, sophomore at East Carolina college, received top rating among 55 students in the college business education department who recently competed in a national shorthand penmanship contest. The event was conducted by the publication "Today's Secretary," professional magazine for secretaries.

The 55 successful contestants at East Carolina were judged as having attained the required standards for membership in the Order of Gregg Artists.

Eight of the number qualified for the superior merit certificate. Miss Calhoun, whose paper was judged best among the East Carolina entries, received a gold and enamel OGA pin, as well as the certificate. The seven others in this group, who received gold pins and were given superior ratings, are Edward D. Biggs, Everett; Carolyn Burnette, Hopewell, Va.; Patty Butler, Clinton; Elva Rae Mann, Nags Head; Edward E. Moore, Wilmington; Matthew Prescott, New Bern; Barbara Ann Woodcock, Garland.

Twenty-seven of the East Carolina contestants received pins and menbership certificates for excellent papers. They are: Wilma Barnes, Angier; Betsy Best, Goldsboro; Peggy Joyce Bowen, Greenville; Katie Boykin, Sims; Joan Britt, Fairmont; Anna Frances Bunn, Whiteville; Bessie Jean Bullard, Bladenboro; Doris Grantham, Morehead City; Florence Helms, Portsmouth, Va.; Loree Hinnant, Kenly; Anna L. Jackson, Bailey; E. Ruth Jones, Stantonburg; and Judith A. Lane, Rich Square.

Others receiving credit for excellent papers were: Willa Dean Lindsay, Clinton; Jannette McCain, Kinston; Sylvia McCoy, Snow Hill; Ola Ray McLawhorn, Ayden; Atlee Matthews, Nashville; Betty L. Oakes, Hookerton; Mary Lou Phillips, Warsaw; Janice Roberson, Bethel; Gene Russell, Dover; Dorothy V. Smith,

Wildroot
LIQUID CREAM SHAMPOO

More than just a liquid, more than just a cream... new Wildroot Liquid Cream Shampoo is a combination of the best of both.

Even in the hardest water Wildroot Shampoo washes hair gleaming clean, manageable, curl inviting, without robbing hair of its natural oils.

Soothes Sundry... Lanolin Lovely!

P.S. To keep hair neat between shampoos use Lady Wildroot Cream Hair Dressing.
